Mekong Divisions Disbanded

Viet Cong Declares Conquest Completed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Viet Cong said today it had completed the conquest of South Vietnam by seizing four holdout provinces in the Mekong Delta and disbanding four divisions of the South Vietnamese army.

A Viet Cong broadcast said the forces of the Provisional Revolutionary Government (PRG) had taken over the rest of the ring-growing delta and dismantled the headquarters of the 4th, 7th, 9th and 21st divisions at the mouth of Mekong River.

There was no mention of any fighting.

Troops Moved As Police Strike Feared

MONTREAL (CP) — Negotiations between municipal police and the city aimed at averting a possible strike adjourned at noon today and a membership meeting of the Montreal Policeman's Brotherhood was called to study the latest proposals.

A brotherhood spokesman said more progress was made during the all-night session than in the last several months.

Meanwhile, a military spokesman confirmed that 300 troops had moved during the night to the Canadian Forces Base at nearby St. Hubert from their base at Valcartier near Quebec City, but he denied the move was in connection with a possible police strike.

All police stations on Montreal Island reported the men were returning to work, and it was expected the meeting to hear the latest proposal from the Montreal Urban Community (MUC) would be attended by all-duty members of the 4,000-man force.

Another Viet Cong broadcast Wednesday night said eight provinces south and west of Saigon were "had yet liberated," but it too, said nothing about fighting in those areas.

North Vietnam demanded today that United States Navy ships immediately cease "the forcible evacuation of the population of 'South Vietnam' and withdraw from areas near the South Vietnamese coast.

A foreign ministry statement broadcast by Hanoi cited a Pentagon announcement Wednesday that the navy rescue fleet in the South China Sea had picked up about 18,000 South Vietnamese who escaped in sampans, rafts and other small craft.

A Pentagon spokesman said some of the ships would remain more than three miles off the coast for perhaps a day to pick up any more South Vietnamese who sail out to them.

The North Vietnamese statement said the evacuation and the presence of the ships constituted interference in the affairs of South Vietnam.

Broadcast by the government radio station in Saigon today, another decree promised severe punishment to anyone creating a disturbance in Saigon, applying carrying arms for the purpose of rioting, plotting to destroy the revolutionary government, spreading propaganda and rumors, creating disunity or disobeying orders.

"From now on, everyone is forbidden to burn down public buildings, use explosives, kidnap, rob, rape, loot or create any incident that endangers the life and property of the public and of the revolutionary government," another decree said.

Silent Majority Okays Pay Increase for MPs

OTTAWA (CP) — Members of Parliament voted overwhelmingly Wednesday to raise their own pay rates by one third to a taxable equivalent of $948 a week from the present $625.

The pay legislation, which requires Senate approval and formal royal assent to become law, also provides for a retroactive raise, dating from the July 8 election, that will provide a lump sum of about $7,000 in back pay to most MPs. Cabinet ministers and other parliamentary officers will get more.

The bill approved Wednesday by a vote of 175 to 25 includes an annual cost-of-living escalator expected to boost the ordinary MP's pay by a taxable equivalent of more than $1,000 a week in three years.

The vote ended a four-month controversy inside and outside the House that saw the government reduce an initial 56-per-cent pay proposal to 33 1-3 per cent but add the living-cost escalator.

The bill provides an increase to $24,000 from $18,000 on the basic annual salary and a raise to $10,000 from $8,000 on tax-free allowances.

On a taxable basis, the new totals equal about $44,000 annually, or $948 weekly, the fully-taxable equivalent of the current salary is $32,500, or $625 a week.

Debate on the bill is expected to begin Tuesday in the Senate, with no major opposition likely from the senators, who stand to receive a similar percentage increase. A government spokesman said the timing might allow MPs to start collecting their retroactive pay by the middle of this month.

Voting against the increase, the first since 1970, were 18 Conservatives, nine New Democrats, two Liberals and independent Leonard Jones of Moncton.

All parties but the NDP officially supported the bill, but two New Democrats, John Gilbert (Toronto Broadview) and Derek Blackburn (Brant), broke ranks to back the increase.

On the other side of the issue, former revenue minister Robert Stanbury and Charles Caccia, government deputy whip, split from the Liberal line.

"Has inflation been controlled?" Mr. Diefenbaker asked, waving notes at Mr. Stanfield, who sat quietly through the 30-minute speech.

"Go across this country," Mr. Diefenbaker challenged MPs. "Speak to the average Canadian ... There's a loss, a loss of confidence in our society.

"Public opinion is aroused as I've never known it to be."

He said he would have supported a raise equal to cost-of-living increases since the last pay increase in 1970. But he could not back a bill that could "only add to the fires of inflation."

Stanley Knowles, the NDP House leader who quarterbacked his party's opposition to the bill throughout the debate, said the cost-of-living escalator will mean a total increase of 65 per cent by the next election, expected in 1979.

Ed Broadbent, NDP parliamentary leader, called federal silence during third-reading speeches and commenting that "surely it's an ultimate admission of shame . . . if it (the government) does not reply."

Macdonald Opposes Gas Price Increase

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government hopes to reach an agreement with Alberta "within a matter of weeks" on a new domestic price for natural gas, heading off a doubling of well-head prices under a provincial arbitration board ruling.

The board ruled Tuesday that TransCanada PipeLines, sole supplier of gas to eastern markets, must pay $1.15 a thousand cubic feet effective Nov. 1 for gas purchased in Alberta from Gulf Oil Canada Ltd.

But Energy Minister Donald Macdonald told the Commons "we want a price to Canadians to be very much below the $1.15 price."

Negotiations with Alberta on a new domestic gas price are continuing and he personally expects to hold meetings with Provincial Energy Minister Don Getty around the middle of next week.

The province said during the recent national energy conference it is willing to negotiate a new price, but if no agreement is reached the arbitration price will go into effect Nov. 1.

Metro Teachers Ask 73 Per Cent Salary Boost

TORONTO (CP) — The 8,300 high school teachers in Metropolitan Toronto have asked the Metro board of education for pay raises ranging from 39 to 73 per cent over a two-year period, officials say.

The would bring 1975-1976 starting salaries to $13,500 from the present $9,800 and maximum salaries to $27,500 from $18,300.

Chairman Gordon Cretay of the Toronto board of education said Wednesday night he was "stunned" by the proposals.

Education Minister Thomas Wells said today "those kind of increases are out of all reason.

"I expect and hope that they are just the beginning of their bargaining proposal," he added.

Welfare Recipients Must Look for Jobs

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

No employable persons receive welfare assistance unless they comply with job-search regulations, laid down by legislation, Reg Tucker, Hastings County social services director, said Wednesday.

He told county council there are processes to ensure such persons seek work. These include registration with Canada Manpower.

If they refuse jobs that pay as much as general welfare rates, "they get off," he said. He had seen people known to be on welfare leading around his said.

He was replying to a complaint from Reeve George Lyons of Deseronto. The reeve said he municipality's main street, drinking beer.

Quinte Truckers Demonstrate Against Use of Tender System

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

Belleville and district truckers held demonstrations in Belleville and Trenton this morning protesting municipal councils' use of tenders for contracts.

Gord Cole, president of the Belleville chapter of the Greater Ottawa Truckers Association, told The Intelligencer Wednesday night, "We, as truckers in the association, want to put an end to all tenders."

The normal — and in some cases mandatory — way for governments to award contracts is by first calling for tenders. Councils invite estimates from the industry and generally accept the lowest bids.

Mr. Cole said in place of tenders his association wants local councils to adopt the minimum pay scale, as prescribed by the province's ministry of transportation and communication. The rate is $12.50 an hour for single axle vehicles and $18 an hour for tandems.

Mr. Cole said Trenton has contracts for $5.75 and $8 an hour for the two varieties.

The City of Belleville standard rate is $15.

While politicians answer they are looking for the best price to save tax dollars, Mr. Cole says "we can't afford to work for money like that."

The prices he quotes include maintenance and supply of a driver for the truck.

"It's the truckers' fault that tenders have been accepted so low — but that's what we've got an association for — to set standard rates," said Mr. Cole.

Two weeks ago, the truckers met in Belleville and formed a standard rates card. Rates were slightly higher than the ministry rates and since have been altered to match, said Mr. Cole.

The first demonstration began in Trenton "because that is where the pay is really low," said Mr. Cole. By mid-morning the demonstration came to Belleville where truckers lined the parking meters on Front street to draw attention to the tender dispute.

"We just have to have a peaceful demonstration," said Mr. Cole.

Truckers Protest Tenders

Members of the Greater Ottawa Truckers' Association demonstrated in downtown Trenton today, protesting the municipal calling of tenders in the award of trucking contracts. Gord Cole (left) says his association is demanding rates as prescribed by the province. He talks here with association vice-president Ben Defosse. Mr. Cole said municipal tenders in Trenton can be as much as $10. an hour less than the ministry of transport and communications prescribed rates.

Petition for Death

Conservative MP John Reynolds stands in a corridor of the Parliament Buildings in Ottawa Wednesday before presenting 200,000-name petition to the federal cabinet from people favoring capital punishment for premeditated murder. Mr. Reynolds said the names represented a small percentage of the majority in favor of capital punishment. (CP Photo)

News Briefs

Unions Notified

OTTAWA (CP) — Justice Minister Otto Lang said Wednesday that notice has been given to five local unions, representing 2,500 Quebec longshoremen, that the government intends to take legal action because the workers have not obeyed back to work legislation. The notice is the first step in an application to the Quebec Superior Court for an injunction to end the month long dispute. If an injunction is not obeyed, the unions and union leaders could be subject to fines or jail terms.

Timbrell Disgusted

TORONTO (CP) — Provincial Energy Minister Dennis Timbrell said he was disgusted at the prospect of a 50 per cent increase in consumer gas bills next November. An arbitration board ruled Tuesday that the price of a large portion of natural gas supplied to Trans-Canada Pipelines Ltd. should be raised to $1.15 a thousand cubic feet. Nov. 1. The present wellhead price for the gas involved is 60 cents a thousand cubic feet.

Mail Still Paralyzed

MONTREAL (CP) — Most mail delivery in the Montreal area was paralyzed for the second consecutive Wednesday with no indication from striking letter carriers of a return to work today. Most of the city's 10 postal branches were without mail delivery and pickup services.

Refugee Aid Vote Likely

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House of Representatives probably will get a chance today to vote on whether the United States should spend $237 million on Indochinese refugees.

Too Early

OTTAWA (CP) — External Affairs Minister Allan MacEachen said Wednesday "it is much too early" for Ottawa to decide whether to recognize the new regime in South Vietnam. The minister said he did not have to date information on the number of Canadians still in South Vietnam. However, any Canadians there probably were not in danger.

Quebec Opposes Plan

OTTAWA (CP) — Federal and provincial welfare ministers will try to resolve their differences today over how to finance and control proposed guaranteed annual incomes to unemployables and income supplements to the working poor. Ottawa and Quebec are at odds over ways to implement the new welfare measures. Quebec Welfare Minister Marc-Andre Bedard charged the federal proposals as "ill defined, vague . . . and imprecise."

Reds Control Labor

LISBON (Reuter) — The Communists gained official control over the labor movement today with the help of Portugal's military rulers in a move that challenged the non-Communists' election victory last week. The military council made the communist dominated Intersindical Trade Union Confederation, effectively making it the only representative body of Portuguese workers.

PM Balks At Racist Refugees

KINGSTON Jamaica (CP)— The Commonwealth conference switches its attention today to the world economic crisis with a Soviet-British initiative to stabilize prices of food and raw materials.

Key Commonwealth leaders moved Wednesday to recognize the new rulers of South Vietnam, while once expecting all Southeast Asia to become a region of Communist-aligned neutrality.

And the Commonwealth leaders considered the southern African situation.

Bishop Abel Muzorewa gave the conference a stark message on behalf of Rhodesia 's African National Council — Rhodesia's five million blacks will fight to achieve majority rule if they cannot peacefully come to terms with the 250,000 whites who run their lives.

Trudeau, commenting on Muzorewa's speech, in which he mentioned emigration as a means of assisting to change white minority rule in Rhodesia, said Canada has no interest in throwing open its doors to white racists fleeing a newly liberated black-ruled Rhodesia.

"We're not panting to have his immigration take place," and he added that Canada's normal immigration pr cedures would apply.

Band Location Only Major Flaw In Music Man Production

By RON CARSON
Staff Reporter

Thank God the band didn't play on — but isn't that what Music Man is all about?

It certainly was Wednesday night as the Belleville Theatre Guild proved once again some one men are not bad and a band that looks good doesn't necessarily have to sound good — at least to parents.

The guild lifted its curtain Wednesday night for the first of four performances Wednesday through Saturday night at Belleville Collegiate Institute. The Music Man is a musical comedy, set at the turn of the century, and is known for its universal appeal to all ages.

The guild's opening night performance was colorful, exciting and like all good musicals, gained momentum towards the end. However, the production contained one major flaw which detracted from the flare of song and dance.

The problems of not having a sunken orchestra pit were dramatically emphasized during the performance at BCI. Just when the musical itself seemed to be growing the orchestra and its leader Frank Marsh unavoidably became the centre of attention for the audience. While the accompanying music was excellent, particularly the violin parts, it would have served the production better had the orchestra been in a sunken pit.

Actress Iris Sanderson, playing Marian Paroo the leading lady was outstanding throughout the performance. Her portrayal of the independent librarian who eventually learns to grips with the Music Man never faltered and was matched only by her powerful and almost operatic voice.

Another outstanding performance was given by Clint Hart, who played the narrow-minded but forgiveable Mayor Hiram Hill, a member of the group to young Robert Horne, who played the shy and reserved brother of Marian Paroo. Worth cos. This young actor proved he could stand with the best of them on stage.

David Smith, who played the trouble-making Music Man, gave a charming and at times balanced performance but somehow lacked what the script itself calls "slippery as a Mississippi sturgeon", his singing performance was weak at first but gained volume and confidence toward the end.

Director Liz Marshall overcame terrific staging obstacles. The actual mechanics of making 11 scene changes in the first act proved to be an asset rather than a liability. She also managed to handle a cast of 44 of which 21 are children.

The young people, who played the River City children, demonstrated excellent control in both their primary and secondary parts. They added a vitality to the show which seemed to be lacking throughout most of the first act.

The props, under the direction of Mary Simonds and Vera Morton, were extremely well handled, particularly in the library and footbridge scenes. The costumes, under the direction of Fern House, were also excellent.

The play continues tonight at 8 p.m. at BCI.

Boaters Must Now Pay For Docking Privileges

By AL ZARAS
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — Fees for docking at the federal government dock in Trenton will be levied for the first time this year as the environment ministry begins to enforce fee structures that have existed in Canada for about 20 years.

In Trenton, pleasure boat owners will be charged two cents a foot per 12-hour day for use of the government dock. Additional charges will be levied for owners who hook their boats into electric power, water, or sewage pump-out facilities.

The federal government intention to levy fees for dock use was confirmed in an interview Wednesday with an Ontario region official in the small boat harbors branch of the environment ministry.

The push for clarification was spurred by Chamber of Commerce manager Jack Wilson who said this week he feared potentially non-uniform docking fees at federal wharfs across Ontario would drive tourists from Trenton.

If fees were higher here than in other provincial municipalities, the boater dollar would not return to Trenton, he complained.

But precisely where and how the new charges will be levied is still unknown.

Bert Libling, wharfinger responsible for fee collection, said Wednesday he plans to resign his position for health reasons after returning as wharfinger for the last 19 years.

He said he was told by the environment ministry it levy fees in 1974, but refused because the town refused to install washroom facilities on the dock. In previous years, he charged no dockage fees, but made frequent courtesy visits to the docks.

Mr. Libling said the federal ministry plans to rent the wharf with signs to indicate fees and available services.

The fee picture is further clouded by the town's involvement in management of the dock. Agreements have been made by the town with the federal government for parking privileges on the wharf and town provision of sewage pump-out facilities.

A town official said Wednesday a search of town files failed to turn up a master agreement that gives Trenton the authority to operate the federal dock and levy a docking fee.

The Heave Ho

Work at lock one on the Trent Canal continues Wednesday as A.N. Shaw and Son Ltd crews heave shovefuls of sand into a machine that mixes sand, and cement. Once the ingredients are mixed water is added, and the result is spray on deteriorated walls at the lock. Restoration work has been under way since February and expected to be complete within two weeks.

Red Carpet Completes Renovated Chancel

PICTON — Students of museum technology from Algonquin College, Donna Midwinter and Charles Baird Wednesday rolled out the red carpet at the Prince Edward County Museum, beginning a 15-week summer job there.

The rug examined by the student team is a duplicate of the original floor covering at the Old Church of St. Mary Magdalene and was specially woven in England. It arrived recently at the museum and, when laid, will complete the renovated chancel area.

Miss Midwinter and Mr. Baird will assist museum curator James Gooding this summer through a grant from the National Museum Corporation to Algonquin College. This year marks the first time such grants have been available.

Both students have completed their first year in museum technology and will specialize during the next two years.

When their studies are completed they will have received a detailed grounding in all aspects of museum operations.

Miss Midwinter says she plans to specialize in conservation or the repair and preservation of antique pieces.

She added a series of conservation days will be organized this summer at the county museum, starting July 8 and continuing each Tuesday afterwards.

Miss Midwinter and Mr. Baird will demonstrate the restoration of antiques and old prints for all interested persons.

Museum curator James Gooding explained the function of the program that sends students to museums for summer jobs.

"The objective is to train museum people and the museums get the benefit of their skills," he said.

He observed no other museums in he Quinte area and possibly in this part of Ontario will have student assistance such as the Prince Edward County museum will enjoy.

"The idea is to throw students into the museum milieu so that they get the knocks and bumps of museum life," he noted.

Driver Charged After Chase

PICTON — A Picton district man apprehended Wednesday night in a police chase on Highway 49 has been charged with impaired driving.

Charged is Michael Code, 20, of RR3, Picton.

Police said the car struck two marker signs and crashed through a private fence behind the headquarters for Triad Truckways Ltd.

Mr. Code was treated at Prince Edward County Memorial Hospital for minor injuries.

In another incident, 26-year-old Ronald Brooks of 4 London Ave., Picton, was charged with careless driving after striking a hydro pole on County Rd. One, half a mile east of Highway 14.

Ride Nets $847

TRENTON — Air Maintenance Development Unit (AMDU) commander Col. Glenn Doupe recently presented Trenton Memorial Hospital bike-a-thon co-ordinators with $847, money pledged for the colonel's ride in the annual fund-raising event April 18. The total is about $200 more than Col. Doupe had originally anticipated his bicycle ride would raise.

Flea Market Planned

SPRINGBROOK — The Ontario District of the Antique Automobile Club of America will hold a two-day flea market here Saturday and Sunday, May 3 and 4. Auto parts will be the main attraction in the Springbrook Trading Lanes building, north of Stirling on Highway 14. Admission for all is 25 cents, children under 12 years with adult free.

Book Shop Opens

PICTON — The County Book N' Craft Shop will hold its grand opening May 1 and 2 at its location in the Armory Mall.

Picton's only bookstore features adult, juvenile and children's books in addition to craft kits for all age groups.

Russian Night Planned

PICTON — Club Kotosola, an ethnic group of the Picton Presbyterian Church this Sunday will present A Night in Russia.

A beef dinner will be followed by films depicting life in Russia and the country's customs.

End and a Beginning

It was near dawn and, in the inevitable way of nature, there was thrushing in the trees.

Across the street, what was left of St. Thomas' Church lay in ruin. The birds and the trees were symbols of a new season, but a kind of death — and yet the promise also of a new beginning, when or where as yet undetermined — marked the last hours of the historic Anglican Church opposite.

As the flames that had raged virtually out of control for two hours, subsided, the walls still standing took on, through the swirling smoke, the look of many a historic pile familiar to travellers.

More than 150 years of Christian tradition, in Belleville, the endeavors of succeeding generations, and symbols such as regimental flags, passed in imagery before the eyes.

Canon Peter Tett, with two of his children, looked on sadly from the lawn of his rectory. A parishioner who had driven to the scene with her husband reminisced over the irreplaceable: the craftsmanship especially.

A church in this place, and at this point of time, has been destroyed, but it was the outward symbol of a Christian tradition that has survived 2,000 years of travail and opposition. The birds still sing, and as ever hope springs eternal.

Mayor's Busy Schedule

Mayor Robin Jeffrey might envy former Cambridge Mayor Claudette Millar these days.

"I'm really a much more relaxed person today," Mrs. Millar has been quoted as saying. "I'm only going in one direction most of the time."

Meanwhile a typical Monday just past for Mrs. Jeffrey included a Council meeting, following earlier attendance at Rotary which the former participated in as the Mayor of the Week program summed up their impressions.

Actually the luncheon likely was a relaxing break that the ordinary way might have been filled with the routine work schedule. It would also have provided Mrs. Jeffrey with some of those little insights into the municipal scene that are gained only on the outside.

For instance, after hurrying from the lunch to her car, and finding herself caught in one of those long traffic lineups extending from the railway overpass to the upper bridge, Mrs. Jeffrey decided, as many do, to by-pass it along Earl Street at the Pentecostal Church, and along Coleman.

Had she taken a roundabout route to the Sun Valley along Sidney Street Mayor Jeffrey would also have been reacquainted with the assault course that is Sidney between College and Bell Boulevard.

The detours have been dispensed with, in connection with work going on there, but there was a letter from a reader concerning them; he noted that to the "most interested in learning the jurisdiction affecting construction companies engaged in ripping city roadways and their obligations toward the users of such roadways."

He complained of "minimal warning signs and an inept flagman" doubly hampered by having to direct traffic from both directions. And he said FUC men complicated things further by erecting a solitary detour sign.

In short, the writer suggests a better job could have been done as to signs and the direction of traffic. All in all, it's the kind of situation that is plaguing Belleville these days, with so much required to be done on the roads and with other major road and bridge construction in the offing.

Doggy in a Backyard

Another symbol of municipal controversy: In the shape of a lively little terrier dog on the leash at the rear of a house at the corner of Moira and Coleman.

A spirited and apparently well-cared for animal, it nevertheless symbolized the fate of many a dog in this country. Being tied and therefore unable to wander at will, the dog's situation was at least within the law. But in so many instances our canines are just left like this for a good part of their existence, and are afforded no exercise.

A radio talk-show dialogue in recent days, according to one who was listening in, reflected the general attitude toward the dog population — one of disinterest on the one hand or hostility on the other. There was talk for instance of pellet guns being used to scare them off, if not kill, and weapons of stronger calibre to dispose of them without further ado, if the spirit moved.

A Belleville-area woman summed it up well when she said: "I feel pets are being run out of society . . . you want pets because you like them, enjoy, but in these days with everyone on the go, you have not the time to enjoy them."

Youth and Government

All the young people who have participated in successive Mayor of the Week programs agree on one thing: the full-time Mayor works extremely hard, as do members of Council and the municipal staff.

For most it is a real eye-opener, a positive introduction to the political scene and to the running of a municipality. The young people agree too that the more students who can be introduced to such a program the better.

One thing though which it has not developed fully, perhaps from a mood of deference to their elders, or understandable difficulty in unravelling anything debatable in such a short time, is the critical faculty.

None of this year's crop of students had much to say of a critical nature — in contrast to at least one of the earlier groups, following its 1968-69 start, which spoke out on a number of topical subjects from the need of parental support to drugs.

Nobody wants to see the young people breaking out in a rash of radicalism — although it might serve to wake up a lot of people — but there is more room for the young people to express themselves on whatever concerns them, including a routine tendency to suggest everything in the municipal garden is lovely.

"The more a program such as Rotary's can sharpen the young people's awareness and their critical faculties, the better.

Meanwhile, the club can take satisfaction in the knowledge that the program is now firmly established. It was the Rotarians who first brought committee chairman Don Thrush, during the presidency of Ken Wormald and the mayoralty of Dr. J. Russell Scott. Today, the program, believed unique in Canada, is carried on under youth committee chairman Rev. Leslie Dean and president Bob Graham.

Trudeau Policies Questioned

Ottawa Rejected PC Motion to Censure Red Atrocities

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — It is there for all to read in Parliament's Hansard.

First, led by former External Affairs Minister and now Government House Leader Michael Sharp, the astonishing rush to have Parliament condemn the United States for the "inhumane" — as it was now described by leader of the docks and of storage depots of Phnom, capital of Communist North Viet Nam.

And now, just three and few days the equally astonishing refusal, again led by Michael Sharp as House Leader, to have Parliament condemn the Communists for the massacres in Cambodia and South Viet Nam.

It was Toronto Conservative MP Otto Jelinek who proposed the motion "to instruct the External Affairs Minister Allan MacEachen to condemn (in the name of Canadians and their government) the tragic and inhumane attacks on the helpless populace of Cambodia and South Viet Nam and the cancerous spread of Communist inspired crimes."

Was it agreed? asked Mr. Speaker Jerome.

"No," thundered the government benches on Mr. Sharp's and

"Yes," shouted the opposition.

But since there are more MPs on the government then on the opposition side of the House of Parliament, which had spent hours condemning attacks on the Communists, took only seconds in refusing to condemn attacks by Communists.

The conclusion, says Otto Jelinek, is clear: the federal government is sympathetic to Communism.

In agreement is Nova Scotia Conservative MP Lloyd Crouse.

Ordinarily, a man extremely slow to be come excited, Mr. Crouse arrived back from the Geneva Conference on the Law of the Sea in a state of agitation.

He says the French, British and other Western European delegates were wondering out loud just where Canada stands in relation to the United States and the Soviet Union.

They expressed awe, he said, of Canada's proximity to the rich United States markets.

And so they were all the more astonished, he reported, that only recently Prime Minister Trudeau had been in Britain, and in the continent "demeaning" as they put it, "your best friend, the United States."

But Mr. Crouse thinks he does.

Putting it bluntly, he says that Prime Minister Trudeau too often seems more receptive to the Russians than the Americans.

In recent days he and other Conservatives have been pressing on Mr. Trudeau the importance of attending the NATO summit conference in this time of setbacks for the United States, economic difficulties in Britain and Italy, and concern over rising Communist strength in France ad Portugal.

Mr. Trudeau has agreed to attend, but with seeming reluctance, questioning what he calls "the timing" of the NATO conference in relation to the talks of the European security with the Warsaw Pact countries.

Allan MacEachen, speaking as External Affairs Minister, snorts at such suggestions. He says that there is "softness," as Mr. Crouse phrases it, in Canada's attitude to the Communist world.

"We believe in detente," he says, supporting the idealistic standoffs between the US, and the Soviet, "but we still remain members of NATO and Norad, and our closest relationship continues to be with Washington."

Still, Mr. Crouse wonders and worries.

Bits of evidence that bother him in a transcript, from the Prime Minister's own office, of a meeting of businessmen held four years ago in Moscow.

Speaking of Canada's NATO and Norad membership, Mr. Trudeau is quoted by his own office as having told the Russians:

"We have increasingly found it important to diversify channels of communication because of the overpowering presence of the U.S. — and that is reflected Allan MacEachen's concerns among Canadians of the danger to our independence, to our cultural, economic and perhaps even military points of view."

What? echoes Mr. Crouse in astonishment, "military" is the Prime Minister suggesting to the Russians that the Americans are going to march in over us?

And now, four years later, back from Europe, Mr. Crouse is further disturbed by unmuzzled comments of the Western Europeans about Mr. Trudeau's recent demeaning" on his trip over there, of Americans and their government.

Expenses of Leadership Contests

By DON O'HEARN

Queen's Park Bureau

Thomson News Service

TORONTO — National PC leader Robert Stanfield has come forward with a suggestion which this observer, at least, thinks should be heard for some time from some prominent Tories.

The suggestion was that there should be a ceiling on the expenditures of candidates in the coming Conservative leadership contest.

Also his further proposal that there should be guidelines on the type and expense of convention demonstrations together with disclosure of campaign contributions.

The essence of his argument is that leadership contests would be more fair and meaningful and that candidates would be influence delegates strictly on merit rather than on entertainment.

There would probably be not too many who would disagree with this as principle.

Spending on party leaderships has got out of hand.

Even in our last year's provincial leadership, certainly with a major contest, candidates were putting out 100,000 and more. That is too much and puts an automatic fence before some potential, but not well-endowed, candidates.

But also it is hard to see how the practice of high-spending, once established in it now is, can be done away with.

Just how many votes do the bands, badges, demonstrations and free-load rooms mean to any one candidate?

Who can say?

But there is little doubt of the negative aspects.

Any candidate who doesn't put on a good "show" is going to suffer.

He will automatically appear to be a loser.

But probably the biggest opposition to doing away with the hoopla would come from the parties themselves.

The leaderships have come to be regarded as prestige building blocks.

Since the advent of wide television coverage all parties have attempted to put on the best show possible.

At cost in candidate spending could reduce the impact and almost undoubtedly wouldn't be favored by the professional leadership.

Concrete work on the extension at the government dock has been completed. Wooden forms have been taken away and the concrete allowed to dry. The new dock comes right up to the cement roadway and lies to the east. New guide plans on fenders are being built on the west side of the dock. Officials of the Harbour Board are taking no minutes on provincial highway, are preparing for the layout for the balance of the roadway to Trenton. Contract for filling the two bay bridge spaces known as spans three and four from the north end of the bridge between Belleville and Rossmore has been awarded by the Department of Highways to Thomas Meyers (formerly of Belleville) and Mr. O'Connor of Napanee. The Frontenac Paving Company will be associated with the contractors in the work.

French Savoir-faire Shows As Vietnam Conflict Ends

By JOHN D. HARBRON

Foreign Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

Have the French a national style, a "cool" which has escaped the rest of us, and which is coming to the surface in South Vietnam?

The French are not rushing to leave that beleaguered and possibly doomed country. There are no airlifts of the estimated 1,500 French in the country, nor a closing down of the French Embassy.

For the French who built the first European colonial empire in Indochina, lost it in 1954 in a bitter colonial war, the relations with the Viet Cong and the People's Republic of North Vietnam are good and Paris intends to keep it that way.

France officially and in other ways engaged to the American cause as long as 10 years ago when they escalated the war in Vietnam, that in the end they would lose.

And in a way, the French influence now that the Americans are going, is more pronounced which will remain after all. The tough communist leaders of the north as did the late Ho Chi Minh, all speak French as indeed does strong, anti-Communist President Thieu of South Vietnam who fled to Taiwan last week.

Remember it was in Paris where the Viet Cong set up their foreign headquarters and also it was in Paris where the very long negotiations between the North Vietnamese, ultimately the Viet Cong and the American began.

And for many who still remember Hanoi before the Communists took over in 1954, impressions and memories, which there for the south, that city still has a French element lingering in it.

With the British, Canada, West German and other embassies now closed in Saigon and the Americans now reduced to do so, the French will play the major role in trying to keep communist state in the reconstruction phase.

This must come after the final negotiations or struggle for Saigon (which also remains in many ways a French city in style and language).

This role will be easier for the French to play than anyone else. It was France under the late General de Gaulle which first recognized The People's Republic of China among the major European powers in 1964, (with the exception of Britain who did so in 1950).

The long French acceptance of Peking and the major backers of the Hanoi regime, means French ease at working with the Communist Chinese who will also have a role in the future economic re-development of the south.

In all this, there is tremendous dramatic irony for the Americans who after all that treasure and expertise in trying to re-arrange South Vietnamese society, failed miserably to do so.

The French knew that such American-imposed schemes as "re-populated" Vietnamese villages would not work, resulting in the mass movement of country people to the cities with shacks with unemployed beggars and orphans.

And finally, we should not forget it was France for both Communist and anti-Communist, who was cultural mother to so many of them.

So it was that was educated in France. And now it is reported the French priests and missionaries who stayed behind in those recently Communist-occupied provinces in the north of South Vietnam are free to work.

It is a curious yet positive role for the former colonial power.

A Night to Remember

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

As far back as 1921, Lenin made a speech which was later reported in a Canadian newspaper.

I cut out this clipping and although it has since been mislaid, Lenin's words as I recollect, were: "No matter how long it takes, we will use every means at our disposal, including the use of subversion, set and plant by agents in the foulest of greedy democracies to destroy capitalism."

For a nation so determined, it would be well worth while old bolshies, but sad that it should take the law of one of our teammates to bring back together. Thanks also to the Syracuse Stars, who will long remember and honor their former coach and friend.

We hope the Belleville fans enjoyed the evening and have support enabled us to give the Corgan family a little financial support from which they in turn can give a sizeable contribution to the Heart Fund.

Thank you Belleville area sports fans. We have a lot to remember and be proud of, not just a couple of hockey championships but a helpful community and a little bit more in the country.

MAPLE LEAF — A place sure to delight parents and to make the eyes of children widen in amazement is the Frelna Doll House located in this small village 30 miles north of Bancroft on Highway 62.

The Frelna Doll House is owned and operated by Pearl Crawford who has more that 1,000 dolls on exhibit in the 15 by 30 foot display house, which will open to the public again on May 17.

Dolls in national dress from 100 different countries are also in Mrs. Crawford's collection.

Two Mexican senoritas with smoldering eyes date from the early 1920s and are still dressed in the original costumes.

Mrs. Crawford started her collection in 1963 and has received most of the dolls from family and friends who have kept the friends of childhood carefully for many years.

With the help of her husband, sons and brother, Mrs. Crawford has constructed Old Mother Hubbard's Cupboard, Noah's Ark and a miniature log cabin as well as a number of other pieces of doll paraphernalia.

"Many people who go travelling abroad really know what to bring me as souvenirs," said Mrs. Crawford. "I've wanted a Beefeater doll for years and a friend brought me one last year."

Many present mothers are delighted to spot a Barbara Ann Scott doll in the collection.

"It was very hard to get that doll," said Mrs. Crawford." I have also been trying to find the original Shirley Temple, Deanna Durbin, Betty Grable and Sonja Heine dolls."

A group of old-fashioned baby dolls adorns one of the shelves in the collection.

"The Reliable Doll Company started to make dolls with composition heads in 1921," said Mrs. Crawford." The dolls were made of sawdust and then dipped in glue and varnished. The last one was made in 1934."

Not only old dolls are in Mrs. Crawford's collection — modern children will find friends like Thumbelina, Mrs. Beasley and the Flintstone Family on display.

Once you're in the right vicinity for the doll house you can't miss it because a six-foot Winnie the Pooh and a five-foot Humpty Dumpty adorn the front lawn along with a pumpkin belonging to Peter Pumpkin Eater.

According to Mrs. Crawford, motorists passing the doll house will "wave back at the doll who is waving at them out of the pumpkin. I guess they think that it's a child."

Fascinated Visitor

Neighbor children are regular visitors to the Frelna Doll House at Maple Leaf, owned and operated by Mrs. Pearl Crawford. During the summer months, however, passersby on Highway 62 a.s welcome to drop in and see Mrs. Crawford's collection of 1,000 antique and contemporary dolls and discuss them with their collector.

Bancroft Fire Chief Stricken

BANCROFT — An alarm raised for a small grass fire here Wednesday afternoon resulted in an unexpected local tragedy.

Answering the alarm, Bancroft Fire Chief Wayne Walker, 42, suffered a fatal heart attack in the town fire station.

Mr. Walker married with two children, had been with the local volunteer fire department for more than 20 years and was chief since 1971. He was actively involved with annual fire aid programs in North Hastings.

Mr. Walker was an employee of the provincial ministry of the environment.

Tweed Police Chief Resigns

TWEED — Robert Gagne, police chief here since January, 1974, has resigned effective April 28.

He will become a constable with the Nepean Township force near Ottawa, where, he says, his bilingual family can grow up in a bilingual atmosphere.

Two constables remain on the Tweed force, which Mr. Gagne says could be abolished if town council decided to opt for OPP police service.

Countdown

With SciencesScope '75 opening in Bancroft Friday for two days, William Weiser of the Ontario Science Centre, Toronto, has been visiting area schools drumming up interest. He is helped by a wary Chris Sinkle in this demonstration at North Hastings Senior Elementary School Wednesday. SciencesScope '75 is a project of the Bancroft Lions Club.

May 21 Date Set For PC Meeting

Progressive Conservatives in Peterborough-Hastings will hold a nominating convention in Madoc May 21 — and Charles Rollins, MPP Hastings Wednesday re-affirmed he will seek the party ticket.

But he still has no predictions about an election date.

The convention date was made known by Reeve Ken Smith, Elzevir and Grimsthorpe Township — and president of the Conservative riding association — in an interview after Mr. Rollins spoke to Hastings County council.

Then new riding — to be approved by the legislature — joins 10 townships from Peterborough riding to the Hastings constituency.

To avoid delays in forming a new association, Mr. Smith said party representatives from both ridings had agreed to appoint three vice-presidents to the current Hastings organization executive. The convention will be conducted under rules of the Hastings association constitution.

Speaking to county council, Mr. Rollins, an opponent of regional government, hoped county council would retain its historic form of local government.

"It would be very discouraging for me to have a county council take an approach to an alternative system of municipal government," he said.

Mr. Rollins said such an event would cause him to rethink his position as MPP.

Guest speaker at the Madoc convention will be Eric Winkler, Chairman of the government Board of Management and government house leader.

Area Seeks Telephones

A small area of Hastings County cottage country is without telephone service.

The district is Diamond Lake in Herschel Township which is a thriving tourist area with about six tourist operators, its reeve, James Haddow told county council Wednesday.

Mr. Haddow won council support for a plea to Bell Canada for phone service.

He said he was meeting next week with a representative from Bell, which is "efficient in many places but this is one place they have forgotten about."

Effective today the minimum wage goes up.

And it now includes agricultural workers.

Everyone in Ontario who's covered by the Minimum Wage Act—and that now includes agricultural workers—will be entitled to an increase beginning May 1.

The new basic rate will be $2.40 an hour.

All agricultural workers engaged in the harvesting of fruit, field vegetables and tobacco will be entitled to the new rate.

People employed by agencies as domestics and people working as funeral directors or embalmers must be paid not less than $2.40 an hour. Learners in general industry must be paid at least $2.30 an hour during their first month of employment, and the full rate after that.

Those employed in construction work or as construction site guards are now entitled to at least $2.65 an hour. There is no learner's rate in the construction industry. Ambulance drivers, helpers and first-aid attendants must now receive at least $115.20 a week or, if they work less than 48 hours in a week, the regular rate of $2.40 an hour. Students under 18 who work 28 hours a week or less, or during school holidays, must receive at least $2.00 an hour.

When employees occupy a room or eat meals supplied by their employer, $10.00 per week for the room and $1.05 for each meal or $22.00 per week for meals may be included, when calculating the minimum wage.

Employers of agricultural workers who are entitled to minimum wage will be limited in the maximum deductions they can make from minimum wage, for room and board to $32.00 per week; for the provision of a fully serviced house to $40.00 per week; and provision of an unserviced house to $30.00 per week.

Ann Landers

Extreme Age Difference Doesn't Rule Out Marriage

Dear Ann Landers: I am 25 years old. Joe is 42. Recently you've run some letters about couples with extreme age differences. If the man's younger, nice happens to be a younger woman, it is immediately assumed that it's an age trip for him or a search to regain his lost youth. The woman who is interested in an older man is a schemer, after his money, or both.

I have yet to see one article defending such relationships. Is it too remote a possibility to consider that perhaps such elements as dependability, wisdom, compatibility, maturity and even love might be the basis for some of these May-December and December-May marriages?

I've been out with dozens of men in my so-called "age group." They were immature, boring and exploitative. I feel very secure with my "older man." I wish you'd print this letter to help bolster others in the same boat.—He's Right For Me

Dear Right: Here's your letter. Consider yourself bolstered. According to recent statistics, marriages last a better chance if the age difference is under 10 years. There are so many exceptions, however, that I would never foreclose a relationship because of the difference in age.

Dear Ann Landers: I travel a great deal. I write a column in several different papers. I have seen at least a dozen different pictures of you and can't figure out why you look so good in some towns and so lousy in others. The towns where you look the lousiest are where they run those terrible drawings by a local artist. Los Angeles is the worst.

The Kansas City paper, Atlanta Journal and Washington Post don't print any pictures. Are they crazy? If it's space they're short of why don't they drop a few sentences and run the picture? Your column is a lot easier to find when a person can see your face. Before the Cincinnati paper began to use your photo, people thought you were a man.

The Chicago Sun-Times runs at least five different pictures of you a week and they are all good. At least they look like they are of the same person. The New York Daily News runs only one picture but it is excellent.

Please answer some questions: (a) How old are you? (b) Do you wear a wig? (c) Are your teeth your own? (d) Why don't you send all the papers a new picture the way you look NOW? I've seen you on TV and you don't look bad.—Sick In Texas

Dear Sick: (a) I will be 57 years old on July 4th. (b) I don't own a wig. (c) My teeth are my own. (d) A few months ago I sent a new picture to every one of my 810 client newspapers. If they prefer the old one they know I've gone back to 1955. I can't do anything about it. I work for THEM, they don't work for me.

Dear Ann Landers: It's rotten the way designers have gone into cahoots with manufacturers and lengthened women's skirts so everything we own looks like last year's and we must buy new clothes or look "out of fashion."

Long skirts are ugly. They make us look old and hide our attractive legs. Please tell your readers NOT to buy them.—Mad

Dear Mad: Don't worry, dear. They won't buy them. The main reasons are: (a) Financial: The Women like to show a little more leg, and (c) Men don't like long skirts.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 23-year-old divorced woman with a young son. The man who wants to marry me is brilliant attractive, successful, kind, considerate and he has a marvelous disposition. So what's the problem? The man doesn't stop talking.

From the moment we meet he launches into a detailed account of what he did during the day. He goes from one subject to another. If I try to interrupt he keeps right on talking. When he asks me a question he answers it himself. If he tells me he'd like an opinion, he keeps talking and gives me one.

When we are with friends or his family, I never say boo. People think I'm one big beetle or that I was born without vocal cords. Any advice?—Made Mouth

Dear M. M.: This man is a compulsive talker and you can't do a bloomin' thing about it. Do his irritations compensate for what turn out to be a nerve-shredding deficiency? This I can tell you—if his non-stop talking bothers you now, it will drive you bananas after you are married.

Dear Ann Landers: I am expecting my second child in about six weeks and I want to make sure I don't have a third. When I told my doctor I didn't think my nerves could take another pregnancy, he suggested that I have my tubes tied immediately after the delivery.

Before I make up my mind for sure I need to know a little more about it. We hear a lot about vasectomies, but very little about tubal ligations. Are there any physiological side effects?

I guess what really bothers me is if this baby died in infancy or early childhood I would never be able to have another child. I don't want three children, but I'd hate to have only one. What do you suggest? Please don't tell me to discuss it with my husband. He says it's up to me.—Ann Bivilest

Dear Biv: This decision must be yours and yours alone. As for the psychological side effects of a ligation, I can't answer that question either because I know nothing about your level of emotional stability. Some women can go to pieces over a hangnail. Others can sail through an amputation with nary a complaint.

It is imperative that you get some outside counsel from someone who knows you personally. I suggest your clergyman or your physician.

Doris Clark

Happy in the Old Folks Home

Dear Doris; I would like to get the name and address of that old lady, 94, who seems to be so distressed about how nobody understands her.

It can really be lovely in an old folks' home. My mother fought the idea for 15 years. Now she is 85. For the last 10 years she has been in a mental patient and also has a very nice home.

We had a hard time with her and it drove all of us almost crazy, but she finally gave in. She has been in a nursing home now since the beginning of March. She is happy there and she loves it. She is only sorry that she didn't go sooner.

Mrs. A.P.P.

Dear Mrs. A.P.P.: Thank you. I cannot give you the address of the old lady, 94, who told us how she felt about being old and confused. That story was written by the woman's daughter and it appeared first in the American Journal of Nursing. Probably she and her daughter live somewhere in the United States.

However, I am printing your letter because of what you said about your mother. It will encourage others, when they need to turn to the reassurance of a kindly nursing home as the best place to look after a confused older person.

Dear Doris: I am a first year student and am thinking of a summer job. I would really be interested in doing some social type work or outdoor work.

University Student

Dear Student: If you haven't started asking by now, better get busy. The Canada Manpower office in your area has some ideas for you — and a lot of students to place, too.

Then there are the day camps and government recreation programs carried on in various city parks. Your own city hall can tell you about these.

Then write to them — quickly. Tell about any experience in your past, paid or unpaid, that would make you a good resort worker, be it waitress, babysitter, maid or chambermaid. And place an ad in your nearest metropolitan newspaper yourself, asking for what you want or feel you can do. Good luck!

Books By And About Women

THE SUMMER OF THE GREAT - GRANDMOTHER by Madeleine L'Engle

How does one handle the dilemma of an aging, senile parent who has been promised she will never go into a nursing home? In this absorbing non-fiction book, Madeleine L'Engle deals poignantly and realistically with this problem out of her own moving experience.

To better understand this particular summer, she unfolds other memoirs from her own childhood and her relationship with her demonstrative mother who set unusually high standards for her daughter. With such recall, we also become acquainted with the whole character of the mother before her illness from atherosclerosis — a witty and imperious Southern lady.

Interwoven with these backgrounds are the bits and pieces of the present household's activities at "Crosswicks" with four generations of family making a tight clan. Also, there is a "bouquet of girls" who take turns administering to the old lady. Happy contributions from the smallest great-grandchild to the adults sustain the author during this period.

In spite of the serious issues of senility and death, there is more normalcy than morbidity, despite daily frustrations, there is a positive quality and perhaps some directive help for anyone facing this problem. Her book also is a need to reach out and say "This is how it is for me; how is it for you?"

This book is available in the Corby Public Library, as well as her autobiographical book "A Circle of Quiet."

Bidding Goodbye to Beulah: Family and Dog Part Ways

We've had a sad time at our house recently. I suspect many of you have been through this too. Let me tell you about it, and if you've had a similar experience, perhaps you'll write and tell us make me feel better — or worse!

We got rid of our dog.

No, we didn't have her "put to sleep" although we feel as bad as if we had.

We gave her away.

Oh, I can see your faces out there now, recoiling in horror and shock. "Gave your dog away! How awful! How heartless! You brute."

Well, wait now. Listen to our side.

We got the dog — her name is Beulah — when she was a few weeks old, about a year and a half ago. Her mother was a Saint Bernard, the kind of dog we had in mind: Placid, easy to train to pad around after us like a big furry buddy. But her father was another story. A tough little mongrel with a good deal more mischievous energy than a Saint.

We built her a dog house (double-wall construction with wall-to-wall carpet, no kidding) and a 40-foot long fenced-in run, so that she didn't need to be tied.

(We feel quite strongly that in urban and suburban communities it is wrong to let a dog run free. Not only is it unfair to neighbors who may not be fond-natured about doggy duties on their lawns, but it is cruel to expose a dog to the dangers of traffic, tormenting children and dog catchers.)

Because Beulah is big and extremely lively, we kept her as an "outside dog", and when she did come in the house it was rough-and-ready tomfoolery gaughanism. She had so much energy that, although we took her for daily walks in the nearby fields, she was wound up like a top and went round in circles for the first half hour, inside or outside.

We loved her dearly, badly-trained and crazy though she was, but as months passed and she showed no signs of leaving her "silly puppy phase" we grew a little fatigued by her restless. We sent her to dog school, and although she didn't exactly fail, she didn't remember her lessons for long.

When we'd come home from work in the evening, there she'd be, sitting at the corner of her pen, wailing eagerly, her big brown eyes liquid with love and devotion. (And her big muddy paws ready to leave their prints and rips all over us!)

We'd let her out to play, and then spend most of the time scolding her. No fun for anyone, right?

Enough is enough, we finally said. That your dog is too lonely. Seeing us once a day isn't sufficient. We can't afford another dog to keep her company. We can't inflict her on ... friends by letting her in the house. She isn't the kind of dog we need, and we're not the sort of people she needs.

As luck would have it, we have a friend who has a big farm with lots of rugged woodland, a menagerie of children, horses, geese, dogs and cats. He agreed to take Beulah, and on Sunday we drove her — heavily sedated, I should add — to her new home.

She's a brave big thing, really. Didn't shed a tear. And no considerate of our feelings that she actually made it quite clear that she preferred the wide open spaces to her old pen, so that we wouldn't feel too bad about deserting her.

But now's the hardest part.

All those involuntary movements, looking for her at the fence when we drive up the road . . . walking out the door in the morning, starting to say, "Fido! Here . . . " I can just not sure we did the right thing.

Busy OES members arrange home baking

Springtime Theme At Minerva Tea

Minerva Chapter, Number 128 of the Order of the Eastern Star held a Springtime Tea and sale of home baking at the Masonic Temple on Parler Avenue Wednesday afternoon.

The tea was convened by Margaret McQueen, Past Matron. The room was decorated in a spring-like way, with paper butterflies, made by the OES members, suspended from the ceiling.

Shirley Bongard was ticket convenor and Joyce Reynolds was tea room convenor. The raffle table, where pussy willows were on sale, was looked after by several of the men in the chapter.

Rhoda Gray, Frances Marner and Jane Cummins were in charge of the kitchen. Pouring tea were Margerie Morgan, Associate Grand Conductress, Eva Heath, Alberta Ireland, Hazel Dafoe, Pearl Kerr, Beasy McMillin, Edna Dobbs and Gladys Ketchason.

Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hamilton are happy to announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Mary-Lou, to Mr. James Bancroft, son of Mary Bancroft, and the late John Bancroft. The marriage will take place on May 17, at 3 p.m. in St. John's United Church, Tweed.

Marries Old Beau

HULL, England (CP) — Hilda Hamilton was 14 when she fell in love with Bernard Jacobs, 18, but her mother stopped them meeting. That was in 1931 and later Hilda entered a convent, where she stayed eight years. Recently they met by chance and when Bernard, 62, proposed "I said yes straight away," said Hilda after the wedding.

MARMORA CWL

Senior citizens of the area were guests of the Marmora Catholic Women's League at a card party on Thursday evening, April 24, in Sacred Heart Parish Hall.

The party was held to celebrate "The Feast of Our Lady of Good Counsel", patroness of the CWL.

The event was convened by Ina March, Ann Terrion and Marilyn Maloney.

SPRING THEME PARTY

Spring is the theme of the wine and cheese dance and party being sponsored by the Belleville branch of the National Ballet Guild of Canada. The occasion, to which the public is invited will be held at Tobes Gardens on Friday, May 2, from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. Tickets are $7.50 per person.

The annual party has been held for several years in order to give financial support to ballet instruction in the Quinte area. For the past three years the guild has concentrated its efforts on sponsoring a school of the classical checchilli method, the Quinte Dance Centre.

Ambassador of Wilderness Is Delighted by His Mail

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mail call is a time of sheer delight for Tommy Tompkins, British Columbia's roving ambassador of the wilderness.

While Tommy is on the road, showing his nature films of B.C., the Yukon and the Northwest Territories to schoolchildren and other audiences all over the province, the letters pile up.

By the time he gets back to his Vancouver headquarters, there is generally five to 10 pounds of mail waiting, most of it from children who have watched his action movies.

"The letters from the youngsters really brighten my day," said Tommy, a former Vancouver city police detective who became a full-time outdoorsman and motion picture photographer 13 years ago. His activities now are sponsored by MacMillan Bloedel.

"The kids pepper me with ideas and questions and crayon pictures of myself, themselves and wild animals. They tell me about their own camping experiences, the animals they've seen, the pets they own and even where they are having dinner that night.

"I only wish I had the time to answer each letter personally."

Tommy's all-time hit with the younger set is a film entitled Nahanni, documenting his life with timber wolves in the Nahanni River country of the Northwest Territories.

It was during this expedition that he rescued a whimpering wolf pup he named Nahanni. He raised it into a beautiful full-grown wolf and eventually donated the animal to the Walt Disney game farm near Los Angeles.

The letters about Nahanni are always interesting and usually fractiously funny, intentionally or unintentionally, as the children, aged 6 to 12, put pen, pencil and crayon to paper.

"Dear Mr. Tumphim:

"Thanku for coming. I like your shoe.. Your wolf is cute. I'm going to Disneyland and see him. Can you tell me where his cage is?

"From Jackie."

A letter from one of Jackie's classmates:

"Thank you for coming to the school to show us what wolf's do to live. Is it good for a wolf to have about 300 pounds of food a day?

"Rhianon."

David Warfield used up most of his letter space by drawing pictures.

"This is a footprint," David advised in the picture captions.

"This is your wolf, this is a nice coyote, this is a mountain goat, and this is a pair of weird glasses."

David also brought Tommy up to date on the state of the animals around his own home: "I have a girl dog and it had babies on my bed. I wish I had a wolf like Nahanni."

A lot of the letters show evidence of concern about the state of Nahanni's health.

"The show you gave us was very interesting. I hope your wolf does not have a heart attack . . .

"Thankyou, Shawnee Phelan."

Doubtful, says Tommy, as Nahanni is thriving at the game farm, getting the odd acting job on television and in the movies.

Everything from Tackle to Trailers

"It's the largest show of it's kind between Montreal and Toronto", says Fred Joost, sponsor of the first Quinte Recreational Sports Show.

The show, which is to take place at Memorial Arena here, on the weekend, is expected to be a hit with all who attend.

According to Joost, this show is strictly for the outdoorsman. All items are sports oriented. They range from fishing tackle and reels, to special attractions like yachts, trailers and motorcycles. A 65 ft. mobile home will be a special feature.

It is the first show of this type in Belleville. It's purpose is to display items of interest to everyone.

There will be no duplication of exhibits, promises Joost.

A large weather balloon will be inflated with helium, and released early Friday morning, and is to remain aloft above the Memorial Arena during the show.

Newfoundland's Mineral Output Increases 15 Times

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — The value of Newfoundland's mineral production has increased from less than $30 million in 1949, the year Newfoundland joined Canada, to about $453 million last year, according to figures released by the provincial mines department.

At Confederation, about 3,500 persons were employed in the mining industry here and the average annual income of miners was about $8,000.

Increased surveys and exploration since then have brought more mines and mineral production, and last year the industry had 7,200 permanent workers with an annual payroll exceeding $90 million.

At least one new mine goes into production this year—a zinc mine near Daniel's Harbour, a fishing settlement on the Great Northern Peninsula. It is expected to start operations at the end of April.

The project, started last year by Newfoundland Zinc Mines Ltd., has sufficient reserves for a nine-year operation and will employ 150 men, most of them local residents.

Mines Minister Leo Barry says, however, that "the potential for finding additional deposits are good and it is reasonable to look forward to a much longer operation than nine years."

He says the company found a high-grade mass of zinc ore while excavating in the area and about 500 tons of the ore has already been stockpiled for mill use.

Mr. Barry said additional geochemical surveys conducted in the area have turned up some interesting findings.

Meanwhile, other operators are plumbing the earth on the Baie Verte Peninsula, on Notre Dame Bay, for quartz.

A mines department spokesman said a diamond-drilling program to assess the size and grade of a quartz deposit at LaSalle has been completed and there is a definite potential in the deposit.

The spokesman noted that while there are hundreds of quartz deposits of high quality in the province, estimated tonnage is relatively small and the deposits do not warrant commercial production.

Detoxification Centres Kept Busy

TORONTO (CP) — It's often tough enough finding a room in Toronto, but if you happen to be a drunk then it's even worse.

Metropolitan Toronto's three detoxification centres are busy and the 49 rooms available are often filled by noon. After that police have little choice but to tell anyone they find drunk on the street.

Although three more centres are scheduled to open before the end of the year, the Ontario government has already been asked to establish two more.

Drinking in Ontario has increased to the point where the government has announced a $million, three-year education program to help control it.

Anyone who finds himself in one of the city's detox centres it is entirely up to him how long he stays or whether he wants to proceed into a rehabilitation program.

Winnie Fraser, director of one of the centres, said the atmosphere created at the centres makes them more conducive to drying out a drunk than a hospital.

"One of the reasons we get mild withdrawals here is that we treat each patient as a unique person," she said. "People get the false idea that drunks are all violent. You get that in a hospital where it's authoritarian. You're a patient, a number.

"And the medical staff isn't used to handling them. When they project their fears, the drunks start playing games to get attention. If they don't get what they want it's a chaotic mess."

The detox centres try to give the alcoholics love and understanding except when they get too demanding.

The centres try to create a home atmosphere. Thanks to Winnie Fraser, the walls in the rooms have been changed from cold white to cheery yellows, blues and pinks. There are flowered spreads on the beds and there is a television lounge, also ways with a coffe urn.

Ecologists Delay Scheldt Sea Dams

MIDDELBURG, Netherlands (Reuter) — Wild-life protection groups have forced a long halt in the completion of the world's biggest system of sea dams, designed to prevent disasters floods, again in southwest Holland.

Vociferous ecologists and environmentalist groups want to preserve oyster and mussel beds as well as breeding grounds for fish in the eastern Scheldt estuary, even though this means danger from the treacherous North Sea for more than 100,000 people.

The preservationists raised such an outcry that the government was forced to abandon the original scheme and produce new plans likely to cost the country an additional 2.1 billion guilders (about $800 million).

The government had planned to dam off the arms of the sea ever since a spring tide, whipped up by a raging gale, overwhelmed the dikes in this delta region in 1953 and inundated huge areas lying below sea level.

At least 1,850 people lost their lives when the sea surged through the breaches, engulfing most of the bleak islands with their small farms and market towns.

All the other sea arms and inlets, except the eastern Scheldt, now have been dammed. But the environmentalists have sprung into action to prevent the final closure which would turn the tidal reaches into a vast inland fresh-water lake and destroy marine life.

The government's experts on water control now are almost at a loss for an engineering solution which can safeguard both the people and the fish.

"We are scouring the world for scientific help to enable us to build a barrier system that will let the sea water through, and can still be closed off in times of danger," said Cornelius Fischer, a senior official of the transport and water ways ministry involved in the delta plan.

"The fearsome problem, above all, is how to build an fine sand for about nine kilometres (5.6 miles) across the eastern Scheldt, with its racing tidal currents," he said.

The ambitious dam scheme, still the first of its kind in the world, was designed to shorten the coastline by pushing back the North Sea. It would allow complete control of Holland's water system, and regulate the flow of the Rhine estuary.

The expected cost for the entire scheme was 3.2 billion guilders ($1.2 billion)—still the environmentalists stepped in.

"If we can find a solution for the eastern Scheldt—and that is a big 'if' now—it will probably mean sinking dozens of floating concrete sections, each weighing some 150,000 tons or more, across the mouth," Mr. Fischer said.

"Each of those blocks would be as heavy as a laden oil supertanker. This has never been done before and nobody knows how the sand below would react in the long run to the weight and the vibrations from current."

Holland, much of which lies below sea level, is protected from the sea and rivers by 1,125 miles of dunes and dikes.

Without them, the country would either disappear into the water or become uninhabitable.

The first massive protection and land reclamation scheme was completed in 1932 when a dam 30 miles long closed the Zuyder Zee in northern Holland off from the sea, allowing more than 550,000 acres of land to be reclaimed.

North Sea Oil Keeps 46,000 Busy

ABERDEEN, Scotland (CP) — Even though the landing of the first production oil from the British sector of the North Sea still is two months away, the industry that has sprung up around the discoveries off the northeast coast already involves more than 46,000 people—with another 8,000 jobs in prospect.

More than 20,000 of these people are in ale-related jobs in Scotland; another 6,000 work in northeast England. In addition, a further 10,000 are indirectly involved in the huge task of providing supplies and services for up to 40 drilling rigs at work in the North Sea.

The size of the industry that has been newly created in Britain is indicative of the rewards that are at stake. Latest estimates show that the offshore supplies and services market in the United Kingdom now is worth well over 2000 million (1.24 billion) a year.

Diving bells now on trial are designed to take men down to 1,000 feet and efforts are being made by designers to provide more comfort for underwater workers who otherwise face the prospect of spending days in tiny decompression chambers.

In the case of new production platforms, 11 of the 12 now being built or on order for the U.K. sector of the North Sea are being put together in Britain. Two years ago the comparable figure was three.

It is the same story with the giant structures that sit on top of the platform to provide accommodation, storerooms, helicopter landing pad and communications centre for the rig. Whereas only two of these structures were being made in Britain in the second half of 1972 the number rose in the second half of last year to 152.

Another area of major expansion on the oil scene is the concentration of divers in the North Sea. The 300 now working there are said to be the largest group ever seen in one area. Britain has many divers of her own but is planning to increase her representation with a new diving training centre being established in Scotland.

British Petroleum chairman Sir Eric Drake recently predicted that within the next 10 years or so four times the amount of oil so far found offshore will be discovered.

Meanwhile, so the British government prepares to introduce a petroleum bill that will enable it to participate in the successful North Sea oilfields, BP s.. it will start drilling productio... wells in its Forties field in a.. 7. When three of the wells a.. completed oil will start to ... along the pipeline that li... the field with the coast of Scotland. It will take more than a month for the pipeline to fill up because it will have a capacity of 1.4 million barrels.

Texan Rescues Old Airplanes

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — and everyone would stop shooting 'cause they didn't want to give away their position.

"Only one man in my outfit got shot and he got caught stealing a piano from a farmhouse in France while the Germans were coming.

"I went back and stole the piano myself. . . . we had a ball."

The 53-year-old Texan says he had a licence to fly when he was 15 and his love affair with airplanes has been unflagging ever since.

The planes often are old, ugly and rusting hulks, long forgotten and rotting on jungle floors, but Roper finds 'em, loves 'em and flies 'em.

The older and rustier the better, he said. "If you poke around the Pentagon, you'll find out where they are. I've always been a fortunate old boy."

Roper hit Saginaw in January after the BCM Co. of Dallas heard there was an old Grumman HU-16B Albatross that might be worth his special skills.

The lumbering seaplane sat for three years at the Michigan Military and Air Museum. But the museum went bankrupt and the old plane seemed headed for the scrap heap.

"That plane is going out of here fully licensed," Roper said as he strode purposefully through a service hangar at Tri-Cities Airport. "They didn't believe it when I got here, but they're believing it now."

His firm bought the Albatross for 6,870 and Roper had spent 30,000 and two months fixing it up. He said the firm already has been offered 120,000 for it.

The plane, built by the government in 1953 for about 200,000, can fly for 30 hours, land on earth, sea or snow and carry 10,000 pounds of cargo and 17 passengers.

"It's just perfect for oil exploration," Roper said, unable to suppress a grin and wink. "It'll sell for a ton."

Roper makes no bones about loving his rusting old airplanes.

In the 1950s his search took him to South Africa where he fixed up 32 planes, working five months a year for three years. In Vulcan, Alta., he once rescued 114 planes, using just two engines.

"I'd fly one down to San Antonio, take the engines off, truck 'em back to Canada, put 'em on another plane and keep doing it."

Roper has flown just about everything with wings. He pilloted spotter planes for the Army Air Corps in the Second World War, returned to military duty during the Korean War and has flown crop dusters from Nova Scotia to Nicaragua.

Lately, he has travelled the world in search of decrepit planes. And everywhere he goes, the stories get told.

"Oldest thing in the world was flying my spotter plane in the Second World War," he said. "I'd take my spotter up

Work Begins on Pipeline

After six years of litigation, work has finally begun on the Alaska pipe line, the largest private construction project in United States history. More than 10,000 workers have begun carving out the route for the 48-inch conduit which will cost more than $6-billion. It is hoped to complete the project within three years and start handling crude oil from the Prudhoe Bay field in the Arctic tundra 789 miles to the ice-free port of Valdez. Fleets of tankers will pick up the oil cargo at the port and carry it to refineries in the U.S. Work crews have already laid a 206-foot section of pipe near Fairbanks for test purposes. Work is also going ahead on welding pipe and building roads, pump construction camps and tanker terminals. In the coming months, crews will lay more than 100,000 sections of pipe above and below ground, across fields, swamps and rivers and over mountain passes where the pipe sections must rise almost vertically.

Greenhouse Uses Wasted Hot Water

EDMONTON (CP) — Waste hot water from a power generating station has been used with some success in an experimental greenhouse at Lake Wahasum, 40 miles west of Edmonton.

R. M. Trimmer, provincial horticulturalist and the project's supervisor, said the 2,400-square-foot greenhouse is one of the first in Canada attempting to salvage waste energy for agricultural purposes.

He said the greenhouse, which opened a year ago, using water from the generating station as its only heat source, produced excellent produce in summer and tomatoes and shrubs in winter. But initial findings indicated midwinter growth of vegetables might not be possible.

The heat waste from the plant runs through an intricate web-type framework with fans blowing the warmed air over the produce. Mr. Trimmer said air temperatures inside the greenhouse is only 10 or 15 degrees cooler than the water even when the outside temperature dips below zero.

The system has the opposite effect in summer, cooling the air in the domed, glass-faced structure.

Mr. Trimmer said the first year's experiments showed a much longer summer growing season can be achieved under ideal conditions but that the temperature was not high enough for good results in winter vegetable growth.

Mr. Trimmer said one more year of experimental work is needed before any final evaluation is possible. A wide variety was being planted early this spring, concentrating on quick-growth crops that could be harvested and replanted to determine production, growing periods and the possibility of continuous harvesting.

The Wahasum site is only one of several generating plants in Alberta that provide waste hot water and if the experiment shows promise the other sites may be considered for use.

Mr. Trimmer said experiments are being conducted in Saskatoon in which hot air trapped from a power plant smokestack is used.

"Once we get a good season under our belts, we can work out the economics of the whole thing," he said.

Hydro Loses Customer

POWELL RIVER, B.C. (CP) — Elizabeth Oliver learned how to get along without electricity after British Columbia Hydro cut off her power.

And she has found it's not difficult to survive, especially for someone in the small business.

Mrs. Oliver runs a store which specializes in dehydrated survival food for outdoorsmen in this community about 80 miles north of Vancouver.

"We are surviving nicely with a gasoline lantern and will install a gasoline heater this fall to get through winter," she said.

The problem with Hydro began when she applied for a hookup for her new business. She was told there would be no charge for several months while Hydro assessed how much electricity she would use.

A couple of weeks later, Mrs. Oliver received a letter from the utility asking for a $100 deposit.

"They had told us earlier that they didn't want a deposit so I didn't pay too much attention to the letter.

"Then a Hydro representative showed up demanding the $100. He said they would hold the money for one to two years as security against us going bankrupt.

"I made a little noise and let him know I was quite capable of looking after my own money.

"He threatened to cut e... electricity and I told him to cut it off."

Mrs. Oliver said the gasoline lantern gives "a real survival atmosphere to the store."

Central B.C. Residents Show Concern About Environment

VANCOUVER (CP) — Within a decade, British Columbia's forest industry will not be a net producer of revenue for the provincial government, says B.C.'s chief forester.

W. E. L. Young said there will continue to be charges for using the province's timber but expenditures for roads and environmental protection will probably offset direct revenue to the government.

"The real revenue from the forest industry comes from tax-on profits and income taxes from those working in the industry," he said in an interview.

New B.C. Forest Service logging guidelines which govern the size of clear-cut openings in the forest and are designed to protect streams are an improvement, he said.

"Constraints on logging and logging practices are being overdone in B.C. Tremendous steps were made in the last decade in environmental protection.

"These environmental steps will mean higher costs because we are going to have to build more roads—that's the biggest single item."

Mr. Young said the people the province also want better access to forest areas.

The forest service sets high standards for what are called main haul roads, often used by the public during or after logging operations, he said.

In the budget for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1975, the government estimated that revenues from the forest industry would be $258.1 million in the form of stumpage and royalty charges. Stumpage is the fee paid by the companies for each tree cut.

A decline in housing starts in Canada and the United States and problems in the Japanese economy have brought a slump to the lumber market and a sharp decline in stumpage.

The forest service was scheduled to spend $43.3 million in the fiscal year. Mr. Young said there now is more co-operation with other government departments such as fish and wildlife and a resultant increase in overall government costs.

Excuse For Spouse

Indians Abused

TORONTO (CP) — Canada's native people are discriminated against and suffer physical abuse at the hands of whites in the Kenora area, Peter Kelly of the Keewatin Indian reserve said Wednesday.

He was speaking at a meeting held by the department of Indian and northern affairs in a downtown hotel, concerning the problems of Indian and Inuit peoples.

"Physical abuse is prevalent, and cannot be tolerated," Mr. Kelly said.

Peter Lesguit, assistant deputy minister of the department of Indian and northern affairs, said steps are being taken to solve the problem but "it can't be corrected overnight."

Take No Stand

KENORA, Ont. (CP) — A special meeting of town council has decided to take no formal position on the book, Bended Elbow, an account of Indian drunkenness and misbehavior written by a local resident.

A citizens' committee had asked town council to dissociate itself formally from the book, but councillors attending the Tuesday night special meeting decided against making any such declaration.

Prices Will Rise

DETROIT (AP) — The vice-chairman of General Motors said Wednesday that United States price increases on 1976 model cars are inevitable because of continued cost pressures facing the company.

"We can't avoid an increase," said Oscar Lundin, who refused to say how much GM car prices might go up.

More Layoffs

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Ford Motor Co. of Canada Ltd. announced Wednesday it will lay off another 800 workers for one or two weeks starting Monday.

Tax Deadline

OTTAWA (CP) — The deadline for Quebec residents to file federal income tax returns was extended to May 19 because of postal disruptions, but the April 30 deadline remained unchanged for all other provinces, Revenue Minister Ron Basford said Wednesday.

Plane Crashes

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Two men and a woman are missing following the crash of a single-engine aircraft into Lake St. Clair north of Belle Isle Wednesday night.

A spokesman for the United States Coast Guard said a survivor of the crash was picked out of the water 20 minutes after the crash which witnesses said occurred after the plane had been performing stunts.

The spokesman said the survivor identified herself as Michelle Smith, 20, and told the coast guard she was in the aircraft with her sister Jennifer, 17, and two men whom she did not identify.

Go to Moscow

OTTAWA (CP) — Five Royal Canadian Legion officials left Wednesday for a 10-day visit to the Soviet Union at the invitation of the Soviet Veterans Association to participate in ceremonies marking the 30th anniversary of VE Day. Involved in the group are Robert McChesney, Kirkland Lake, Ont., national president; Doug McDonald, Brantford, Ont., first vice-president; Ed Coley, Caledonia, Ont., second vice-president; Ray Tuckke, Toronto, vice-president; and Jean Lamy, Ottawa, national secretary.

Hockey Player Is Charged With Assault During Game

PICKERING, Ont. (CP) — Provincial Court Judge Norman Edmondson reserved judgment Wednesday for three weeks in the case of an Ajax, Ont., juvenile hockey player charged with assault causing bodily harm.

Judge Edmondson, who cited the "nonverbal novel" nature of the case and its "far-reaching" implications, will deliver his verdict May 21 in nearby Oshawa provincial court.

Defence witnesses were called Wednesday and the judge heard summations from lawyers in the second day of the trial of Robert Watson, 18.

Watson, a defenceman with the Ajax juvenile all-stars, is charged with assaulting David Lundrigan, 18, a forward with the Bay Ridges juvenile all-stars during a Lakeshore Minor Hockey League game here last Nov. 2.

Witnesses testified that the two players were jostling in the area in front of the Ajax net shortly before the incident.

Watson claimed he was slashed by Lundrigan. He said he then dropped his gloves and stick and chased Lundrigan, reaching him near the Ajax blueline, where he grappled him to the ice in a headlock.

Watson told the court Lundrigan had dropped his stick and gloves as he approached. He said he assumed Lundrigan was prepared to fight at that point.

Watson, given a six-game suspension following the incident because he incurred numerous penalties, said he did not intend to hurt the Bay Ridges player.

Mr. Howell said that "this is not a fight."

"It is an attack. This is no more a fight than a situation where a person who's mugged on the street and protects himself can be said to be in a fight."

Mr. Howell said while contestants in a hockey match consent to a degree of violence and bodily contact, retaliation often violence beyond acceptable levels.

Defence lawyer T. V. Kelly said Watson reacted "instinctively" to what he called a "vicious blow."

Mr. Kelly argued that by providing minimal sanctions against violence hockey is the only sport to tolerate fighting.

The 10 most asked questions about the new $1,500 Ontario Home Buyers Grant.

What does it take to be eligible for this new Grant?

Very simply, you must first be a resident of Ontario, 18 years of age or older. And second, the home must be your principal residence and the first housing unit bought or built by you, your spouse, your co-owner or the spouse of the co-owner.

You mean it has nothing to do with how much I make or how much the house costs?

That's right. There are no income restrictions, nor are there any restrictions on the price of the housing unit, as long as the purchase price is equal to the fair market value. As well, the grant applies to new and older homes alike.

What do you mean by "housing unit"?

A housing unit is defined as a unit suitable for permanent habitation that provides living, sleeping, eating and food preparation facilities for one family.
The housing unit may be:

a) a house containing not more than two housing units
b) a condominium
c) a unit of a co-operative housing corporation
d) a mobile home that meets prescribed standards defined by the Canadian Standards Association.

I've been thinking of buying a home but I haven't done anything definite yet. Is there any time limit?

Yes. You must complete the purchase of the housing unit between April 8, 1975 and December 31, 1975 and reside in this housing unit as your principal residence by June 30, 1976.

Can we use the $1,500 for our down payment?

Not directly, since you will not receive the grant until after you own and reside in your housing unit.

How do I apply for the $1,500 Grant?

To apply, you must file an application with the Ministry of Revenue. You will be mailed the initial $1,000 cheque after your application is approved. If you continue to live in the house you will receive, upon reapplication, an additional cheque for $250 in each of the next two years on the anniversary date of your qualification for the initial grant. In all $1,500.

When should I file my application?

You should file it after you own the housing unit and reside in it as your principal residence.

If we qualify for the Ontario Home Buyers Grant, will we still be eligible for other housing grants?

Yes. This is a new grant from the Province of Ontario and does not affect participation in other programs.

How do I get the application form?

You can get applications by writing:
Ministry of Revenue
Ontario Home Buyers Grant
Queen's Park
Toronto, Ontario M7A 2C9
Also application forms have been made available through many realty offices and trust companies.

Just one more thing—how can I get more information about all of this, if I need it?

You can phone us, free of charge, by dialing "0" and asking the operator for Zenith 8-2000. Residents within Metro Toronto local calling area should dial 965-8470. Phone lines are open from 8 to 8 weekdays, and from noon until 5 on Saturday.

The $1,500 Home Buyers Grant is just part of the picture.

Ontario understands how important it is to have a home of your own. And we'd like to help out with a grant of $1,500 towards your first home. It's part of an overall plan to make more homes available in Ontario. And stimulate our economy. So it's good for all of us.

Services Big Budget Item

By MARNY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Social services will consume more than half the gross funds needed to operate Hastings County in 1975.

The cost of such services — ranging from welfare in family aid and homes for the aged — accounts for $4,108,000 of the $7,508,000 budget approved by council Tuesday.

The budget also brings a 41-per-cent increase in the county levy — the actual charge to local taxpayers after all revenues are in — including costs shared by Belleville and Trenton.

It was the most dramatically-demanding budget in county history, ending the happy time for county levy payers — who have gone without an increase since 1971.

In fact, the 41-per-cent increase suggested by Carl Bateman, county treasurer-administrator, as councillors accepted what seemed inevitable: If viewed over a five-year span, the budget bolge "becomes much more acceptable."

The total budget was up 27 per cent over 1974's expenditures of $5.9 million.

Hefty provincial road subsidies demanding local spending was a major budget booster.

And contributing to the increased levy was a $115,000 departmental error in road estimates.

The levy is the amount required by county government — after senior government grants and other revenue — needed to balance the budget. It's collected by varying tax charges on the county's 27 townships and villages.

The levy this year is up to $1,422,000 — an increase of $415,000.

Carl Bateman, county clerk-administrator said the mistake happened in the office of Frank Pinder, county engineer. It was caused by staff shortage due to illness and the fact several account vouchers had not been processed when the roads department was computing how much it had left to work with in late 1974.

The county, shows its auditor's report, finished the year with a deficit of $22,000.

The deficit is offset on audit records by other assets. In fact, auditor Bob Craw told councillors they should consider the county in "reasonably good financial shape."

However, this did little to ease the jar confirmed by councillors as they approved the sharply-increased budget.

"It's been a time in which we all had to do some soul-searching," admitted Warden William McCrea, reeve of Hungerford, as he closed out the budget session. . . . But I don't see any alternative really."

"I don't think anyone is really happy with this budget," he said. "It's just something we have to live with."

Added Reeve Calvin White of Dungannon Township, as he formally moved adoption of the budget: "It's up considerably (but) I can't see how very much can be done about it."

Thurlow Only Township To Escape Budget Hike

Thurlow Township is the only one of Hastings County's 27 municipalities that pays less in the 1975 county levy — and for a negative reason."

Thurlow has lost a major slice of assessment.

The levy is the amount needed by county government to finance its operations after all major government grants and expenditures are received.

The levy this year is $1,422,000, up $415,000, and is charged in varying amounts against the ability of member municipalities to pay.

This year Thurlow's share is $105,510 — down $1,214.

But the saving represents a loss of $1 million in assessment to the township by the shutdown of the Canada Cement —Lafarge plant at Point Anne, said Reeve Horace Casey.

Next year even more assessment will be lost when the company's building are totally demolished, he said.

The reeve said he'd sooner have the big assessment than the marginal amount saved at the county levy.

Changes to other municipalities — following Wednesday's approval of the $7.56 million county budget — with increases in brackets are:

Townships — Sidney, $388,368 ($325,778); Tyendinaga, $66,188 ($28,980); Tudor-Cashel, $7,300 ($1,105); Wollaston, $7,521 (188%); Sangster-Wicklow - McClure, $14,325 ($2,702); Carlow, $4,600 ($805); Dungannon, $7,377 ($898); Elzevir-Grimsthorpe, $18,743 ($6,088); Faraday, $14,218 ($3,418); Herschel, $10,005 ($929); Hungerford, $78,010 ($33,194); Huntingdon, $40,308 ($18,698); Limerick, $3,303 ($698); Madoc, $42,102 ($12,757); Marmora-Lake, $53,147 ($20,300); Mayo, $2,700 ($493); Montague, $8,453 ($1,178); Rawdon, $28,398 ($24,383). Towns and Villages — Deseronto, $52,341 ($22,321); Bancroft, $30,451 ($7,243); Deloro, $4,864 ($3,041); Frankford, $46,575 ($11,815); Madoc, $47,187 ($19,558); Marmora, $28,928 ($26,410); Stirling, $60,464 ($4,813); Tweed, $49,900 ($17,752).

Keeping Pace

County educator Dave Smith keeps the momentum going in the Wednesday night opening of the Belleville Theatre Guild's presentation of the Music Man. Staged in Belleville Collegiate, the play sports a cast of 44 . . . the majority of which are children. The musical comedy continues Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings with curtain at 8 p.m. Tickets are available at the door.

Author Corrects Some Loyalist Inaccuracies

Mary Fryer of Toronto, author of The Loyalist Spy and other books, corrected several inaccurate impressions that many people have about the United Empire Loyalists before a recent gathering of the Hastings County Historical Society at the Hastings County Museum.

She emphasized not all Loyalists left the United States after the end of the American Revolution. She pointed out many of them had been living in Canada for as many as seven years during the war.

Mrs. Fryer said these people had been living in the Montreal area — the women and children residing in refugee camps while their menfolk served in various provincial regiments, which were given the auxiliary work to do and were often scorned by the British regulars.

She said one of their jobs was espionage, which involved the passing of secret messages, the kidnapping of prominent rebels.

She stressed the work being done by such men as Sutton Sherwood, who rescued a great many Loyalists from the hands of the rebels, Joseph Bettay, who bribed himself out of a number of situations until he was finally hanged and John W. Meyers, later regarded as a founder of Belleville.

Energy Expert Stresses Need for Home Insulation

A director of Ontario Hydro's crown corporation has called for "mandatory requirements in the National Building Code" in the area of increased insulation and installation of heat pumps in buildings as one means to solving the energy crisis.

Dr. R. H. Hay, a member of Kingston's public utilities commission, told an international gathering of Kiwanis Club members here Wednesday, "We must improve to the utmost the efficiency of the use . . . and conversion of energy."

"We have to learn to make do with what we have," commented Dr. Hay, a former member of the provincial advisory committee which studied Ontario energy allocation.

He pointed out an improvement in efficiency of electrical appliances by just five per cent would greatly reduce the rapid consumption of energy reserves and should be noted is compounded by energy waste.

Waste is also evident in the use of important fuels in boilers in the thermo-generation of nuclear energy, said Dr. Hay, such as natural gas and crude oil instead of residual oil.

"This low grade use of high grade fuel has got to be stopped," he commented.

"The reserve of gas is here right now," said Dr. Hay. He related that two years ago, Kingston was faced with such an extra load of natural gas to meet its needs and then last year, Trans-Canada Pipeline officials told the city supply would have to be cut by one-quarter.

Dr. Hay also said that within two months, the provincial government will pass legislation regulating the allocation of natural gas to different classes of consumers.

Kiwanians Gather

Fellowship was the name of the game and it was played by close to 250 Kiwanis Club members at the Royal Canadian Legion Branch 99 hall here Wednesday as Belleville and Picton Kiwanians were hosts for an annual celebration in honor of U.A.—Canada Goodwill Week.

A total of 34 clubs were represented — 18 from eastern Ontario and 11 from New York State. It was the first time Belleville has hosted the annual event which usually alternates on either side of the border each year.

Ontario was represented by three Peterborough clubs, two apiece from Belleville and Kingston, Madoc, Picton, Tweed, Trenton, Cobourg and Cornwall.

From New York were Baldwinsville, Solvay-Geddes, Auburn (the Northern Lakes), Oswego, Fulton, Black River, Syracuse North Syracuse, Hannibal, Lake Delta and Waterloo.

Speaking for the city of Belleville, Ald. Brian Leckie commented of the visitors, comprised "the greatest combination of people on both sides of the border".

Nuclear Power Canada's Saving Grace: Official

Nuclear energy is the present salvation of the energy crisis in southern Ontario of natural gas and oil and society will have to cope with the resulting environmental hazards, says Dr. R. H. Hay, of the public utilities commission in Kingston.

Speaking to an international meeting of Kiwanis Club members here Wednesday at the Royal Canadian Legion Branch 99 hall, Dr. Hay said Canadian environmental problems are associated with the use of nuclear energy.

He he emphasized the problems can be cleared with "reasonable compromise and trade-offs".

Dr. Hay, a director of Ontario Hydro's crown corporation, said there should be strict protection of uranium and thorium resources in Ontario.

He pointed out by 1990, 60 percent of the energy generated in Ontario will be nuclear energy.

Rowboat Immigrant

Robin Dulmage, a former Quinte area resident now living in Waterloo, at the head table Wednesday during the international gathering of Kiwanis Club members here at the Legion Hall. He said Waterloo friends call him "the rowboat immigrant." He is a relative of Belleville Kiwanian Roy Dulmage.

Car Wash Saturday

A Grade 12 class at Quinte Secondary School will be holding a car wash Saturday, May 3 at the rear parking lot of the high school. The proceeds of the car wash will be used to help finance a trip for the students to New York City May 9, 10 and 11.

Celsius Change Drives Some to U. S. Radio

By RON CARSON
Staff Reporter

Some are still rejecting it. Some are still ignoring it. But by and large most Quinte area residents are beginning to warm up to the Fahrenheit to Celsius change a month ago today.

Dave Sovereign, news director for Radio CJBQ, said the number of complaints from listeners protesting the change has substantially decreased. He said during the first two weeks of April the radio station received many calls unfavorable to the broadcasting of the temperatures in Celsius reading.

Mr. Sovereign also said he heard reports that many of Belleville's senior citizens listened to American radio stations during the first week of April to get Fahrenheit readings. He said this took place despite the fact that temperatures on each side of Lake Ontario can vary. Radio CJBQ has been broadcasting temperatures entirely in Celsius since April 1.

Spokesmen from several hardware stores in Belleville said the demand for celsius thermometers is still high but that delivery from the manufacturers has been slow. Some said they expect a good supply of Celsius thermometers soon.

A spokesman from the Hastings County Board of Education said there has been difficulty for the students in adapting to the new scale because students had always been exposed to Celsius readings in their curriculum.

He also said schools throughout Hastings County are sponsoring workshops for pupils on the metric system which also includes work in the Celsius temperature scale.

The spokesman said the response has been good to date.

When asked about the change a young Belleville resident replied "who cares now that the warm weather is here — it's nice in either scale."

City Council Monday night rejected a bid by Alderman Sid Weeks to take a "grass-roots stand" against the cesty metric conversion plan. The vote was 9 to 2 against a move to protest the conversion plan.

Inspecting Damage

Fire officials focused their attention on an outside basement door leading into St. Thomas' Anglican Church which was destroyed by fire early Wednesday morning while a United Rigging workman inspected the walls for safety (above). From left, in uniform, are Paul Stevenson and Reg Christopher, Belleville fire department inspectors and Paul McKerracher of the Ontario Fire Marshall's office.

Age Takes Its Toll

The cost of running an organization like the Hiddings of Hastings Tourist Association could climb as age takes its toll of volunteer workers. Hastings County council was told Wednesday.

The caution came from Vera McKay, president, for mer vice-president the association. Mr. McMurray a voluntary worker, said administration now only 20 per cent of the group's revenue.

In other areas where there are full or part-time employers of tourist associations, administration runs as high as 50 per cent.

The inevitable effect he said, will be less funds available for the association's prime function — promotion, on which it spent $15,000 last year.

Investigation of Church Fire Still Continuing

By ROBIN CHASE
Staff Reporter

Officials investigating the cause of a fire which destroyed the 100-year-old St. Thomas Anglican Church here early Wednesday morning expect the worst, a Belleville insurance adjuster said today.

Gerry Brennan of Brennan and McBridge Insurance Adjusters Ltd. said in an interview, "we do expect the worst. But at the moment we can't confirm the worst. Let us say it is an unusual fire."

Mr. Brennan said it will be impossible to see any of the stone structure on which to build a new church.

"The walls are not safe to build upon," he said. "The report of our engineer is: down she comes."

Mr. Brennan emphasized the walls and tower are in danger of collapse. A snow fence was installed around the shaky structure Wednesday.

He said if the walls come down, they will not fall to the perimeter of the fence and the tower, because of its lean, will fall eastward into the gutted church.

However, "we're going to have to do something about that (tower)" he added.

Mr. Brennan said Dr. Richard Fuller, MPP Quinte, has pointed out "there are grants available to rebuild."

St. Thomas Anglican Church was erected on the site of its predecessor which was partially destroyed by fire on Feb. 26, 1876, according to church records.

The existing church was rebuilt using the remaining walls of that first church. But history will not repeat itself, remarked Mr. Brennan.

Cancer Worker Honored At Special Dinner

At a special dinner at the Four Seasons Hotel Wednesday, Chris Logan, longtime volunteer worker with the Canadian Cancer Society in the Quinte area, was honored on her retirement as Service to Patients chairman.

Mrs. Logan had been active with the Cancer Society since it was established in the city more than 20 years ago and for the past 13 years was chairman of the group that looked after patients' needs.

Guest speaker at the dinner was Helen Dimmons of Ottawa, Ontario Division activity program chairman. Special guest was Marguerite Shinzi, Toronto, chairman of service to patients for the province.

Mrs. Logan was presented with a gift from the society by Shirley Woodcox, president of the Belleville district branch of the Canadian Cancer Society.

New Gym Sought

BLOOMFIELD — Ratepayers of South Marysburg Township have been informed by the Prince Edward County Board of Education to consider enlargement of the gymnasium at South Marysburg School.

The Big Budget

Hastings County Warden William McCrea and Reeve James Pollock, of Rawdon Township, county finance chairman ponder 1975 budget that had jarring news for county council Wednesday. After four years without major hikes, the budget spiralled from $5.6 million to $7.56 million.

Expos Nipped 2-1

Cash, Carlton Lead Phillies

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Steve Carlton pitched a six-hit-

STEVE CARLTON

ter for his first National League baseball win of the season while Dave Cash crowned the game and drove in the other Wednesday night to lead Philadelphia Phillies to a 2-1 win over Montreal Expos.

Carlton, 1-2, struck out seven, walked three and lost his shutout when Barry Foote led off the eighth inning with his first home run of the season.

Cash, who had four singles, led off the first with a hit to right, Steve Rogers, 0-4, hit Mike Schmidt with a pitch and Greg Luzinski lined a run-scoring single to left.

The Phillies made it 2-0 in the seventh when Mike Anderson singled, took second on a hit by Carlton and scored on Cash's fourth hit.

The Phillies got a one-out single from Cash in the third but he was forced by Larry Bowa and Schmidt flied out. In the fourth, Jay Johnstone doubled to right with two out and Bob Boone walked. Rogers, however, fanned Anderson to end the threat.

Meanwhile, Montreal was having its problems with Carlton. Pepe Mangual walked to open the game but was erased in a double play, Bob Bailey walked to start the second, stole second and continued to third when Boone threw the ball into centre field. He never moved as Carlton retired the next three batters.

Cash rapped his third single to start the Phillies' fifth but again was forced by Bowa. Schmidt fled out to end the inning.

Cubs Snap Mets' Streak at 7

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

After Jon Matlack had been his favorite bat, he said he felt like crying.

But that didn't stop Cardinal from hitting singles, leading Chicago Cubs to a 7-4 victory over New York and ending the Mets' seven-game winning streak.

Cardinal started a five-run first inning with a home run and three singles. Then after losing his bat in the scorer, Cardinal got a new one and knocked out pitcher Jon Matlack with a two-run single in the fourth inning.

In the other National League games, Cincinnati Reds beat San Francisco Giants 4-3, Philadelphia Phillies beat Montreal Expos 2-1, Pittsburgh Pirates defeated St. Louis Cardinals 5-4, San Diego Padres beat Houston Astros 4-3 and Los Angeles Dodgers defeated Atlanta Braves 3-2.

Chicago starter Ray Burris, 3-4, was the beneficiary of the Cub assault on Matlack, 3-2, but had to leave the game after five innings when he was hit on his pitching hand by a batted ball. Bill Madlock's 4th homer of the season followed Cardenal's single. A pair of Mets errors, Manny Trillo's double chased two more runs home and Burris singled in the final run of the first inning.

JOSE CARDENAL

Cardenal's two-run single in the fourth not only knocked Matlack out of the game but provided the Cubs with their final runs.

The Mets scored in the first on a double by Joe Torre and a single by Rusty Staub and again in the second when John Stearns hit his first major league home run. They added another in the fifth on a single by Harvalson, a walk and a run-scoring single by Felix Millan, and got their final run in the seventh on Staub's RBI single.

Ken Griffey hit a two-run triple and Tony Perez added a two-run homer, leading Cincinnati over San Francisco. John Bench's leadoff walk and Cesar Geronimo's one-out single preceded Griffey's triple, giving the Reds a 3-0 lead in the second off loser Jim Barr, 1-2.

Home runs by Willie Stargell and Richie Zisk backed five-hit pitching by Jerry Reuss and led Pittsburgh over St. Louis. Losing pitcher Bob Gibson fell to a 3-1 with the loss, the seventh in eight games for the spinning Cardinals.

Two-out doubles by John Grubb and Dave Winfield in the fifth inning produced three runs and led San Diego to a come-from-behind victory over Houston. Winner Tony Stebno walked, Enos Hernandez singled and Bobby Tolan drove in Siebert to tie the game at 11. Then Grubb doubled Tolan home. Chase starter Larry Dierker.

Lee Lacy hit three singles and drove in a pair of runs, leading a 10-hit Los Angeles attack, as the Dodgers defeated Atlanta for their seventh straight victory. Doug Rau went the distance for the Dodgers, scattering seven hits for his third victory in four decisions.

Trials Scheduled

TORONTO (CP) — Trials will be held in five Ontario cities May 10 to pick candidates for a provincial junior basketball team.

The trials, to be held in Ottawa, Sudbury, Hamilton, Windsor and Toronto, will be followed by sessions in Toronto May 16-17 to pick the team.

Ruby Richman, director of the Ontario national team, said Tuesday the idea is to use this team at Ontario's representative in the next Canada Summer Games in St. John's, Nfld., in 1977.

Some Ontario players are also expected to be picked for a national junior team, which will be made up by coaches traveling across Canada this summer.

Strikeouts Are Okay But Perry Enjoys Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Going from 18th to 14th place on baseball's all-time strikeout list didn't really thrill Cleveland's Gaylord Perry. What made him happier was going from 3-3 to 4-2.

"Strikeouts are nice when you need them, but the big thing is winning," Perry said Wednesday after posting his fourth victory in six decisions in the Indians' 8-1 win over Boston Red Sox.

He struck out nine Boston batters. That gave him 2,337 career strikeouts and moved him past early Wynn's 2,334.

In other American League baseball action, New York Yankees beat Baltimore Orioles 5-4, Texas Rangers defeated Chicago White Sox 8-2, Milwaukee Brewers beat Detroit Tigers 6-2, and California Angels beat Kansas City Royals 7-4.

Perry, writing the 302nd victory of his career, go 1 help from Buck Powell who drove in three runs, two with his fourth homer of the season.

Bobby Bonds hit a three-run homer off Baltimore reliever Bob Reynolds in the ninth inging to give the Yankees their win over the Orioles.

"I was successful might but another night I might leave those men at bat," said Bonds. "I told you before I'm no Messiah."

Most Yankee fans think he and pitcher Catfish Hunter are saviours who are going to bring an American League pennant back to New York.

Hunter, who said his first dividend last Sunday with a three-hit victory, his first triumph of the season, was equally cautious. "It takes a hell of a lot of the pressure off me," he said of Bonds' feat and his own, "but you've still got to go out and do it again."

Jim Sundberg, Texas' designated hitter, finally warmed up in his role. He started slowly with a first-inning single, then unloaded a two-run homer in the third and hit a two-run double in the fourth to pace the Rangers' assault against winless Stan Bahnsen and the White Sox.

Mickey Rivers singled, then Tommy Harper and Bruce Bochte lined successive run-scoring doubles to left in the ninth inning to hit California past Kansas City and into a first-place tie with Kansas City in the West Division.

Bochte also singled for a first-inning run and California scored two in the third on singles by Rivers and Harper.

Darrell Porter's fourth-inning triple gave Milwaukee what proved to be its winning runs and George Scott's eighth-inning homer gave the Brewers two more for good measure in the triumph that halted Detroit's five-game winning streak.

Mr. Bowling 24 Years Old

SLICKS — Bill Bateman, proprietor of Belleville Bowl-O-Drome, describes the annual Mr. Bowling Tournament at his establishment as the "oldest continuous five-pin bowling tournament in Canada."

And it appears the event will attract an all-time high for entries. Already, the entry list has topped the 60 mark.

"I expect we'll have well over 80 bowlers taking part in the two-shift competition," advises Bateman.

First shift bowlers hit the lanes at 10 a.m. with the second section expected to start at 4 p.m.

There is a riding association for adults and children who are disabled by disease or accident.

CARD (The Community Association for Riding for the Disabled) has its headquarters in Toronto.

Individuals must be referred to CARD by their own doctor and then seen by a member of the association's medical advisory board, before being accepted as participants.

Volunteers working with the association's 54 children and 30 adult riders include qualified horsemen and women instructors, physiotherapists, nurses and doctors.

Canada is expected to send a team of some 100 athletes to the 10th Maccabiah Games in Israel, July 30-31.

Known as the Jewish Olympics, the event brings together the finest Jewish sportsmen and women in the world.

Budget for this year's Games may exceed 10 million Israeli pounds — more than three times the cost of the 1973 program.

The Duke at QER

Following in the footsteps of his father, Jim Mayo, Jr. of Foxboro has taken up harness racing and will be driving his Duke of Earlsville in Friday's season opener at Quinte Exhibition Raceway. The Duke is a B Class trotter. Jim Mayo, Sr., is a longtime harness racing enthusiast.

Racing Season Ready to Go

Friday marks the start of another racing season at Quinte Exhibition Raceway but this year the track is operating under B class regulations.

When bets on individual races averaged over $2,000 in 1974, it parried a move to C to B class.

So it's a new season and a new class.

An electric odds board is one of the upcoming additions to QEX as renovations and new facilities will bring the operation up to B Class specifications.

Post time for the first race is 8 p.m.

Take on Defending Canadian Champs

Macs Face First Test Sunday

The Belleville McDonald's get right down to the nitty-gritty, Sunday at 2 p.m. at Alemila Park. That's when they take months of calisthenics and workouts off the drawing board and put them into practice. And they're making no bets about who they test their skills against. Oshawa Tony's will be their exhibition opponents.

"I'm confident we'll make a good showing," said Macs general manager Doug Adams. "I'm just not sure we should have started at the top."

The Tony's are the defending Canadian Senior A Football Champions. Their lineup Sunday will be nearly the same as when they took the national title. The only major change is the burly Pete Landers will not be with them. The stalky pitcher is still waiting for a decision from the league's executive as to whether or not he can play for any team this season.

Heading up the pitching staff from Oshawa is former Trenton star Paul Wannamaker. In 23 starts last season, Wannamaker earned 13 victories and carried a stingy 1.75 earned run average (the seventh best average in the league). He also shot out opposition clubs six times, in 180 innings he gave up only 55 walks and fanned 178 batters.

Along with Wannamaker, Oshawa will also be pitching Wayne Colley, who carried a 1.25 earned run average through last year's playoffs, and Barry Timbers, a 10-game winner last season and an all-star pitcher two years ago.

Last year the Tony's had four players selected to the all-star team. Jim Rowden took all-star ratings at third base, Paul Gibbens, the ninth best batter in the league, was all-star shortstop, Bob Young, a .323 hitter was selected in first base, and Phil Solomon, the fifth best batter in the league, with a .273 average, took all-star honors for right field.

Admission to the doubleheader is $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children.

Hineman Named Assistant Coach

Harold Reid, the Belleville McDonald's coach, now has a partner in crime (if you'll excuse the parallel, Harold). Wednesday night the local Ontario Fastball League entry announced that Cliff Hineman had signed as assistant coach of the team.

Hineman, 36-years-old, is a constable on the Belleville police force. That position gives him particularly close contact with the coach since Reid is the assistant police chief.

While Reid is the main man of the coaching staff, Hineman's prime duties will include handling the officiating and calling the shots from the first base coaching box.

Hineman's experience in ball is its own calling card. For example: last season he was a member of the Belleville Industrial Softball League champs.

Habs Need Action Not Just Words

MONTREAL (CP) — There is an old saying that talk is cheap and Montreal Canadiens have been doing a lot of talking since returning from Buffalo where they dropped the first two games of their Stanley Cup best-of-seven semi-final against the Sabres.

Most of what has been said since Montreal dropped a 4-2 decision in Tuesday's second game concerns the Canadiens' ability to play better in the series. And coach Scotty Bowman is confident he can offer some forth with a solid effort in tonight's third game.

"Our edge has got to come from people like Gilbert Shutt, Yvon Cournoyer and Peter Mahovlich.

"I think the youngsters (Doug Risebrough and Mario Tremblay) will continue to work. We've got to get a better edge. I think we will."

Most of the Montreal players are certain they can come up with a good effort on their home ice against the Sabres, whom they have not beaten in seven games, including playoffs, this season.

Team captain Henri Richard, who returned to action late in the game in the series opener, noted the Canadiens have come back in past Stanley Cup action.

"I can remember when we lost the first two games of a final against Detroit in Montreal and then won the next four games. We are going to find it tough, because no matter what happens we are going to have to win in Buffalo. I think we can."

But if Montreal is going to win, they are going to have to be careful.

Bowman plans to go with the same lineup he used in Tuesday's game, which means Jacques Lemaire will centre for Jean Ratelle and Bob Gainey and Mahovlich will be alongside Shutt and Cournoyer.

Bowman plans to go with six defencemen which means Jim Roberts will see some action.

Bowman plans to have the Lemaire line check the French Connection trio of Richard Martin, Rene Robert and Gilbert Perreault. But the Montreal coach said he was in a quandry as to which line he would use to check Don Luce, Craig Ramsay and Dan Gare, who scored three of Buffalo's four goals Tuesday.

"It doesn't matter who plays against them. They're going to have to work like hang, because they know they (the Luce line) are going to work like hang.

"Nobody's hanging their heads, there's nothing to make them believe we won't come up with a solid performance."

Buffalo team captain Jim Lorentz said the Sabres would have a tougher time winning here.

"If we can do IT/AGOIN. I think we can. We noted if the Sabres could duplicate their quarter-final effort against Chicago by scoring first in the game and returning home with a 3-1 lead in the series.

Tonight's game will be carried by the CBC television network starting at 8 p.m. EDT.

Borje Salming

5-year Deal For Salming

TORONO (CP) — Defenceman Borje Salming and Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League team have confirmed that the Swedish blueliner has signed a five-year contract.

Salming agreed to terms last fall but neither side would say officially that he had signed the pact reported to be for $200,000 a year for five years.

"I didn't have too much trouble making an agreement with the Maple Leafs," the 24-year-old Salming said this week before leaving for Sweden. "My lawyer from Sweden did all the dealing. I'm glad it's settled for a long time and now I can think only about hockey."

"It's a relief to have Salming signed for a long term," said Leafs owner Harold Ballard. "We feel that if he isn't the best defenceman in hockey, he soon will be."

Saints Must Win Or It's All Over

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — A year ago, Minnesota Fighting Saints' season ended at the juncture in the World Hockey Association playoffs.

Without victories over Quebec tonight and Sunday night, the Saints could again be player spectators.

"I'm very concerned about tonight's game, because we don't have any more chances," said Minnesota coach Harry Neale. "I think we're going to come up with a good game, but what worries me about Quebec is that they're a very good team and we could play very well and not win."

The Fighting Saints, down 3-2 in the best-of-seven semi-final series, were eliminated by Houston in the 1974 WHA semi-finals.

"We lost in the first round two years ago and in the semi-final round last year," added Neale. "We'd like to get to the finals and see how we could do."

The Saints finished third in the WHA West and advanced past East Division champion New England in the quarter-finals.

"We're not thinking about anything except the sixth game," said Neale. "Quebec can think about Sunday night if they want to...we can't."

Quebec coach Jean-Guy Gendron, leading the Nordiques 3-2 fifth-game victory Tuesday, remains cautious about a possible letdown.

"We still have one to win," said Gendron. "We have to keep playing well."

If a seventh game is necessary, it will be played Sunday in Quebec.

Neale says he's not worried about Quebec getting the so-called home ice advantage in that game. "For all the difference home ice makes," said Neale, "the seventh game could be played on the highway."

"The home ice won't mean much in a game that big," he said.

The Quebec-Minnesota winner will meet either Houston or San Diego in the final.

Houston holds a 3-0 advantage over San Diego with the fourth, and possibly final, game scheduled for tonight in Houston.

Doesn't Believe In Fighting

Shero Depends on System

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — It was a strange statement for the coach of the greatest team in hockey, but then Fred Shero rarely says the expected.

"I don't believe in fighting," said Shero, coach of Philadelphia Flyers, sometimes referred to as the Broad Street Bullies.

Shero dropped the remark when a reporter suggested that New York Islanders were looking for a fight at the end of their 4-0 loss to the Flyers in Tuesday night's first game of the best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final series.

"Yeh, it looked that way," Shero said.

"Do you ever send a guy out with instructions to fight?" Shero was asked.

"I don't believe in that," Shero began. "If it doesn't come as a natural consequence of the game, it's not right."

Shero paused, then added: "You know, that's how I lost my job in the big leagues (as a player). I wouldn't fight."

"When a team is spoiling for a fight what do you do?" Shero was asked.

"We send out the right individuals," the coach said. "But I don't tell them to fight."

Talk hockey with Shero and you talk about the system. He instructs his players of what he wants them to do, and believes if they execute the system properly they'll win, or at least give a good account of themselves.

Shero isn't dismissing the Islanders, even though Philadelphia won two with all-star goalie Bernie Parent watching with a bandage tightly wrapped around his right knee. Wayne Stephenson replaced Parent and stopped 21 shots for a shutout.

"Anybody is a threat, especially if we get complacent in our system," Shero said. "The way they played against Pittsburgh, with discipline and determination, they can put only best us, ht Montreal or Buffalo. Our players have to remember that sometimes to win a series you have to take a punch in the mouth and not retaliate."

The Flyers again will go with Stephenson in tonight's second game. Parent rested Wednesday and started therapy today, team physician Dr. John Wolf said. Wolf said that Parent can stretch the knee, which would indicate there was no tendon damage. The doctor thinks it's a severe bone bruise on the inside of the right knee.

Islanders' coach Al Arbour feels his team has to score the first goal if it hopes to stay with the Flyers. The Islanders don't have the big scorers, so are at a disadvantage in games where they have to come from behind.

"If we're going to win we're going to have to play our very best game in every phase," Arbour said. "We've been playing the best team in hockey."

Marlies Capture Robertson Cup

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Marlboros, with an all-out team effort, won the Robertson Cup, symbolic of Ontario Hockey Association Major Junior A supremacy, defeating Hamilton Fincups 8-3 Wednesday before 8,261 fans.

Toronto won the eight-point final series 4-1.

Lynn Jorgenson led the Marlboros with two goals. Mike Kitchen, Mike McEwen, Mark Murphy, Bernie Johnston, Ron Wilson and John Smrke got single goals.

Hamilton never got untracked as the Marlboros constantly forechecked, causing Hamilton forwards to cough up the puck in their own end.

When the Fincups did break away, a tight Marlboros defence, playing its best game of the series, was on hand to retrieve the puck and clear it to the attackers.

Gary Carr was outstanding in the goal for Toronto even though Hamilton was outshot 46-36. With help from his defence, Hamilton netminder Greg Redquist might have been able to keep the game closer. But he was called upon too many times to stand alone.

All seven games of the series were rough and this was no exception as Hamilton drew nine of the 16 penalties, including a 10-minute major to Ron Roscoe at 7:55 of the second period.

He got it for a fight which led to a brawl in the penalty box with some spectators, causing the Hamilton bench to clear with a few players climbing the boards and glass to help their team-mates.

Toronto will represent the OHA in the Memorial Cup round-robin playoffs starting Saturday in Kitchener.

Swig Makes Pitch

CHICAGO (AP) — San Francisco businessman Melvin Swig made an offer Wednesday to purchase California Seals of the National Hockey League.

NHL president Clarence Campbell said that Swig "made a very impressive proposition and that I, personally, feel we will not need more than 30 days to finalize the purchase agreement."

The league took over the financially-troubled Seals from Charles Finley, owner of Oakland A's of baseball's American League, and operated the club for the 1974-75 season.

Swig made his offer with the understanding that conditions regarding the sale will be met not la'er than May 30. No terms regarding the sale were announced.

Swig said that he "and the group representing all of the Bay City area, made the offer in good faith and are confident that the Bay area will support the club."

Swig was at one time president and part owner of San Francisco Seals in the old Western

Beavers Bring Big Shooters To Cup Final

MONTREAL (CP) — Sherbrooke Beavers, carrying eight players who reached the 30-plus level in Quebec Major Junior Hockey League action this season, leave for Kitchener, Ont., today and Saturday's opening game of the national junior championship—the Memorial Cup.

But before the opposition gets this idea the Beavers are a one way hockey club, general manager George Guilbault hastened to point out in a telephone interview Wednesday from Sherbrooke that the club also has the league's top goaltender in Nick Sanza and what he counters the top defence corps in the circuit.

Guilbault said if Sherbrooke plays as well against the Western Canada Hockey League champions and the Ontario Hockey Association titists as it did in the Quebec playoffs, it will give a good account of itself in the three-way national playoff.

"It's going to be a tough series, but if they play the way they did against the Russians and all through the playoffs, they'll be all right," Guilbault said.

The general manager was referring to the fact the Beavers shut out the Soviet Union's national junior team 7-0 in an exhibition game at Sherbrooke earlier this season, then rolled over Hull Festivals and Chicoutimi Saguenens in the quarter-final and semi-final series of league playoffs, handling each in four straight games.

The Beavtrs' only loss in the playoffs came in the final series, when they dropped the fourth game of the best-of-seven set 11-10 to Laval Nationals but rebounded to win the title with an 8-6 win in the fifth game.

During 72 regular-season games the Beavers won 51, lost 14 and tied seven to win the over-all title in the two-division QMJHL. Of 36 season games at home, the Beavers lost only two.

During the interview Guilbault still did not know who the Western and Ontario representatives would be at Kitchener. But he said this did not prevent his club from making preparations.

ANDY CAPP

It's a First for Thunder Bay Twins

THUNDER BAY (CP) — For the first time in four attempts, Thunder Bay Twins open the best-of-seven Allan Cup hockey final Friday against the defending champion Barrie Flyers.

The Twins have tried to make the national senior final on three other occasions but in each case, they had to compete in the Eastern playoffs and lost.

This season they were thrown into the Western playoffs where they finally qualified for the final series.

The Twins made the national final this year by defeating St. Boniface Mohawks in four games in a best-of-five series then polished off Spokane Flyers in straight games in the best-of-five Western final.

The Twins lost in straight games to the Ontario Hockey Association champion Barrie club in the Eastern final last year, but they didn't go down easily. Two games of the best-of-five series were decided by 3 scores and one of those was in overtime.

Dave Siciliano, a playing coach, has replaced former National Hockey League player Lee Fogolin at the helm of the Twins. His opinion is that this year's club is stronger defensively and as strong, or perhaps a shade stronger, in goal.

The Twins are basically the same on the forward lines with one key addition. He is Russ Estbest, a big right winger who has led the scoring in playoff action.

Elliott, six-foot, 185-pounder, played for the CIAU champion University of Waterloo Warriors last year - and spent the first half of this season with Port Huron of the International Hockey League.

He lines up with centre Brian Depiero and left winger Dave Bragnalo to form what has been Thunder Bay's most effective line. Depiero was the top scorer in regular season play with 32 goals and 41 assists in 47 games. Bragnalo had 73 points in 49 games.

Elliott played only 11 league games and scored 11 goals and 17 assists. He has since continued his pace of at least a goal a game.

Jack Byerley centres Chuck Kelner and Barry Hogan on another line while Tom Bennett has wingers Murray McLeod and Gary Linquist as a third. McDonald and Siciliano, who plays only when needed, are extra forwards.

Leading the defensive unit is Murray Wing who played last year with London Lions after professional action with Boston Braves of the American Hockey League and San Diego Gulls of the Western League.

Brian Vencis has rejoined the Twins after an absence of three years while playing in the east and Jack Davies is up from junior ranks and spent ten days in fall at Toronto Toros' training camp.

Dave Vaillant has been dropped back off left wing and has probably been the steadiest blueliner to date in the playoffs. Kirsten Jack Overbar is the fifth defenceman.

The Twins goalie is Rocky Menard, 21, who played the last three seasons with Gloucester Rangers of the Central Junior Hockey League.

Broadway Joe – A Free Agent

Now the Bidding War Can Start

NEW YORK (AP) — Quarterback Joe Namath officially becomes a free agent today, opening the door to a bidding war for his services.

The World Football League is bedecked his with a $4-million offer, providing long-range security benefits. New York Jets, the National Football League team he helped build into a $16-million franchise over a 10-year period, is playing it close to the vest.

If Namath jumps to the new circuit, it will be because he is willing to take a pay cut and undertake new responsibilities in a new league and i s now surrounding s—no matter how much is the money.

Broadway Joe is ready to sign with the Jets if they make an offer commensurate with what he regards as his value to the team and the established NFL.

Some say the Jets are offering him the same $250,000 a year he has collected for the last three years.

In Memphis, Chris Hemmeter, president of the WFL, said he planned to confer with Walsh this weekend on a proposal that would give Namath a $500,000 bonus, $500,000 a year for three years and an annuity of $100,000 a y ear for 20 years.

Under the contract, Namath would go to the Chicago franchise for the first year and move to New York in 1976 with the re-opening of Yankee Stadium and a New York entry in the WFL.

Bullets' Hayes Destroys Celtics

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Basketball is a game of inspects, and Boston Celtics apparently are thinking too much—mostly about how to stop Elvin Hayes of Washington Bullets.

But Hayes goes right on scoring. Boston's defending National Basketball Association champs opens get more confused, and the Bullets have moved ahead 3-0 in the best-of-seven Eastern Conference finals.

Hayes scored 29 points Wednesday night, giving him 43 for the two games, pulled down 18 rebounds and blocked five shots while leading the Bullets to a surprising 117-92 runaway.

The series resumes Saturday afternoon in Boston, with the eventual winner advancing to the NBA title round against either Golden State Warriors or Chicago Bulls. The Western Conference finalists are tied 1-1 following Chicago's 90-88 victory Wednesday night.

"He's just shooting over our guys," Boston coach Tom Heinsohn said of Hayes. "It's difficult covering him. We've tried doubling him, but that takes us out of our normal defense."

"We're thinking too much about our defense instead of just doing our thing," said Boston's John Havlicek, who scored 21 points while hitting best four of 14 field goal attempts.

With their vaunted fast break effectively shut off, partly because of Washington's 59 per cent shooting average, the Celtics hit only 37 per cent from the floor.

"We played well defensively," said Washington coach K.C. Jones. "But when the Celtics shoot 37 per cent, you've got to be lucky."

The Bullets opened up a 31-30 lead after one quarter and led by at least seven points the rest of the way. Phil Chenier, who played only 27 minutes before fouling out, had 25 points for Washington and Wes Unseld grabbed 16 rebounds.

Golden State' Rick Barry got possession with about 25 seconds left and the Warriors ahead 88-86. Instead of stalling out the 24-second clock and virtually clinching it for the Warriors, Barry took an errant shot and the Bulls took over with 10 seconds left.

The Bulls called time out and after a quick out-of-bounds pass, Norm Van Lier passed to Boerwinkle under the basket for his easy layup.

Until the dramatic finish, the Warriors seemed to be in control of a game in which the lead changed 12 times and the score was tied 12 times.

The Bulls, led by Chet Walker's game-high 24 points, were in control at halftime 45-40 but never go ahead after Golden State went in front at 63-61 late in the third quarter until Boerwinkle's game decided ing layup.

Contracts Not Signed Says King's Spokesman

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Muhammad Ali, the globe-girdling world heavyweight champion, and Joe Bugner, the European and British champion, have signed for a title fight at Merdeka Stadium here June 30, a Malaysian official says.

The scheduled 15-round bout, for which Ali would receive five $2.5 million and Bugner $250,000, was announced Wednesday by Harun Idris, Selangor's chief minister and president of the youth wing of the ruling United Malays National Organization.

However, Andy Smith, Bugner's manager, and a spokesman for promoter Don King denied that contracts had been signed.

"This is just not true," Smith said in London. "There are many possibilities. We are st ill talking about the fight.

Smit h said it was pointless to make final arrangements until after Ali defended his title against Ron Lyle on May 16 in Las Vegas.

In New York, a spokesman for Don King Productions, which promotes Ali's fights, said the bout was still in the negotiating stage.

Harun, however, said at a news conference that Ali had signed the contract in Miami last Friday and Bugner had signed it in London on Sunday. Harun said the fight would be held between 6 a.m. and 7 a.m. local time to accommodate possible viewing and listening audiences in the United States and Europe. Should the fight begin within that hour, it would be between 5 p.m.-6 p.m. EDT in the United States and between 11 p.m. and midnight in Europe.

He said arrangements were being made for the fight to be telecast live abroad through the Global TV network.

KNEE REPAIRED

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Ralph Hopkavourt, a defenseman who started the season with Indianapolis Racers of the World Hockey Association, was in hospital Wednesday after doctors removed torn cartilage from his right knee. Hopkavourt suffered the injury in a mid-season collision while playing for the Racers. A team spokesman said he will go to his home in Kitchener, Ont., Sunday and return in about six weeks to begin therapy to strengthen the knee.

JONES JOINS METS

CHICAGO (AP) — New York Mets announced Wednesday that outfielder Cleon Jones will join the National League base-ball team Monday at West Point for an exhibition game against Army. Jones, a 10-year veteran with a .282 lifetime average, has been at St. Petersburg, Fla., undergoing a rehabilitation program. He underwent knee surgery last winter and wasn't fully recovered at the start of the season.

Last Hurdle Before Ontario Vote

One More Kick at Cat Planned As Election Bill Considered

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario's proposed Election Finances Reform Act has one more obstacle to clear before escaping the procedural gauntlet at Queen's Park.

Opposition members say they'll take "one more kick at the cat" in an attempt to strengthen the province's radical new approach to limiting campaign contributions and expenditures.

Donald Deen (PC—Wentworth North), chairman of the legislature's administration of justice committee, admits there are loopholes in the election financing bill but says the only way to test it is to give it a try and hope for the best.

"We're really going (it) have to experience the act in a campaign and take it from there."

The bill was introduced Feb. 13 by Premier William Davis as "the most progressive and enlightened and toughest legislation of its kind in Canada."

Mr. Davis has said the bill must become law before he sets an election date this year.

After an unexpected delay in the legislature this week, the act joins the important riding redistribution bill as a major stumbling block in the way of a spring election.

Liberals and New Democrats accepted the principle of the proposed act, which received second reading March 12 following lengthy debate and was sent to the administration of justice committee.

Mr. Deen reported back to the legislature on Tuesday and sensitized it for third and final reading. No major changes had been made.

Bills normally go to third reading without further debate in the legislature.

"I think there is time for one more kick at the cat," he explained.

He blocked smooth passage by taking that committee of the whole house debate he bill.

Mr. Singer denied the Liberals intend to stall the reform act bill to frustrate the government.

In an interview, he said there should be an overall limit on campaign expenditures and full disclosure of sources of all monies in foundations created by political parties.

"We believe the bill is imperfect," he explained. "We've been asking for it for a long time. There are defects in it but it is a big step forward.

"It isn't going to go through in five minutes. It'll be before the house for a while. Some of us (Liberals) feel strongly there has to be a limit on expenditures. I'm not convinced that would be impossible to implement and administer as Mr. White says."

"We're just going to hear the same arguments all over again," he said of Mr. Singer's intervention.

Mr. White said he believes the new regulations will reduce expenditures to the next provincial election.

By limiting contributions, it will force candidates to cut expenditures. And limits on the amount of money spent on advertising will cut back on lavish television and newspaper ad campaigns, he said.

Michael Cassidy (NDP—Ottawa Centre) said Wednesday that he expects to propose two amendments to the act during committee of the whole house.

The first will be similar to one Mr. Singer proposes—that limits be placed on total campaign expenditures.

The second deals with the NDP-trade union relationship. The NDP claims it could lose $80,000 this year if the bill is not changed to delete a clause restricting trade union financial backing of the party.

The bill defines monthly union political affiliation dues as contributions to a political party. The NDP position is that the checkoff is not a contribution but a means of buying membership in the party.

Revisions in committee give the commission which will implement the new rules has discretionary powers and Mr. White says it is free to decide the union checkoff is not a contribution.

Mr. Cassidy and the NDP are still not satisfied.

"If every dollar given the Tories by members of the boards of directors of companies command against donations from the companies, I think they'd understand our position," he said.

The proposed act will restrict campaign contributions by individuals, corporations or trade unions to $5,000 to each registered party and $500 to any registered constituency association in any year and equal additional amounts during a campaign period.

Parties and candidates each can spend a maximum of 25 cents a voter on advertising and advertising will be restricted to the 21 days immediately prior to election date.

A record of contributors giving more than $100 must be kept but disclosure of the names is not mandatory until two months after an election.

The regulations were derived from recommendations of a committee on the legislature which reported last September.

Four Indian Groups Seek Mechanism for Discussions

TORONTO (CP) — Representatives of four Indian groups met with Premier William Davis and the Ontario cabinet Wednesday to seek a mechanism for continuing discussions with the provincial government.

In three briefs to cabinet, the groups said Indians in Ontario are not included in the constitutional framework of the province but policing of the government do affect them.

The four, the Union of Ontario Indians, Grand Council Treaties 3 and 4 and the Association of Iroquois and Allied Indians, asked that the province set up a joint committee at the ministerial level "as a vehicle for ongoing dialogue on specific areas that remain unclear between federal-provincial-Indian areas."

Andrew Rickard, spokesman for Grand Council Treaty 4, said following the two-hour meeting that the main proposals were met with favorable response and promises from the government to get back to the leaders in two to three weeks.

Premier William Davis said in an interview the spokesmen presented a number of problems which might not be solved "unless we sit down and talk."

Among them were land issues, fishing and hunting rights, pollution and conservation and the harvest of wild rice in the Lake of the Woods area.

The premier said the latter problem had been turned over to Natural Resources Minister Leo Bernier and might be considered at the May 14 cabinet meeting in Sandy Lake.

The Indians said in their brief they are seeking confirmation from the government that the rice, an "important source of Indian food and income" would not be altered in other ways.

Peter Kelly, spokesman for Grand Council Treaty 3, was less optimistic about the outcome of the session with cabinet.

He said "time will tell" whether the group's proposals will be accepted.

Included in the structure of the joint committee would be the office of a co-ordinator for the associations, established in Toronto at an estimated cost of $138,000.

Moms Has Kept Them Rolling In the Aisles for 60 Years

NEW YORK (AP)—Rather-faced comedienne Moms Mabley never has doubled her ability to make audiences laugh. For 60 years, they've been rolling in the aisles.

"I knew all the time I could do it but I never had the opportunity," she said. "I wanted to do something to make my children and my grandchildren proud of me. Like all mothers do."

Moms, of the sagging and baggy mammary variety, slouch over about and the toothless grin, is still on the circuit, playing clubs and appearing on an occasional television show.

She is also starring in the new Star-Managing Grace. She plays the role of Grace Teasdale Grimes, whose sincerity brings peace on a corrupt city government. She sings hymns, cracks jokes, dances a little and has seen a rally of college students to campaign for a black mayoral candidate.

Born Loretta Aiken in Brevard, N.C., she began her professional career at 15. Somewhere along the way, she adopted the name of a handsome young man, Jack Mabley, and later it evolved to Moms.

She did the black vaudeville circuit "operated by the Theatre Owners Booking Association, of which her mother was president. Moms was happy.

"Once you got off you didn't want to go back there no more, believe me," she said. "There were some horrible things done to me and I've done some to others and I hate to think of them. I've played every state in the union — except Mississippi. I won't go there. They ain't ready."

Moms came into her own in the heyday of standup comics—the 1950s. She fattened onto the stage, pulling her stockings up and her battered hat down, telling the children what was going on in the world. Moms has never been shy about expressing her opinions.

"I'm a God-fearing woman. I love to do right. If they'd put a man in office who'd do right and straighten this country out, I'd quit show business to campaign for him. People's brains have been washed until they're bleached. It's just horrible."

But just as she does in her new film, Moms relies on the future.

"It's the children who have got to save the country."

In the middle of making her film, Moms had a pacemaker implanted after her first heart attack. The film stopped until she was well enough to continue.

Moms now would like to do a true-story movie. "Now that I saw live, that nobody don't know but me." But she worries that someone might steal her idea, and she won't describe it.

"Every comedian has stolen from me but Jack Benny. He was an original.

"Any time a man can walk on stage, look at the audience and make 'em laugh, that's funny. The same for Redd Foxx. He's a true comedian. The children today don't even know how to walk on stage."

Moms always knew. When she went into vaudeville at the urging of an actress she met in a boarding house, she tossed her clothes over the fence, ran away from the family she'd been living with and was on stage in Pittsburgh the next evening.

She entertained with big bands like Count Basie's and Charlie Barnet's—and when was the name of that fella who laughed so hard he couldn't play his horn?

"In 35 minutes on stage, I can keep laughter in a certain range, building higher and higher until I tell the last joke, they're all laughing like mad.

"My baby brother, Eddie Parton, he and I write the material," she said.

Moms has adopted many people into her family and claims a number of children and grandchildren. Her daughter Bonnie, who lives with her in Hartsdale, N.Y., "she's been with me all her life." A son is a psychiatrist, and there are great-grandchildren.

"But I'm not a sittin' grandma," she said. "The children had 'em. Let them raise 'em. That's what kids are for. I'm a women - raising grandchildren."

Still and strong, Moms said she will use a chair for club dates for a while, but she has no thought of retirement.

"I don't have no trouble no where I go. Everybody loves Moms."

Circus Veteran Ontario Native

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP) — The man who took the circus off the railroads and put it on motor vehicles spent his boyhood here.

Andrew Downie McPhee was born in Stephens Township near Exeter, Ont., in 1883. In his early boyhood the family moved to Stratford where he learned tumbling in his father's barn.

He got into vaudeville doing spade dancing and breakaway ladder acts and filling in as an acrobat, wire-walker and juggler. In a pinch he could even work animals.

Andrew Downie, as he was known in the show world, tried his first managerial venture at 21 when he and a partner launched the one-ring Downie and Austin Parlor Circus. Two years later he went back to performing.

Late in 1906 he joined a man from Greenville, Mich., to form the Rich and Downie Circus. During the 1908 tour, he married Charlotte Irwin, known, professionally, as Millie La Tena, at Corinth, Ont.

In 1911 Downie bought out Rich's share and renamed the show Andrew Downie's Dog and Pony Circus. He played all the towns along the Erie Canal, moving the show by boat.

In 1914 he was a partner in the Downie and Gallagher Wagon Show and for several years he held executive posts on the Great Wallace Show, operating out of Peru, Ind.

In the off-season of 1920-2, Downie organized a reporter's company and took it from Winnipeg to the Pacific Coast, complete with scenery, wardrobe and portable bleachers that could be set up in vacant stores, warehouses or barns and, for two nights, in the Canadian Pacific Railway warehouse in Red Deer, Alta.

Reaching Vancouver, the company played a week to sell-out audiences in the old Lyric Opera House and returned to spend the summer in Eastern Canada, finally closing in October at Canaphario, N.Y.

A Dodge wagon show toured in 1924 and there is no record of further activity until 1916, when the Downie and Wheeler Show began a run that lasted until the end of the hunting season in 1913.

Next season he was out on his own with a 10-car railroad show called the La Tena Wild Animal Circus. He enlarged it to 15 cars and toured central Canada in 1916.

Downie leased the Waller L. Main Circus from the veteran showman and ran it for seven years, engaging the celebrated Max Wirth equestrian troupe as a centuring feature at the then fabulous salary of $1,200 a week.

The great experiment came in the spring of 1926 with the launching of the Downie Brothers Motorized Circus—Andrew was the only "brother" behind the title—which became the first successful road-based outdoor show.

The show thrived until the end of the 1938 season although Downie sold the rights and title to Charles Sparks in the spring of 1930 and retired to his home in Medina, N.Y., where he died the following December at the age of 81.

Showbiz Shorts

LONDON (AP) — Maggie Smith, the Oscar-winning British actress, was granted a divorce Monday from her actor husband Robert Stephens because of adultery with an unnamed woman.

The London divorce court accepted sworn statement from Miss Smith, 40, who is in New York starting on Broadway in Noel Coward's Private Lives, that her marriage had broken down.

Stephens, 43, did not contest the case.

The couple was married in 1967 and appeared together in the film "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie, which won Miss Smith her Academy Award in 1967.

The woman's clothes you could buy here used to be the best—but not any longer," said Zsa Zsa. "One big store where I always shop was a great disappointment. The standards seem to have dropped. Take American clothes, are the best value for money.

Projectionist Also Movie Fan

TORONTO (CP)—Ernie Owen, 69, smiles as he recalls the times he watched the movie classic Gone with The Wind 364 times from a small, concrete room.

Mr. Owen, a romantic and a movie projectionist, said in an interview he viewed the movie repeatedly during his duties because he wanted to, not because he had to.

"I never got tired of Gone With The Wind," Mr. Owen says. "I watched it right through to the last time. I could have played every role by then."

The concrete room, located over the seats at the rear of the cinema, has two small windows facing the screen. If Mr. Owen likes the movie, he sits by the window and watches it.

Mr. Owen, one of 250 projectionists in Metropolitan Toronto and longest in the business, started as an apprentice in Trenton, Ont., when he was 15. He plans to retire in August. He does not feel today's push-button world of the projectionist much of a strain because he remembers when running a projector was hard, physical work.

In 1921 he remembers the talkies had not been invented and the projectionist had only one manually-operated projector to run the film.

The projectionist cranked the first reel of film for 10 minutes to run it through. Then, he shoved a slide announcing that the reel was going to be changed.

These days, there are two projectors for, each movie and changing the reel is so quick and smooth, the audience does not notice.

Mr. Owen, a sentimentalist, prefers musicals and happy endings. He remembers with pleasure Dr. Zhivago and his all-time favorite, The Sound of Music.

Mr. Owen says projectionists work a seven-day, 35-hour week, which involves a considerable amount of night work. He said that the hours can play havoc with family life.

"I've seen a lot of shows in my time," he says. "But I love my work. After 57 years, I still love my work."

Your Horoscope

BERNICE BEDE OSOL

Friday, May 2

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll feel very sociable today and enjoy being with friends. However let some of your pals share the cost.

TAURUS (April 20-May 21) Conditions now are very favorable where your work or career is concerned. If you don't trip over your own feet. Let things progress naturally.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't harbor lingering self-doubts about present plans. Try them first—they'll work if you make a reasonable change.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) This can be a prosperous day for your business dealings. Just remember to keep those out of the act not directly involved.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You'll be lucky today in getting others to co-operate. This will help compensate for your difficulties in getting through to higher authorities.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Seize the initiative. Do things without the boss having to remind you. Taking the bull by the horns now will later fallen your wallet.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Don't dismiss lightly your creative ideas over the next few days. Somewhere you'll find a market for your brainchild.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your plans for the family may not find total acceptance from your mate at this time. Later, he'll sheepishly admit you were right.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You'll be able to clear up a business problem lagging you if you take those involved out of the office into more congenial surroundings.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 20) Your social prospects are in good aspect during this period. You'll profit if you handle your finances along conventional lines.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) You're going to be received some good news shortly. It will be of more benefit for you than for others in your family.

PICES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be very alert in your financial dealings. A profit could come from a source not evident previously—especially today and tomorrow.

Pessimistic Pete looked over the dummy and counted losers. Some people count winners. Pete always counted losers.

He counted one spade, one diamond and two clubs. An optimist would count just one club, but Pete was sure that West would hold the club ace.

Pete saw some chance to discard a club on dummy's fourth diamond and decided to start preparing for operation jettison. He let West hold the first spade. East played the three, but West continued with the queen so that Pete knew where the jack would show up. He won and promptly led dummy's deuce of diamonds. His plan was to play the nine, but East foiled this by producing the jack. Pete covered with the king and led out the queen and jack of trumps, followed by a diamond to dummy's ace. Now he cashed the key play.

He led dummy's 10 of spades and discarded his nine of diamonds!

West had his choice of ways to let Pete make his contract. He could lead a diamond and set up dummy's fourth diamond; he could lay down his ace of clubs and set up Pete's king; or he could lead a spade for a ruff and a club discard.

Pleurisy Comes In Two Types

By G. C. THOMPSON, MD

Dear Dr. Thompson: I entered the hospital for X-rays and tests for severe chest and upper back pains and was told I was suffering from a combination of pleurisy and shingles.

The pain subsequently subsided with medication. However, every now and then it has returned. What causes it? Is it cure it, its treatment and prevention?—F.A.S.

Dear Dr. Thompson: I have chronic discomfort and aches and pains in the upper left chest and the back. The only conclusion seems to be that this is evidence of damaged tissue in the lining of the lung, which could be causing pleurisy. Is this caused, what are the treatments.

It seems that with all of the antibiotics that exist, something could be done to help me. Could this condition become more serious?—R.

The pleura is the close-fitting membrane which encases each lung, an inner layer covering the lung and an outer layer lining the chest wall. The space between the two layers (the pleural cavity) is normally moist, thus permitting free movement of the lungs in breathing.

When these membranes become inflamed, the condition is called pleurisy, and there are several types and causes. Two primary causes are pneumonia and tuberculosis. Generally, doctors distinguish between "wet" and "dry" pleurisy.

In the wet type, the volume of containing fluid in the cavity increases abnormally, placing pressure on the lung involved, interfering with normal breathing, and causing the classic pains along the nerve trunks. When pus collects in the cavity the condition is called "empyema," a more serious condition.

In dry pleurisy, the pleural membranes become irritated and can rub against each other with the rise and fall of the lungs. The characteristic chafing produces a distinct and easily recognizable "friction rub" heard through the stethoscope, a classic symptom of this type of pleurisy.

Any disorder of the pleura (pronounced "PLOO-ra") can cause sharp, stabbing pains, although this is less pronounced in wet pleurisy because the chafing is not so much a factor.

It is important to learn the source of the infection, which usually requires appropriate antibiotic. In F.A.S.'s situation, the shingles, if present, could easily mimic the pain of pleurisy, but shingles would be obvious because of the rash and blisters that accompany it. Shingles can leave a lingering, discomforting pain for months after the onset.

The chest X-ray you had would reveal any serious lung disorder or any inflammation of the pleura, but it cannot detect shingles.

Beyond antibiotics, pleurisy requires rest. Heat will help ease the pains somewhat, but if your case is severe you may require a chest strap to immobilize chest movement. Pleurisy can produce pain in either or both sides of the body depending on whether it is "single"—that is, whether one or both lungs are affected.

NOTE TO MRS. C.H.—This sounds like Peyronie's disease. The problem is in a fanly contracture of the fibrous tissue causing distortion of the penis upon erection. The condition can disappear in about a year or so without treatment. Since you have had the disease for so long and function normally, it doesn't seem to me you should worry about it. Yet, X-ray, cortisone and injection of vitamin E drugs have been tried, if with indifferent success. The best approach is simply wait it out.

Dear Dr. Thompson: Is bronchitis contagious?—N.A.

Yes, when it is caused by a bacterial infection. But bronchitis caused by irritants such as tobacco smoke or other fumes is, of course, not.

African Fears West Intrusion

YAMOUSSOUKRO, IVORY COAST (CP) — President Felix Houphouet-Boigny says the whites of southern African are more afraid of the intrusion of the blacks of the continent or the Arabs of the north.

In an interview during a recent visit by External Affairs Minister Allan MacEachen, the head of this former French colony in West Africa placed himself squarely among the most ardent of black African politicians on the subject of white domination of southern Africa.

But he suggested that the real cause for his attitude is fear that a black-white war in Africa would turn into a world war, with the West arrayed on the side of white Africans.

Acknowledging the racist nature of the regimes of Ian Smith in Rhodesia and John Vorster in South Africa, the president of Ivory Coast nevertheless said he favors a negotiated solution to the issue between those governments and the black African states which say war is the only final solution.

"If there were a war between the and the whites, knowing Westerners as I do, I know that they would not provide us with the slightest support," the president said.

He cited the lack of support by West European and North American governments, including Canada, during the long independence struggle against white Portuguese rulers in Guinea-Bissau, Angola and Mozambique.

That fought black Africans that white Western countries would do nothing to assist black Africans whites in Africa, Mr. Houphouet-Boigny indicated.

Instead, he said, a war between blacks and whites in Africa likely would draw the non-African world into the contest, importing the struggle between communist countries and the United States and its allies.

"When Russian MiGs fill the skies of Africa," he said, American Phantoms and French Mirages will also be there."

In its moderate attitude towards whites in southern Africans, the Ivory Coast regime is in a minority in the black Organization of African Unity, where only Senegal, Malawi and Liberia support a similar line.

Boosting Education

EDMONTON (CP) — The Alberta Chamber of Commerce has launched a series of conferences across the province aimed at encouraging businessmen to become more involved in education. The idea is to give students the benefit of their experience.

To Work In Parks

CALGARY (CP) — Parks Canada will hire 48 students in Grade 11 in Alberta and British Columbia this summer to work in national parks in those provinces. Their duties will include building primitive campsites, maintaining trails, fire-lookout duty and first-aid training.

Strange Mating

LONDON (CP) — The Guardian newspaper recently described the resignation of cabinet minister Eric Heffer, because of the government's refusal to let him air his anti-Common Market views in the Commons, as "taking the bull by the horns." A reader quickly pointed out that this was no way for "heifers to approach bulls."

Letter Of The Law

BRISTOL, England (CP) — Because of soaring postal costs, with local delivery now costing twice as much as 1965, the Bristol Law Society is organizing a businessmen's postal service. Post boxes will be placed in a businessman's club and participants may drop in to pick up and deliver mail free. So far 50 firms have joined.

It May Be Marginalidad But It Tastes Like Hunger

Marginalidad is officialdom's euphemism for extreme poverty. It means roughly "living on the edge of society," and officials say it afflicts 40 per cent of Venezuela's 12 million inhabitants.

After one year in office there are signs that the anti-poverty projects of President Carlos Andres Perez are beginning to get under way.

In Venezuela, as in all South American countries, the symptoms of marginalidad are the shanty huts which ring every city, spawning social problems from child crime, drug addiction, alcoholism and malnutrition to lack of sewage, running water and electric power.

An estimated one million people—or 41 per cent of the population of Caracas—live in shanty huts, or "ranchos," and slums in and around the capital.

In some cities up to 79 per cent of the population live in ranchos. In Maracaibo, capital of western Zulia state which produces the bulk of Venezuela's oil, 63 per cent of the inhabitants are shanty-dwellers.

In addition, Venezuela has an estimated two million youths and children abandoned by their parents—most of them in ranchos and slums.

Pedro Castillo, secretary-general of the child council, said child abandonment springs partly from the "machismo" complex of the Latin American male. "This orients the conduct of many males towards polygamy and the procreation of numerous illegitimate children."

The man chiefly responsible for waging the government's campaign against marginalidad is Carlos Acedo Mendoza, sociologist and one-time advertising executive, who is president of Fundacomun, the state-operated "foundation for the development of the community."

One of Perez's first acts after his inauguration in March, 1974, was to sign a decree marshalling the resources of the state for a "program to put in order the areas occupied by the poor of the nation's cities."

It gave Fundacomun overall direction and co-ordination of the anti-poverty activities of six government ministries, seven state institutes and several provincial institutions for community development.

Mendoza said this means that for the first time in Venezuela a practical campaign has been started against marginalidad.

"There is no charity handout, no philanthropy. It's a matter of trying to do justice to the rights of every individual in a democratic society."

He expressed concern that extremes of poverty survive in a country where the oil boom has, at least statistically, raised the average annual income from $1,250 to $23,000 within a year.

The main information-gathering task is in the hands of community development offices established in every municipal district of Venezuela's 20 states and two federal territories.

Twin committees have been set up in different parts of the country to oversee the work, concentrating respectively on the physical problems of poverty—such things as housing and sanitation—and the social problems—crime, child care, drunkenness.

Eventually they will co-ordinate the actual work and make sure plans are carried out on time

Mendoza said the general plan will be as follows:

"Each social unit will have a centre installed containing the basic services for the community like public order, food supplies, health service, education, sanitation, recreation and sports."

After that, new jobs will be created and new skills learned under the workers' training institute and the state industrial corporation which has earmarked $2.3 million for training rancho dwellers.

When rancho dwellers have to be moved, they will be shifted to small communities where they are considered to have the best chance of integrating, Mendoza said.

"Then we will get the rancho lands expropriated for conversion into parks so that the ranchos do not reappear."

In the past, rancho dwellers have usually returned to rebuild shortly after being moved off their land.

Mendozas plans include child-care units in each community under visiting social welfare workers. Local women will be given money and food to look after up to five children each.

At present, said Castillo, Caracas and other cities are haunted increasingly by "children who don't know what a family is, nor a school, much less a home and regular meals."

Mendoza said much depends on efforts to make agriculture a major industry in Venezuela, ending the continual tide of impoverished peasants into the cities to swell the ranks of the rancho dwellers.

Value of Manual Labor Is Stressed

BOMBAY (CP) — An 80-year-old former college principal is fighting an uphill battle to overcome the aversion of educated Indians to manual labor.

Vishnu Malkani, who came to India from Pakistan when the sub-continent was partitioned in 1947, said his campaign "may seem funny to people in the West."

"But India's future lies in realizing the dignity of labor. Every year, tens of thousands of high school students enter college simply because they are not willing to become technicians."

Among other things, the bachelor educational trips to persuade students in hotels to wash their own plates, clean their bathrooms and iron their clothes.

With the boys, known as chaprassis, demanding higher pay, thousands of clerks walked out because their tables had not been cleaned and they refused to do it themselves. Cheques piled up in the clearing house and businessmen had to postpone trips abroad because they were unable to get foreign exchange.

Bombay newspapers commented that the clerks' refusal was rooted in class prejudice. Although the caste system was officially abolished shortly after India became independent more than 25 years ago, the office boys come from the lower castes and clerks regard their work as "demeaning."

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi expressed amazement that there could be a strike on such an issue.

"When my chaprassi does not turn up, I clean my own table," she said.

"If that is so, why are there so many chaprassis to clean the tables of ministers?" reported a member of the clerks' union. "Will the prime minister dispense with their services?"

Air Canada After Role In Agency

MONTREAL (CP) — A Montreal travel agent said Wednesday he received a controversial $100,000 payment from Air Canada after months of negotiations about how the airline could get into the travel agency business.

R. Y. McGregor, president of McGregor Travel Co. Ltd., told the opening session of the Air Canada inquiry that the government-owned airline eventually gave him the money last November to show it was serious about owning part of a proposed country-wide travel agency.

The documents promising the money said only that it was for his services as a consultant to influence provincial, Middle Eastern and Latin American governments for Air Canada's benefit.

Mr. McGregor said he was told the payment had to be made that way because the money was coming from the airline's promotional budget.

The Air Canada Act does not permit the Crown corporation to own a travel agency.

The federal inquiry, headed by Mr. Justice Willard Estey of the Supreme Court of Ontario, is looking into the payment by Mr. McGregor and financial control and management of Air Canada.

Mr. Justice Estey indicated the hearings may extend into June and might move to other cities, if necessary.

Hydro Contract Accepted

TORONTO (CP) — A new Ontario Hydro contract was accepted Wednesday by 10,33 per cent of the 13,000 members of Local 1908, Canadian Union of Public Employees (CUPE).

Under the contract, tentatively agreed upon on April 1, linemen will receive $7.75 an hour retroactive to April 1. Salaries will rise to $8.61 an hour Oct. 1 and $9.69 April 1, 1976.

Among the lower-paid group, clerk-typists go to $196.56 weekly from $180.36, retroactive to April 1, $202.46 Oct. 1 and $218.67 April 1, 1976.

Saltsman Says Northern Misled Federal Regime

OTTAWA (CP) — Max Saltsman (NDP—Waterloo) raised the issue of Microsystems International Ltd. in the Commons Wednesday, after earlier calling for a parliamentary inquiry into the collapse of the Ottawa-based company that received more than $27 million of government grants and loans.

In a brief released outside the Commons, he claimed the government was misled by Microsystems' parent, Northern Electric Co. Ltd., about technology and markets for semi-conductors Microsystems was to make.

Microsystems' failure shows the government's incompetence in dealing with business firms and its failure to protect public funds, the NDP finance critic charged.

The government will lose all $30 million of the grants it gave Microsystems, Industry Minister Alastair Gillespie has stated. Northern Electric is expected to pay the $6.7 million of loans.

Nova Scotia's Censorship Challenged by Editor

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal attorney general's department said Wednesday that if a former Dartmouth, N.S., newspaper editor had not challenged the Nova Scotia censorship laws, they probably would have gone unchallenged for at least another 50 years.

T. B. Smith told a Supreme Court of Canada hearing the 23 licensed film exchanges and a host of theatre owners had taken no exception to the censorship laws since they were enacted by the provincial legislature in 1924.

The federal lawyer said a challenge from those directly regulated by these laws was not likely because of the penalties imposed for infractions, including possible loss of licence.

This meant that if the constitutional issue whether Nova Scotia had the power to pass such laws were to go before the courts, it would have to be taken by a member of the general public, argued Mr. Smith.

The court reserved decision on an appeal by the Nova Scotia government which is disputing the right of newspaperman Gerard McNeil, as a private citizen, to contest the validity of the censorship laws.

Mr. McNeil contends that the censorship laws, because they create off ences and penalties, are i n reality criminal laws and therefore only Parliament can enact such laws.

Nova Scotia, backed by Ontario, Alberta and Saskatchewan, is arguing that the act establishing the Regulation Board of Nova Scotia, formerly known as the N.S. Board of Censors, regulates those in the film industry in the province and only those directly affected can challenge these laws.

School Budget Set

Hastings Education Rates Rise 12 Pct.

By RON CARSON
Staff Reporter

The Hastings County Board of Education has set its 1975 budget at $31.87 million — a 19.8 per cent increase over last year. However, the average mill rate increase across the county will be only 12.3 per cent.

County taxpayers will be paying more for education this year but due to increased provincial spending ceilings in March they will be paying less than earlier expected. In setting its 1975 budget the board will be able to avoid provincial penalties and thus avoiding possible penalties in elementary schools.

In handing down the budget today, director of education Eric Runacres said that, while the staggering spending figures have been set, the board must still allocate funds with the budgetary scheme. He said there are still several figures, including salaries and curriculum programs, that have not been set. Salary negotiations are being the board and the secondary and elementary teachers are still continuing.

The board set the budget figure in closed session Monday night but Mr. Runacres said the allocation of funds would be dealt with in open meetings. It is expected final salary settlement will affect allocations of funds.

The board agreed to adopt a total budget, even though priorities have not yet been established, because the municipalities wanted to proceed with mill rate calculations. It is apparent at this points that all planned programs (curriculum) will not fit into the dollar amount," said Mr. Runacres.

Board business superintendent Ken Wormald said today the average mill rate increase of only 12.3 per cent is due to a general increase in local assessment as well as increased provincial ceilings of 23 per cent. The 1974 local taxable assessment, at 34 per cent of the total budget while this year it will account for only 23.7 per cent because of increased provincial grants.

Mr. Runacres said a reduction in the budget of $270,00 would have to be effectively reduce taxes by one per cent. An increase in the budget if $60,000 would increase the tax requirement by one per cent.

Board chairman Jean Hutchison said "in the next few weeks the board will be setting priorities in an effort to determine those programs that must be eliminated from the overall plan to stay within the established limit." She said the board is trying to stay within the ministry of education's ceiling.

Average Belleville Taxpayer Pays $25 More for Schools

By RON CARSON
Staff Reporter

Belleville residents with average assessments of $11,000 will have to die $25 deeper into their pockets this year to pay ho education.

The Hastings County Board of Education budget will result in an average mill increase across the county of 12.3 per cent — close to the consumer price index increase.

Trenton residents with an average assessment of $4,700 will have to pay $21 more this year, while Bancroft residents with an average assessment of $3,250 will also pay about $22 more in 1975. Residents in the village of Madoc with an assessment of $20,000 will pay $20 more this year.

In other communities and townships across the county, the increases are as follows, with the average assessment followed by the tax increase to the nearest dollar:

Deseronto — $4,300; — $211; Marmora $4,194 — $231; Stirling $230,200 — $231; Tweed $4,400 — $229; Sidney $2,600 — $171, and Wollaston $21,023 — $271.

Board officials say the low increase in mill rates as compared to the 19.3 per cent increase in the board's expenditure is due to increased assessment values as well as to increases in the grants from the province. Local taxation throughout the county will account for 23.7 per cent of the budget this year, whereas last year it was 34.5 per cent.

Vietnam Regime Demands Return of All Planes, Gold

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The new government of South Vietnam has demanded that all property taken out of the country by fleeing Vietnamese including combat planes and gold, be returned.

A radio broadcast from Hanoi said the foreign ministry of the Provisional Revolutionary Government in Saigon charged that "dozens of warships, freighters, any hundreds of cargo and combat planes" were taken away.

"All that property belongs to the defeated South Vietnamese government inside and outside of Vietnam and belongs to Vietnamese people and is at the disposal of their new government. The statement stated that this "is in accordance with international law on property heritage.

More than 12 South Vietnamese air force planes and helicopters are in Thailand. They were flown there by fleeing air force officers, and the Thai government at first said they would be returned to Vietnam. But today, after pressure from the United States, Thai Defence Minister Pramarn Adisdasara said disposal of the aircrft was Washington's responsibility.

Defence Secretary James Schlesinger said Thursday; "The United States retains title to all aircraft that have been given to Vietnam under the program."

The Pentagon estimated poor condition, and the Communist leaders have gained more than $1 billion worth of weapons, equipment and facilities which the United States left the South Vietnamese forces. Pentagon officials said the $1 billion figure represented original acquisition costs rather than depreciated value.

Much of much of what was left behind was unusable or in poor condition, and the Communist probably could not adapt it for their use.

A Hanoi broadcast from Hanoi said the new Saigon government had ordered personnel at South Vietnam's diplomatic missions to stay at their posts and await new orders. It called on them to "protect the property and files and documents" of the previous government and said that "those who render distinguished service in this connection will be commended or rewarded."

A Hanoi broadcast continued on reporters in Saigon. Three Associated Press correspondents in Saigon were reported able to move about freely, but they were not allowed to send out dispatches.

The Pentagon said the number of Vietnamese evacuated by the U.S. totals nearly 82,000. A spokesman said U.S. ships had picked up about 32,000 - from sampans, small boats and other craft off the South Vietnamese coast by this morning.

State department spokesman Robert Anderson said efforts to rescue any other Vietnamese were able to make their way beyond South Vietnam's territorial waters would continue despite North Vietnam's demand Thursday that all U.S. ships leave the waters of the Vietnamese coast.

"Our ships are on the high seas, and as long as there are Vietnamese who come out in canoes, we will pick them up," Anderson said.

Da Nang Prisoners Freed to Go Home

DA NANG (AP) — A spokesman for South Vietnam's new government says 103,000 enlisted men and non-commissioned officers who were taken prisoner in the Da Nang area in March have been released to return to their homes.

The spokesman for the Provisional Revolutionary Government (PRG) said 8,000 officers, ranging in rank from lieutenants to the major-general commanding the Army of the Republic of Vietnam's (ARVN) 4th Corps, are still being held "for re-education.

The new government allowed The Associated Press and a CBS television crew to visit one of the "re-education camps" for the officers at Dien Ban, about 15 miles south of here.

The camp consisted of a group of ramshackle army barracks surrounded by a dilapidated barbed wire fence.

The camps commander said about 500 former ARVN officers were in the camp and their re-education course would start shortly.

The prisoners were wearing Vietnam clothes. Some lounged in their bunkrooms or outside on the others cooked or washed mess kits.

In the middle of a dusty, unpaved field in front of the camp stood a shed where wives with children waited for their husbands to walk out of the camp and visit them.

The camp commander indicated that the duration of the re-education program was still "not definite."

He was asked if prisoners completing the course might resume their military careers in the new government's army.

"They must have the attitude to serve before they could be accepted," he said.

But in another interview of question-and-answer sessions with the PRG's in the presence of camp officials, all seemed to share a desire to return home and take up civilian life.

Injunction Request Is Coming

OTTAWA (CP) — An injunction may be sought Monday to force Quebec longshoremen back to work, Labor Minister John Munro said Thursday.

Justice department officials are in Quebec gathering evidence to file for the injunction, Mr. Munro said in the Commons.

The 2,500 striking longshoremen were ordered back to work by Parliament last week but so far they have not returned. The government served notice earlier this week on five unions representing the workers, saying it intended to take legal action.

Notice is the first step in an application to the Quebec Superior Court for an injunction. If an injunction is not obeyed, union members and leaders could be subject to fines or jail terms.

The men, on strike at Montreal, Trois-Rivieres and Quebec City, were ordered back to work because their pickets prevented truckers from loading grain at waterfront elevators. Lack of regular deliveries threatened the life of Quebec livestock.

Mr. Munro said no interference with grain movement has occurred since the back-to-work legislation.

U.S. Congress Will Renew Study of Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders expect to begin work next week on a new bill that will approve aid to Vietnamese refugees but omit any authorization for using U.S. troops in refugee evacuations.

The resolve to start anew follows the House vote Thursday rejecting a bill for $327 million in refugee aid and authority for President Ford to use troops in the evacuation, which already is completed. The bill was voted down 246 to 162.

Economic Proposals Face Study

KINGSTON, Jamaica (CP) — Commonwealth leaders are expected to pick a committee to start through conflicting proposals for changes in the world economic order to see if a consensus is possible.

Suggestion for the committee was made in the Commonwealth conference here Thursday by Prime Minister Forbes Burnham of Guyana and, supported by Canadian Prime Minister Trudeau, among others.

Burnham made his suggestion during a speech on the Third World demand for a new economic order—a radical change in the economic, financial and monetary system to give poor countries a chance to catch up.

This speech, and its call for such things as commodity cartels that would wave a big stick over the heads of consumers to stabilize prices, came after a speech by British Prime Minister Harold Wilson which called for a general world agreement on commodities.

Third World leaders found little acceptable in Wilson's remarks and even Canada found his proposal a bit self-serving.

The committee idea was expected to be discussed again today and to receive approval from the 27 prime ministers and presidents before the end of the conference next week.

They will consider proposals by Wilson, Burnham and others. Trudeau said it also should consider such things as industrial co-operation.

Missing Convoy Located

ARANYAPRATHET, Thailand (Reuter) — A convoy of about 425 foreign refugees driving from the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh is 30 miles from this Thai border town, Khmer Rouge soldiers said today.

News of the convoy was given to a special envoy of French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing. It was the first official word about the refugees who are believed to be 215 French nationals and 110 persons from 20 other countries.

They spent nearly two weeks in the French Embassy in Phnom Penh after the city was taken 15 days ago by the Khmer Rouge.

Marc Bonnefous, sent from Paris by Giscard d'Estaing to supervise the evacuation, crossed to the barbed-wire barrier between a rickety bridge to talk to the Khmer Rouge, whose makeshift flag fluttered nearby

He said the soldiers told him that a convoy of his "compatriots" was 31 miles away.

He said he will seek further word at another meeting with the Khmer Rouge scheduled for Saturday.

Viet Cong Victory Celebrated

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Workers in South Vietnam celebrated their first May Day under the new government by taking over factories, docks, water works and electric power stations, the government radio station in Saigon reported Thursday.

Workers of other nations, both Communist and non-Communist, used the occasion to demonstrate their support for the victorious Viet Cong.

Ontario Heritage Foundation May Aid Restore St. Thomas' Anglican Church

By ROBIN CHASE
Staff Reporter

The 100-year-old St. Thomas' Anglican Church, gutted by an early Wednesday morning fire, may be brought back to life if the Ontario Heritage Foundation decides to come to the rescue.

Canon Peter Tett, church rector, and Gerry Brennan of Brennan and McBride Insurance Adjusters Ltd., told the Intelligencer Thursday Dr. Richard Potter, Quinte MPP, has approached Robert Welch, provincial minister of culture and recreation, regarding an application to the foundation for grants to restore the church as an historical site.

Mr. Welch's ministry is responsible for the foundation.

Dr. Potter has asked Canon Tett to draw up a brief history of the church for presentation with the application.

If successful, and if sufficient funds are available, it will probably mean the remaining gutted structure could be demolished, stone by stone and rebuilt in its former style.

In a new development following Wednesday's fire, police have charged a number of thefts from the church vestry. Story on first page, second section.

CFB Trenton to Direct Air Training Command

OTTAWA — The defence department announced Thursday Command will be directed from Trenton in a realignment of the air force system announced Thursday.

The command, hitherto based in Winnipeg now has been renamed the Canadian Forces Training Systems.

In effect this will bring little outward change to CFB Trenton, a forces spokesman at the base said.

Up to now, Trenton has been the headquarters of Transport Command. Under the new system, transport squadrons will operate as a group under the over-all Air Command.

The new command will see establishment of a new headquarters group at Trenton. But the numbers of personnel involved is not yet known, said the spokesman.

The training of pilots and navigators will become the responsibility of Air Command with headquarters at Winnipeg headed by Lt.-Gen. William K. Carr, the current deputy chief of the defence staff.

"Such training will operate from their present bases, but be directed from Trenton, said the official.

Announcement of the new Air Command headquarters came as Defence Minister James Richardson announced a major change in the North American Air Defence Command agreement. Ottawa and Canadian air space under Canadian control for the first time since the NORAD agreement was signed in 1958.

Until now, regional air defence boundaries have straddled the Canada-U.S. border. The only NORAD region based in Canada was at North Bay. Under the new system there will be two NORAD regions in Canada: The sea at North Bay and a new one to be built near Edmonton costing $25-million.

The North Bay region covered air approaches to Eastern Canada. The Edmonton headquarters will now add Western Canada air space previously covered from a base in the U.S.

An aide to Mr. Richardson said the agreement to change the NORAD boundaries is not part of the renegotiation of the agreement which expires this year.

District at a Glance

Trail Ride Sunday

PICTON — The Prince Edward Horse and Pony Club will hold a trail ride Sunday, May 4, leaving from the Way Stock Farms, Milford.

Box lunches will be auctioned to raise money for the riding club.

New Executive Named

PICTON — A new executive has been elected for the Picton tennis club following its annual meeting at Benson Hall.

Well Contaminated

MILFORD — "Old Salts" of the Prince Edward Marine Society received more salt than they bargained for at their recent meeting in Milford Hall. A coffee break at the close of the meeting attacked of the briney when marine society members took first sips from their cups.

Unfortunately the well serving the hall is close to a stock pile of calcium and salt used by the roads department.

Bus Tour Planned

PICTON — The Prince Edward Historical Society will sponsor a bus tour from Picton to Tyendinaga on Sunday, June 1.

Information is available from Beverley Skidmore, secretary of the historical society or Jack Weinman, president of the group.

McGibbon Visits Base

TRENTON — Lt.-Gov. Pauline McGibbon will be greeted by the Canadian Armed Forces first all woman guard of honor today when she arrives at CFB Trenton, as guest of honor for an all women mess dinner tonight.

The 30-woman honor guard is the first in Canadian military history and was formed less than two months ago in conjunction with International Women's Year activities. Normally, the men in the armed forces compose the guard of honor that greets visiting dignitaries.

The 30 women have been performing drills three mornings a week for the past month and a half in preparation for the visit of Ontario's Lieutenant Governor.

Taxes Come In

Tax collector Allan Weaver and assistant Aileen Ashby are besieged by Trenton taxpayers Thursday when payment of the second installment of 1975 taxes came due. Taxpayers created a steady stream at the town hall tax department and subsequently was posted staff Thursday and will do so again later this year when the 1975 mill rate is set.

Cobourg Gets $150,000 Grant To Restore Victoria Hall

COBOURG — Secretary of State Hugh Faulkner presented Cobourg Mayor John Keenan with a $150,000 cheque today as part of $1.3-million in funds that will be used to fully restore Cobourg's 119-year-old Victoria Hall.

The grant is part of a $400,000 federal government contribution in 1975 and comes on top of $250,000 granted Cobourg for restoration work last year.

Federal money will be matched equally by Cobourg and the provincial government, which, in 1974, also contributed $250,000 in restoration funds.

In making the presentation, Mr. Faulkner said Victoria Hall is "representative of the finer public buildings of mid-nineteenth century Canada. It is one of the most impressive town halls in Ontario and reflects the economic optimism of the 1850s."

The hall was built in 1856 for $110,000. It was judged of historical importance in 1959 and subsequently was posted as a National Historic Site.

Restoration work began in 1973 by the Society for the Restoration of Victoria Hall, but lack of sufficient funds forced the group to appeal to government for money.

The grant presented by Mr. Faulkner was made on behalf of Indian and Northern Affairs minister Judd Buchanan and is a result of the society's appeal for additional funding.

It was made within the confines of a Parks Canada program in which the federal government shares costs with the province and the municipality for purchase and repair of buildings of historic or architectural importance.

Restoration of the town hall said Mr. Faulkner "is important for all Canadians as part of our national heritage".

They will also employ about 50 skilled and semi-skilled tradesmen over the next year, he said.

A text of Mr. Faulkner's address was released in advance of delivery.

Red Shield Blitz Set for Sunday

PICTON — The Red Shield campaign will stage a blitz in Picton on May 4 with canvassers calling at every door as Salvation Army supporters work toward their 1975 goal of $1,800.

Throughout the month of May the fund drive will continue in the rest of Prince Edward County.

A Salvation Army spokesman, Ken Carruthers this week noted that in 1974 in Prince Edward the Salvation Army packed Christmas hampers, held a Christmas party for underprivileged youngsters and organized a new girls' club.

In early 1975, food vouchers totalling $500 were distributed and plans made to send 40 children to the Salvation Army summer camp at Robin Lake.

The major portion of funds raised in Prince Edward through the Red Shield Campaign will remain in the county. Some money will be sent to Toronto to promote services there which are available to county residents.

"There are many good people involved in the Salvation Army who are dedicated to assisting those who despair and are distressed," said Mr. Carruthers.

"They have been quite effective in elevating men and women in soul and body and in caring for those unable to care for themselves."

UFO Really Damaged Weather Balloon

GILMOUR — A mysterious flying object that glided to earth shortly after noon Thursday near Stan Robbins' store at Gilmour has been identified as an atmospheric test or weather balloon at CFB Trenton.

When the object was spotted, Madoc OPP officers were called to the scene. Cpl. Don Mitchell and Constable Walter Brown described the object as two or three feet in diameter, pink in color and made of a stretchy, rubbery material. It appeared to be ruptured.

"When we touched it we got a tingling sensation in our fingers," Constable Brown said, "and it retreated down to about a foot in diameter."

The balloon was tested for radioactivity by a team from CFB Trenton and the result was negative.

Early today Capt. Bob Burke, CFB Trenton information officer, said the object had been indentified as a weather balloon, "probably from the Toronto area, possibly from Winnipeg.

"It is definitely not radioactive," he said "and there is no danger."

Capt. Burke said the tingling sensation experienced by the OPP officers was caused by helium gas with which the balloon was inflated. "It's like touching a piece of dry ice," he said.

There is no identification on the balloon, Capt. Burke said. "If no one claims it, we'll simply throw it away."

Museum Open May 24

SOUTH MARYSBURG — Prince Edward County "Mariners" Museum will open May 24 for the 1975 season says Phil Dodds, chairman of the marine society.

Plans have been made to hire a full — time curator to keep the museum open each day except Monday. The outdoor park is open at all times but a small building housing marine artifacts must be closed when there is no attendant on duty.

It was decided during a recent meeting of the marine society that plans for an addition to the present museum building should be delayed until possible grants have been investigated fully.

Just Like New

Students in museum technology from Algonquin College, Donna Midwinter and Charles Baird will work this summer at the Prince Edward County Museum. Miss Midwinter plans to specialize in Conservation and this summer will work to restore the old altar she examines.

Aid to Vietnam, Albeit for Good Purpose, Expropriated $400,000 in Tax Money

By VINCENT EGAN

Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

The passing of the annual income-tax deadline gives uneasy thoughts to most of us about the way the government spends our hard-earned tax money.

The smeanest of all Canadian taxpayers, however, may well be Maxwell Henderson.

Mr. Henderson, from 1960 to 1973, was Canada's auditor-general. For 13 years, he had to report publicly each year on what the federal government was doing with public money.

He also had to endure being called a watchdog—an unflattering cliche, perhaps, but one that helps to make public understand the responsibility that an auditor-general has.

Each year, Mr. Henderson uncovered some new example of egregious waste of the taxpayers' money. When his reports were made public, people would shake their heads in disbelief—then forget all about it for another year, while bureaucrats went on squandering more millions.

Today, in retirement, Mr. Henderson still is keeping a watch — although from a distance—and alerting his fellow-taxpayers to the abuses he finds.

Lately, Mr. Henderson has been speaking to a number of Canadian clubs across the country, and highlighting such examples as these.

—The Canadian International Development Agency agreed to pay $15,000 to Israel, as an add-on addition to a hospital in South Vietnam, without obtaining treasury board approval as the law requires. Final cost was $429,000, but CIDA could not produce proper vouchers, Mr. Henderson said.

—An unneeded spur line was built at Pointe-aux-Trembles for $401,000. Only four rail cars ever used the line.

—At Grey Cacouna, Que., $8.8 million of public money was spent to develop a port on the vague assumption that a grain company might use it. In the end, there was no prospective user.

In these and other ways, the federal government has multiplied its spending rate—from $5.7 billion in 1965,* to the announced figure of $18 billion for the current fiscal year.

(The latter figure, Mr. Henderson notes, will reach $25 billion when loans, advances and other so-called non-budgetary expenditures are take into account.)

"For a population of only 22 million, Canada must surely be one of the most grossly overgoverned countries in the world," Mr. Henderson says.

"We should have a lot less government and regulation in this country, instead of sitting by and allowing our politicians to go on building it up, tier upon tier, at our expense."

One example is the embassy building, not mentioned by Mr. Henderson, is the recently federal decision to reduce the sales tax on building materials to 2 per cent from 11 and 12 per cent, and to make a $500 grant to first-time home-buyers.

If the sales tax had been eliminated altogether, it would have cancelled out the amount of the new grants.

Instead, the government has managed to retain the sales-tax bureaucracy, and to create a new group of them to hand out the grants to home-buyers.

A while ago, Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau spoke optimistically of the possibility of the growth of government spending. So far, however, there has been much evidence of restraint—much like the end to the ever-growing government apparatus that common sense demands.

Reds Control Vietnam

It is all over in Vietnam. Ten years since the United States began sending in military advisors, then troops in strength. Thirty years since nationalist forces under Communist leader Ho Chi Minh began their long struggle for control of the country.

Western-style democracy, shaky as it often was in the state that was South Vietnam, and which opposed the Red advance, has been eclipsed. What then of the future in Southeast

Identity of Predators Puzzles Councillors

The identity of predators killing off livestock in Hastings county and subsequent compensation still is puzzling local councillors.

The problem was given some airing this week as county council was told there were 146 claims for killed livestock during the year.

The province refunded the municipalities on only 19 of the claims since they were attributed to wolves.

But, county council's ARDA and Tourism Committee, 25 of the kills were blamed on wolves, 121 on dogs.

Reeve Frank Graham of Wollaston, a frequent critic of provincial government policy on wolves and compensation, said he is concerned because municipalities have been paying for losses that rightly should have brought compensation from the province.

Municipalities up to now have recovered compensation payments for wolf kills. Local governments pay for losses to dogs.

The reeve said he believes in some cases kills were being blamed on dogs since people found it easier to get money from municipalities.

Under new legislation, reported Carl Bateman, county treasurer-administrator, municipalities will be reimbursed 100 per cent for wolf kills and about 50 per cent for predation by dogs.

Society Outlines Priorities In Fight Against Arthritis

Ted Kelly, chairman of the Belleville branch of the Arthritis Society, and Ted Bland of the Knights of Columbus were among the delegates from across Ontario to attend the weekend convention of volunteer workers for the society in Toronto.

The two-day meeting focused on the progress made by the society in the last five years and set general goals for the next 15 years.

Dr. Ross Gouldner, Ontario president, pointed out the main objective of the past five years — the doubling of funds raised for research and education — had been met and the next 15 years were crucial.

He said goals for these next 15 years include tripling the number of specialists in the rheumatic diseases, making certain every medical student works with patients with arthritis (only about 20 per cent of students now receive bedside instruction in arthritis) and emphasizing research to find the key to the cause of the disease.

Dr. Philip Rosen, chairman of the medical advisory committee, told the group, "Important and exciting research is under way here and in many parts of the world, directed towards the problems of arthritis."

Dr. Rosen continued in 1975 the society will have achieved one of its most important goals, the establishment of a rheumatic disease unit at every medical school in Canada. Ontario achieved its share of that objective in 1974 with the establishment of a rheumatic disease unit at the University of Ottawa.

Mr. Fortier told the delegates Canada's program for arthritis control is second to none in the world and their efforts in raising funds for society projects was an important factor in reaching that position.

Queen's Students Plan Area Consulting Service

Owners of small businesses in the Quinte area will use the expertise of Queen's University students in their operations Thursday for the start of the summer - long Small Business Consulting Assistance Program conducted by the university's school of business.

Dr. Sutton, secretary-manager for the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, has sent each chamber member a brochure outlining the program. It also includes a form to be filled out and mailed to the university for those persons who wish to participate in the program.

The venture will be available to any manufacturing, retail or service business — which is locally owned and preferably owner operated. It will be staffed by 12 students who have completed the first year of the master of business administration program at Queen's.

The student will be in a position to offer assistance and advice in all areas of interest to the small businessman, including cash management and planning, inventory control systems, production scheduling and inventory control, marketing planning, promotional problems, accounting systems and evaluation of computer service needs and costs.

Hastings Highlights

Convocations Set

MADOC — Loyalist College Board of Governors further set plans for its double convocation this year during its meeting held at Mother's Restaurant near here Thursday. Paul King, dean of faculty and academic services, described the layout and proceedings for the two events, May 24 and June 21. James Auld, MPP Leeds and minister of colleges and universities will attend the first one and Joan McDonald, executive secretary of the Registered Nurses' Association of Ontario will be guest speaker for the second session.

Parent Input Sought

Belleville trustee Eloise Burr says the Hastings County Board of Education is not hearing enough from the students and their parents.

Mrs. Burr told her fellow trustees this week the board should devise methods by which the students and their parents can have more input into the educational process.

She called for more public debate on some current controversial issues.

Just Add Money

MADOC — Barbara Allen, reeve of Tweed, posed this question Thursday on how to attract secondary school students to post-secondary technology courses: "How do you make a drill press attractive?"

Ernst Kneisel, director of the school of business and continuation at Loyalist College, replied, "By putting dollar bills on it." The remarks were made during a dinner at Mother's Restaurant near here for centre and north Hastings County educators and municipal officials hosted by the college board of governors.

Promotional Effort

MADOC — The Loyalist College Board of Governors promoted two college films during their dinner meeting at Mother's Restaurant near here Thursday before educators and municipal officials from centre and north Hastings County. One was Moods of the Moira, produced by the college school of communications for the Moira River Conservation Authority and narrated by Loyalist graduate Brian Dobbin, a Radio CJBQ newsman. It has been shown on area television stations. The other was an outline of what the college has to offer, narrated by broadcasting instructor Bryan Olney, a former Radio CKWS announcer in Kingston.

Horse Steps Down

TWEED — Nellie, the horse who has drawn the Foster Dairy Milk wagon for many years, officially retired from service on Monday, April 28th, 1975.

In honour of her retirement, the skit appear on the TV program, Regional Contact, Channel 6, at 6.30 p.m. Saturday, May 3rd, and again at 1.00 p.m. Sunday, May 4th.

Loyalist To Get Counsellor

MADOC — Loyalist College has shifted funds internally in order to create a full time counsellor position in the student services division, says Fried Bellstedt, member of the college board of governors.

Mr. Bellstedt, chairman of the board's building and finance committee, said the counsellor would act in a guidance capacity. The position was formally by the student administrative council, he added.

"We are one of the few colleges who do not have a student counsellor," Mr. Bellstedt said.

Twa Interm Fire Chief

BANCROFT — The Bancroft Volunteer Firemen's Association has established an assistance fund for the family who was stricken with a fatal heart attack on Wednesday while answering the call to a small local grass fire.

Mr. Walker was married with two children, and was an employee of the provincial ministry of the environment.

The local fire association has started the fund off with a $500 donation.

Bancroft Reeve Russ Hawley said "donations to the fund can be made through either of the Bancroft banks".

Deputy Fire Chief Dale Twa has been appointed to act as interim chief of the fire department.

Surveying the Problem

The prospect of a soapbox derby in Bancroft has spurred a number of young mechanics and carpenters to undreamed heights in construction of their vehicles. Peter Hartin and Scott Hayton only have one problem — how do you put on the wheels?

Board Outlines Policy On Teacher Development

The Hastings County Board of Education this Week set its 1975-76 school holiday schedule as closely approximate to a clear up any misunderstanding about professional development activity days.

The clarification on professional development and activity days was requested by Belleville trustee Donald Thrush who said the public and press tend to be critical of these designated days for teachers.

The board's vice - chairman Miriam Graham came to the rescue and explained that professional activity days can be used for a "variety of reasons." She said teachers usually use these days for assessing student or curricular progress as well as marking and evaluating a year' work by the students.

She said the professional development days are used for "enhancing the qualifications — not necessarily for salaries — of teachers which will help them in the classroom." Teachers no longer take the term professional development (PD) days.

The board approved 12 activity days for both the elementary and secondary school teachers. Secondary school teachers use 10 of these days in June to mark papers and evaluate a student's year.

The elementary school teachers will use a portion of one activity day on the final day of school. Mrs. Graham admittedly said this was to keep elementary school teachers from going home. On the first day of school students usually only attend a half-day.

The ministry of education requires the board to provide a minimum of 185 instructional days for the students.

The board approved the week of March 23 to 26 as the winter break time and that Nov. 11 and April 19 would be school holidays falling on Remembrance Day and Easter. Monday.

Dental Course Depends On Ministry Support

MADOC — Budget restrictions threaten the establishment of a dental hygiene course at Loyalist College, says Wilf Wilkinson, chairman of the college board of governors.

He said a group of centre and north Hastings County educators and municipal officials here Thursday "there is only be so many funds. If we start one course, we have to drop others."

Terming this manoeuvre a trade-off, Mr. Wilkinson commented, "The board has to decide where can it make the trades, and where does it fall within the budget?"

Herb Vaughan, college president, pointed out area hospitals have been clamoring for such a program. But the crux of the matter is getting the provincial ministry of health to transfer funds to the provincial ministry of colleges and universities which would then provide them to Loyalist.

Paul King, dean of faculty and academic services, noted there is a "huge capital investment required" for starting the course.

He said Durham College has such a course and has sent information to the Belleville and Peterborough area stressing it a good deal of preference will be given to potential course students here as well as the Toronto and Ottawa area it serves.

"That's in the mill now and they're ready to go," said Mr. King.

Bancroft Youngsters Preparing for Derby

By NAN WHITLAW
Staff Correspondent

BANCROFT — North Hastings Parents should realize that if they hear the furious sound of hammering in the garage, and the house is dull and the wheels are missing off the lawnmower and the boatrailer, chances are pretty good that a youngster in the family is getting ready to take part in the Bancroft Mayfest Soap Box Derby.

The derby is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and other service groups and is designed to give local and visiting kids a lot of old fashioned fun and to raise funds for the Local ARC Industries Workshop.

All manner of strange vehicles are yesgr constructed in the area by the kids and their older advisors.

The organizing committee has decided to insist upon several safety musts for the race route and the competitors.

The race will be run in two divisions 8 to 13-year-olds and those who are 13-16 and all racers must wear snowmobile or motorcycle helmets.

Only one "kidpower" per vehicle will be allowed in the race.

The final route for this grand prix of the soapbox circuit has not been decided yet but by race day all the wrinkles will have been ironed out.

Since a portion of the purpose of the race is to raise money for the local ARC Industries Workshop, each youngster entering must have at least one sponsor who will pay on the basis of each yard travelled by the soapbox car.

Entry forms will be available at the Chamber of Commerce tourist informatin booth in Bancroft and at some of the area schools.

Included in the entry will be a waiver which must be signed by the racer's parents.

Races start at 2 p.m. on Sunday May 18, however all registrations must be completed by 1 p.m. that day.

Any soap box contraptions that are in Bancroft and operable are invited by the Bancroft Lions Club to participate in the parade to be held Saturday, May 17.

Andras Plans Quick Action To Move 3,000 Refugees

OTTAWA (CP) — Immigration Minister Robert Andras said Thursday his government will move quickly to bring 3,000 South Vietnamese refugees to Canada.

He told the Commons that Canada will take a share of the refugees evacuated from Saigon by the United States and an additional 1,000 who left the Southeast Asian country on their own.

Outside the House, Mr. Andras said the provinces are being consulted on where the refugees will settle.

Normal immigration procedures would be waived for those who could satisfy the government that they "faced persecution if they were to return to South Vietnam."

Mr. Andras said the cabinet has decided not to take action against the new regime in South Vietnam.

Saigon surrendered Tuesday to the Communists, ending 35 years of war. The Viet Cong-backed Provisional Revolutionary Government has taken over control of the country.

Before the country surrendered, 122 war orphans were flown to Canada and Mr. Andras promised priority on landed immigrant status to 14,000 South Vietnamese who have relatives in Canada. He predicted that no more than 1,000 of those persons will make it to Canada.

Mr. Andras said the cabinet's decision Thursday to take 3,000 refugees who are not relatives in Canada was partially due to a United States appeal.

He did not say whether Canada will take more people if the United Nations declares a mass refugee situation.

In the Commons Wednesday, he said refugees applying for landed immigrant status would be dealt with on an individual basis because the UN had not declared a mass refugee situation.

However, he described the government's decision Thursday to accept 3,000 persons as "an initial response."

Bill Studied

OTTAWA (CP) — Legislation to establish the long-promised federal human rights commission is under study by cabinet, Government House Leader Mitchell Sharp said Thursday. The commission would set to uphold all aspects of civil rights, including women's rights and discrimination on the basis of sex.

Mr. Sharp gave no indication when it will be introduced but said in the Commons the government wants to proceed. He described the proposed legislation as extremely complex.

Ontario Plans Loans To Aid Young Farmers

TORONTO (CP) — Agriculture Minister William Stewart announced Thursday a $25-million loan program for young farmers in Ontario.

He told the legislature, the government will guarantee bank loans at the prime interest rate plus one per cent to help farmers aged 18 to 35 establish themselves.

Under terms of the Ontario Young Farmers Credit Program, payments in the first two years of the 10-year loans would be made on interest only, he said.

The minister said about 50 per cent of diploma graduates and 40 per cent of degree holders of agriculture courses are returning to farm land.

He said the province wants to encourage and aid young people returning to the land.

Mr. Stewart said applications for the program to be administered by agricultural representatives will be available as soon as possible.

Mr. Stewart also announced a doubling to $40,000 of special grants to farmers if Northern Ontario.

He said the province last year spent $60 million in direct grants to farmers through tax rebates, subsidization of loans and the milk production incentive program.

Eric Winkler, management board of cabinet, told the legislature, the minister was presenting his ministry estimates for the 16th time in that period.

"This will not be his last time," he predicted.

There has been speculation Mr. Stewart would not seek re-election as he lost his riding of Middlesex North in redistribution last week.

Mr. Stewart has not announced his intention.

Chief Is Critical Of Province's Stand

TORONTO (CP) — Provincial Resources Secretary Allan Grossman and Jack Stokes (N D P—Thunder Bay) exchanged angry words Thursday over statements by the chief of White Dog reserve about the province's solution to mercury-polluted fish.

Mr. Stokes told the legislature that Chief Roy McDonald had accused the government of an "election gimmick and window dressing" in announcements earlier this week that a solution had been found to the problem of a food supply for Indians near Kenora, Ont.

Following a weekend visit to the reserve, the resources secretary had told the house the provincial government intended to supply freezers to the community to store unpolluted fish.

Allan Grossman and Leo Bernier (natural resources minister) prepared and made the statement without my approval the chief said in a statement to The Canadian Press and read in the house.

Arabs Help

OTTAWA (CP) — Arab countries are doing more than their share in financing aid for developing countries, the leader of a Kuwaiti delegation to Ottawa for talks with the Canadian International Development Agency (CIDA) said Thursday.

The Arab members of the Organization for Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) contributed about $17.4 billion of development aid in 1974. This compares with about $11 billion in aid by the member countries of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD), said Abdullatif Al-Hamad, director-general of the Kuwaiti fund for Arab economic development.

Ministers Will Study Details of Income Plan

OTTAWA (CP) — Welfare ministers agreed Thursday to move into a new phase of their overhaul of social security programs by investigating the cost, levels of assistance and other details of a proposed guaranteed income system.

The agreement came near the end of a two-day federal-provincial conference of ministers which at one point seemed ready to fall apart over a basic divergence of views between Quebec and some other provinces on one hand and the federal government.

On Wednesday, Mr. Lalonde had proposed one income program for persons unable to work and another for the working poor.

Ottawa would pay about 70 per cent of the estimated $1 billion more than current costs that was required to bring the program to fruition, Mr. Lalonde offered.

As the meeting—the sixth since the overhaul was announced two years ago—concluded, the ministers said they had unanimously agreed to look at the two-section program.

Mr. Lalonde stressed later that this did not mean all provinces felt it was the best possible plan but that the various governments were all willing to go along with it.

Mr. Lalonde said the implementation of the income support plan on his proposed target of April 1, 1978, would depend upon the work done by fall

Opposition Urges Opinions Of Farmers Get Attention

The advice came as the Commons resumed debate on a bill to stabilize incomes of grain farmers by setting up a fund for poor crop years.

Progressive Conservative and New Democratic Party spokesmen said the bill, introduced in December, falls short of what farmers need.

Joe Clarke (PC—Rocky Mountain) urged the government to "not lock itself in a room in Ottawa." It should go into the country, hold public meetings and obtain direct advice from farmers.

This could be done when the bill, awaiting second reading, goes to committee for detailed study, he said. MPs on the committee should tour the country and meet farmers face to face.

The same advice was offered by Lorne Nystrom (NDP—Yorkton-Melville) who said first hand recommendations from the farms are paramount if the government wants meaningful legislation.

But Otto Lang, minister responsible for the wheat board, said in-depth talks already have taken place. Implementation of the bill was delayed to allow full consultation with farm groups, he said.

The proposed legislation is a redrafted version of a bill originally introduced in 1970. It was withdrawn in the face of heavy criticism.

The new proposal would give farmers the option of paying two per cent of their gross cash receipts up to $25,000 into a stabilization fund. Maximum yearly contributions would be $500. The government would contribute $2 for every 1 put in by farmers.

The plan would apply to farmers in the wheat board's designated area—the Prairie provinces and a section of northeastern British Columbia.

Other opposition spokesmen said the bill would prove a nightmare to administer.

Several MPs, including Stan Schellenberger (PC—Wetaskiwin), said farm-income stabilization should be a responsibility of Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan. The bill was introduced by Mr. Lang.

"WHERE YOUR DOLLAR BUYS MORE"

"Every day is what it takes."
To get the most out of milk, make it a daily habit. Just the way you brush your teeth.
Fortunately, nothing could be much easier to make a habit of than milk. You don't have to mix, stir, cook. Just pour...and drink.

You don't have to revise your food habits, either. You can make room for milk in your daily diet simply by adding a glass to breakfast, lunch or dinner. If you have coffee breaks during your day, you can do yourself a real favour by making one a milk break instead.

Boondoggy soups can often be made with milk instead of water. Extra creamy as well as extra good!

And if you're counting calories, make your calories count—by drinking milk every day. It contains more nutrition per calorie than any other readily obtainable food!

Another benefit from milk.
There is one other aspect of your re-instating yourself as a daily milk drinker which deserves your very serious consideration.

It is this: if your children grow up seeing you, an adult, accepting milk as a fundamental part of your daily food intake, it will be a lot harder for them to get talked out of milk by their contemporaries who condemn it as "kid stuff". You're the daily proof that it isn't.

In this day of the junk-food explosion, that's a service that can be important.

And all the time you are setting an example for your children, you are doing a great big nutritional favour for yourself.

Two things to feel good about—with every glass of milk you drink!

Thank goodness for milk.
Over and above all its nutritional values—and no other single food outranks it—there's something uniquely satisfying about milk.

Perhaps this is because milk is such a basic food, so abundantly surrounded with associations of purity, wholesomeness, naturalness.

And, if you are like most Canadian women, you have already been away from milk for far too long.

It isn't hard. And you won't regret it.

Nutrition Communications Division, Ontario Milk Marketing Board.

Milk

You preach it. Now read why you should practice it. Every day.

"Drink your milk." If you think this applies just to growing children, you are wrong. Nobody ever stops needing the good nutrients in milk.

But did you know that you need it too? Every day, just as they do?

Well, you do. Milk is just as important to adults as it is to children. It contains more nutrients needed by all ages than any other food that Nature provides.

All by itself, milk is an excellent source of no less than five nutrients of major importance to adult health. Here they are:

Calcium. Calcium is a factor in the maintenance, and repair, of bones and teeth. Milk is rated "excellent" as a source of this important mineral.

Protein. You think "meat"? Think "milk". Because milk is an excellent source of the same quality protein found in meat. (Bet you didn't know that!)

Riboflavin. One of the B Vitamins, Riboflavin is a factor in keeping you healthy. And what is an excellent, readily-available and economical source of it? Milk.

Vitamin A. Another basic factor in maintaining health in adults and children. Whole milk is an excellent source of this vitamin.

Phosphorus—of which milk is also an excellent source—works with calcium to maintain good bone condition throughout the whole of one's adulthood.

Wait. There's more to the story: milk is also considered a good source of Thiamine, another needed vitamin. And, in Ontario, Vitamin D is almost always added as well.

In short, it's the deficiencies in milk that are hard to find! Just about the only important nutrients it cannot supply are iron and Vitamin C, both of which it has, but only in small amounts.

Now you know how much benefit milk can be for you, an adult. And, you will remember, you drank it every single day ...through all of your childhood.

Maybe the time has come to start again.

CP News Roundup

Minimum Pay Raise In Effect

TORONTO (CP) — The new minimum wage in Ontario of $2.40 an hour for employees in general industry, announced Jan. 31 by Labor Minister John MacBeth, went into effect Thursday.

The previous increase to $2.25 an hour went into effect last Oct. 1.

Mr. MacBeth said the new increase was necessary to keep pace with the increased cost of living.

The rate for construction workers rises Monday to $2.65 an hour from $2.50.

Rates Will Rise

OTTAWA (CP) — Unemployment rates will go higher this year and there is little prospect for significant improvement next year, Andre Raynauld, chairman of the Economic Council of Canada, said Friday.

Mr. Raynauld said a return to economic growth is expected late this year or early next year and that will stabilize the unemployment rate.

New Route

TORONTO (CP) — A new route for Highway 7 between Kitchener and Guelph was announced Thursday by the Ontario ministry of transportation and communications.

Jews Mistreated

OTTAWA (CP) — Anti-semitism in the Soviet Union is official policy but Russian officials not find expression among Russian people, Dr. Victor Polsky, an immigrant Russian physicist, said Thursday.

Dr. Polsky was given permission to emigrate to Israel by Soviet authorities last November, following a long time by a right-wing resident which he said officials tried to use to send him to prison.

Extend Service

TORONTO (CP) — John Rhodes, Ontario ministers of transportation and communications, said Thursday that metroLinx, a provincially-operated air service, will add the community of Alliston to its Port Perry-Toronto-Thunder Bay route.

Mr. Rhodes said in a statement to the legislature that the date for the service comes into effect will depend on when construction of the new airport at Atikokan is completed.

Want Strike Right

TORONTO (CP) — The Public Sector Coalition, an organization which claims to represent all Ontario public sector employees groups, appealed Thursday to the government to amend the Hospitals Arbitration Act, which prohibits hospital workers from going on strike.

In a news release, the coalition protested a suit by Norfolk General Hospital against the union representing the hospital employees for calling an illegal strike two years ago.

Arts Praised

OTTAWA (CP) — The arts hold the key to humanizing the world at a time when developments both at home and abroad give cause to question values and reassess priorities, Robert Welch, minister of culture and recreation, said Thursday.

In a speech to the Canadian Conference of the Arts, Mr. Welch said the arts, more than anything else, "allow us as individuals to grasp the essence of things rather than just appearance, and build from the inside out rather than from the outside in."

The ministry of culture and recreation has budgeted $45 million for support of the arts.

Pleads Guilty

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — John Trombley, 26, of Windsor was sentenced Thursday in his imprisonment after he pleaded guilty to the shooting death last Dec. 17 of Douglas Renaud of nearby Maidstone Township.

Trombley changed his plea to guilty from not guilty on the second day of his trial on a charge of murder punishable by life imprisonment.

Defence lawyer Don Tait said Renaud, who had $1,300, attempted to purchase marijuana from Trombley.

Mr. Tait said Renaud was shot when Trombley attempted to rob him of the money, a struggle developed and Trombley's gun discharged.

Open Drive

TORONTO (CP) — New Democrats have begun a major drive across Ontario to generate interest in the next provincial election, Ontario NDP Leader Stephen Lewis said Thursday.

Would Limit Fees

TORONTO (CP) — A private member's bill designed to prevent doctors from charging certain patients medical fees greater than those paid by the Ontario Health Insurance Plan (OHIP) was introduced in the legislature Thursday by Albert Ray (L—Ottawa East).

Those exempted would be patients over 65 and those receiving public assistance.

"This is a free and democratic country and if doctors want to opt out of the provincial health plan, they are certainly free to do so," Mr. Ray said. adding "Nevertheless, OHIP is intended to be a universal health plan and its universality must be preserved.

"People on fixed and limited incomes may experience serious financial difficulties if their physicians and practitioners submit accounts directly, and the fees in question are higher than the rate which OHIP is prepared to reimburse."

About 13 per cent of Ontario's about 11 practitioners bill directly and do not participate in the OHIP program.

Bonds Defended

TORONTO (CP) — Energy Minister Dennis Timbrell defended Thursday an issue of Ontario Hydro bonds which opposition members say is having a disastrous effect on interest rates.

He told the legislature that the $100-million issue was placed on the market in consultation with Hydro, the provincial treasury and advisers in the private sector.

Three Bodies Found

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Three bodies pulled from the wreckage of a light plane in Lake St. Clair Thursday have been identified by Detroit police.

The dead are Charles Clement, 32, a restaurant owner in Southfield, Mich., Frederick Charbeneau, 39, of Madison Heights, Mich., and Jennifer Smith, 17, a student from Centerline, Mich., sister of the lone survivor of the Wednesday night crash.

Peterson Honored

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada pianist Oscar Peterson was one of six persons presented with diplomas of honor from the Canadian Conference of the Arts by Gov.-Gen. James Richard Roy at a ceremony Thursday night.

The awards have been presented since 1951 to honor contributions to the arts in Canada.

ceremony coincided with the conference's annual meeting.

Charities is in party of Italian Campaign survivors now in Italy, commemorating the 30th anniversary of the liberation of Italy by Canadian and other Allied troops.

Feeding Legislators Costs Ontario $116,172

TORONTO (CP) — The dining room in the legislative building at Queen's Park cost the taxpayers of Ontario $116,172 during the fiscal year ended March 31, 1975, a legislative committee has been told.

Robert Fleming, director of the building's administrative staff, told the standing committee on public accounts Thursday that $92,172 was spent

Keep Quorum

TORONTO (CP) — Members of the Ontario legislature are making it a point not to be caught with their seats vacant in the legislature after Monday's embarrassing adjournment.

About 50 MPPs were in the chamber Thursday to answer a quorum call. The legislature was forced to adjourn Monday for four hours because there were only 18 members present.

A quorum in the 117-seat legislature is 20.

"I can't stop," said Frank Cochrane, 1 said a reporter, as he headed for the legislature to answer a quorum call.

"Nobody's going to be able to say I wasn't in my seat today."

An unofficial count Thursday showed 37 of the 51 opposive Conservatives, including 16 ministers, 11 of the NDP and 10 of 23 Liberals in the house.

Help Students

OTTAWA (CP) — The time has come to place less emphasis on second-language training for federal civil servants and more on helping high school students to become fluent in both official languages, Keith Spicer, Commissioner of Official Languages, said Thursday.

Final Reading Is Given Two Pre-election Bills

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario legislature gave final readings Thursday to two bills dealing with election financing reform and redistribution of ridings, clearing the way for a possible spring election.

Both bills now need only royal assent to become law.

The Redistribution Act, Bill 32, first introduced last spring and long debated, adds eight seats to the 117-member legislature.

Michael Cassidy (NDP—Ottawa Centre) made a final plea Thursday that the independent commission which drew the new boundaries reconsider the city of Toronto's 10 ridings. His amendment was defeated without a standing vote.

Bud Germa (NDP—Sudbury) also repeated his opposition to the bill, contending creation of eight new seats was costly and unnecessary.

Three of the new seats will be in Metropolitan Toronto, one in Halton Region, two in Peel Region, one in the Kitchener-Waterloo area and one in Niagara Region.

The election financing bill, heralded by the government as the "most progressive and the lightest" of its kind in Canada, also came in for some fi-

Teachers' Working Demands May Mean More Hirings

TORONTO (CP) — Requests for improved working conditions may force school boards to hire extra teachers, William Ross, chairman of the Metropolitan Toronto School Board, said Thursday.

IH said in an interview that these requests were at least as important as salary requests and expressed disappointment that teachers had bargained with an "unrealistic" proposal.

Negotiators for Toronto's 8,579 high school teachers are seeking a salary schedule that would produce a $5,6-per-cent pay increase for the average teacher in the next school year.

IH urged the caution, Mr. Ross, chief negotiator for the trustees, cited teachers' requests for a guarantee of two 40-minute periods a day without a work assignment, excluding lunch break.

The teachers have also said they should not have to work more than two hours without a break or be required to supervise students in halls, washrooms and cafeterias, he said.

"I will take no constructive time to analyze the ramifications of these requests," said Mr. Ross.

The Metro negotiating team of the Metropolitan Separate School Teachers' Federation (OSSTF) indicated it "initial draft proposal" Tuesday, calling for salaries of $13,520 to $27,500 on Sept. 1.

The teachers are earning $8,200 to $20,000 this year, including a $400 cost-of-living allowance for all and incentive pay for those with six years or more of teaching experience.

The board says the average salary of a Metro high school teacher was $18,094 last Sept. 30.

The OSSTF also wants lump sum payments of $1,200 to each OSSTF member in Metro in compensation for recent cutbacks in purchasing power, and a full cost-of-living allowance (COLA) equal to percentage increase in the Metro consumer price index of Statistics Canada.

Principals would earn $42,825 to $44,150 next year under the board figures, which would include the COLA might produce Canadian salaries range from $24,550 to $27,500, including a $500 COLA provision, as well as a

Boost Opposed

TORONTO (CP) — Premier William Davis said Thursday that he has sent Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau a tele gram opposing increases in the price of Alberta natural gas.

Maple Leaf Pipeline Proposed

CALGARY (CP) — The sponsors of an all-Canadian natural gas pipeline from the Mackenzie Delta, known as the Maple Leaf Project, completed their application to Ottawa Thursday by filing 23 volumes of supporting documents.

The sponsors—Alberta Gas Trunk Line (Canada) Ltd. of Calgary, Westcoast Transmission Co. Ltd. of Vancouver, and Foothills Pipe Lines Ltd. of Calgary—filed the documents with the National Energy Board and the department of Indian affairs and northern development.

The Foothills group is seeking permission to build a pipeline system from the delta to connect with existing pipelines operated by Westcoast in B.C. and by AGTL in Alberta.

Total cost of the project is $3.5 billion, including $1.9 billion for 117 million cubic feet daily to be laid from the delta to near the joining of borders of the Yukon Territories, B.C. and Alberta.

Summarizing the documents at a news conference in Calgary, AGTL representatives said the proposal is based on advantages over the Canadian Arctic Gas Study Ltd. pipeline proposal.

Arctic Gas, a consortium of U.S. and Canadian companies, is proposed to build 1,900 miles of 48-inch pipelines to transport Canadian and Mackenzie Delta gas, at a cost of about $7 billion.

'New Money' Required For Share in Agency

MONTREAL (CP) — A $100,000 payment to a Montreal travel agent would only give the airline a toe-hold on a proposed nationwide travel agency, the Air Canada inquiry was told Thursday.

R. T. McGregor, president of McGregor Travel Co. Ltd. of Montreal, said the money he received was simply to show Air Canada was seriously interested in a national string of travel agencies.

The government-owned airline would have to come up with "new money" to acquire a share in the country-wide agency. The new firm was to include McGregor Travel, a Columbia agency and Air Canada as partners.

The deal with Air Canada last November also gave the Crown corporation an option on 10 per cent of the shares in McGregor Travel which it could exercise by spending one more dollar, he said.

Mr. McGregor said the proposal to create the new national agency is still alive. "Nothing has told me that the negotiations for amalgamation have stopped."

The Air Canada Act does not allow the airline to own travel agencies.

But Richard Holden, counsel for Mr. McGregor, told reporters that Air Canada can acquire an option on stock in travel agencies. But it could not use the option under the law as it stands.

The federal inquiry, headed by Mr. James Richard Tetley of the Supreme Court of Ontario, is looking into the McGregor deal and financial control and management in Air Canada.

Who Cares About Problem Kids

Larry MacDonald's manner becomes increasingly serious as he talks about the problems facing his child care department within the Family and Children's Services.

He's not only worried about possible budget cuts and the nearly impossible task of stretching what funds he has now.

He's worried about not having a sufficient number of places to send older children who come into his care.

"We're really very near the end of our rope," he says. "The foster homes that take teen-agers are full. We have 19 spare homes at the moment, but they all specify children under nine years old.

"If it weren't for our group homes I don't know what we'd do."

Mr. MacDonald explains that one of the reasons there are more teen-agers in care now is that the provincial courts are sending fewer to training schools, and keeping more within their own communities.

When a teen-ager comes before the court, the judge decides whether he should be sent to training school, kept at home in his parents' care, or made a ward of the Children's Aid Society.

In some cases, he'll recommend that the teen-ager be sent to a treatment centre, although the waiting list is very long for government-subsidized places like Brownlake ($130 a day per child). If he recommends a private treatment centre, then the Children's Aid Society is responsible for the cost, which ranges between $18 to $27 a day.

"We pay $8 a day now for each child who is kept in one of our group homes, far less than the $30-a-day cost for each teen-ager in training school," says Mr. MacDonald.

"If the courts would just pay us that $20 when we assign a child to one of our group homes, we could do so much.

"That money could be used for therapeutic work within that child's family and it would accomplish so much more."

The family-centred approach is typical of the way Larry MacDonald and his child care workers deal with problem teen-agers.

"The troubled kid is a lightbulb for a troubled family," he says. "A skilled family therapist can come in and help to change the situation that brought the teen-ager to our attention.

"There's untold strength within a family unit. Not everything the parents have done is wrong. Using understanding and corrective techniques, the family worker can help the parents to see that they do have power. They find new confidence in the way they deal with their children's kids."

"But hiring skilled professionals to do that kind of work costs money. And we just don't have it.

"I have 128 children in my department's care," he says. "My annual budget here is the same as the cost I had in Vancouver for the care of 32 children."

Taxpayers object to being asked to pay more toward the CAS budget, Mr. MacDonald says, but he is not sympathetic to their complaints. He feels that a community has the responsibility to correct the behavior and improve the living conditions of those children who become "problems."

"These children are the community's problem," he says. "Even though they may not be your direct concern, ultimately you will be touched. Social workers have to convince the public that money spent in helping these kids is an investment for the future. The earlier we start, the more we can do.

"Unfortunately, we can't promise that treatment will work every time. That's what is difficult about selling the idea. But the alternative is to have layers and layers of problem kids peeling off problem families.

"These are problems that CAN be taken care of with money."

"Bud" and Rose Budynski, foster parents for the Children's Aid Society group and court home near Quesnsboro, stand at the open door of their rambling old house in a characteristically welcoming pose. They are one of five families who run homes to which troubled teen-agers are sent to live for several weeks or months at a time.

Backbone of Current System Is Care by Foster Parents

How does Larry MacDonald cope with the problems of too many kids and too little money?

"Foster parents," he says. "They're the backbone of this department."

In particular, he means the five couples who run group homes for the Family and Children's Services. To four of these homes he is able to refer his teen-age charges, and to the fifth sends younger children.

One group home, run by Orvil (Bud) and Rose Budynski near Queensboro, is also the most busy, to which teen-agers who have come before the juvenile court are sent instead of to a training institution.

In charge of the residence program in Mr. MacDonald's department is Ian MacLean, who supervises the management and treatment of the teen-agers in care.

"I'd like to see more group homes, with professional, trained foster parents," he says.

"Our group homes now get good results. But we have teen-agers in them that might be better off in treatment centres.

"I think the community colleges could turn out graduates who are trained to work as professional 'parents'. Any time you put kids together (in a group home) you have to have treatment available, and a planned approach.

"These kids need to learn that there are rules they can't ignore if they're going to get along in society."

One of the ways that Mr. MacDonald would like to help troubled teen-agers adjust is by the creation of hostels, or boarding homes, under the management of the Children's Aid Society.

Until he has sufficient funds to do the kind of in-family care he regards as ideal, Mr. MacDonald sees the hostel as a flexible and useful alternative, in order to foster both independence and social conformity.

"But I don't know if that's possible or not," he says. "Would Belleville tolerate a hostel situation for these kids?"

ROYAL PURPLE

MARMORA IODE

A film about activities at Marmora elementary schools and Centre Hastings Secondary School was shown to the members of Marmora Chapter IODE recently, at the Deloro Public Library.

Alan Sitt, principal of Earl Prentice School, was in charge of the film and answered questions from members on various aspects of education.

Helen Meiklejohn reported that a large number of people have consented to take part in the Craft and Hobby Show which the Marmora IODE is sponsoring at the Marmora Town Hall on May 30.

Correspondence consisted of a letter from Robert Bartch, principal of Sacred Heart School, thanking the members on behalf of the ten students who visited the Ontario Science Centre on April 11 as a guest of Marmora Chapter.

A letter of resignation from Regent Alice Ayler was received with regret. Mrs. Ayler reported that she and her husband would be leaving the area soon.

Services committee chairman, Vi Parks, reported that a bale valued at $387.80 had been forwarded to IODE headquarters.

Dawn-to-Midnight Labor — Maids Get $46 Monthly

JOHANNESBURG (Reuter)—When a white family moves into a new house in South Africa, their first thought is often an African, asking to become their servant.

In Johannesburg alone, official figures show that two households in three have an African woman domestic.

Most of the maids live, and is unfailing, at the home of the garden, coming to the home to do chores from dawn-to-midnight cooking the dinner.

Their duties begin with preparing the family breakfast and often end at midnight, watching children until their parents return from an evening out.

On average the resident maids work a six-day week, a 18-hour day and receive about $46 a month.

Ina Gordon, a member of the South African Institute of Race Relations, believes most of the maids are being exploited and has launched a campaign to get a better deal.

She wants a minimum wage of about $70 a month, an eight-hour day and a five-day week.

It is doubtful whether the "new deal" will be quickly implemented, because most big-class whites probably could not afford to pay much extra for the services they get which includes food and all meals.

There is no shortage of labour. Many maids grew around that a family does not have a servant. Yet, neighbor's girl might call and say: "I have a cousin, maidless. Can she work for you?"

As obvious affection usually develops between the maids and the white children they care for, while the father works. The division of apartheid comes later.

'Women Workers Losing Ground'

OTTAWA (CP)—"The lot of women in the Canadian labour force is getting worse, in spite of all the posters, buttons, slogans and other advertisements," says Madeline Parent, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Textile and Chemical Workers Union.

Speaking at a Women and Society lecture series, Ms. Parent said she is not impressed with International Women's Year.

"The gap is widening between male and female pay and women are increasingly ghettoized in job ghettos," she said.

She accused the federal and provincial governments of deliberately refusing to use their women get equal pay for equal work.

Ms. Parent, 56, who has spent 25 years at a textile union organizer, said Canadian women are paid 7 billion annually less than men in identical jobs, 2.5 billion less in Ontario alone.

Government statistics showed women in office jobs in the Ottawa area earn as much as $1 less a week less than men doing the same task, "contrary to assurances and advertising we hear every day about International Women's Year."

The increasing tendency of women to shuttle women into low-paying, low-security jobs. The number of women in clerical jobs has increased from 62 per cent in 1962 to about 75 per cent today.

Equal-pay legislation has been of little benefit to women workers, and because government investigators sided openly with employers during the investigation of complaints.

Ms. Parent said international unions have done little because their American affiliates are sympathetic to the plight of Canadian women workers.

In the textile trade, where 75 per cent of the 80,000 workers are women, international unions tolerated a situation where men earn 1.11 a hour and women 2.11 for identical jobs.

She urged women to concentrate on a battle for better equal-pay legislation and more responsive trade unions.

"Let's study our facts and our priorities. We don't want posters or buttons, we want equal pay."

Ann Landers

She's an Office Worker Part-time Stripper, Too

Dear Ann Landers: I work in a department store in Detroit. Working with me is a girl I'll call Betsy.

Betsy supports her handicapped parents and a sister in her flat. But I recently found out she has another job. She's a stripper at a downtown theatre.

Since I learned about Betsy's other "career" I've been quite distant and she has noticed it. So have others. She's popular in this office and I've been taking some heat since I "turned" toward her. Should I tell them about Betsy's other "career"? I'd hate for people to think I'm a snob.—Quiet (So Far)

Dear Q. S. F.: Unless Betsy performs with a sack over her head someone is sure to learn of her other "career." Don't quit yet. As for your coolness, that's your business. But I'll bet several other girls in your office wouldn't treat her differently if they knew.

Dear Ann Landers: Hey, you with all the good advice. I need help. I've been trying to "forget the hurt" for two years. Sometimes I run into him, that old pain starts gnawing at me again.

Forgetting is easier said than done. What do you suggest?—Remembering

Dear R: You're remembering the wrong things, honey. Instead of reliving the tender moments that made you happiest, you relived times, think of the cruel bill other has rearranged your face—the slights and injuries you walked the floor wondering where he was, and with whom. Recall exactly what it was that made you decide to "throw the bum out." Once you get that you REALLY straightened out, that old pain will be gone.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I invited some out-of-town friends to visit us for the weekend. We have no extra bedroom and told them we'd make reservations at a motel.

I couldn't think of the name of the motel so I called the directory assistance and told the operator my problem. She said a very similar name. I'm sorry but it is impossible for me to give you the number if you don't have the name of the place.

I told her I'd recognize the name if I heard it, and asked her to read off the list of motels. Her reply was, "Why don't you look in the telephone book?"

I didn't need HER to tell me THAT. I thought the telephone company was supposed to provide service.

We pay our phone bills every month and it wouldn't kill them to help a customer who is trouble by putting themselves out a little.—TO Off in Bloomfield

Dear TO: Do you have any idea how many motels there are in Birmingham? Information operators should not be expected to read off lists. Your request was unreasonable.

Dear Ann Landers: I've been in the service and my mother saved every one of your columns for me before she died. You know I'm a big fan.

I just ran into the letter from the weirdo doctor who suggested that the wife of the author of his in the line of with a fly swatter.

How can a person get a night's sleep if he has to worry about being attacked for doing a normal thing like snoring? I couldn't believe my eyes.

My grandpa used to snore and it was a very comforting sound. He was a wonderful person and knowing that he was once made a fly swat, I'll see here's a message to the snorers of the world: Don't feel guilty. Not everyone hates you. Some of us love you.—J.D.

Dear J.D.: Speak for yourself, Buddy.

Be Sure the Fight Is Worth It

Whatever situation you meet in life, consider first whether it is really worth fighting for.

Try to keep your mind constantly on the positive aspects of life and on actions which can improve your situation. Try to forget everything that is ugly or painful but inevitable. This is perhaps the most efficient way of achieving what we have called voluntary mental "freedom of potential."

When faced with a task which is very painful, yet indispensable to achieve your aim, don't procrastinate; cut right into a task to eliminate the pain, instead of gently easing the anticipation.

Dr. Selye points out in his book that we all have our limits and that even though we want to reach out in love, there is no sense wasting our time "trying to be helpful to a mad dog". But he does give us the nerve to do what are agreeable tasks with courage.

Dear Doris: Please help me! A young gentleman friend has informed me that he is "gay". He has asked me to please understand.

Books from the library tell about it but not how the real gay man feels. Please, to this situation or how "gay" people really feel toward us.

Puzzled.

Dear Puzzled: The dictionary word is homosexual. This means that your gentleman friend does not have the normal sexual impulses toward the opposite sex, but rather towards his own sex.

He probably was made very happy when he was hugged with you about this. There have been many cases in the past where a homosexual's who have had a bad time in attempts of covering up the fact of their unnatural lives, can only make for unhappiness for any woman.

There is help to be had for homosexuals, if they want it badly enough. Your friend is a human being, with kindness and feelings, but not your love. I am sending you a pamphlet about it, in the hope that you will recognize this natural aversion more as an illness than a crime.

Dear Doris: Tell "Still Fighting" of this sure way of getting rid of the odor of smoke:

Go to bed and sweat it out — for two days. Borrow hot water bottles and wool blankets. Drink several cups of very warm water. When you sweat, keep covered.

Change sides of the bed gets wet with sweat, every time. Relax and go to sleep if you can.

Your sheets will actually smell with the smoke expelled with the sweat. You may feel weak but strength will come back, and with it a clear head. The smoke will be gone. The important thing is to have warm and treat yourself like a the patient, until it is over.

Dear Sympathizer: I discussed your letter with my expert on quitting the smokes — Bob Ludwig. He says there is no alcohol in the body to sweat out, and that if you smoked hard enough to have a "perceptible alcohol taste saturating your works, you'd be well advised and cleared your system of it.

Yet, almost any technique lill work with some. The "Bob Ludwig" boys have revealed and their importance for a long time. There is nothing that work's work for someone who holds a cigarette, breath works for many, actually. But one should not expect conditioned reflexes to drop away all of a sudden; and they don't give-up-too-soon warning is very real.

AROUND TOWN with LANA ROBINSON

(. . . an advertising feature designed to keep you better informed at what's new around town.)

Mother's Day Help

A week from Sunday is the day of the year when we honor the unsung heroines of our existence — our mothers. And we think that deserves a special gift, doesn't it? But that gift, no matter how small, should be chosen with care and love. Mother's Day Gifts are to be had in both quantity at W. Somerville and Son Jewellers, 207 Front St. The sales staff are fully trained to assist you in the right choice and the choice of costume jewellery, key cases, billfolds and chins is one of pleasure, with the assurance of Somerville's Service. You'll appreciate the Somerset service and so will your mother!

Wrought Iron at Wrays

The window at Wrays, 201 Front St., has been bewitched this last little while by a wrought iron dining set by HAUSER, a Canadian company in Kitchener. This kind of set is lovely in white, but there are other colours available in Hauser's line. These sets are available in a multitude of decorator colors and usually come with a glass top. Attractive base tips are available, ever. Wrays have more wrought iron furnishings by the same company, such as national bird cages, hanging baskets, plant stands, in antique gold with ¾ inch glass tops. Sound sleepy? They are and think what this lovely furniture would do to your home! Visit Wrays tonight and see for yourself.

They're All There

I've told you a few times that Sidney Inn is not just a place for groceries and gifts, but it's also a Carvery Centre too. Besides all the cotton sets and wool ensembles and hooked rugs, Sidney Inn now has carvings and rose bushes, also the garden tools and the fertilizer, the seeds and the to do the job properly. And there's that steel old Silver Inn convenience, Marry a gardener doesn't get a chance to show for his or her surplus energy, and was inclined before now to grumble, and grumble, in serious gold with ¾ inch glass tops. Sound sleepy? They are and think what this lovely furniture would do to your home! Visit Wrays tonight and see for yourself.

Busy Cameron Weekend

When I called Donnah Cameron this week, she was in the midst of the preparations for her show at the Knights of Columbus Hall tonight and tomorrow night in Trenton. This art show is in aid of the Trenton Hospital Auxiliary Society and one of Donnah's paintings will be drawn as a prize. There are still tickets available at the door at 10 each. Wine and cheese will also be served. Donnah is a local artist and deserves the support of a good cause — two good causes actually: arthritis assistance and arts. Donnah's studio is in the lower portion of the Corby Galley cosmo too. So you can see that Donnah has been busy and will be, but never too busy to show you the Cameron Gallery, 114 Mills West of Bedeerville on the Rednersville Rd.

The All-Size Shop

That sounds as if I'm talking about some kind of shoe which expands and contracts at will. Well, Shoko 221 at 221 Front St. doesn't do that, but it is certainly accommodating to the clothing needs of Belleville and area women. Shoko 221 now carries sizes from 5 to 44. Owner Connie Mitchell tells me that she's received a new shipment of sweaters and cardigans and in past suits, in a variety of colors. But no matter what your size, or coloring, which, or belted, you're going to find good tasty, reasonably priced at Shoko 221. And you can get a new wig and some new jewellery at the same time. And don't forget a Mothers Day blouse or piece of jewellery — or maybe a sweater ,or maybe a pant-suit . . . or maybe . . . or maybe.

Tire Time

My friends at Vader's Car Sales, on College St., at North Front St. tell me that the time of reckoning is upon us for owners of home tires. Winter tires are not safe on bare pavement and more so with the warmer weather. Vader's not only have the tires, but they also have the most modern equipment for balancing wheels, especially 'mag' wheels. With Vader's new service center, they didn't feel ground in getting the new equipment to match the new premises. Another reminder from Vaders: You need proper conditioning of your car and tires for your safety in winter. And for those of you who missed my warning of last week, the tires ARE ON SALE — 7.75 DATSUNS AT THOSE GREAT '74 PRICES, LEFT AT VADERS.

Not Just For TVs

For almost four months now, I've been talking about the great service of Superior TV, 185 Canniffon Rd. but, until now, within the context of television service only. I have been remiss! Superior also repairs other kinds of electronic equipment and including car tape players. You have to admit, that that is rather an important dimension in service. And Superior will apply its same prompt service and reasonable rates to stereo if does television. The same goes for radios, home or car or portable. Superior Television is a "complete entertainment centre". And I guess that's what you'd call it alright.

Lovely Sundays

Hopefully, we are now, official an dunofficially, Fairchild or Celsius, into the 'Lovely Sunday' season. This means that the driving will be pleasant, the scenery exciting because of its changing and dominance of green. And the temperature will mount. And there is no nicer culmination to a Sunday drive over into The County than a visit to the Inn On The Bay Tavern in Picton, which overlooks the Picton harbor. The day has been lovely, the Inn On The Bay surroundings can match the day. And the food is always up to Sunday dinner standards. So drive a Sunday — and a someone — that you appreciate them. Visit the Inn On The Bay for Sunday lunch or dinner.

Seeing Your Way

Now, if you've done your raking, as I have (boast, boast,) your lawn is a wonderful potential, with the bare areas and the flower beds now know why they are there again. But there's a way you could enhance the beauty to come and the beauty you help make a lot more easily than gathering and raking leaves underfoot — which you can't do all the time. And that's to have Bellevue Glass set up a glass and aluminum door in a patio door at your house. Not only could you get outside more easily, but also, the outside could get in too. Visit Bellevue Glass or call Gaza at 968-2221.

For A Large Family

A common complaint today amongst larger families is that everyone is thinking 'small family', including home builders. Good Robin Real Estate, 117 North Front St. has just the property — or soon it's a new one has to — available for a large family or for two families. It's a double home on Macdonald Ave. And to say that it has "all kinds of room", is to make an understatement. The property is only six months old and is of brick construction with aluminum siding, so maintenance isn't a problem. Yard is also a large lot with it as you know large families will have lots of running and playing space. To get more details and a look, just call Gord Robin Real Estate at 968-6471.

Air-conditioning Answers

Moira-Schneider, the people who not only heat your home and provide you with Aquaflow Water Softeners, are also experts on installing air-conditioning systems, both independent and furnace units. According to Moira-Schneider, in an independent window type of installation, the average three-bedroom bungalow should have two units for maximum effect, and of course, these must be removed in the fall. The split system which is installed in the duct work of your furnace needs no removal and the compressor is left outside all year round. The latter system is considered to be the better, but doesn't have the portability of the former. At Rates at Moira-Schneider will be glad to answer any questions on either system. Just call him at 968-6564.

EMO Votes to Disband After Withdrawal of Govt. Support

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

The Quinte Emergency Measures Organization (EMO) — the body responsible for emergency planning and coordination of disaster recovery operations — is being disbanded, it was learned Thursday.

The executive committee of the EMO, including representatives from each of the municipalities served, met in Bleecker Auditorium Thursday afternoon to pass a resolution dissolving the organization effective Aug 1.

The vote to disband the EMO follows a year of financial uncertainty for the local chapter and similar organizations across the province.

The final word came a month ago when the provincial government announced it would no longer subsidize 50 percent of the operating budget.

A letter received more recently directed EMOs to be bound by the end of July or the province would not assume responsibility of paying job termination benefits to staff — a bill which totals more than $7,700 locally for holiday and sick time accumulation by director Angus Daffy and his secretary.

"This latest word really brings us right down to the crunch," said Belleville Mayor Robin Jeffrey, executive committee chairman.

Though it was apparent at the meeting that local municipal governments would not be prepared to assume full financial responsibility for the EMO, some members expressed optimism that other forms of funding could be obtained.

Mayor Jeffrey pointed out that the federal government had been approached earlier that the answer had been no. Further, she said most councils had either finished their budgets or else they just couldn't afford to increase their financial share.

City Alderman Stu Meeks said he had "several organizations in mind that he would like to approach."

In the meantime, EMO staff have been asked to take inventory of all emergency equipment and supplies in preparation for July liquidation.

"We just have no alternative," said Mayor Jeffrey.

In recent times, the EMO has played major roles in the windstorm that shook Brighton two years ago and Tweed last summer.

The EMO runs emergency drills in conjunction with Belleville General Hospital staff and marks its operational facilities, facilities and staff available to major area events each year.

The organization had a budget of approximately $23,000 in 1974 and submitted a budget of about $25,000 this year.

St. Thomas Looted Prior To Early-morning Blaze

By ROBIN CHASE
Staff Reporter

Officials investigating the early Wednesday morning fire which gutted St. Thomas' Anglican Church here have determined an unknown thief or thieves broke into the church vestry and stole a quantity of silverware some time before the fire began.

Police Chief Douglas Crosbie said Thursday the church was entered "we believe by the rear door to the vestry-office on the north side of the church near the east end".

He said the investigators removed debris from the vestry but could not find certain items made of silver which he said are believed stolen.

Chief Crosbie said no evidence has been discovered to link the intruders with the blaze but emphasized the investigation is continuing "to determine whether arson did in fact take place".

He noted, however, a quantity of liquid was found in a stairwell from an outside set of stairs leading into the basement.

He said samples have been sent to the Attorney-General's centre of forensic sciences in Toronto "to see if it's a petroleum by-product of any description".

Chief Crosbie said no witnesses have turned up who might have seen any suspicious persons near the church prior to the fire but Fuel McCormick of the Ontario Fire Marshal's office here and Det. Sam Morgan of city police are still conducting independent probes.

Canon Peter Tett, the church rector, told The Intelligencer Thursday the missing articles were two silver communion cups(, a paten (bread plate), two silver cruets (decanters in which hold water and wine), a bread box and a ciborium (box with stand which holds hosts).

He said parts of a silver tray and a silver flagon were recovered plus a bible which is believed to be melted silver. In addition, part of a candle was found outside the east end of the church.

About the only items recovered which might be reusable were a few brass dividers which are used to hold candles, he added.

Broken beer bottles were discovered under a tree at the front of the church, but Canon Tett did stressed that their significance saying youths frequently gather to drink and smoke on the east grounds near the old graveyard.

Wiring, Furnace Not Fire Cause Suspects

Canon Peter Tett, rector of St. Thomas' Anglican Church which was gutted by fire of an unknown cause early Wednesday morning, says he does not believe the building's wiring or furnace could have been at fault in the blaze.

He told The Intelligencer Thursday the church was rewired a few years ago and a new furnace installed in 1970 and no problems have ever been encountered with either.

Canon Tett pointed out the furnace in Anglican Church is enclosed in a fireproof room lined with asbestos. He explained a door to the room was always left ajar but had a mechanism which would automatically shut and lock shut if the room temperature reached a certain level.

He said in addition there were no lights on in the church at the time and with the warm weather, the furnace would have been fired infrequently.

Emily Carr Exhibition

Chen Taylor, an extension officer with the Art Gallery of Ontario, prepares the 25-piece Emily Carr Exhibition expected to open today at the Corby Library. Mr. Taylor said the paintings were done between 1910 and 1935. The exhibition will continue 'till May 23

Montreal Security Firm First To Locate Office in City

Barnes Security Services Ltd. of Montreal announced the opening of a Belleville branch at a civic reception Thursday.

The announcement meant the first such company dealing in industry and commercial security service to locate an office in the city. Two other firms operate in the area but have no offices here.

"The age of the old man reading a newspaper while he is supposed to be guarding a plant at night is gone," said Don Barnes, a principal of the company.

He said his company staff are trained in a broad range of security service including fire and first aid areas.

"We try to offer the industry a well-rounded package and tailor the package to the individual's needs, said Mr. Barnes.

The company was formed by Charles Barnes in Montreal in 1948. Since then, his sons Don and John Barnes have taken over — expanding the service to 19 centres ranging from Montreal to Vancouver.

"Our business is concentrated in Ontario," said Mr. Barnes.

Roger Fisher, formerly a firm spokesman in Montreal and the Toronto branch, has been named manager in Belleville.

"We will be hiring on staff (generally from retired military ranks) as business begins to grow," said Don Barnes.

The company is wholly family-owned and Canadian owned with no shareholders.

Mr. Barnes said the company chose Belleville as a central eastern Ontario site because of the city's growth potential.

The company took their application to locate in Belleville in recent years and spokesmen said each survey looked more encouraging as industry and a market grew steadily in and around Belleville.

He said all staff will be hired from the local labor force.

Space Now Available For More Tech Students

MADOC — Loyalist College still has sufficient room to accommodate about 400 extra students, Herb Tweed, college president, said here Thursday.

He told centre and north Hastings County educators and municipal officials in the schools of technology and business, "we do have expansion within our present facilities".

Will Wilkinson, board chairman, said the board initially invested hundreds of thousands of dollars in technology equipment and then found the students were lacking.

He said in some courses there were "costly equipment and costly instructors and very few students". However, last year there was "a significant increase in technology students," he noted.

But Loyalist can still accommodate more, said Mr. Wilkinson. "I still think students felt they had to go to the colleges in the big cities," he commented.

Loyalist Controls Tightens

MADOC — James Auld, provincial minister of colleges and universities, has told Loyalist College officials to "tighten their belts a little more".

Will Wilkinson, chairman of the college board of governors, told a board meeting at Mother's Restaurant near here Thursday he and Herb Young, college president, met with Mr. Auld April 8 at a session of provincial college presidents and board chairmen in Toronto.

He said Mr. Auld advised to make the best use of funds available but left it to each board on how best to use those funds.

Garden Plots Proposed

MADOC — That 25.5 acres of land Loyalist College purchased recently to the north of its campus for road access and future expansion purposes may turn into garden plots for apartment dwellers in 1976.

Priedl Bellstedt told the college board of governors here Thursday the proposition will be an expansion of a planned city program on other land in the area.

Zoning Bylaw Draft Expected Next Week

Belleville should get a look at the first draft of the zoning bylaws by accompanying its official plan within a week, it was learned at a meeting of the Quinte Planning Board Thursday.

While the official plan — a set of maps with little written text — has been in the hands of the province for several weeks, the consultants are only just putting the finishing touches on the written portions.

Responding to a question by Belleville Mayor Robin Jeffrey, deputy planning director Frank Szokmans said he expected the bylaws would arrive by next week.

The bylaws are often referred to as the "teeth" or the formal enforcement of the official plan.

The plan — though it is designed to be a document of continual modification and revision — is expected to guide development within the city's boundaries.

School, Churches Offer Aid to House Parish

The activities of St. Thomas' Anglican Church, gutted by fire this week, will continue in the parish hall on East Bridge St.

Canon Peter Tett, church rector, said Thursday the 8 a.m. Sunday eucharist will be held in St. Agnes' Chapel located in the basement of the hall. It can hold between 50-60 people.

Other services will be held in the upstairs room which can manage about 200 people. Seating is not a problem, he said. Sunday 300 church-goers, Rev. Tett.

He estimated there are about 400 households which actively support the church. The average attendance for each late morning service throughout the year is about 150. The grand church has the capacity of about 350 persons.

Rev. Tett said the principal of Bridge Street Collegiate Institute has offered the use of the school auditorium which has an organ. If congregation attendance is the other factor favorable, services might move there in summer.

He added Christ Church has also offered the use of furniture and furnishings which were formerly in St. George's Church on Station St., now closed.

Rev. Tett said other churches have offered their facilities for weddings which would have been held in the pre-destroyed St. Thomas' Church from May through July. They are Trinity United, Presbyterian, Christ Church, St. Margaret's and Holy Trinity in Ameliasburgh.

And countless telephone calls have been received from concerned parishioners and people from other centres such as Toronto and Ottawa, he said. Contributions to the building fund have already been made.

Congregation to Decide Reconstruction Format

By ROBIN CHASE
Staff Reporter

The congregation of St. Thomas' Anglican Church, gutted by an early Wednesday morning fire, will make the final decision on the form of reconstruction to take place.

says Canon Peter Tett, church rector.

He told The Intelligencer Thursday the decision will hinge on the bishop's success of a fund-raising drive by the Ontario Heritage Foundation for funds with which to restore the church as an historical site on the remaining structure.

Bearing that, the congregation will have to investigate construction of a new, modern church on the existing location at the corner of Church and East Bridge streets, said Rev. Tett.

He related a past suggestion which, if taken, would mean the side of church property on the south side of East Bridge St. which includes the rectory and parish hall. These facilities would become part of a new and larger church across the street.

The fate of the vestry will hold a meeting Wednesday in the parish hall at 8:30 p.m., said Rev. Tett.

This body of about 40 people is composed of wardens, the delegates to synod, various heads of organizations and other key people in the parish appointed by the nominating committee each year.

The ultimate decision has to be made by the vestry of the church," commented Rev. Tett. The vestry is made up of all members of the church.

"We have all those seats in business and we have a need in technology and we're undermobilized there."

He said the college president, said he did not think the technical school in high schools is tax. "It embodies all the people," he noted. "The jobs are there.

"We'd like to train the students in this area." There's a great opportunity in technology."

Mr. Young remarked that "we need people who get little tougher they (students) will stay in school. Jobs in technology and business are there and people who think they have a green future."

Mr. King said the college is currently surveying industries in its four-county area to find out what it is has gone on the benefits of the technology field to secondary schools.

Break-in Reported

A break-in at a law office at 135 Church St. which occurred after 1 a.m. Monday was confined to the basement storage area, an official there said today.

He said four doors in the basement were forced and police have said nothing was stolen or disturbed.

Chief Douglas Crosbie says police theorize the unknown intruders were seeking two pieces of heavy equipment which had been stolen last week from the Canadian National Railway instruction class in the Quinte Hotel.

Seven items were taken in that theft and the two pieces were found abandoned outside the building. Chief Crosbie says the trespassers might have assumed those items had been taken from and were being housed there.

Society Sings For Church

The Belleville Choral Society is presenting a special church service Sunday, May 11, at Bridge St. United Church at 8 p.m.

A spokesman from the society said the offerings will be used to start a music fund for St. Thomas Church.

College Board Stresses 'Non-glamor' Courses

MADOC — Benefits of technology and business courses in community colleges should be stressed in high school students before they are attracted by more glamour courses, says Fred King, dean of faculty for technical services at Loyalist College.

He told centre and north Hastings County educators and municipal officials here Thursday, "we have to somehow translate the needs of the area and the province to students before they are entrenched in high schools".

Ernst Kasten, dean of the college school of business and communications pointed out the Loyalist advertising campaign has been directed "toward the technical and business courses."

"Glamor courses have sold themselves," he commented.

Original Structure

This is the original version of the present-day St. Thomas' Anglican Church, officially opened on March 21, 1858. Much of the original stone still remains in the existing structure.

Arts Centre Deficit May Scuttle Plans

MADOC — A Quinte Community Arts Centre will only become a reality if Loyalist College Board of Governors can absorb a $19,000-$20,000 annual operating deficit will benefit the college academically, says Will Wilkinson, board chairman.

"The real bugaup for the board at this point is the deficit," said Mr. Wilkinson in an interview with The Intelligencer following a day's board meeting at Mother's Restaurant here.

Board member Priedl Bellstedt provided the background on the proposed centre which is the result of a joint committee between the board and the Quinte Arts Council.

Mr. Bellstedt said the board commitment to the consultant's report which is still considered but the report is vague in the area of the projected deficit and possible academic value.

The consultant report more information is perhaps approach the provincial and federal Arts Council, universities for funds. The Quinte campus has been suggested as one location for the Quinte Arts Centre.

"No one has looked at the deficit in the way it might benefit the college," said Mr. Wilkinson. "Maybe there is a surplus in the area of academic benefit."

He said the final report will be made public after the vague area is detailed.

Northern Profit Up in Quarter

Northern Electric has announced a "substantial increase" in its sales and earnings in the first quarter of 1975 over the same period of 1974.

Sales in the period totaled $261 million or 22 per cent over 1974 first quarter sales of $214.7 million.

Although a deduction of 16 cents a share was made in 1975, in comparison with phantom gain of 8 cents a share in the first quarter of 1974.

Consolidated net earning in the quarter were $24.3 million in 1975 compared with $13.1 million in 1974 — an increase of 27 per cent.

School Budget Briefing

Hastings County Board of Education superintendent of business Ken Wormald talks over education budget with board chairman Jean Hutchison at a press briefing Thursday. The budget reflects a 12-per-cent increase to municipalities.

DENIS POTVIN

Potvin, Smith Claim Clarke Kicked in Overtime Winner

PHILADELPHIA (CP) — A couple of controversial goals, including the winner by Bobby Clarke, raised bitter feelings as Philadelphia Flyers scored their second victory over New York Islanders, 5-4 in overtime Thursday night.

Clarke, the star centre of the Flyers, went for Ross Lonsberry's rebound and the puck slid under Islanders goalie Billy Smith at 2:56 of the overtime period.

It gave the Flyers a 2-0 lead in the National Hockey League series. The third game is scheduled Sunday afternoon in Uniondale, N.Y.

Both Smith and defenceman Denis Potvin insisted that Clarke kicked the puck in. Goalie Wayne Stephenson of the Flyers had said the same thing about the second Islanders goal by J. P. Parise in the second period.

Clarke explained: "The puck hit my skate and it went right back under him (Smith). I never kicked it."

When told that Potvin had charged that Clarke did, in fact, kick it in, Clarke replied bitterly:

"Well, ask him about Parise's goal. And you know what the referee said, 'It went in off Moose Dupont's skate'. And the referee was standing five feet away.

"I was coming toward the puck. If I swung my leg back, it would have to look like a soccer kick for me to kick it. I definitely didn't kick it."

Defenceman Ed Van Impe started the winning play at the red line and then Lonsberry took the puck at the blue line and got off a shot at Smith. "I just went for the rebound," Clarke said. "I really didn't have anything to do with the play. I just ended up in the right spot at the right time."

Potvin, who played a part in all four Islanders goals, and scored twice himself, said he saw Clarke kick it in.

"The puck came off Billy Smith's glove and it came over in front and I know there was one of the wingers who had Bobby Clarke pretty well hung up.

"Clarke's stick was up in the air. I was close behind, about within stick reach of him. He just kicked the puck. He then proceeded to push the rebound in as anybody else would do. You can't blame Bobby for it."

Potvin went over to referee Wally Harris and tried to explain what he thought happened. "He was right there and saw it. His best comment was to laugh at me which I don't respect very much."

Potvin was asked if he thought Harris was able to see the play.

"Definitely. He was in the proper position to see the play and I'm sure of that. Harris was on the goal line, maybe five feet to my left hand side of the net.

"I was very obvious to me and I'm sure the anybody that watches the film will be able to see it as clearly as I did."

A smart piece of work by Van Impe led to Smith's Islanders' downfall. He made the play from the corner to Westfall of the Islanders broke his stick and skated to the bench for another.

"If I had followed the play, I would have been at the blue line without a stick," Westfall said ruefully.

The Flyers built a 4-1 lead in the second period on goals by Clarke, Dornhoefer, Reggie Leach, Tom Bladon on a power play and Bill Barber.

Parise's goal cut the margin to 4-2 and then Parise and Potvin scored within 14 seconds in the third period to make it 4-4.

Both coaches Fred Shero of the Flyers and Al Arbour of the Islanders said they didn't see the winning goal. Arbour said: "I couldn't see it from behind the bench because my players were standing up, but our goaltender Smithy and our defence have complained that I used to him (Clarke) and he did kick it in. But I'm not using that as an excuse."

Arbour said that despite the loss, the momentum the Islanders gained from coming back to score three goals to tie the Flyers for a brief period would carry on into Sunday's third game.

"It's about time we started playing our game and let them chase us around. We've got to stop standing around and watch them play and we've got to start playing and have them watch us."

The Islanders had a slight edge in shots, 35-27, but it was strictly all Philadelphia's play in the first two periods.

Shero said he felt the long layoff in the playoffs waiting for opponents had left his team "mentally tired" and the Flyers showed it particularly in the third period.

"I'm happy for guys who didn't deserve to win. Now they'll be in a better frame of mind. The loss must take a lot out of the Islanders. I'm not a hope so. But you never know. They don't quit in the playoffs because they're dogs."

FLOYD SMITH

It Won't Happen Again Says Coach

MONTREAL (CP) — Coach Floyd Smith of Buffalo Sabres promises his club will not play as poorly in the fourth game of their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final series as they did in the third Thursday night.

Three goals by Guy Lafleur helped Montreal Canadiens to a 7-4 triumph over the Sabres, Montreal's first win in the series. Peter Mahovlich, Jacques Lemaire, Yvon Lambert and Doug Risebrough were the other Canadiens markmen.

"We weren't good enough tonight," Smith said. "... It seemed like nobody wanted to play the game. We went play that badly again. ..."

The Canadiens, who were flat in the first two games in Buffalo, jumped on the Sabres at the start and kept Buffalo bottled up in their own zone for much of the opening session. The Sabres did not get a shot on goal until 8:11 when Rick Martin, who had seven of Buffalo's 27 shots, tested Montreal goaltender Ken Dryden during a Buffalo power play.

It came long after Mahovlich had beaten Roger Crozier in Montreal's first goal at 1:38 on Jean Rene Robert of Lemaire was off for hooking.

Lafleur made it 2-0 when he fired a shot between Crozier's legs with 1:04 to play in the opening period and Lemaire got the third goal of the period seconds when his long shot from outside the blueline eluded Crozier on the glove side.

Montreal wrapped it up with four goals in the final session, two of them against Gerry Desjardins, making his first appearance since injuring his right hand in Sunday's opener.

Saturday's game will start at 8 p.m. EDT and will be carried on the full CBC television network. The fifth game is set for Buffalo Tuesday night.

Arrows Dump Bolts

LANDOVER, Md. (CP) — Blair Campbell, Bill Coghill and Wayne Granger scored four goals apiece Thursday night as Maryland Arrows topped Boston Bolts 19-13 in the only National Lacrosse League game.

Brian Tasker had a goal and five assists to help lead Maryland to its fifth win in seven starts.

Al Leethwaite had two goals and two assists to lead the Bolts now 3-4.

Maryland lost the services of Paul Suggs in the third period when he was knocked out by a stray elbow. Suggs, the leading scorer in the NLL last year, was taken to hospital, but later released.

Play resumes tonight with Montreal Quebecois at home to Quebec Carbone while Philadelphia Wings visit Long Island Tomahawks.

Aeros Soar Back

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Aeros have moved into the World Hockey Association final series for the second year in a row but San Diego coach Harry Howell figures the Aeros could have trouble against Quebec Nordiques.

Two goals by rookie Jim Sherrit, including one in an overtime period, rallied the Aeros to a 5-4 victory Thursday over Howell's Mariners for a 4-0 sweep of their best-of-seven semi-final series.

The best-of-seven final series starts Saturday night in Houston. The second game is scheduled for Houston on Tuesday. A schedule for further games in Quebec City and Houston on Sunday.

"Houston is at the top of its game," Howell said. "You can't stay at the peak all the time and if the Aeros let up a little, Quebec could give them trouble."

The Mariners out-manoeuvred the Aeros and took a 3-1 lead early in the second period before the Aeros started a surge that ended with a 6-4 tie and forced the overtime.

"I was surprised the way they came out and stayed with us," Aeros' coach Bill Dineen said. "Being behind 3-4, they could have come out and just blown it off."

San Diego scored on rookie goalie Ron Grahame for only the second time in the series at 4:11 of the first period with Ray Addison's shot. Ron Plumb and Mike Laughlin added goals at 12:30 of the first period and 3:47 of the second period.

Houston scored one goal in the first period with Rich Preston's shot at 7:36 and Jim Lathay made it 3-2 with a goal at 6:40 of the second period.

Sherrit tied the game at 3-3 in the first minute of the third period and Plumb got his second goal of the game at 4:17, to give San Diego its final lead at 4-3.

At 5:21, Gordie Howe stole the puck from Jim Hargreaves near the San Diego blueline and poked it in for a 4-4 deadlock that forced the overtime.

LIONS CLAIM BRAME ...

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia Lions of the Canadian Football League have claimed import linebacker Larry Brame on waivers, general manager Jackie Parker said Thursday. Brame played out his option last season with Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

Neale Sings Nordiques' Praises

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — When in doubt, wait.

Quebec goalie Richard Brodeur did just that and blanked a golden Minnesota scoring chance at a crucial point in Thursday night's World Hockey Association playoff game.

Brodeur's patience helped Quebec to a 4-0 victory over the Fighting Saints and a berth in the World Hockey Association final series against Houston.

"You've got to let them make the first move," said Brodeur, who stifled a breakaway attempt by Minnesota's Mike Antonovich midway through the first period with the score tied 2-2.

The Nordiques responded to Brodeur's goal-preserving effort and scored two goals to wrap up the scheduled best-of-seven semi-final series in six games.

"I'ts (Antonovich) really didn't have a clear breakaway. Maybe he was relying on him," said Brodeur. "But I don't usually do the first move. He has to. A goalie has to wait."

Meanwhile after the Brodeur heroics, Michel Parizeau slammed in the tie-breaking goal. Rejean Houle fired a ... line shot into an open net with 21 seconds left for the final scoring.

"Antonovich and (Jack) Carlson were in alone after we tied it up, but I don't know if you can pin it down to a couple of chances," said Minnesota coach Harry Neale. "They were patient and they waited really well when it seems like they (Quebec) scored on their first couple of good chances.

"They probably had the momentum after scoring an early one(ESH FDL W FW Y WhWW in the period," said Nordiques coach Jean Guy Gendron. "But Brodeur was just great. He had kind of a gut instinct. It was just a playoffs."

"I thought it was over his shoulder. He (Carlson) hit it with his stick over the shoulder. I looked around for the call. And referee Bob Sloan was out at centre ice somewhere and then he tries to tell me he was right there. That's what made me mad, but I forget."

Neale described Brodeur's playoff performance as "brilliant," and said Quebec would have a good chance at dethroning Houston if the 23-year-old goalie plays continue playing as well.

Brodeur played one of our best games and couldn't beat them," said Neale. "They gave him credit for coming in here and beating us two games on our ice. They were just the best team in this series."

Minnesota opened the scoring six minutes into the game when Gary Smaby converted a rebound.

But Weaver, the Nordiques scored twice in 50 seconds midway through the first period for a 2-1 lead.

The Nordiques, who won the WHA Canadian Division title in the regular season, were outshot 35-27 in the game.

The opening game of the finals will be Saturday night with Quebec at Houston. The second game will take place Tuesday night also in Houston.

More Than an Unveiling The Mac Uncovering

Belleville's Ontario Fastball League entry, the McDonald's, take to the field Sunday at Alemite Park at 2 p.m. for their first game ever.

However, when they meet the Oshawa Tony's in their Sabbath doubleheader, the Macs will be missing a few garnishments. Like two all-beef patties without the bun. Belleville's Mac's will also be without part of their main dressing — their uniforms to be exact.

It seems that somewhere in the United States there lies a couple of boxes marked Belleville, Ontario, Canada. Inside these boxes? You guessed it. Uniforms, the difference between the Big Mac and Ronny Macs for our OFL entry.

"There was a big mix up in the logo," explained the McDonald's general manager, Doug Adams. "The company in Tennessee couldn't find the drawing that was sent down for M that goes on the front of the sweaters."

"They wasted three weeks before the situation finally got straightened out," he added, "so now we'll likely have to play in jeans and whatever shirts I can come up with."

Adams went on to explain that the company is trying to track the order down and get it on a plane before the weekend, but he doesn't think the search will do much good.

"I'm not going to hold my breath," he said.

* * * * * *

SLICES . . . While Adams isn't holding his breath over uniforms, he is holding his breath in anticipation over a prospective pitcher for Sunday's games. Rumor has it that the McDonald's may be adding a well-known hurler whose name remains a secret (for today anyway), from the Brockville area. This pitcher is reported to have signed a contract with an Ottawa team, but because of recent league restrictions may not have to fulfil (contractual) obligations.

He would certainly be a welcome sight since all the McDonald's are going with on Sunday is three pitchers — Ron Hunter, Cliff Reid and Jack Leeman.

* * * * * *

McDonald's seasons tickets will be available at the gate Sunday. For $20 spectators get admission to all pre - season games and all 72 home games. The passes are also available at McKnight's Variety on Front Street and McDonald's Family Restaurant.

Admission rates for the doubleheader Sunday are $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children.

Run around with your wife again.

PARTICIPACTION

Pictures. Do more than just know it's right.

Assistant coach, Cliff Hiseman, puts four of the Belleville McDonald's through a session of pepper during a mid-week practice.

Frank Robinson, a first baseman from Kingston, is playing the ball this time around. Others taking part in the excercise are Glenn Carleton, a catcher-outfielder from Belleville, Steve Ling, an outfielderfrom Kingston, and Jim Clements an outfielder from Trenton.

The McDonald's face the Oshawa Tonys this Sunday in their first contests of the season. The exhibition double-header is scheduled to get under way at 2 p.m.

Tom MacWilliams, coach of the Hastings Highlanders Track and Field Club and organizer of the athletes training day to be held in Bancroft on Saturday, prepares for the event with Randy Broadworth in a workout at Bancroft Public School. Some of the top amateur track and field competitors and coaches in the country will be in attendance at the clinic.

Top Athletes Head Up List of Clinicians in Bancroft

BANCROFT — Local track enthusiasts and many from other areas of Eastern Ontario will be involved in a track and field clinic here Saturday.

The clinic, which is sponsored by the local Hastings Highlanders Track Club in conjunction with the Eastern Region of the Ontario Track and Field Association and the Ontario Track and Field Coaches Association, is being billed as an open training day for Athletes and Coaches and will be held at North Hastings High School.

Nine top coaches and young athletes from various parts of the province will be participating in the training day.

Coaches involved are Cecil White, Head Coach for the Etobicoke triders; Glen Arbeau, a Canada Senior Coach and an international competitor; Bill Arnold, head coach of the Ottawa Kinsmen Harriers and Brent McFarlane, an Ontario hurdles coach.

The four coaches will work with five top Ontario athletes who will act as demonstrators for the clinic.

The current leading competitor in Canada is the long jump, Maggie Wood, 15-year-old. She will also be on hand Saturday.

Elaine competes in long jump; high jump, shot put and hurdles.

Canada's international race walker Roman Olszewski, holder of the 3000 metre and Ontario walks records will also attend.

In addition to the other athletes and coaches, Nevil Conway, Canadian Junior Champion race walker will be at the North Hastings events.

The schedule for the training day includes limbering up activities, specialty group training in horizontal jumps, shot put, javelin, hurdles and distance running as well as discussion groups with the visiting coaches.

The training day is open to all area athletes and registrations can be made by contacting Tom MacWilliams at Box 989, Bancroft.

Olympics Blank CFB

The Belleville Olympics, of the Premier Soccer League, took their second win in as many exhibition stas, on Wednesday blanking CFB Trenton 4-0.

Only a pair of second half goals by Ernie Brown gave the Olympics the wide margin. Team officials were not satisfied with the club's effort in general.

Chris Johnson recorded the shutout, but didn't really have much problem against the weak front line of CFB.

Brian Preston played a strong game from his defensive position and Mike D'Ornellas and Charlie Nesterovski both put in impressive performances.

The Olympics are preparing for their Bay of Quinte season opener May 14 and their Premier Soccer League opener May 31.

This weekend, despite being hampered by injuries, the Olympics are in Kingston to Olive on their Premier League opponents, Isale Canadians. Officials feel this contest will be a good indication of what's to come in the 1975 season.

HANK AARON

Another Ruth Record Crashes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hank Aaron won a baseball game Thursday for Milwaukee Brewers and took another record from Babe Ruth.

Aaron, who surpassed the Babe's fabulous career home run mark a year ago, Thursday surpassed Ruth's career runs batted in record of 2,300.

The Milwaukee slugger knocked in two runs to bring his lifetime figure to 2,311 and help the Brewers to a 17-3 decision over Detroit Tigers.

"I've never set any plateaus," said Aaron, dismissing the accomplishment. "I just try to do the best I can and let the records fall. I just happened to be in the position to break one of the most historic records in baseball, and I'm glad it's over with."

While playing with Atlanta Braves, Aaron last year passed Ruth's home run total of 714. Since then, Aaron has built the record to 730.

Since being traded to the Brewers, however, the 41-year-old superstar has been having his problems. Aaron's four hits Thursday represented his biggest day as a designated hitter and improved his batting average to a modest .318.

In Thursday's other American League games, Boston Red Sox beat Cleveland Indians 7-4, Texas Rangers edged Chicago White Sox 3-1, New York Yankees thanked Baltimore Orioles 5-0 and Kansas City Royals beat California Angels 11-10 in 13 innings.

Aaron broke Ruth's RBI mark with a third-inning single that scored Sixto Lezcano and gave the Brewers a 3-2 lead. Willie Horton, whose sixth homer had slaked the Tigers to a 2-2 first-inning lead, tied the score with an RBI single in the fifth.

Don Money beat out an infield hit to start the Brewers' fifth and scored the go-ahead run on a double by Robin Yount. Aaron doubled home Yount with two out for his 2,311th RBI, then scored on a triple by Darrell Porter. After a walk to Mike Hegan, two more runs scored on an error and a triple by Pedro Garcia for an 8-3 lead.

Aaron, whose second-inning single set up a bases-loaded sacrifice fly by Hegan, singled again in a five-run seventh. A three-run homer by Yount capped the assault.

Bernie Carbo started a three-run first inning with a leadoff double, then tagged Cleveland starter Jim Perry with a two-run homer in the second as Boston snapped a four-game losing streak with a victory over the Indians.

Lenny Randle's run-scoring single in the ninth inning lifted Texas over Chicago. With one out, Jim Sundberg was hit by a pitch. Cesar Tover hit a grounder to Bill Melton, but the thrower to second for a forceout was dropped by Jorge Orta and Sundberg took third on the play. Reliever Terry Forster came on and struck out Roy Howell for the second out but Randle beat out an infield single and Sundberg scored.

Jim Palmer (3-1) Hunter silenced Baltimore on five hits while Thurman Munson and Ron Blomberg provided the power to give New York its victory over the Orioles.

Hunter picked up his second consecutive victory after losing his first three starts. Munson hit a two-run homer in the fourth inning and Blomberg knocked in three runs with a double in the sixth.

Cookie Rojas doubled home the tying run and Buck Martinez singled in the game-winner in the 13th inning to lead Kansas City over California. The Angels had taken a 10-9 lead in the top of the 13th as Tommy Harper singled, stole second and scored on an infield single by Dave Chalk.

BEN HATSKIN

WHA Will No Longer Pay

TORONTO (CP) — The World Hockey Association will not sign an agreement to pay the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association for signing junior hockey players that are drafted, says Ben Hatskin of Winnipeg, chief executive of the WHA.

He said the league is "not going into any agreement with the CAHA right now."

"We don't know what will happen next month or six month after, but there won't be any agreement."

The WHA and National Hockey League had an agreement with the CAHA to pay stipulated sums of money for the juniors. The agreement expired in April.

Hatskin said the league refuses to support an agreement whereby the WHA clubs are "being ripped off by paying double" for junior players.

The refusal of the WHA to sign an agreement—and the National Hockey League is expected to do the same—means the CAHA will no longer receive any money from the pros for drafted juniors.

Major Junior A hockey operators in Ontario foresaw the possibilities a pro-an agreement would not be reached. Prior to the season they had Toronto lawyer Joe Kane draw up a new contract that the juniors had to sign before playing.

It states that if a boy turns professional, he must pay 10 per cent of his gross earnings in his first three years as a pro back to his last junior team. Out of the 10 per cent, the junior team pays the player's legal fees, including agent's fees.

The WHA currently owes the CAHA about $100,000 for players drafted last year. The WHA has not indicated when, and if, the rest of the money will be forthcoming.

Hatskin said the WHA would favor the other two Major Junior A leagues in Canada—the Quebec Major Junior A League and Western Canada Hockey League—agreeing to a similar contract in negotiations with their junior players.

Kingston Rink Ousted

WINNIPEG (CP) — Two Canadian rinks and a Swiss foursome emerged Thursday as finalists in round-robin play in the CBC curling classic.

In play Thursday, Jim Ursel of Quebec eliminated Jim Armstrong of British Columbia 10-8; Rod Hunter of Winnipeg eliminated Ed Risling of the United States 8-6; and the Otto Danieli rink of Switzerland edged out Dr. Alexander Scott of Ontario (Kingston) 10-9.

Hunter meets Danieli in the first of the round-robin matches today, and Ursel plays each of the teams later in the day. In the event of a tie, a final match will be played Saturday.

The competition, which offers top prize money of $16,000, is being taped for showing on the television network next winter.

Chicago Changes Knowles Tune

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Relief pitcher Darold Knowles, who objected to the off-season deal which sent him to the National League Chicago Cubs from baseball's three-time world champion Oakland A's, now thinks he may have landed with a pennant contender after all.

"I asked Charley Finley last fall to trade me to a contender," recalled Knowles, who posted his third save of the young season Thursday as the Cubs beat the New York Mets 5-2.

"I wasn't happy about going to the last-place Cubs," said Knowles. "It was the kiss of death asking Finley to trade me to a winning club, but now the Cubs are suddenly a contender."

With the season nearly a month old, the Cubs' 13-5 record is the best in the major leagues. Knowles, a 33-year-old left-hander, has been a big part of their early success, pitching in seven games and allowing only three hits and no runs in 11 innings.

"If we play this way all season, I see no reason why we can't finish near the top of our division," Knowles added.

Starter Steve Stone, who signed across the go-ahead run for a 3-2 lead in the fourth inning, was sent to the sideline by a leg injury after 5 1-3 innings but still posted his fourth straight victory without defeat. Ken Frailing and Milt Wilcox made brief appearances before Knowles cleaned up with a faultless stint for 3 1-3 innings.

Knowles was acquired from the A's along with second-baseman Manny Trillo for Billy Williams, the long-time Chicago outfield star.

Bob Watson and Doug Rader drove in two runs apiece to lead the Houston attack. Watson had a run-scoring single in the first inning and his his fourth homer of the season in the third. Rader added a two-run double in the fifth.

In Thursday's only other National League game, Houston Astros beat San Diego Padres 6-1. One other game, St. Louis at Pittsburgh, was rained out.

Ken Forsch got the victory for the Astros, with relief help from Jim Crawford.

IN MEMORIAM

BANDLE — In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Albert E. Bandle, who passed away May 2, 1970.

God looked around His garden, And chose the most lovely flower. He looked down on the earth, And saw your tired face, He put His arms around you, And lifted you to rest. Your work on earth was beautiful, For He taken only the best.

—Lovingly remembered by son John, Pearl and family.

BANDLE — In fond and loving memory of my dear father, Albert E. Bandle who passed away five years ago today, May 2, 1970.

God took him home, it was His will,
But in our hearts we have him still.
His memory is as dear today,
As in the hour he passed away.
Five years we've had to carry on,
Without the one we love so dear.
Our memory is the only friend,
That grief can call its own.

—Sadly missed and always remembered by daughter Kay and son-in-law Mick.

BANDLE — In loving memory of our dear grandfather, Albert E. Bandle who passed away five years ago, May 2, 1970.

Five years have passed since we lost our dear grandfather,
We miss him at our side,
We miss his smile and his laughter,
We miss his loving pride.
Memories are precious and dearest,
Time will not change our love,
Nor can it change our memories,
Of our grandfather dear above.

—Sadly missed and deeply remembered by great grandchildren Darrell, Michael Scott, Jeffrey and Kimberly Ann.

BANDLE — In loving memory of our dear grandfather and great grandfather, Albert Edward Bandle, who passed away five years ago, May 2nd, 1970.

In our hearts your memory lingers,
Always tender, fond and true.
There is not a day we don't think of you,
Sadly missed and never forgotten.
Always remembered and deeply loved by grandchildren Gary, Sue with Tanna, also great grandaughters Charmain and Kathy Bridges.

BANDLE — In loving memory of our dear grandfather who passed away five years ago, May 2nd, 1970.

Sunshine passes, shadows fall,
Love's remembrance outlasts all
Gone though the years be nearly so far,
You are still with us.

—Fondly missed and deeply loved by grandchildren Reginald and Jeffrey Bandle.

BANDLE — In loving memory of my dear father who passed away five years ago, May 2, 1970.

Dad, we miss you more than words can tell,
We miss your smile and your laughter,
We miss your voice and your yell,
To the best father God ever made.

—Sadly missed, deeply loved and never forgotten by daughter Betty and son-in-law Ken.

BANDLE — In loving memory of our dear husband Albert E. Bandle who passed away five years ago today, May 2, 1970.

I wished for my sorrow, my day, it caused me bitter grief,
To see dear husband in pain,
And could not give relief.
His weary days are ended, days of pain,
His weary nights are over,
And in our aching hearts we know
He has found sweet rest at last.
'Tis sweet to know we will meet again,
Where partings is no more,
Sweet to know husband I loved so well,
Has only gone before,
God knows how much I miss him,
He counts the tears I shed.
My husband (Wilfred), I only sleep,
Your husband is not dead.

—Lovingly remembered by wife Ethel.

BANDLE — In loving memory of our dear father, Albert E. Bandle who passed away five years ago today, May 2, 1970.

Five years have passed since we lost our dear father,
We miss him at our side,
We miss his smile and his laughter,
We miss his loving pride.
Memories are precious and dearest,
Time will not change our love,
Nor can it change our memories,
Of our father dear above.

—Sadly missed and never forgotten by your loving wife Hilda.

IN MEMORIAM

BANDLE — In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather Albert who passed away 5 years ago, May 2nd, 1970.

Today recalls the memory
Of a loved one gone to rest,
And those who think of him today,
Are those who loved him best.
Dad lies in peace in his lot,
May winter and storm pass by,
But the love for him who lies beneath,
Will never fade away.

—Fondly remembered and always remembered daughter Sandra, son-in-law Richard and granddaughter Kerilyn.

For Public Service

Clarke Rollins was warden of Hastings County for 20 years when Nora Pradelle went to work as what was then the county's registry office. Wednesday he was back as MPP Hastings — to present Mrs. Pradelle, now senior deputy land registrar and provincial civil servant with her 35-year-pin from the Public Service of Ontario.

Housing Start Decline Concerns Councillors

During the first three months of this year the county building inspection office issued only 56 residencial permits. This compared with 120 for the same time last year, reported Carl Bateman, county treasurer-administrator.

The inspection service now is used by about half the county's 27 municipalities.

The total number of permits issued in the period was 84, compared to 309 in for the same time in 1974.

One result causing concern has been the drop in revenue with fewer fees coming in. Fees collected in the first quarter of this year were $3,825 compared to $5,989.

As yet it may be too early in the year to be concerned, and senior government housing incentives may create an up-turn, said Mr. Bateman.

But, if council feels concerned it should seek a review of fees. Land division applications also appear on the decline, he said.

Theatre London Play Joins Nostalgia Trend

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The jokes are shopworn and the songs are achingly familiar as Theatre London's latest production, War Show, jumps on the nostalgia bandwagon.

The production, written by 2 8-year-old Peter Colley, takes a fast review of Canada and Canadians in the Second World War.

The old war songs, There'll Always Be an England, The White Cliffs of Dover, Lili Marlene and the like, are combined with dramatic scenes that bring out both the triumph and tragedy of the 1939-1945 war.

Mr. Colley, who also acts in the play, spent months in searching material for the show, and conducting interviews with veterans and people who worked and lived both in Canada and abroad during the war.

Mr. Colley, a transplanted Briton who has lived in Canada for three years, said his work on the play, his fourth production, gave him a whole new insight into Canada's war effort.

Talking about it, he angrily complains about what he feels is shoddy treatment of Canada in war histories.

The main theme of the play deals with five privates — their sergeant-major. The men, played by Tom Alway, Wayne Burnette, Craig Gardner, Shawn Lawrence, Peter Mews and Jack Northmore, are meant to be representative of all Canadian troops.

They make up a stereotyped group, the co-man, the old soldier, a token French-Canadian, a clod, a farm boy and a loud and overbearing NCO.

Together, they fight Canada's war, with all the tragic consequences. One dies at Dieppe, two more are killed in the bitter Italian campaign and a fourth dies just before the surrender of Germany.

RECKRATE ERA

In between, they and the rest of the cast work on the atmosphere of the era.

There is a love story, a song by the Andrews sisters, played by Isola Hoar, Nora McLellan and Kathee Rajcak, and some rousing singing in an English pub.

But behind the comic and comedy, the undercurrent of fear and sadness continues.

Mr. Burnett, whose careful character portrayals have been lauded 11 Theatre London productions in the last two years, is a desperate hero as the sole survivor of the five who went off to war.

His last line, "You know,I nobody really gave a damn," serves to underscore the waste of war.

Mr. Colley uses audio-visual effects to help support the show, with slides and film to portray the buildup and the start of the war.

There are sound effects, from the crashing "Sieg Heil" of a Nuremberg rally, to a crackling radio recording of Sir Winston Churchill's famous "their finest hour" speech.

Perhaps the finest comment on the production came from a theatre-goer, a man of about 50, who commented as he left:

"I was a teenager in Britain during the war. I thought it was very, very good."

School Leavers Meeting Subject

TWEED — Early school leavers was the topic as the Centre Hastings Attendance Review Committee met to discuss several cases.

The meeting follows a ministry of education regulation that students aged 14 or 15 follow programs other than the usual compulsory schooling if they may benefit from them.

Kenneth Little, Tweed, trustee on the Hastings County Board of Education, acted as chairman.

The municipalities were represented by Mrs. Jube Way - Tweed; Captain (Reverend) J. Thompson, of Madoc and John Williams of Rawdon Township.

Frank Tate, Tweed, superintendent acted as secretary and assisted R. Henderson, principal of Centre Hastings Secondary School, in presenting information and reviewing the situations for each case.

The committee gave recommendations to the school and student. In most cases the students was to be on a work experience program, but to maintain contact with the school, by attending designated classes or night school program.

Your Horoscope

BERNICE BEDE OSOL

Saturday, May 3

ARIES (March 21-April 19) This will be a very pleasant day for you socially. You'll be especially noted and admired by members of the opposite sex.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're much in tune at this time with persons of influence. A good day to press for a favor if you need one.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) That good news from a distance you've been awaiting is on its way. Check your mailbox and stay near the phone.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) One factor can be a great help for you but who is not very demonstrative will again do something to please you for today, in her own quiet way.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You'll make a favorable impression upon a new acquaintance because of the considerate manner in which you use in dealing with them.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A recently well-done job will not only give you a sense of achievement; your work will be noticed and admired by others, too.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) You're likely to be in great social demand today. You're much more popular than you think.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A good day to make some last-minute calls to see if you can put together a little dinner party for a very select group of friends.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your quick wit and skill as a conversalist will earn you admiration between two friends. You'll have them chuckling over what caused the tense silence.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) There should be some fat left over in the weekly budget to enable you to obtain a small luxury item you've long wanted.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) You won't be happy today unless you break out of your shell. A night on the town or a social gathering will keep you up.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) There's still opportunity hovering about you from avenues you'd least expect. It could come as a gift from a loved one.

To Your Good Health

Surgery Unlikely In Hiatal Hernia

By G. C. THOMPSON, MD

Dear Dr. Thompson: My doctor tells me I have a hiatal hernia and says, "Don't worry about it unless it slips." Could you explain what he means? What effect would a pregnancy have on this? Will I need surgery?—Mrs. R.B.

He probably referred to a sliding hiatal hernia, one that moves up and down in the usually widened opening (hiatus) in the diaphragm. This opening is normally just wide enough to allow the esophagus to pass through on the way to its junction with the stomach. In a sliding hernia, a portion of the stomach let or sometimes a portion of the stomach automatically slipped out, then slips back again into its normal position.

Yes, a pregnancy can exaggerate such a hernia because of the increased pressure it exerts. Th condition is rather common and often goes unnoticed until middle age. Often hiatal hernias become apparent after any great weight gain, since the extra fat tends to put the hiatus problem into more "cramped quarters," so to speak.

Surgery to repair the hernia is required only in the most severe cases. In most cases conservative methods suffice.

These include diet and the sparingness in taking food so as to aggravate the p.oblem.

Dear Dr. Thompson: Is anything unusual in a person who holds it in the mouth? It is held between the lips and gum. My mother has done this for years. She now is 63. There appears to be no problem. She is in good health.—Mrs. M.C.

There may be no problem now, but prolonged use of snuff either in the mouth or sniffed through the nose can cause cancer in those areas.

Dear Doctor: Does a woman Dear Doctor: Does a woman very completely recover from mononeupose? That is, does your body continue to produce estrogen, and as far as I can determine I haven't had a period for nearly four years.

"Recover" is not the precise word you want.

First of all, with no period in four years, you have quite seriously passed through the mononeupause, and, I assume, without the more dramatic symptoms some other women report. Mononeupause means cessation of the menses (periods). Although many women find it hard to believe, a good number of these sisters slip through this phase of their lives with little or no symptoms. If we knew why, we would be much nearer to knowing what other women do have such obvious problems.

Based on 100 census figures, it is estimated that the average age expectancy for women of 30 (the usual age limit for mononeupause) is 78. This means that the average woman can expect to live 28 years past mononeupause.

At the most, only two of these years would be troubled by mononeupausal problems. Women who report such distress after two years (and many do for as long as 10 years) should be considered to find the actual cause of the complaints.

Dear Doctor: I have even the briefest discussion of the subject without answering the most frequently asked question relating to mononeupause: when does a woman know she has ended her menstrual cycles forever, and when is she "safe"?

The answer: after 12 months of missed periods.

Age of Sail Returns To Thames

LONDON (CP)—The age of sail returns to the Port of London in August when the first major regatta on the Thames for more than 80 years is to be held. Already entries have been received from the Dutch Waterlodge, Holland, France, Denmark, Poland, Russia, Portugal, Romania, West Germany and the United Kingdom.

The showpiece of the regatta will be a tall square-rigged clipper from the Soviet Union. Portugal, Germany and Romania and two from Denmark. During the Port of London City Per Regatta the ships will be moored in the Port of London.

So far, some 44 vessels are expected to take part in a week of spectacle which includes events for power boats, yachts, overcraft, rowboats, sailing dinghies and the historic race of regular smacks from the east coast of England to Tower Bridge, London.

The climax of the week will be the start of The Financial Times clipper race to Australia and back.

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

"I think your play might well go in the Guinness Book of Records," remarked North "It took you just two seconds to throw that rubber out the window."

South had really played the hand rapidly. He ruffed the third diamond, led a club to dummy's ace and a second club back to his king. Then he led a third club and ruffed with dummy's seven of trumps. East overruffed with the jack for the third diamond trick. Then he led back a trump and eventually had had to lose his last club.

Do you see where South went wrong? He had sent a boy on a man's errand. He should have ruffed that first low club with dummy's king of trumps. Later one he would ruff the low club with that seven spot. East could overruff or not but South would still make his contract.

As a matter of elegance, South should cash dummy's ace of hearts before playing clubs. Then when he came back to his hand by ruffing a heart he should ruff with his ace of trumps. All this elegance would be unnecessary by the way the cards lay, but South would be guarding against a possible heart overruff in case West held just one heart and the jack of trumps.

What do you do now?

A — Bid three diamonds. Your partner has shown a weakish hand with diamonds, but your hand may be just what he needs.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of responding one notrump your partner has jumped to three spades over your two spade. What do you do now?

Foolish Pleasure Favorite in Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Favored Foolish Pleasure will try to beat 14 other three-year-olds in the Kentucky Derby on Saturday.

"We hope to win, but I'd be foolish to guarantee it," said owner John L. Greer, who watched Foolish Pleasure win 10 of 11 lifetime starts including two major pre-Derby Stakes—the $100,000-added Flamingo and the $100,000-added Wood Memorial.

The Churchill Downs oddsmaker listed Foolish Pleasure as the 8-5-5 favorite Thursday to win the first prize of $320,600 from a purse that will total $583,100 if all 15 start in the 101st running of the 1¼-mile Derby.

Foolish Pleasure worked a half-mile in :48 seconds over a sloppy track and galloped out five-eighths in 1:01 Thursday.

"I'm in the dark as much as anybody about the condition of the track," said trainer Leroy Jolley when he entered Foolish Pleasure. "But the horse will accept any kind of track."

With no more rain, the track should be fast for the Derby. The weather forecast for today and Saturday called for cloudy and mild weather, with the temperature around 21 degrees Celsius on Saturday.

Foolish Pleasure will start from the No. 3 post position under Jacinto Vasquez in the Derby, which calls for scale weights of 126 pounds.

John Galbraith's Prince Thou Art and Golden Chance Farms' Master Derby, expected to be Foolish Pleasure's toughest competition, both will start on the outside of the favorite.

Prince Thou Art, who upset Foolish Pleasure in the Florida Derby, will go from the No. 8 post under Branlio Baeza. He will run as part of an entry with Galbraith's Sylvan Place, a non-stakes winner who was second in the Florida Derby.

Sylvan Place will start from the No. 14 post and be ridden by Angel Cordero Jr., who won the 1974 Derby on Cannonade.

Master Derby has won his last five races, including the Louisiana Derby and the Blue Grass Stakes, and is listed as a 9-to-2 choice to make it six in a row Saturday. An off-track favorite in that sweepstakes will be Bill Shoemaker, who will be trying to win his fourth Derby in attempts, will ride Avatar out of the No. 10 slot, while Dave Whited will ride Promised City from the outside post.

MAY LOSE JOHNSTON

OAKLAND (AP) — California Golden Seals may lose captain Joey Johnston, who has been with National Hockey League team four seasons. "It's good ... I move on," says Johnston, 26, formerly of Peterborough, Ont. Johnston had 14 goals and 23 assists in 61 games in the 1974-75 season. Wednesday, the NHL approved the transfer of rights of the Seals to a group headed by San Francisco realtor Mel Salg. The league will retain control of the franchise until May 30.

Trevino Hopes to Win On Stomping Grounds

HOUSTON (AP) — One of Lee Trevino's fondest hopes is to win a golf tournament in his native Texas.

"It's really tough to win in your home state," Trevino said Thursday after taking a share of the lead in the Houston Open. "You know, you have so many friends in the gallery, lots of friends and people pulling for you and it gets extra pressure on you."

As usual, he had a massive gallery of followers Thursday, many of them of Mexican-American heritage.

"There's more Mexicans than whites in my gallery because more Mexicans are out of work," Trevino said after his six-under-par 66 had given him a share of the lead with Australian Graham Marsh in the first round of the $150,000 Houston Open tournament.

The new, 6,929-yard Woodlands Country Club layout features tight, pine-forest lined fairways and greens guarded by 91 sand traps and 12 lakes and ponds.

Jerry McGee, winner of the Pensacola Open just two weeks ago, birdied his first four holes and headed a group tied at 67 Also at that figure were Dale Douglass, Eddie Pearce and rookie Alan Tyler.

Ben Kern of Teratto shot a 73 and George Knudson of Toronto had a 72.

Defending titleholder Dave Hill struggled to a 73 and Arnold Palmer took a 74 after some familiar putting problems. "I missed a two-foot birdie put on my first hole and that just kind of set the pattern for the day," said Palmer, who must improve if he is to qualify for the final two events Saturday and Sunday.

Jack Nicklaus, Johnny Miller, Tom Weiskopf and Gary Player are not competing.

Their absence can only increase Trevino's chances of winning his first title in Texas. And, coming off a solid performance in last week's Tournament of Champions—he missed a playoff by a single shot—he's primed and ready.

He missed only one green and came out to within tap-in distance there. He didn't make a bogey. He made a deuce from 15 feet and got his other three birdies on par fives, chipping up close on all of them.

Graham, who once won the World Cup and has played the American tour for five seasons, called his effort "by far my best of the year and one of the best I've ever played."

He didn't miss a green and didn't even come close to making a bogey. His longest birdie putt was 15 feet.

SUSPEND SHOEMAKER

Allmand Says He'd Resign

OTTAWA (CP) — Solicitor-General Warren Allmand said Friday he probably will resign his portfolio, or perhaps leave the cabinet altogether, if his colleagues allow any prisoner on death row to hang.

"I won't be associated in any way with a hanging," he told reporters after the subject was raised in the Commons.

He said in the House his stand is "not a threat or anything. It just a statement of decision."

Outside, he said he has not thought out fully what he will do if the cabinet decides not to exercise its prerogative of mercy and allows any death sentence pending now to proceed.

"When the time comes that they're going to hang someone, I'll go away on a retreat and decide what I'm going to do."

A cabinet committee is studying the case of Rene Vaillancourt, scheduled to be hanged May 13 for killing a Toronto policeman. The last hangings were in 1963 when two men were executed back to back a Toronto's Don Jail.

Mr. Allmand said he does not know when the full cabinet will rule on the Vaillancourt case. A stay of execution would be sought if necessary.

His comments left the impression with some that the cabinet, under pressure from the public and pro-hanging MPs, might not commute all death sentences awaiting consideration.

"Let's wait till it happens: it will be a big story," he said at the podium.

He also said he does not know how many cabinet ministers share his view, but he added that he is "pretty confident" the cabinet will not allow a hanging.

Prime Minister Trudeau is opposed personally to capital punishment but has said the cabinet will not commute death sentences automatically. Each must be considered individually.

Mr. Allmand said public opinion polls show a majority of more than two-to-one in favor of hanging—does not impress him.

"I'd be more interested in some good (pro-hanging) agreement . . . than a thousand signatures on a petition."

He said he remains open to all arguments and, in theory, might be persuaded to change his mind. But his position was firm in the meantime: "I couldn't be associated with a hanging."

Mr. Allmand said he might ask Prime Minister Trudeau for another portfolio "or something" if a hanging occurs. But cabinet sources speculated that this might not be possible.

Mr. Trudeau has said cabinet ministers can argue their view points as strongly as they want within cabinet but must support any decision once it is taken.

First Meets First

Canada's first woman appointed as lieutenant-governor, Pauline McGibbon inspects the Canadian armed forces' first all-woman guard of honor formed in conjunction with International Women's Year activities at CFB Trenton. The 50-women guard of honor met Lt.-Gov. McGibbon Friday as she stepped from an armed forces Falcon. During her 6½-hour stay in Trenton, she was guest of honor at an all-women, all-ranks mess dinner.

Protestants Build Lead in Ulster

BELFAST (AP) — Hardline Protestants appeared to be the big winners while moderate groups trailed today as the vote count continued in Northern Ireland's constitutional assembly election.

Early results of Friday's balloting left little hope for an end to Northern violence when the assembly meets next week to seek a new form of government.

The powerful United Ulster Unionist council, a coalition of the three major Protestant groups, had won 25 of the 78 convention seats.

The mainly Roman Catholic Social Democratic and Labor party trailed with 11. The moderate Non-sectarian Alliance party got two seats.

Solzhenitsyn Now in Canada

MONTREAL (CP) — Alexander Solzhenitsyn, the exiled Soviet currently visiting Canada, apparently will make no public appearance until a least after the Russian Orthodox Easter, churchmen said Friday.

Archbishop Sylvester, head of the church's Canadian diocese, and Rev. John Tkachuk, dean of Montreal's Russian Orthodox cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul, said Mr. Solzhenitsyn had asked to remain in seclusion until at least Monday.

Mr. Solzhenitsyn, 1973 Nobel prize winner for literature, took up residence in Switzerland after being expelled from the Soviet Union for his criticism of several aspects of the Soviet system. His latest work, the Gulag Archipelago, is a massive attack on the Soviet labor-camp system under Stalin.

Special Guard Greets Lieutenant-governor

By AL ZABAS
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — A new page in Canadian military history was written at CFB Trenton Friday when a 50-woman guard of honor marched onto the tarmac to meet a plane carrying Ontario Lt.-Gov. Pauline McGibbon.

Skirts whipped by a strong, steady wind, the women performed the ceremonial guard duty for a dignitary reserved normally for the men in the armed forces.

Canada's first woman to be named a lieutenant-governor, Mrs. McGibbon flew from Toronto to Trenton to act as the guest of honor at an all-woman, all-ranks mess dinner.

Her arrival for the dinner, held in conjunction with International Women's Year, prompted the formation of the guard of honor less than two months ago.

Its use Friday was the first in Canadian armed forces history. A base spokesman says the honor guard will be used on other special occasions during 1975.

The honor guard, commanded by Lt. Debra Rankin of Toronto, was led onto the airfield's tarmac by the CFB Trenton Pipe and Drum Band. It took position in front of the two warbirds of the Canadian Air Command, a 436 Squadron Hercules and a 427 Squadron Boeing 707.

An estimated 75 civilian spectators and half as many military personnel were on hand at 4:30 to watch Lt.-Gov. McGibbon inspect the guard of honor.

She was met as she stepped from a Canadian armed forces jet-engined Falcon by the senior commanding officers at CFB Trenton.

The honor guard is composed of, ranging in rank from sergeant to private, of the 160 women in uniform on the base.

Separate School Rates Increased

By RON CARSON
Staff Reporter

For the first time since 1971, separate school supporters will have their educational taxes increased — by about 15 per cent.

The Hastings-Prince Edward County Separate School Board handed down its tentative 1975 budget Friday with an increase of 26 per cent from $3.8 million in 1974 to $4.8 million in 1975. The county board of education brought down its 1975 budget Thursday with an increase of 18.8 per cent.

Board chairman Austin Scott said Friday the budget does not exceed the approved provincial ceilings. He described the budget as "mildly expansionary . . . to provide for inflationary increases in supplies, allowances for teachers' salaries, as well as a general increase in maintenance of school property".

Mr. Scott said the 15 per cent increase is low because of higher grants, more separate school supporters and higher assessments. However, he said the increase may be higher in some areas of the counties.

The board has budgeted 75 per cent of its funds for instructional costs, including teachers.

Plant operations have received about 11.5 per cent of the budget while business administration and computer services will get about four per cent. Educational services will amount to about .5 per cent of the budget.

Mr. Scott said the board has set aside $171,000 for unallocated expenditures. He said the board will have to decide where this money will be used at a later date.

Mr. Scott said the board approved the tentative budget April 29 in a closed session. However, he said the allocation of funds within the budget will be dealt with in open session.

Awards Announced

She also won the award for her 1966 book, A Jest of God, which was later made into a film entitled Rachel, Rachel.

Other award winners are:

—Ralph Gustafson, for a collection of poetry, Fire on Stone.

—Charles Eilschie, retired diplomat, for his personal recollections, The Siren Years.

—Nicole Brossard, for her collection of poetry, Mecanique Jongleuse suivi de Masculin Grammaticale.

—Louise Dechene, for an historical study, Habitants et Marchands de Montreal au XVIIe Siecle.

The awards will be presented to the authors by Gov.-Gen. Jules Leger May 22. Each also receives $2,500 from the Canada Council.

Rival Factions War in Angola

LUANDA, Angola (Reuter) — Between 500 and 1,000 people have been killed in fighting between Angola's three rival liberation movements in the last three days, sources at the city morgue say.

Luanda residents today began a run on stores, stocking up on food supplies in fear of further violence.

Tension was running high in the capital, despite a night of relative quiet broken only by occasional gunfire and explosions.

Conservative Critic Quits Over Stanfield

OTTAWA (CP) — Amid increased rumblings of discontent within the Progressive Conservative caucus, a member of the opposition shadow cabinet has quit his assignment, largely in protest of Robert Stanfield's continued leadership.

John Reynolds (Burnaby-Richmond-Delta) wrote the Conservative leader, told him he was through as the official critic for the department of supply and services and said Mr. Stanfield should vacate the leadership.

Mr. Reynolds confirmed his action when approached by a reporter. "I didn't intend this to be made public," he said. "I wrote a confidential letter to Mr. Stanfield, but since you seem to know . . ."

Yes, he said, Mr. Stanfield should step down immediately and an interim leader should be elected by caucus. "And believe me, I feel so strongly about this, I felt I simply couldn't carry on in an appointment he made."

The 33-year-old MP says he will not be a leadership contender himself, but there are other caucus members interested "and I would like to see four or five stand up in caucus and tell us what they stand for."

Mr. Reynolds is known to be annoyed by official party criticism of groups of Conservative MPs meeting off the Hill to discuss the party's direction and future.

He says he has great respect for Mr. Stanfield "and it was largely because of him that I entered politics."

But when he announced last summer that he was stepping down, he effectively resigned them. And you can only stay on so long before you lose your grip."

Education Beat

Shift in Values Worries Teachers

By RON CARSON
Staff Reporter

It finally had to happen — secondary school students have been labelled rightwing by some teachers. The verdict was handed down a week ago during a session at Moira Secondary School on "Reflections of Youth."

Five years ago educators would have vehemently labelled a wing movement among student groups. They would have been delighted to see a few conservative students among the unruly mass. Today, the pendulum has swung 180 degrees and teachers are worried.

They are worried because conservative and reactionary values in a student population means they have failed. They have failed to reach new modes of thinking and behavior which ultimately could be assimilated into society in small doses.

No doubt, the extreme left wing movements during the late 60s and early '70s were short-lived but more importantly some of their features survive today, such as concern for the ecology, a new approach to humanism and the seeds of a new economic system, that has its roots in limited resources.

In the classical sense youth has provided stimulation to a society through rejection of old ways as well as confrontation with the power elements.

MORE

Education Beat Take 2

The process is healthy and one which in the long — run promotes a changing and evolving society.

Student values have swung to the right because they view the establishment as becoming more vocal and active. In their own lives they see teachers playing tough power games with strikes and threats while at home they see their parents taking extreme views on everything from labor unions to government spending.

There is also a growing understanding of just how limited world resources are. The students, being the natural heirs of these ecological problems, anticipate future inadequacies. In view of these social factors it's little wonder students have become right wing.

Although it may be justified it's not healthy and its a problem the teaching profession must face everyday in the classroom. The problem is further complicated when yesterday's protesters are today's teachers.

One thing for certain it's a sign that the teaching profession should begin to take some hard looks at its own attitudes and what affect these are having on students and society. Students want to participate in society — not react to the barriers and roadblocks placed in the system by the middle class.

College Program Filled

MADOC — Loyalist College's extension division enrolment has reached the cutoff point, says Reg Loader, member of the college board of governors.

Mr. Loader, the board's extension liaison member, said the extension program has been hit by the problem of budgetary controls.

Brucellosis Infection Could Be Deliberate

Some livestock owners may deliberately infect with brucellosis to claim government compensation, Hastings County council was warned Tuesday.

It was among cautions that surviving cattle could not act on a resolution of a joint federal-provincial crash program to eliminate the cattle disease.

The resolution, from Frontenac County, called for testing and full-market value compensation for animals destroyed because of brucellosis.

Council was told federal veterinary authorities in the Belleville area now are testing animals at auction barns.

One reove warned there could be "wide abuses" because market values fluctuate, and there were "methods of inducing" the disease.

Reeve Horace Casey, Thurlow Township, and himself a farmer — didn't agree with full compensation. Government authorities have reported, he said "certain tricks" whereby an overshot of brucellosis is given cattle before tests are arranged. However, testing reports could be speeded up.

"All you have to do is vaccinate your herd," said Deputy Reeve Garnet Denyes, of Thurlow.

Reeve Barbara Allen, of Tweed, said if human diseases had been eradicated by vaccination.

She suggested one solution was compulsory vaccination of all farm animals prone to the disease.

Change in Diet Often Harms Cattle and Sheep

Cattle or sheep suffer acute indigestion when their rations are suddenly changed from high roughage content to high grain content.

"The animals become ill and refuse to eat their daily ration," says J.R. Sessons, an animal nutritionist at Agriculture Canada's research station at Fredericton, N.B.

The condition is probably caused by an increase of lactic acid in the rumen, the largest of the animal's four stomachs, he says. It is a condition commonly known as grain engorgement, acute indigestion or lactic acidosis.

"Micro-organisms in the rumen process the feed eaten by the animal," Dr. Sessons says. These micro-organisms attack the feed particles and form proteins and an energy source for the animal.

"But there are other compounds formed, and one of them is lactic acid."

A sudden change in the animals' diet from high roughage rations to high grain rations causes a change in the micro-organisms in the rumen. As a result, more lactic acid is produced in the rumen.

"This concentration of lactic acid in the rumen causes an abnormal, vile-smelling fermentation," he says.

"The normal movements of the rumen disappear and the walls become irritated. The lactic acid is absorbed into the blood, increasing its acidity.

"At this point the animals become inactive and refuse to eat. If the condition is severe, the animal may die within 24 hours."

One way of avoiding grain engorgement is to adapt the animals gradually to high grain feedstuffs.

"The amount of roughage fed should be decreased and the grain increased by gradual amounts every day until the animal is eating the desired amount of grain."

"This usually takes three weeks," Dr. Sessons says.

During the period of adaptation, the use of about three per cent baking soda also helps prevent acidosis or decreases the severity of the disease.

"It also helps to increase the frequency of feeding from two to three times a day. The gradual change in the ration and the increase-grain-to-roughage ratio should be added enough time to adapt to the higher levels of grain in the feed."

Parasites Vary

Your horse has a different color, build and personality than your neighbor's, and it probably needs a different parasite control program.

While one species of bloodworm is the most damaging horse parasite in Ontario, your horse may also get roundworms, pinworms, tapeworms, threadworms, or stomach bots.

"Prevention is really the only sensible course of action," says Dr. J. P. Lamboslagger, veterinary parasitologist with the Ontario ministry of agriculture and food veterinary services branch at Guelph. "A parasite control program for your horse on your premises, custom - designed by your veterinarian is best."

Regular laboratory examinations of manure for eggs are necessary to determine whether horses have parasites, what kinds they have and how many. Veterinarians use the results to design the individual treatment and control programs needed, because parasites differ from season to season on one horse, as well as from horse to horse. About 12 drugs, including three new ones introduced in Canada this year, are available for parasite control.

Pool Grant Need Like New Arena

PECTON — Prince Edward County council's efforts are coming home to roost but will the door be open on the hen coop?

In 1974 council approved a whopping unprecedented grant of $154,000, to the Wellington District Community Centre.

This year the Prince Edward Swimming Pool Committee has listing an anticipated $150,000, council under consideration moves available in place for a community pool at Prince Edward Collegiate Institute.

The anticipated grant was first mentioned on paper in a pool committee report submitted this month to the Prince Edward board of education.

A fact sheet listed the estimated cost of the pool at $325,000, and stated a provincial grant of $75,000 is available. Also, existing cash and pledges total $26,000.

With the anticipated council grant of $150,000 this leaves a total of $74,000, to be raised in a county-wide campaign.

When county councillors reportedly discussed the pool project several stressed the $150,000 anticipated grant was not a council figure.

They suggested the figure must be a press error. Certainly the pool committee did not expect such a substantial grant.

If its recent report to the board of education is an accurate reflection, the pool committee can and does expect county council to consider a pool with the same generosity accorded in 1974 to an arena.

When the project was discussed earlier, the pool committee referred to a much less expensive outdoor pool with an estimated cost of $130,000.

A heated indoor pool with a $325,000 price tag is not a project that can be funded through a county-wide canvass.

If county council stubbornly clings to the concept of a $325,000 community pool paid for through donations and provincial grants alone it is being naive.

When a council granted $154,000, to the Wellington arena a precedent was set. Now a pool committee is seeking a substantial grant which its report indicates may total $150,000.

Council cannot fault the enthusiasm and hard work of the pool committee. It matches the decication of the organizations that lacked a new arena for Wellington and district when fire levelled the old building.

Council cannot dispute the need for a pool for, if built at the high school, it would offer year-round recreation for hundreds of students and county residents.

An arena offers activity for the most part, only during winter.

When councillors voted to grant $154,000, to Wellington arena last year it was a magnanimous gesture that received wide acknowledgement.

It set the stage for the pool committee's line of though concerning council support.

The future of the pool project well may rest with council's decision in relation to a grant.

If councillors drag their feet at another whopping $150,000 gift to recreation they may be demonstrating a practical stand in balancing the budget.

Some county residents who support the pool project may feel some of this rationale could have been applied a year earlier when an arena was the order of the day.

Brighter Days Ahead

Spring cleanup might seem like a lot of work, but in summer garden filled with flowers and greenery is well worth the effort. Now is the time to rake up winter debris and dead plant material. Then comes selecting and planting some of the newer varieties of trees, shrubs and flowers available. Window boxes, planters and lawn furniture can be brought out of winter storage and made ready for summer enjoyment.

greenbelt is accessible to many. Its uses in the form of walking paths, picnic tables, and small-scale sports facilities are multiple. And as for room — there's a lot. We, unlike boats, can always squeeze together a little closer.

Council Getting Marina Complex

Trenton Bureau

By AL ZARAS
Staff Reporter

Trenton is singing its marina song again, this time before the Canada-Ontario Rideau-Trent-Severn study committee. Construction of marina facilities off Centennial Park appears to be a never-ending daydream of councillors.

In mid-April, council representatives talked to CORTS officials to interest them in finding a site. That effort is in a dicalive of yet another relapse by council into an affliction called a mangled sense of priorities.

It strikes me that it would be far better for council to proceed with development of facilities in the park other than the marina. There now exists neither the need nor the ability to maintain the grandiose scheme.

By council's very preoccupation with marina plans, the remainder of the park — now a barren flatness of parched grass — suffers from neglect.

And it cannot be strongly argued that the inclusion of some $20,000 in the 1975 capital budget for park improvements is anything but a form of lip service. (Ironically, the expenditure died in the hands of the Ontario Municipal Board.)

An inter-related subject comes to mind, one still in the field of recreation.

It strikes me as odd that council, willing to ask for CORTS dollars for the marina, is not willing to approach CORTS for funds for the town greenbelt project. CORTS, admittedly still young and without a sure, financial footing, should be asked for money for council's other baby.

It seems a logical step. The OMB has said so to the town in further purchases of land for the greenbelt in 1975. That refusal may again come next year. CORTS is simply another avenue now open for completion of the project.

Trenton may be looked upon as greedy by CORTS officials, but it seems a necessary risk in this case. If the town's ambitions are for self-government (hopefully without breaking its bank — the taxpayer), it is the logical area to explore more fully.

But what has council done? Essentially, nothing.

It has indicated through clerk Aubrey Sharp at a recent Lower Trent Region Conservation Authority meeting that the town may adopt a wait-and-see attitude. Council says it may slow down land purchases for the greenbelt until it sees what CORTS plans for the banks of the Trenton River.

Naturally, it hopes to get funds for work on the greenbelt, and, of course, there is no wrong in that. But the question, and the worry, remains.

Why is council asking for money for the marina, and not for further development of parkland in Centennial Park and along the Trent River in the greenbelt project? The need is greater for parkland.

The wait-and-see attitude described by Mr. Sharp on the one hand, and the active solicitation on the other, indicates poor comprehension of what is of greater benefit to the town.

Surely, the greenbelt park along the river can be used by many as opposed to the few that will be financially able to use the marina. Also, by its very nature, a marina has only a limited number of berths, and no more. Its difficult to squeeze two boats in where only one will fit.

On the other hand, the

Horses Looked After

This year, 328 establishments, including summer camps, riding horse stables, resorts and horsemanship schools have been licensed by the province through personnel of the agriculture ministry's veterinary services branch. Regular and frequent inspections are made to make sure stables are maintained in sanitary conditions and there is care and housing for all the horses at each establishment for 12 months of the year. If conditions are not satisfactory, the licence can be revoked.

Toronto Researchers Will Build First Solar-heat Home in North America

By DON O'HEARN

Queen's Park Bureau

Thomson News Service

It is a house without a furnace. No coal, no gas, no electricity, except for cooking and household use.

Heating will be done by the sun—for free.

The most unique house in America is to be constructed this summer in suburban Toronto.

It is to be the first building erected on the continent which will depend, entirely on the sun and energy storage for heating.

A joint project of the provincial and federal governments, it could conceivably revolutionize house building on this continent, particularly in the northern climates.

This revolutionary house is the brainchild of two men—Professor F. C. Hooper, a mechanical engineer at the University of Toronto and John Hix, a Toronto architect.

Prof. Hooper has been studying heat collecting and storage for many years, and more than 20 years ago published a paper on the subject which led to him becoming one of the leading experts in the world.

Mr. Hix, an architect, had been concerned with solar energy for a long time.

The two men got together, formed a firm Environtics Ltd., dealing with solar energy, energy conservation, and went looking for backing to build a demonstration project.

They finally got this when they won an award from the federal Urban Demonstration Project competition.

This award gives them $90,000 towards planning. The Ontario Ministry of Housing has chipped in $30,000 towards the energy package. And the bulk of the estimated $200,000 cost (a very rough estimate) will be born by the builder.

To the layman the concept of collecting heat from the sun in the summer and fall to use for heating in the winter may seem quite mind boggling. But the concept of previous Hoopers is quite simple.

The first main element is the collector. In the demonstration house this will be a big roof on the side of which will be glass, pitched at 40 degrees and facing the south.

The glass will be double-paned and behind it will be metal sheets of copper, steel or aluminum painted black (the final decision hasn't been made but it is a combination of copper and steel is being favored.)

The second main element will be the storage tank. The demonstration house will have no basement as such.

Instead the foundation will be a large water tank, which will be completely enclosed and highly insulated.

The operating principle is that the collector plates will be connected with the tank and as they collect solar energy it will be fed into the tank from them and the temperature of the water will slowly rise.

When there is the need for heat the heating element will be turned on and the water, which will be used to warm the house.

The real trick in heating the house is all is extreme insulation together with a comprehensive distribution system in drawing off the heat.

The next question is whether it will work.

The demonstration project is a standard four-bedroom house in a housing development and the largest one to date. To establish this fall is time to collect enough energy for the winter heating.

A family will live in it this winter, having to put up with a steady stream of engineers who will be monitoring it. Then, if successful, it will be sold to a retired buyer, under some arrangement yet to be worked out whereby nobody will make an excessive profit.

There are still many unknowns about the project, the first, of which, is whether it will really will work. And then there is the question of costs.

On the first, at least, Prof. Hooper feels very confident.

His long studies, including use of computer models, show that at the start of a heating season the water in his storage tank should be at 175 degrees fahrenheit and at the close of the season no lower than 105 degrees, ample to heat a house.

On costs, he still doesn't know, but he is confident that above the savings in our energy supply the absence of a fuel cost to the owner will justify solar heating.

Incidentally, there is a further project about a solar demonstration project which would cover 30 to 50 miles. This time the collector would be flat; it would probably be used as collection.

Also, the U.S. thinks so much of the prospects of solar energy that the federal government has allocated $50 million for research. This means that in its research budget it ranks ahead of oil, gas and electricity, being second only to coal.

Red Shield Campaign

If there is one organization in this divided world that can be relied upon entirely in both the humanitarian and spiritual spheres it is the Salvation Army.

The range and complexity of the work of the Salvation Army is extraordinary. It may not take place literally in "All The World," this being the title of one of the Army's interesting periodicals, but its work does extend over a very wide portion of the globe.

The Salvation Army is a group which devotes itself to humanitarian need regardless of race, color or religion. Here is no military force bent on subjugating other peoples, slaughtering the innocents and stamping out all opposition in the process. Rather it is an organization devoted to the needs of the living. It is an organization combining spiritual and morale-giving power with a working capacity for providing help where it is needed.

But the army is only as effective as the public assistance and funds it must have to carry on this work. The forthcoming Red Shield campaign affords the public an opportunity to play its part in this vital work. We are sure that even in these inflationary times the response will be in keeping with the regard most people have for this great organization.

A Little Help From His Friends

In Canada a man can still depend to a large extent on his fellows for help in an emergency — unlike the situation in the United States where it is not uncommon for people to stand watching while someone is assaulted or even killed.

Examples in recent days include incidents in Toronto as well as in Belleville. In Toronto a passing truck driver stopped to help a transit commission driver who was being attacked by two youths, while locally fellow drivers came to the assistance of a taxi driver. Police subsequently disarmed a man brandishing a knife.

It was a good effort by all concerned on the side of law and order. To be able to rely on help in extremity is one of the marks of a society that cares.

PM's Word on 'Racism'

It might be supposed that the word Commonwealth, meaning an association of nations, also presupposes some degree of common cause and compassion, even down to the individual level.

Such a premise though has escaped Prime Minister Trudeau who has indicated at the Commonwealth conference in Jamaica that he would not be in any rush to admit white Rhodesians who might want out of that country in the event of a black takeover.

Left-wing Chileans yes, with alacrity. And some South Vietnamese too, although we shut the Saigon embassy and left many of them to their fate. But white Rhodesians, no. And why the Prime Minister's cold shoulder to such a suggestion — made by an African bishop: "by definition," Mr. Trudeau said in effect, such immigrants (or should they be termed refugees?) would be "racist."

This from the leader of a nation which has its native Indians consigned to "reserves," for the most part left to their own devices — if not ignored — and living in many instances in the most squalid conditions.

No, let the Rhodesian whites face the music; is what Mr. Trudeau seems to be saying. At least he did make the point more completely, saying the normal immigration process would be open to those desiring to come here. But a compassionate stance with regard to those abroad at our own flesh and blood? Hardly.

Capitalism Grips Left

Lewis says the price of these fuels will rise this year "whether by agreement or by federal imposition."

The party faithful who learned this from Mr. Lewis at an Ottawa-East riding dinner might also have been interested in some facts about their leader which are contrary to the socialist doctrine he espouses.

According to an editorial in the Kingston Whig-Standard, Mr. Lewis has two children who attend private schools in Toronto. And recently there was time out of school to accompany their parents on a Florida vacation.

Again, Mr. Lewis' house in Scarborough with its six fireplaces and other upper-bracket appointments cost $81,000 less than five years ago but is now on the market for $159,500.

It goes to show that the profit motive has not been exorcized from the leadership of the provincial New Democratic Party. Isn't it all the more strange too when Mr. Lewis gets up in the legislature and prattles about the capitalist tendencies of the Government, or questions its leader's sincerity in opposing a rise in oil prices?

The Military and Social Cost of Vietnam

By JOHN D. HARBRON

Foreign Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

What more is left to be said about the war in Vietnam now ended? It is over after 30 years of continuous fighting, destruction of both physical property and the structure of Vietnamese society.

The evening of the American evacuation from Saigon and of Saigon's surrender to President Minh's announcement of a ceasefire and offer of peace to the Viet Cong, the CBS TV network in the United States produced a magnificent two and a half-hour Vietnam documentary reviewing on film that war.

Edited film brought to mind again the moments of terror, gross inhumanity, the end of village life, the growing power of the determined Viet Cong and North Vietnamese, the many roles of the Americans there, savage as well as humane.

Some again we were on patrol via TV with eager young American troops in the early 60s, dope-smoking rebellious ones in the early 70s.

We can now believe that a decade of television, with its changing views of the programmes, brought us the continuous war in Vietnam.

It is five years since the Mai Lai massacre, the same number of years since the Tet offensive, four years since the Paris peace meetings first began, two years since the truce agreement was signed, the fighting between Americans and North Vietnamese, but not between Vietnamese themselves.

And then there was former President Richard Nixon's wilful and unauthorized invasion of Cambodia in the summer of 1970, a move which Congress only knew about after Mr. Nixon announced the move, one which left that country a bloodbath for five years.

And remember the devastating effect the war finally had on domestic issues and life in the United States, the emergence of the draft evader and dodger on a scale unknown in American history, the East State University killings of Americans by Americans in the wake of the Cambodian invasion.

The cost in lives, lost and broken, what the American military called "the body count" during the war, was 45,000 years of combat duty in action, about 350,000 wounded Americans, the Vietnamese a wider toll of perhaps one million from the war, both civilian and military dead and missing.

In addition, there are about 80,000 maimed Vietnamese of which 20,000 were blinded by the war, about 10,000 made deaf, the rest paraplegics, young and old, who have lost single limbs.

But perhaps the last word belongs to the two best-known generals on either side, the over-optimistic U.S. General Westmoreland who said social and political conditions would resolve themselves after a military victory, and North Vietnamese General Giap who said they all must go hand in hand.

General Giap's politics and strategy won in the end.

Why millions of men and women show such intense loyalty to Marxist ideologies to the point of dying for a cause will long haunt Americans who are fed on commentary that the world looks up to the American democracy as a model.

This is true as well. But what stroke gripped the embattled Viet Cong and the heavily-bombed North Vietnamese to persevere until their systems had won?

Whatever it was, and will continue to be, they are convinced their cause was right, a determination never shared with vigor by the South Vietnamese for their cause about which the Americans became disillusioned at the end.

Pulp and Paper Firms Slow Down

By VINCENT EGAN

Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

The pulp and paper industry in North America finds itself in trouble as the current recession deepens.

Shipments are down considerably, and, nevertheless, inventories are substantially higher—and at the processing mills and in the hands of customers.

Some 15 prominent pulp and paper processors in Canada have closed mills temporarily, shut down certain machines, or shortened their work-week in order to trim production and inventories.

Canadian newsprint shipments in the first two months of 1975 were 1,461,000 short tons, down from 1,522,000 in January, February, 1974, according to the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association.

Shipments of all types of paper and paperboard fell to 2.2 million short tons from 2,281,000 in the 1974 period.

Wood-pulp shipments in Canada dropped to 1,066,000 tons in the first two months of this year from 1,238,000 a year earlier. Exports fell to 973,000 tons from 1,161,000 tons, with prospective bigger decreases in exports to U.S. and U.K. customers.

That left mill inventories of chemical-paper grades of wood-pulp at 538,000 tons at Feb. 28, 1975, up sharply from 296,000 tons a year earlier, other than inventories. The industry has been highly cyclical, and they are well aware of the value of good relations with suppliers whenever there is a shortage.

One New York financial analyst, a specialist in paper stocks, predicts: "The willingness of paper producers to maintain prices should soften as the year wear staunchly make their share to those manufacturers who give customers."

And another U.S. analyst, while forecasting some improvement in the paper industry's fortunes by mid-1975, adds that production capacity will exceed customers' demand until late in this decade.

Besides the problems of an unfavorable supply demand relationship in a depressed economy, the Canadian industry faces an internal dilemma—sluggish productivity and soaring wage rates.

Productivity in late 1974 was only 39 per cent higher than in 1961, while smaller improvement than has taken place in other Canadian industry, notably the manufacturing industries.

Wages rose, however, have kept well ahead of the inflationary spiral. Wages in the pulp and paper industry have risen 133 per cent in Canada vs. 90 per cent in the United States since 1961, according to each government's statistics gathering agency.

Financial analysts are predicting declines in paper companies' profits this year—the second of the decline depending upon the severity of strikes. Industrial strife is seen as the measure of caution in assessing the industry's securities.

Early Morn Radio Cheer

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

My letter is in response to the comment made "Coffee Time Any Other Name". I find it totally surprising that the writer is so lacking in his sense of humor because our morning announcer refers to celsius as "smelsius".

In this period of time it is most refreshing to rise in the morning and have the opportunity to listen to an announcer who can create an atmosphere of humor and give something to laugh about; a good way to start the day, don't you agree?

As for Belleville's progress, I daresay our visiting tourists will feel that we've adopted a "Sleepy Hollow" attitude towards the metric system. You have very little on which you base your criticism.

This morning announcer provides a refreshing and informative program for all the citizens in the Belleville area. As for the talk show which follows, my radio is turned off.

I simply wasn't bored by the negative attitude of that announcer and the comments which seemed to me to be both argumentative and biased.

Laughter is good for the soul. Why dont you try it?

Letter to
The Globe and Mail

Who is this smirking, lamp-brained clown on your editorial board who has the gall to refer to those of us who lived in the days when a child went to school and read with ease at the age of 7 or younger, as having lived in the "dark ages" or "the good old days"? (No return to the Dark Ages).

No one forced us to learn anything — we just put a little effort into learning and the child felt proud of his achievements. And not one in my large class was so dumb he first had to see "oranges and tennis balls laid out" before he could learn a multiplication table.

Your writer's favorite phrase appears to be that insane and nasty one — "Children should not be thrown out with the bath water." I strongly suggest he be thrown out with his bath water.

Women In The Church

Cornwall Standard-Freeholder

Despite almost 40 years of theoretical equality, women in the United States are still struggling to get away from the coffee-pouring, minute-taking image of the Ladies Auxiliary, The United Church Observer reports.

A major cause of the rise of women conducted that the United Church, while admitting women to the church, was giving leader-ship in society on equality for women.

"There is an awful difference between what the Bible says and says it theory and what it does in practice" the article quotes the Very Rev. Bertram Ball, Toronto.

The church ordained its first women minister in 1936. Last year, it had about 80 ordained women ministers. Both Germany and Prussia invaded Poland on a pretext. Germany invaded and Kosciusko led the Polish forces against the Nazis. Then Poland disappeared completely, swallowed up by neighboring empires.

Polish patriots proclaimed a new constitution this years ago in 1791 in an attempt to strengthen the political system. Under the old rules the king was elected and single representative of the Diet could veto any resolution. Because of this the Diet was unable to resist agreement by Russia, Prussia and Austria and in 1772 one-third of its land and half its population was divided between Russia and Prussia invaded Poland in 1939 and annexed eastern land and Kosciusko led the Polish forces against the Nazis. Then Poland disappeared completely, swallowed up by neighboring empires.

Reigning Error of This Age Corrected by Calvin Long Ago

By DR. GORDON C. SMYTH
"The religious error of the 20th century," writes William Ross Wallace in a recent book, "is the rejection of the idea of external discipline."

He specifies, "The damage that Dr. Benjamin Spock did was that he destroyed discipline in disciplines the children; the damage that Sigmund Freud did was that he destroyed belief in the necessity of discipline in sexual conduct. Leo Kennan made a squashy protestant attack on the idea of discipline in money."

It was to correct the sort of reigning error to which Mr. Ross-Wallace draws attention that, in response to a new clamor for reformation, the ecumenical Council of Geneva in 1541 invited Jean Cauvin — known to us as John Calvin, a distinguished graduate from the University of Paris, to become the chief pastor of their city of 13,000 inhabitants.

Under Calvin's leadership, there was such an infusion of self-disciplined Christ-life, it came a model for Europe of orderly liberty, virtue, and pride in workmanship. The city also became known as a sanctuary for scholars and a haven for refugees.

The art of governing is the art of the possible. Concerned for lack of policy and resolution in contemporary life, it seem like the excessive demands of Calvin's Christ, as the sixteenth century Geneva, only the public can change the position of public officials.

John Calvin was shot at more than once. Opposition gave his name to stray dogs. They approached the communion table in St. Peter's to snatch the sacred elements from his hands. The self-discipline of the man gave him courage that subdued them, a confidence that was contagious.

Calvin's part in the burning at Servetus as a heretic can only be excused by the spirit of the age. When he referred in predestination as an "awful decree," he logically cancelled his own doctrine. In a moving letter to Thomas Cranmer, Archbishop of Canterbury, he confessed the fact of the young heresy of sprinkling that blunted the healing of disease which he described as "the liberated Body of Christ."

In this year of anniversaries, it is fitting that Presbyterian and United Churchmen have cause to learn from one who earned the title, "Protector of Geneva."

He saw God Almighty at work in a revolutionary period of history. We need not despair. He believed that creation in religion received to be yoked with sound learning. There is much truth here.

Calvin believed in the example of the prophets as well as the witness of the apostles. He was convinced that he would have to affirm that Canada was no more good in its way than prosperity then Canadians can defend their way into happiness.

He would not do so to one minister from one city, spiritual novels in order to seek the Most High. Against the idolatrous trend of human self-worship, Calvin's Christ-centered insight. The keys of the Kingdom of brotherhood are offered to those who regard life not as a sacred trust, every talent as a solemn trust. I mean those who have learned to "worship God and to glorify God and enjoy Him forever."

This article is a digest of a sermon delivered in Westminster Church, Niagara Falls, April 13, in connection with a joint service and meeting of the Lincoln-Renfrew Presbytery of the Presbyterian Church in Canada and the Renfrew Presbytery of the United Church of Canada, celebrating the centennial of Presbyterian Church in Canada and the British Anniversary of the United Church.

Theology Students' Views Differ Widely

TORONTO (CP) — Students in the three-year course at Emmanuel College—the country's largest United Church college—have opinions and interests as diverse as those to be found among any group of 80 people.

"Ask 10 theological students about their choice of God and you'll get 10 different answers," says one.

Some students view the ministry as an opportunity to work with people and become involved in social issues.

"I always thought the church and its people should be more socially and politically active," said Bill Blaikie, who came to Emmanuel from University of Toronto.

Tom Sherwood, a Toronto native who combines baptist and student chaplaincy work with his studies, agrees.

"People think the church's business is only saving souls but I have to emphasize social action," said Mr. Sherwood who also writes for The Observer, the church's national magazine.

And he questions the views of Bible literalists, who he says lead "a narrow, sheltered life."

Anita Chamberlain has a different opinion. He accepts literally the virgin birth, the resurrection and Christ's power to change water into wine and to raise the dead. He believes the Red Sea parted and that Noah did sail on the ark with a multitude of animals.

"Christ is almost a person I can sit down and talk with," said the second-year student. "He is always present with me."

And Mr. Chamberlain rejects many of the activities some of his classmates engage in.

"Theology students go to parties, gather regularly at a nearby pub for jugs of beer and some use drugs, said Jean Barkley, one of about 30 women in the course.

But despite different habits and interpretations of God, most students share a common anxiety about the national church hierarchy, about being tied to an institution and about a minister's lonely life."

Alcohol Toxins Create Trouble

By G. C. THORSEN, MD

Dear Dr. Thorsen: I would like to know more about the detoxification of alcoholics. What toxins are involved? How alcohol generate toxins and what effect do they have on the human body?

I feel if more of us alcoholics knew what was happening chemically and biologically, it might help straighten us out. Some effects I've noticed are sweating, a nasty taste, apprehension, anxiety, lack of sex interest, insomnia, visual disorientation, stomach upset, flatulence, frequent urination, obesity, hallucin, irritability, to mention a few.

What is your opinion on Antabuse?—R.W.W.

With the list of miserable symptoms you mention (and I suppose it could be expanded) it is apparent—at least to you—that something awful is happening to your system. (This should be sufficient to make you quit without getting into the precise chemistry and biology of the matter.

The "toxins" you mention are intermediate products, chiefly the aldehydes, a by-product of the breakdown of alcohol molecules. These are especially irritating and damaging to the liver—a factor in cirrhosis. As consequence the liver loses part of its efficiency irreparably.

This doesn't exhaust the list of chemical problems posed by alcohol excess, but it is indicative of the kind of problems.

Antabuse is what is called an "antagonist" drug. That is, when it is present in the body, simultaneously with alcohol, the chemical reactions can be felt. The theory is that the alcoholic on Antabuse therapy will stay away from the taste to avoid the unpleasant consequences.

It can be effective under the direction of a physician, but the person must be psychologically prepared for it, with extreme caution. No doctor would recommend its use without a thorough evaluation of the individual from both an emotional and physical standpoint.

My advice to alcoholics who want to go straight is to turn to the first page of the local telephone directory and look for the listing, "AA," which stands for Alcoholics Anonymous, a group therapy organization that has helped millions of alcoholics back to decent lives over the years.

Dear Dr. Thorsen: Would you please explain the meaning of the following terms—osteoporosis, hypothyroidism, keratosis, and folliculitis?—R.N.

I assume this information is from a school paper and that you are not afflicted by all four conditions. But without questioning your reasons, here goes:

Osteoporosis is a bone disease in which the calcium (bone-producing cells) are deficient in laying down bone matrix. It leads to a thinning of the skeleton. Usually there is a deficiency in calcium absorption.

Hypothyroidism is a deficiency of the thyroid gland in production of thyroxin, which is essential for metabolism. In an extreme form, it is called "myxedema," in children, "cretinism." Results can range from mental and physical sluggishness to hair skin. The opposite condition, of course, is hyperthyroidism.

Keratosis is the formation of horny tissue, as in warts and callouses.

Folliculitis is an inflammation of the hair follicles—it emerges into the outer skin. One

The 10 most asked questions about the new $1,500 Ontario Home Buyers Grant.

What does it take to be eligible for this new Grant?
Very simply, you must first be a resident of Ontario, 18 years of age or older.
And second, the home must be your principal residence and the first housing unit bought or built by you, your spouse, your co-owner or the spouse of the co-owner.

You mean it has nothing to do with how much I make or how much the house costs?
That's right. There are no income restrictions, nor are there any restrictions on the price of the housing unit, as long as the purchase price is equal to the fair market value. As well, the grant applies to new and older homes alike.

What do you mean by "housing unit"?
A housing unit is defined as a unit suitable for permanent habitation that provides living, sleeping, eating and food preparation facilities for one family.
The housing unit may be:
a) a house containing not more than two housing units
b) a condominium
c) a unit of a co-operative housing corporation
d) a mobile home that meets prescribed standards defined by the Canadian Standards Association.

I've been thinking of buying a home but I haven't done anything definite yet. Is there any time limit?
Yes. You must complete the purchase of the housing unit between April 8, 1975 and December 31, 1975 and reside in this housing unit as your principal residence by June 30, 1976.

Can we use the $1,500 for our down payment?
Not directly, since you will not receive the grant until after you own and reside in your housing unit.

How do I apply for the $1,500 Grant?
To apply, you must file an application with the Ministry of Revenue. You will be mailed the initial $1,000 cheque after your application is approved. If you continue to live in the house you will receive, upon reapplication, an additional cheque for $250 in each of the next two years on the anniversary date of your qualification for the initial grant. In all $1,500.

When should I file my application?
You should file it after you own the housing unit and reside in it as your principal residence.

If we qualify for the Ontario Home Buyers Grant, will we still be eligible for other housing grants?
Yes. This is a new grant from the Province of Ontario and does not affect participation in other programs.

How do I get the application form?
You can get applications by writing:
Ministry of Revenue
Ontario Home Buyers Grant
Queen's Park
Toronto, Ontario M7A 2C9
Also application forms have been made available through many realty offices and trust companies.

Just one more thing—how can I get more information about all of this, if I need it?
You can phone us, free of charge, by dialing "0" and asking the operator for Zenith 8-2000. Residents within Metro Toronto local calling area should dial 965-8470. Phone lines are open from 8 to 8 weekdays, and from noon until 5 on Saturday.

Ontario understands how important it is to have a home of your own. And we'd like to help out with a grant of $1,500 towards your first home. It's part of an overall plan to make more homes available in Ontario. And stimulate our economy. So it's good for all of us.

Fisheries Minister

A former CBC broadcaster and press secretary to the Prime Minister, Romeo LeBlanc has to jobs that may be near the bottom rung in the federal cabinet but the fisheries minister says it is a challenging as any other in the government, although perhaps more frustrating. # Canada's Fisheries Minister Finds His Job Frustrating

OTTAWA (CP) — Romeo LeBlanc's job may be near the bottom rung in the federal cabinet but the fisheries minister says it is a challenging as any other in the government, although perhaps more frustrating.

His got the job when Prime Minister Trudeau shuffled his cabinet last August, having spent less than two years as a Liberal backbencher. Fisheries does not have the clout of a full-scale portfolio, being under the control of Environment Minister Jeanne Sauve, but Mr. LeBlanc says it's quite enough for him.

A former CBC broadcaster and press secretary to the prime minister, the candid, soft-spoken New Brunswicker from Memramcook is faced with a relatively small departmental budget—about 208 million in 1975-76—and a mounting pile of problems.

He doesn't talk about the problems of his job or his assistants often voice his feelings for him.

For example, when more than 700 Nova Scotia haddock fishermen threatened to violate international fishing agreements this year unless they got federal grants to ease them through a bad spell, Mr. LeBlanc was forced to refuse and threaten them with arrest.

Aides say this was done with great anguish because although he is sympathetic to the fishermen's plight he must work within the constraints of cabinet and his budget. His position was not helped by the fact that the government slapped in about the same time with multi-million-dollar aid for New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island potato farmers, faced with low prices mainly because they over-produced.

The decision to refuse their demands naturally was him no friends among the fishermen, some of whom complain that Mr. LeBlanc has little or nothing to do with fisheries before his appointment.

He considers he has the fishermen's best interests at heart, even if he must take an unpopular stand. He says fishermen's incomes are at the top of his list of priorities.

"The fisherman needs to find in his efforts enough income to live properly; he needs to find some insurance, some protection against disastrous fishing seasons, so he needs to have the means to improve himself and his equipment.

"We have to find a way of ensuring that he is guaranteed a reasonable level of income."

Mr. LeBlanc says no other segment of society operates under the conditions faced by fishermen.

"How would you feel when you leave home in the morning if your income depended on whether you were lucky enough to get a good story or five good stories?" he asked a reporter during an interview. "You negotiate on wages; fishermen can't do that. Fishermen leave in the morning darkness and they have no idea if they'll have anything in their nets or their traps at the end of the day. What other segment of our society is living that way?"

It used to be still way for most farmers, who were generally at the mercy of weather, markets and innumerable other factors. Farmers now have crop insurance programs and, it seems, federal and provincial governments are there to bail them out when they get into trouble.

Mr. LeBlanc sees part of the answer in restricting the number of fishing licences, making them available generally only to full-time fishermen.

"We must protect the professional fisherman and by this I don't mean only those who fish 11 months a year. There are areas where you must have a short season. This has been done on the West Coast, where the government has imposed strict controls on the number of salmon licences.

"Their income has been stable. It has been reasonably high. The future looks good because it's basically a healthy fishery."

The fisheries minister is concerned about conserving the fisheries, a resource that has proved not to be infinite, thanks to over-fishing by Canadians and foreigners.

"If that pool of fisheries is to be developed and protected and reserved for those who are involved in it for a living, we must make regulations which remove those who do it as a hobby or on weekends or a month in each year.

"I think fisheries, like anything else, if it produces a decent living for those who are involved in it, will, in the long run, bring to Canada a great deal of wealth.

Canada's Lengthy Coastline Gives It Access to Wealth

Fisheries Minister Romeo LeBlanc says fisheries's incomes are at the top of his list of priorities and no other segment of society operates under the conditions faced by fishermen. Photo shows Prince Edward Island fishermen unloading.

OTTAWA (CP) — With one of the largest continental shelves in the world, Canada has access to immensely rich ocean fishing grounds. Ironically, it has taken the presence of huge foreign fishing fleets to emphasize the value of this renewable resource.

Jurisdiction over the shelf has been one of the main topics of discussion at the latest international conferences on the law of the sea. Canada and other coastal states have been pushing, not too successfully, for the right to manage the shelf.

Fisheries Minister Romeo LeBlanc says the fact this country's continental shelves have attracted foreign fleets is proof of the importance of the Atlantic and Pacific fisheries.

"It's obvious that we are dealing with a potential catch of very great importance not only to us in economic terms but also in terms of food and sources of protein for the rest of the world," he said in an interview.

"We should equip ourselves obviously to occupy, and to catch the fish in, the areas that we want to manage—the 200-mile stishere zone or the entire shelf, whichever it widest. It's a challenge, it's an opportunity, in spite of the problems. . . .

"Managed properly, the fishery on the two coasts—on the three coasts, because we have to talk about the Arctic—would give Canada a very great advantage."

There is a parallel, in this age of fish-farming, with land crops. Could Canada ever become the "fish basket" of the world as well as a "grain basket?"

Mr. LeBlanc said this is unlikely, "but obviously we would be one of the very major fishing nations of the world' if we gained control of the millions of square miles of shelf on Canada's 150,000-mile coastline, the longest in the world.

Development and management would require new approaches by the various levels of government, industry and the consumer, including more money for programs aimed at developing and conserving fisheries.

Conservation would require the co-operation of other countries, such as the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain, France, Portugal and Japan, some of which have fished off Canada's coasts for decades, even centuries, and Mr. LeBlanc saw evidence of a more responsible approach by foreigners.

"I have to remind you that five years ago beyond 12 miles—not many more years longer beyond three miles—there was wide-open chaos. Anybody could do anything on the ocean.

"Now, especially in the North Atlantic and also in the Pacific, there are international organizations trying to assess the stocks, determine the level of catch and trying to apportion to different nations quotas that would be reasonable and fair.

"We're not always getting our way in these international discussions, but we are getting our way a great deal of the time."

For example, reduced quotas now are being accepted by countries that refused in past years to even consider them. And there is increasing evidence that the priorities and "rights" of coastal states are being recognized.

"It's not yet as well-defined as we would like, but it's the one area of the Law of the Sea Conference that has received the most general acceptance," the fisheries minister said.

FUNERAL QUESTIONS
WE ARE OFTEN

JOHN R. BUSH

R. DOUGLAS RUSHNELL

"Who Makes Cemetery Arrangements?"

If the family already has purchased a family plot, the family need only indicate the position of the new grave. The funeral director will make the necessary arrangements with the cemetery personnel.

If the family has not previously purchased a cemetery plot, the family must immediately decide which cemetery will be used and make the necessary selection and purchase. If desired, the family may discuss the matter with the funeral director, who will, if the family wishes, provide transportation to the cemetery and assist in any possible way the selection of the necessary lot.

CAS Tour of Group Homes

On a sunny April morning, conversation around Mrs. Matthews' big kitchen table started after the coffee and doughnuts were served.

Mrs. Matthews was the day's first lecturer for the Family and Children's Services tour of the two group homes operating in Hastings County.

She and her husband Ted are parents of five children, ranging in age from 13 to nine years old, and foster parents to two boys for the rest of what they hope will be several in their care.

Larry MacDonald, head of the CAS child care department, and Jan MacLean, head of the residence program, introduced the other couples — Jim and Gail Bench, Orval and Rose Budynski, Bill and Marion Ridyers and Don and Gladys Woodcock.

Also along for the day was Karen Maxwell, Loyalist College instructor in the behavioral science program, and co-ordinator of the field work project in which college students work for the CAS in the group homes.

Mrs. Matthews explained to the group how she and her family, who recently moved from Toronto to their big old farmhouse on Milne Mills Road, became interested in running a group home.

"We slowly got our own kids adjusted to the idea of having other children coming into our home, and then we moved out of the city to this house that's got plenty of room for more family."

Like some of the others who have group homes for the CAS, the Matthews are in the early stages of renovating their house. Newly-shingled ceilings and barnboard walls give the upstairs bedrooms a rustic, cozy look; but the Matthews' plans include a housing temperature.

On the outskirts of Trenton, Gail and Jim Bench showed the group their 18 year old home, a new one-storey home ingeniously divided into enough rooms for the Bench children — there are still four their own five at home — and six foster children.

Mrs. Bench told the group about her experiences as a foster mother to the 80 children she has cared for in less than five years. Most of these children have been under 12, some as young as a few weeks.

"We try to broaden their experience while they're with us," she said, discussing those children who come because of problem behavior.

"I just love having the house full of children. The work is no problem. I have an older daughter and a woman who occasionally comes to help (we think it's wash daily, seldom need to iron anything, and we have a dishwasher. The kids make their own beds and put their clothes away.

"I like nothing better than a bunch of kids enjoying pies I've just made."

Don and Gladys Woodcock are the new foster parents at the CAS group home for boys, in the Highland Avenue residence, they took on the job in March, after having run a boarding home for men for the past five years.

Parents of eight, some of whom are now away from home and married, the Woodcocks are now also foster parents to five boys between 13 and 15 years old.

"We're learning as we go along," said Mrs. Woodcock. "The boys respond to love and attention and they seem to like being part of a family with us. Everything starts to fall into place if they see they can't get you riled up. They don't want to do things to hurt you once they know and respect you."

On Ann Street, Bill and Marion Ridyers run a group home for girls between 14 and 16 years old. Their house, which they purchased from the CAS, is large and rambling, with lots of rooms for their five at home — adopted and five teen-age girls.

"We see our home here as a stepping stone to independence for the girls. We have fewer restrictions than the other group homes may have, since we try to prepare them for getting out on their own," said Marion Ridyers.

"We do have a sense of family here, but we also help the girls to deal with their own parents."

Mrs. Ridyers mentioned one problem that all the foster parents agreed was a factor in their situations — the taking of food from the table between meals. Because emotionally disturbed children often eat as a compensation for their deprivations, sneaking of snacks from the refrigerator seems to be guarded against, either with rules or jacks or combative psychology.

Rules are very much a part of the show put on by Rose and Rose Budynski. Once they had moved from Toronto, with their family of five children into their large country home — the former Queensboro Nursing Home — they realized they had plenty of room for more children. The surroundings (60 acres of farmland) and the Budynski's no-nonsense approach to five boys between 13 and 15 years old — "We're learning as we go along," said Mrs. Budynski. "The boys responed to love and attention and they seem to like being part of a family with us. Everything starts to fall into place if they see they can't get you riled up. They don't want to do things to hurt you once they know and respect you."

Don Woodcock, who with his wife Gladys is new to foster parent life, is in charge of the Highland Avenue home, where teen-aged boys are living. The gleaming front door, he says, is his best curfew system, and so he doesn't oil the hinge.

Joyce Matthews is new to the Children's Aid Society. The roster of foster mothers and one for the Quinte Area. She and her family are removing an old farmhouse into comfortable quarters for teen-age girls. The kitchen is already finished, complete with barnboard and featuring a long table to gather around for meals.

Gail Bench, sorting through the astonishing closet of children's coats has been a foster mother to more than 80 children in less than five years. Her basement is a marvel of organization, with shelves of clothes, beds, games and toys on hand for new arrivals.

Talking About Their Roles, Needs, Goals, and Views

Talking about their roles as substitute parents, disciplinarians and counsellors, the five couples spoke of the tension in the Budynski's living room. During their conversation, various ideas and points of view were exchanged.

* * * * * *

Although the group home parents like the idea of having a professional child care worker available for occasional assistance, counselling and counselling with the teen-agers, they agreed they were not enough jobs in any one home to occupy a worker full-time.

* * * * * *

The four other couples expressed their envy of the Budynski's situation, where both adults are at home. This makes the job of parenting more equal, a benefit to adults and children alike. A future goal of CAS department head Larry MacDonald — paid, professional parents to run group homes — was endorsed by all the foster parents as a result of their own experience.

* * * * * *

Conversation about work division and discipline revealed that in all but one home there is a fairly sharp distinction made in sexual roles. Girls help in the kitchen and boys are expected to do heavier jobs.

The knowledge that certain expectations must be met provides teen-agers especially with a sense of security and self-identity, according to these foster parents. And in at least one home the division in labor is a result of particular situations — "the girls do a better job in the kitchen, that's all!"

* * * * * *

Rules, and steady enforcement of them, play a large part in any group home, but especially as in a court home setting. Teaching teenagers the necessity of conforming to usual social standards in order to make their lives more pleasant and successful, is one of their primary concerns, said foster parents.

* * * * * *

One of the biggest burdens faced by group home mothers is the volume of housework that can often prevent them from therapeutic contact with their foster children. Taking too much time to talk to the kids can result in getting behind with the laundry — not too serious with two or three children, but a problem when there are eight or nine.

The women all expressed the feeling that they had entered foster parenthood in order to work with young people, not to get stuck with the "dirty jobs".

* * * * * *

Although in some of the group homes Christianity is a dominant part of the foster family's life, religion is not "pushed" at the incoming children. Instead, they are left to choose whether or not they will join the family going to church or in observing religion in the home.

Nevertheless, it is apparent that Christianity is essential motivating force in the lives of these foster parents. By their lives, and by the pictures, posters and activities in their homes, they provide examples of Christianity "at work".

However, those homes in which traditional Christianity does not play a role exhibit the same caring, secure "family feeling" that helps to turn troubled teen-agers into happier people, said Ian MacLean, CAS residence supervisor. The unselfish concern is the same.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rodgers of Stirling, announce the approaching marriage of their only daughter Ellen Jayne to Robert Bruce Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reynolds of Stirling. The wedding will take place Saturday, May 31 at 3 p.m. in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Stirling.

FRANKFORD VILLAGE SQUARES

Highlight of the square dancing club's activities this year was the recent graduation dance, after presentation of graduation hats and diplomas to the dew members, who responded in cash to square dancing.

Dancing then began by the more than 50 persons present. The evening ended with a pot luck supper.

ITALO - CANADIAN CLUB

At the Knights of Columbus Hall in Trenton on April 8 a general meeting of the Italo-Canadian Quinte Club was called for the election of this year's executive.

The newly-formed club already has a membership of more than 200 from the Bay of Quinte region.

ST. JOSEPH'S C WL

The April meeting of St. Joseph's Catholic Women's League was chaired by the president, Jane Park. Year-end reports were given by members of the executive for their particular committees.

The ceremony for installing the new officers was carried out by Monsignor J.A. Carley. The new executive members are as follows: Jane Park, past-president; Sheila Buckley, president; Mary Sare-Sinai, first vice-president; Mary Kwasia, second vice-pres., Ann Ross, third vice-pres.; Jean Pinkney, recording secretary; Jane Langshaw, corresponding secretary; and Anita Conty, treasurer.

Mrs. Park was presented with the past-president's pin by Monsignor Carley, and was presented with a gift in appreciation of her work during the past two years.

Tiptoe thru' the Tulips

It's springtime in southern Ontario, and everything's coming up roses, tulips, daffodils, lilacs and apple blossoms.

Come, take a drive through the Niagara Peninsula and treat yourself to pastel vistas and the gentle fragrance of acres of orchards in blooms. There are festivals of flowers in Niagara Falls, Ontario, where the daffodils, lilacs and magnolia trees are at their best.

In Hamilton you can visit the Royal Botanical Gardens and see the finest in cultivated floral displays or take a Spring Wildflower Walk along the Gardens' nature trails. And tulips are everywhere — from Windsor, during the festival at Jackson Park Sunken Gardens, to Ottawa, where parades, fireworks and regattas and over three million tulips are part of the Festival of Spring.

The glory of Spring is just a short drive away or if you wish, talk to your local travel agent or auto club about special tours to bis you to the blossoms.

Can You Smell Analogs Sizzling?

Sharon Airhart

Did you ever think you'd be eating something called fake analog?

That's the word used by food manufacturers — they've lost their' status as food processors so far as I'm concerned — for "bacon" (That's never tasted like pig).

Somehow it's depressing to know that in the future we'll be eating words out of science fiction books rather than food.

Skeptical? How much real food have you eaten today? For me, delicious real food only a substance that's traveled from source to you with little interference from middle men.

For breakfast you probably had cereal about from grain or toasted whole bread, both with all of the good bulk thing gone. You might have had to use "orange drink" mixed from a powder. If you're lucky, you had a chicken egg. (One point for you.) And perhaps that bacon analog.

For lunch, slice of meat sandwich on white bread and maybe a bag of potato chips. An apple. (well) Well that meat is full of nitrates and the white bread enriched or not, is the same insipid stuff you had for breakfast. Potato chips offer little but calories.

Your lovely red apple got that way, likely, thanks to expensive to ethylene gas — it was immature when picked.

If you're having chicken for dinner, remember it was just seven weeks old when it died — after having been chemically forced to grow. Frozen or canned vegetables aren't a bad choice.

Dessert? If you can afford the calories, it won't hurt. Except that some experts believe any sugar is unhealthy.

If you're more cautious about the food you buy and eat, you may have had some of that "natural" type cereal for breakfast and a real orange. Well, here's more bad news. Some of the "natural" cereals contain as much as 36 per cent sugar according to biochemist Dr. Harold Rosenberg. And he says that orange you ate has been developed for shipping, not nutrition. According to Dr. Rosenberg, these fruits their skins are dyed a brilliant orange color with citrus red No. 2, a known cancer-producing agent. (So much for the tasteless tree!)

Dr. Rosenberg, who is thumping a lonely drum for Doctors Book of Vitamin Therapy, says that surrounded by mountains of food, North Americans are starved for proper nutrients. And with the world's most expensive and highly technical medical care, they're living only four years longer than they did in 1900.

He blames the state of our health on the way we eat and on "pharmacologically educated" medicine whose practice crisis medicine while ignoring preventive medicine. For Dr. Rosenberg, preventive medicine in part means improving eating habits. He blames the food industry for its emphasis on production foods with endless shelf life and false eye appeal. He believes that the food industry has far-reaching influence and even into the research laboratories — thanks to the grants it makes.

What can the consumer do? She can stop buying the over-processed and even manufactured food? Dr. Rosenberg's recommendation is a simple one. Read labels, ask questions. Refuse to buy foods which contain additives and hydrogenated fats.

Simply use you dollars to vote for better food — and maybe better health.

Parliament Debates Nine Years - Now Italian Women Are Equal

ROME (Reuter) — After nine years of fortious discussions, the Italian parliament has passed a new law giving wives equal rights with their husbands.

Since the family unit is the keystone of Italian society, the new law opposed only by the neo-Fascist MSI party, is truly revolutionary. It brings the status of Italian women into line with that of other women in advanced Western countries.

Up to now, Italian women have been virtually without rights in their own homes, have had no legal say in the upbringing of their children or where they live. They also have had no rights in the sharing of family property and have lacked rights to inherit any more than a small proportion of income from family possessions.

The new law now abolishes the ancient Roman concept of patria potestas—the unlimited right of the husband to make all decisions of a family nature.

The old family code, described in parliament by Communist deputy Nilde Jotti as "an unjust, violent and archaic gargbage heap which was a disgrace to our country," dated from the era of Benito Mussolini.

Under its provisions a wife could virtually a chattel of her husband, who was the legal owner of all property acquired during the marriage. He was legally beat her if he could persuade a court that such "discipline" was justified.

Next the wife is legally a joint owner of all property bought since the marriage, and shares equally in the income of family businesses.

She also has full rights to share decisions regarding the upbringing and health of the children, and she can apply to the courts for a ruling in the event of a disagreement with her husband.

The new law also raises the age at which marriages can be contracted, which comes only a few weeks after parliament voted to lower the voting age to 18 from 21.

Under the old law, boys could marry at the age of 16 and girls at 14, although in special cases—which in practice are usually meant the girl's pregnancy—these limits could be lowered by a court to 14 and 12 respectively.

Now the lower limit is 18 for both sexes, but a court can lower it to 16 in similar special cases.

The law also changes the practice relating to surnames. Formerly a wife gave up her maiden name when she married, taking her husband's until he died—at which time she reverted to her original surname.

Now she may simply add her husband's surname to her own, and keep both as a widow until she remarries. Such a change, which caused considerable parliamentary discussion, was pressed by feminist organizations as a symbolic importance in preserving a wife's individuality and identity.

The law also preserves a recent decision of a constitutional court that a woman who marries a foreigner cannot be forced to renounce her Italian citizenship.

Another important section of the 244-article law deals with illegitimate children. They had become a problem in Italy during the years when divorce, introduced only in 1970, was impossible.

Under the old law, illegitimate children had to take their mother's surname, and could not inherit, even if their real father wished to leave them property.

Now they have equal inheritance rights with legitimate and adopted children, all of whom share a minimum of two-thirds of their fathers estate in equal parts.

Ann Landers

Tactless People Harmless But Rude

Dear Ann Landers: You can't imagine how tactless and insensitive people can be until you adopt a child. Please publish my letter so some of those ignoramuses can see themselves in print.

My husband and I were fortunate enough to adopt a baby girl at birth. I recently learned the wonderful news that I am pregnant. Every day someone says to me, "How marvelous that you will now have a child of your own!"

Don't they realize we ALREADY have a "child of our own?" Our adopted daughter is just as much a part of our flesh and blood as if she had been born to us. We are happily awaiting the arrival of our SECOND child not our first. Thank you for allowing me to express my feelings.—Double Blessed

Dear Blessed: Please try to understand these people mean no harm. They are just thoughtless. I do thank you for writing, however, and I'm sure your letter has helped educate many people today.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a middle-aged woman who was engaged to marry a very fine man. Harold has a son and daughter-in-law to whom he is devoted. His wife passed away two years ago.

The four of us went to dinner Sunday and the young woman displayed the most atrocious table manners I've ever seen. They talked with food in their mouths, reached across the table for everything and licked their fingers. I said nothing but thought that was unbelievable.

Last night I decided to tell Harold exactly how I feel. I was shocked that he defended them and made me out to be a very picky person. I said nothing but this attitude bothers me forkers. How can I overcome my revulsion? I'm sure the four of us will be in for many dinners together frequently after we are married.—Sensitive Stomach

Dear S. S.: There's something more basic here than table manners, and it has you wise up before you have a serious run-in with Harold.

Accept the fact that he doesn't care to hear any criticism about his children. If they are old enough to be married, their behavioral patterns are pretty well set. So keep your "views" to yourself and look the other way.

What A Weekend

I did something last weekend, yes all should do at least once a year, and probably four times a year. I checked myself in to the Food Season's Spa for 24 hours and had a wonderful time all by myself, with the pool, the sauna and the six books I took out of the Corby Library. And I felt marvelous. Nothing was done behind Doris' back. This time of the year I get a real case of the "I'm tired" exhaustion! And a day and night in Corby's Spa Food Season was the sure cure. You might just make a little investment in your own and your family's mental health and do the same. You just might see me there!!

And the Fight's On

There's quite a battle going on down at Murray's Food Market on Front St., it would appear. Frank Bonnell, who has just gone on vacation in England and his department has been temporarily taken over by one of the cashiers. And I mean temporarily over! While the produce manager is away . . . the cashier will play — with his produce and his prices. And you, as a Murray's customer and a disinterested observer, can enjoy the spoils of this particular battle (though by no means one of the stakes in this battle secondrate produce. Oh no!) Our heroine, the cashier, is going to make the produce manager wish he'd never left town, provide a bonus for shoppers and make Murray's a great deal on produce at Murray's Food Market for the next few weeks. And no throwing carrots PLEASE!!

In Case You Missed It

Ruddy Electric's Consumer Division, 291 Coleman St., received some interest in the Kaloe Portable Electric Furnace I mentioned in last week's column. In case you missed it, here are the details again. And any person at Ruddy would be glad to supply you with more. Just drop in or call 968-5746. The amazing little unit is terrific for cottages, which is a concern uppermost in many of your minds. This little machine heats up like a dryer in functions in one circuit. It's also a great idea for rec rooms. But if you're an early arriver and late stayer at your cottage, Kaloe and Ruddy can make the stay a whole lot more comfortable.

The Right Sunglasses

I learned a few things about prescription sunglasses this week when I visited Trenton Optical at 54 Bridge St. East. The major kind of sunglasses are described as 'photochromatic', which means they adjust to the amount of light in the situation. There are two types of photochromatic lenses: Photoun which are glasses for outdoor use only, which range in colour from light to dark; and Photogray, which are an indoor-outdoor lenses. Trenton Optical also told me about polarized lenses which are becoming in popularity, but are hard to get quick delivery on. Now, surely, this little amount of information which I have just imparted should encourage you to go and talk to someone who really knows what they're talking about when it comes to sunglasses. Trenton Optical of course.

More People Needed

ServiceMaster is really serious about expanding its housekeeping services. And to do this, ServiceMaster needs reliable and industrious people who are interested in a personal sample rehumanization for the effort expended. If you are such a person, don't hesitate to call Mr. Teed at the ServiceMaster number of 967-1672. On the other hand if you are a busy person who requires the services of such a person to help you with your efficient household, then you should note that ServiceMaster number also and dial it too. I really don't see how anyone can lose in this operation.

Holiday Plans

If you don't own a car, or if the car you do own is not trustworthy for holiday travel, then here's a name that can help you get that motoring holiday safely and economically — Holiday Car and Truck Rentals at 11 West Moira St. You'll have a wide selection of the finest in Chrysler products at your fingertips. Or maybe your holiday is going to include a quiet time at your cottage, but in order to make that time comfortable, you need a truck to get your "comforts of cottage' where they will do the most good. Holiday can help you there too. On the phone call or visit to Holiday Car and Truck Rentals may mean the difference between a vacation that works and one that doesn't. Tell them what you want to wait until next year? Call Holiday at 962-8114.

It Shows Now

Without the complementary blessings of the winter white of the snow, the beauty of your home which is in need of a paintup certainly shows it, doesn't it? And the fact that you need to paint it is more aggravating when you know you will have to do it again and again. Well, you needn't do it again and again. All you need do is to call Highland Construction at 962-1184. There they will install that wonder substance known as vinyl siding and you won't have to worry about the exterior of your home for at least ten years or so. Vinyl is weather-resistant, wear-resistant and child-resistant. Why not get that job done and fix all? And if you want to look at what you're getting just visit Highland Construction's Home Improvement Centre at 257 North Front Street.

For A Smashing Season

Jean Smith tells me she's received some stunning gold sets at her West Moira Boutique as Hey, I at Actinolite. And it's just about that time. And even if you're not a very good player, that doesn't mean you can't look like a pro. And speaking of professionals, Jean Smith has some new summer dresses delivered specifically for her boutique and to quote Jean, "they're lovely." Jean also has some gorgeous cotton evening wear, all flowing and cool. There's just so much fashion at the West Wind, a few descriptions and appropriate adjectives just can't do it all justice. You just must go and see for yourselves. The West Wind Boutique is open Monday to Saturday until 8 p.m., Sunday, until 6 p.m.

Worth Repeating

When I talked to Michael Gibbs of Gibbs and Son, we decided that what we said last week bears repeating, so here it is. Gibbs and Son isn't just selling vacuum cleaners, they sell service with them. And so they don't want to deal in faulty products. Now, when it comes to established names in vacuum cleaners, Hoover is right up there with Gibbs and Son. 37 Abbott St., are selling upright Hoover vacuum cleaners, "brand sparkling new", as Michael Gibbs says, for only $34.50. These are two-speed deluxe models which are convertible and have a light — as well. If it's a new vacuum you want from a reputable dealer, then Hoover is the name and Gibbs and Son is the place.

Facing the Facts

And the season facts, according to my friends at the Tropical Garden Pet Shop, 301½ Front St., are that the fleas are alive and well — and flourishing — with this warm weather. But that needn't bother you, or your dog or cat with some help from the Tropical Garden. The Tropical Garden, has a selection of sprays, powders, and collars to get and keep everything under control. And there's a new fangled 'I to 1' collar, I'm told, good for fleas and ticks, which will provide preventative protection for three months. So be very wise and save your pet some discomfort. See the Tropical Garden.

Forecast Misses

MADOC — Loyalist College Board of Governors was 200,000 short of its budget forecast for March due to the planned of 25.5 acres of land to the north of the college, without provincial government assistance, says Fred Bellstedt, chairman of the board's building and finance committee.

He made the statement at a board meeting near here this week his committee had to review the college's 1975-76 operating budget in light of the recent arbitration salary award to Ontario's community college teachers.

The award exceeded budgetary provisions, noted Mr. Bellstedt. He said the provincial government has promised grants to make up the excess.

Driver Unhurt

BOGART — Dorain Meyers, 21, of Tweed, escaped injury when the car he was driving went out of control on a Hungerford township road, just east of here, Friday.

Police said damage to the vehicle was estimated at $1500.00.

Cab Driver Pulls Nephew from River

According to Mr. Brown's eye-witness account of the incident, the motorist lost control of his vehicle and careened into the river.

"When I reached the body in the water, I recognized the man as my nephew" said Mr. Brown. The nephew is Jim Laird, of R.R.5, Trenton.

Mr. Brown works as a cab driver for Graham's Taxi in Trenton. He resides in Brighton with his wife, Barb, and three children.

"I was returning from a call in Glen Miller and was just coming into the Highway 33 overpass when I saw an oncoming car veer out of control and crash into the river," said Mr. Brown.

"The car sort of floated about 40 feet into the river and moments later began to sink," said Mr. Brown. "I saw the driver in the window and trying to swim to the safety of shore.

"I saw he wasn't going to make it," he said. "I swam out to meet him ... he'd gone down for the second time by the time I could grab him," said Mr. Brown.

"That's when I recognized him as my nephew."

Mr. Brown then took Mr. Laird to Trenton Memorial Hospital where he was treated for exposure.

"The water was damn cold. I hope I don't have another night like that."

Council Plans Special Session To Study 1975 Budget Estimate

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

City residents will know one week from now how much it will cost them to run their city for 1975.

City council next Friday will stage a special session to study and approve its budget for the year and strike a new mill rate.

The estimates to be placed before council now are being drafted into a total document as top city hall officials work over the weekend to finalize estimates of all demands on the city treasury.

City councillors won't know until Wednesday at the earliest what the proposed total will be. That's when city manager Wilbur Purcell says he will have the entire budget ready for distribution among councillors — giving them two days prior to study before the financial debate begins.

It's inevitable the session will be a painstaking process as council probes for ways to pare expenditures in a year of rising local government costs.

Mayor Robin Jeffrey backs this idea.

"There won't be one item that we have control over on that budget that won't be scrutinized," she said.

Until the financial results will be, she wouldn't precisely predict.

But there is "certainly going to be some increase in the tax rate the general rate is concerned — although we're trying to keep it as low as possible."

Jeffrey council will be the task of attempting to hold the line as much as possible over 1974 city operations — which cost $12 million.

That brought an increase of 14 cent cost of a residential mill rate of $1.1 — an increase of six mills. This meant a total average 1974 tax bill for what the city designs is a typical residential assessment — $10,000.

It could very much if there'll be much accompanying "new programs," she argued. "It will be pretty much a case of holding the line."

Township helping to hold the financial line from spiralling too high are several factors: the $92,000 increase in provincial government grants; an estimated $140,000 rise in new assessment; (3) An expected $400,000 surplus from 1974. All this totals about $620,000 or close to seven percent.

But estimates from every city department are up, she said. So are those from the various joint boards and commissions in which the city participates with other municipalities, said the mayor.

Budget Sees $17.80 Tax Hike

Belleville separate school supporters with a 9.8 per cent increase of $11,000 will have to pay about $17.80 more this year in educational taxes — the first increase since 1971.

The Hastings-Prince Edward County separate school board handed Belleville its budget Friday with a 28 per-cent increase over 1974. They struck the figure at $4.4 million with an overall increase for taxpayers of about 13 per cent.

Trustee separate school supporters with an average assessment of $5,000 will also pay about $17.80 more this year for educational taxes. Some areas of the counties will pay more than 13 per cent. Separate school officials did not have the figures.

Greeks Mark Easter

Due to the differences between the Julian and Gregorian calendars, Belleville's Greek community celebrates Easter midnight Saturday. Here, the church parish celebrate Good Friday by carrying the epitaphios (symbolic of the burial of Christ) around the Harder Rd. Greek church. At midnight tonight, the Greek community will hold a special feast of lamb entrails celebrating Easter.

McGibbon Says Women's Role Today Improving

By AL ZARAS
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — Women have made definite progress in changing outdated attitudes and breaking stereotyped molds, LL-Gov. Pauline McGibbon told 130 women at an all-ranks mess dinner at CFB Trenton Friday.

Canada's first woman appointee as a Lieutenant-Governor, Mrs. McGibbon was guest of honor at the dinner held in conjunction with International Women's Year.

But, despite such progress, she said "These changes still aren't combing about quickly enough."

International Women's Year (IWY) "sharpens the awareness of both men and women to the injustices that women have been subjected to in the past — injustices both sexes would admit — but did nothing about."

Some of those injustices still exist, she said, in the light of recommendations of the Royal Commission on the Status of Women that were not totally implemented.

At one example, she cited only partial implementation of the commission's suggestion all trades in the armed forces be open to women.

She said, "Women are still excluded from trades which call for service in isolation and primary combat and seagoing roles. As a result many trades remain closed to women."

She urged IWY not to be looked upon as a slogan but an attitude.

Describing herself a moderate as far as the rhetoric and militancy of the women's liberation movement was concerned, she said "We no longer require the militant label that some women initially felt to be important and necessary. Perhaps some of the militants are less militant today because of the gains made."

She said she hoped IWY will bring an increasing number of outstanding women all forms of honorary degrees, and an improvement in what she called "deplorable" representation of women on boards of Canadian corporations: "Only one of 30 directors is a woman," she said.

"Time is running out," Mrs. McGibbon said, "for people — men and women alike. We must return to some of the verities that would count. We must look to our own personal growth and, in our own development as individuals as being of paramount importance."

Rec Show At Arena

More than 30 firms are participating in the Quinte Sports and Recreation Show which began Friday night in the Belleville arena and continues throughout the weekend.

Fred Jones — one of two show organizers — said the show continues four months of preparation and is designed to give business and recreation/land sporting equipment available in the Quinte area.

Entirely filling the ice surface of the arena, the exhibit covers everything from mini-motorcycles to 35 foot trailers to sailboats complete with mast and sails.

"While we are charging admission to the show, it is not designed a profit-maker," said Mr. Jones. "We are trying to make the show run as a break-even venture for the benefit of the outdoor enthusiasts."

Displays include trailers, tennis equipment, a wide variety of boating equipment, tents "... just about anything you can name in recreation," said Mr. Jones.

The show continues Saturday evening until 10 p.m.; Saturday again Sunday from 1:30 p.m. until 6 p.m. Admission is 75 cents for adults, 25 cents under 12 with an adult are admitted free of charge.

Ottawa Asks Loyalist To Plan French Course

MADOC — Loyalist College may attract a lucrative federal government contract to teach French to civil servants, the college board of governors learned this week.

Herb Young, college president, told the board meeting near here the college has been approached for a contract proposal to train 25-30 civil servants in the French language

Paul King, dean of faculty and academic services, said if successful, Loyalist would draw these students from outside its four-county area including Kingston.

The board voted to ask the college administration to draft a contract quote subject to the approval of the executive committee and also to advertise for instructors.

City Plans Diversified Summer Park Program

Bellevilians of all ages will participate by the hundreds in a series of programs now being organized for the summer months.

They'll hear all about it in the next week.

Now ready for distribution in the city recreation department's schedule of warm-weather activities.

It involves a broad range of programs — from camping to crafts — now being organized for the warm-weather months through July and August.

At least 2,500 participants, volunteers and instructors of all ages will take part in the programs under his department's direction, administer Clifford Belch, recreation director.

Then there will be about another 1,000 youngsters involved with minor sports — from softball to soccer and weightlifting — with which his department also is connected, he estimates.

There are 10 major programs to be organized for youngsters as well as minor courses and events for adults. City recreation officials are a far-cry from the playground-oriented activities that were its major program in the early days of organized recreation.

In fact, this year sees the department planning to close out two of its 25 playgrounds — at Orchard Park and Sir James Whitney School — where in some areas past attendances have dwindled to do not warrant operation of traditional play facilities.

However, says Mr. Belch, locations of playgrounds can be adjusted according to participant ion.

A new program being added this year involves retarded adults. It includes crafts and crafts, camping and aquatic activities, has been organized in response to a growing demand in recent years, says the director.

Some 5,000 copies of the schedule describing the programs will be distributed next week through city schools and community agencies.

Meanwhile, the department will hire 40 university and high school students as instructors for its various programs and courses.

Brown Takes New Post

Prominent in local women's club activities, Dorothy Brown has accepted an administrative services at the Belleville Canada Manpower Centre, effective the 6th following a job promotion.

She has been promoted a Manpower counsellor in Oshawa.

A past president of the Business and Professional Women's Club both in Belleville and Oshawa, she also has been secretary to the Belleville and District Employment Committee.

Information

Some 5,000 schedules of city recreation department's summer program will be distributed through Belleville next week. Preparing to despatch the information Friday were Rita Becker, department secretary, and Patricia England, community involvement program worker.

Faulkner to Screen Publishing Takeovers

TRENTON — Secretary of State Hugh Faulkner told reporters Friday development of a distinctive Canadian identity is a priority today and one that the federal government is trying to encourage through support of the country's creative people and publishing firms.

Mr. Faulkner said U.S. publishing firms with Canadian subsidiaries given to establishing Canadian content quotas over the book lists of Canadian subsidiaries of U.S. publishing firms.

Crash Puts Two In Hospital

TRENTON — Two Belleville men escaped serious injury early today in what town police describe as a near head-on collision on Dundas St. West.

A Trenton Memorial Hospital spokesman said today Donald Ascott, 18, of 48 Lennoxe St. and George Spurrill of 28 Everett St. were treated for cuts and bruises and released after the 1:30 a.m. collision.

Police said the Ascott vehicle was in collision with a vehicle driven by Jacques Laberge, 19, of CFB Trenton. Damage to the two vehicles was estimated at $1,000.

Curbside Concert Opens 1975 Red Shield Campaign

The sounds of music lifted a sidewalk curtain Friday on one of Belleville's oldest financial appeals.

Next week sees the start of the Salvation Army's annual Red Shield Campaign.

The Army launched its 14-900 appeal with a restrained dash of public relations.

It assembled its Belleville corps band outside city hall and played its typically stirring style of music, for passersby as Mayor Robin Jeffrey officially proclaimed the week.

The Army, said the mayor is held in high community regard and known world-wide for aiding the less-fortunate and distressed.

Salvationist Capt. Robert Ness presented Mayor Jeffrey with the Army's flag which will fly next week from city hall as a further public gesture of the campaign.

Gerry Brennan, campaign chairman, said the appeal will start Monday with a blitz canvass of most city house-holders.

Some 300 canvassers will participate in the door-to-door opening drive.

Last year's campaign met its target-of $13,000 be said.

Gunnery School Reunited

PICTON — The 16th annual reunion of No. 31 Bombing and Gunnery School will be celebrated Sunday at Branch 78 Royal Canadian Legion.

Although the former Camp Picton has been phased out for about six years a number of armed forces personnel vividly recall this military base.

The gunnery school summer operations was the first activities of Camp Picton when it was established early in the Second World War. Throughout the war the school included many Royal Air Force service men as well as RCAF personnel.

Tonight's reunion is open to all men who served with the school and will parade a Pic. 31 reunion celebrated each year in England.

Approximately 50 local persons are expected to join in tonight's reminiscences at Camp Picton and the gunnery school.

Most Residents Favor Switch to Metric System

The question was: "Are you in favor of Canada's conversion to the metric/system?"

Of ninety then a dozen Front Street pedestrians talked to, the answers fell into three categories, with the large majority definitely in favor of the switch.

Ages seemed to be a factor in the opinions of those interviewed. The older the individual, the less favorable the reaction to the metric changeover.

On the negative side it was often stated the conversion would be costly in terms of tools and equipment.

The middle-grounders, coincidentally mostly middle-aged, said the switch is inevitable, it might be hard to adjust to, but we'd just have to learn to live with it.

On the positive side, the arguments in favor of the switchover, mainly from younger people, stressed the logic of the system and the fact that Canada would be conforming with a number of its trading partners who have always used the metric system.

The issue surfaced locally at Monday's city council meeting when Alderman Jim Brooks told council he had polled 2,500 city residents and found only five in favor of metric conversion. Mr. Brooks attended to have council endorse a resolution opposing conversion which defeated in a 9-2 vote.

Following are representative individual reactions:

DAVE WILSON

A 19-year-old Moira Secondary School student, Dave Wilson is definitely in favor of conversion to the metric system. "It's easier to use because everything works in tens. Our present system is in odd units and is inconsistent."

STEVE MILES

Another 19-year-old, truck driver Steve Miles is not in favor of the switch. "We've been on the other system a long time. The changeover is too sudden and a lot of people don't understand it."

ASHTON KEMP

Retailer Austin Kemp, 57, believes when we become familiar with the metric system, we will find it easier to use. "Most of the rest of the world uses it and we have to go along if we want to do business with them."

DEBORAH WAGNER

Seventeen-year-old Deborah Wagner, a Moira Secondary student, believes the metric system is a good system. "It's going to be hard to get used to, though," she said. "A lot of people will disagree with the changeover."

MARILYN HURST

"It's awfully confusing," said this Bell Canada clerk. "But it might work out in time. The kids are learning it in school and I guess we'll just have to get used to it, although it's going to be hard for older people."

BARRY GRILLS

City bus driver Barry Grills, 26, is all in favor of conversion to the metric system. "This is superior system because it's completely logical. It's the most popular in the world and we should conform. Also it's handier when you get used to it."

Expos Lose Fifth Straight

NEW YORK (AP) — Jerry Koosman pitched a four-hitter and singled home the game's first run, leading New York Mets to a 2-0 victory over Montreal Expos in a National League baseball game Friday night.

Koosman, 3-0, outdueled Dave McNally, 3-2, and delivered a two-out RBI single in the second inning after Jack Heidemann's one-out triple.

The Mets played up their second run in the fifth on doubles by Rusty Staub and John Milner. Felix Millan drove in an eight-inning run with a sacrifice fly off Dale Murray.

Koosman, who entered the game with an earned run average of 4.94, pitched out of trouble four times in the first five innings. The Expos had two runners aboard each time.

Montreal's only hits—all leadoff blows—were a single by Pepe Mangual in the first inning, Pete Mackanin's double in the third, Tim Foli's single in the fourth and Larry Parrish's single in the seventh. It was Montreal's fifth consecutive setback.

McNally left for a pinch hitter after seven innings and three Grote opened the eighth with a single off Murray. Koosman bunted and Grote beat Murray's throw to first. Staub fouled off Murray's toss and Grote scored on Milner's drive to right field.

Koosman bunted and Staub scored on Millan's sacrifice fly.

Mackanin's double followed Mangual's leadoff single in the opening inning by Mike Jorgensen's ninth-hole grounder. Gary Carter walked and Jorgensen advanced on an attempted double steal as Mangual took third. Staub then looked at a third strike.

Mackanin's drive followed McNally walked to start the third but Mackanin was picked off second when he strayed too far off the bag as Mangual bluffed a bunt. Mangual then grounded into an inning-ending double play.

In the fourth, Foli singled and was forced by Carter, who stole second. Bailey walked but Parrish rapped into a double play. Mackanin and McNally walked in

Horseshoes Must Bring Luck to New League

When George Wilson and a few of the boys decided to get together a horseshoe league they honestly didn't know what they were getting into.

"We figured on six or eight teams from the area," said Wilson, the president of the league.

So, the 418 Wing group let the word get around that anyone interested in getting a team into a league could put one together and let them know.

Before the new organization ever had a name there were 16 groups from throughout the area (right! teenie that one) the phones to get in.

Thursday, the executive held their first general meeting and ended up getting seven more team entries.

"Nobody thought it was going to be this big," said Wilson.

Now the Quinte Horseshoe League (it was officially named at Thursday's meeting) has 23 teams and Wilson and his executive don't plan on closing registrations until May 14.

The most recent teams to join are the Lions Club, Deseronto, Trent Valley Canadian Legion, Corbin Lock, Public Utilities and CNR, they are added to the previous list consisting of four teams from Legion Branch 99, teams from 418 Wing, two from Northern Electric and CFB Trenton Junior Ranks Club, and one each from Hazel Fess, Frankford, Thurlow Fire Department, Trent Valley Fish and Game Club and Belleville Fire Department.

"We're scheduling the official opening night for the 14th at the 418 Wing," said Wilson. "Any teams still wishing to enter, or individuals for that matter, may do so right up to that night. (418 Wing Club is located on the 401 concession, west off Highway 14.)

If any individuals can't get together a team, the league will place them on a team.

Although scheduling hasn't begun, the league has decided on the pits it will use. They are located at 418 Wing, Royal Canadian Legion, Deseronto, Tweed, Frankford, CFB Trenton and Thurlow Fire Department in Point Anne.

Though the official opening takes place on Wednesday, May 14, the season does not open until the 21st. The league will play every Wednesday night through to the first of September with league playoffs taking action to the end of the month.

SLICES — Barring inclement weather, this should be first busy weekend of summer sports for the 1975 season.

Friday night the Quinte Exhibition Raceway got off to a brand new season, today the Belleville Minor Baseball Association held a walk-on, Sunday, Oshawa Tonys are in town to take on the Belleville McDonald's in an Ontario Football League exhibition double header at Jamieson Park; the CJBQ Hot-Stars will be up to their antics at Frankford Ball Diamond in an exhibition match against the Belleville Minor Baseball Association executive, the Belleville Olympics are in Kingston for a Premier Soccer League exhibition match against the Rain Canadians, and Picton Kartway will hold the first official races of the Southern Ontario Go-Kart Association at 9:30 a.m.

It's great for outdoor sports, but even indoor sports are going this weekend. The junior provincial basketball team tryouts were held today in Kingston and all this weekend the Quinte Recreation Sports Show is on at the Memorial Arena.

Toronto Metros, of the North American Soccer League are beginning this season with about $30,000 in the bank, thanks to their merger with Toronto Croatia, of the National Soccer League. The team is now officially known as the Toronto Metro-Croatia.

Last season the Metros had a deficit of $600,000 in debt. In order to finish in the black this year the Toronto club will need to draw a minimum of 8,000 paid spectators per game. They have 11 home games beginning with a May 19 contest against New York Cosmos.

MacDonald Takes First Feature Of Quinte Raceway Season

By DOUG JEFFRIES
Sports Staff

An enjoyable crowd of over 700 was in attendance at the Quinte Exhibition Raceway for the opening of the 1975 harness racing season.

Belleville's Art McDonald was the big winner of the night, as he rode both his entries to the wire in first place. Sashen Art rode Daytona Bob in the second race in a time of 2:17.1.

In the feature of the night race, he was atop of Charity Mac, riding him to the finish, in the best time of the night, 2:12.2. A photo finish was necessary to declare a winner in the feature, as he nudged out Sharkey the Great, and Gypsy Hill Storm, for the victory. All racts were a one-mile pace, for $300.

For McDonald's winnings, he picked up a total of $300.

In the third event Gypsy Hill Storm, ridden by Hugh Wemp of Centreville broke its own course record when it ran the mile in 2:12.7, the fastest mile it has ever run, smashing its previous record by almost five seconds.

To cap off a successful opening night, the final race had Silver Lad, a longshot to win, paying $250 on a $2 bet.

Harness racing continues next Friday evening when post time has been announced for 7 p.m.

Macs Recruit Brockville Pitching Ace for Sunday

By MIKE BRADSHAW
Sports Staff

When Ted Walker and Scott Reid look into the mighty sticks of the Oshawa Tony's, Sunday at Alemite Park, they won't be so alone on the mound as they thought they were going to be.

The Belleville McDonald's pitching staff will be backed up by a new prospect, Reg Hogger Hodgkinson will be leading a hand.

Hodgkinson, a six-foot-four, 225-pound right handed from Brockville is a proven commodity in senior fastball circles. He rolled to 41 victories in 55 games last season. In that span he accumulated an earned run average of less than 1.5 per game.

"Nothing's definite," said the balking hurler, "I just told them (McDonald's management) I'd come down and give it a try."

Hodgkinson was picked up by the Canadian champions in 1968 to pitch with Dick Haimes in the Oldsmobile City World Fastball Championships. In his junior days with Brockville Diggers, the 21-year-old pitched his way to two Ontario championships.

At the present time, Hodgkinson is still in negotiations with a team in the Ottawa District League. He had signed a contract to play for that particular Ottawa club, but recent regulations regarding the use of players outside the immediate area of the city may invalidate the agreement.

"I'll know next week what's going to happen up there," said Hodgkinson, "and besides being that agreement I feel a distinct obligation to the home town team."

Nevertheless the big man from Brockville will be toiling for the McDonald's on Sunday.

The doubleheader begins at 2 p.m.

SLICES — Contrary to reports, the Belleville McDonald's will not have to appear against the Oshawa Tony's in blue jeans.

General manager Doug Adams has put together enough equipment that the players can get by looking like they all belong to the same team despite the fact that their real uniforms are still in transit from Tennessee.

Using some pants from last year's Rollins Construction team, some caps donated by Wilson's Sporting Goods and some long-sleeved sweat shirts normally worn under the actual ball sweaters, the Macs will take the field.

They may not appear as shiney as a new quarter, but they'll still be worth 25 cents.

Season's tickets to the McDonald's home games will be available at the gate on Sunday. They're selling for $20 a shot and the price includes all pre-season exhibition home games and all regular season home games. There are 27 regular season games and three pre-season.

Admission to Sunday's doubleheader is $1.50 for adults, and 75 cents for children.

Season's tickets are also available at McKnight's Variety, on Front Street, in downtown Belleville, and McDonald's Family Restaurant, on North Front St.

Past Champs Head Up Mr. Bowling List

The list of entries for the 24th annual Mr. Bowling Tournament scheduled for Belleville Bowl-O-Drome, Sunday, is dotted with the names of many of the popular five-pin event.

Trenton's Wally Knapp, whose 202.4 average posted while he was on the way to the title in 1971, is back for another try. So is Wendy Woodward of Cobourg who averaged 82.5 when he won in 1967.

Top average by a city bowler in the event is owned by Leo St. Louis whose 206.7 was topo in 1961. Leo has not entered the 1975 competition, as yet, but is expected to take part.

Ron Saylor, a four-time winner (1959-53, 1962 and 1963) is back and so is veteran Trenton five-pinner Horace Urmston who was the winner in 1958 and again in 1962.

Also returning for another shot at the crown are 1966 winner Glenn Ha milton and Jack Calnan who won in 1969 and 1972. Both are Belleville bowlers.

Another returnee is Mel Kennedy of Trenton. He led the field in 1972.

Trying to make it two in a row will be Belleville's Jim Nichols who captured the honors in 1974.

Action Sunday opens at 10 a.m.

It is expected more than 80 bowlers will be shooting for the prize money.

Bowman Liked Two-way Effort

MONTREAL (CP) — There were a number of encouraging things for coach Scotty Bowman of Montreal Canadiens to think about following his club's convincing triumph over Buffalo Sabres in the third game of their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final series, including the play of left winger Steve Shutt.

Shutt, Montreal's top player in the playoffs last season, did not have a good first game in the series against the Sabres.

"He was injured in the series against Vancouver," Bowman explained. "He's been slow coming back.

"I thought he played well Thursday night. Shutt and Yvan Cournoyer were coming back and overtaking guys . . . Everybody can check. That's hard work."

Shutt has not been known as a great defensive forward in his career nor has Cournoyer for that matter. The left winger put in strong two-way performances at the Canadiens' expense the Sabres 7-0 Thursday for their first win in the series which resumes tonight.

"It was a critical game for us," Shutt said. "Everyone just got prepared. We tried to put everyone thinking the same way.

"The whole team was playing together. In Buffalo, we lost did a some of the 'I' stuff after the on the club worked hard."

The win was Montreal's first over the Sabres this season after four losses and a tie in regular season play and two defeats in Buffalo to start this series.

"I think the fact we hadn't beaten them all year was starting to hit them," Bowman said. "Our guys are feeling themselves if they feel Buffalo won't come out and play a better hockey game tomorrow."

"We've got a lot of surprises," said coach Floyd Smith. "I guess the biggest surprise is we're going to show up. We've played our game in all three games so far. We didn't play it Thursday night. Maybe we weren't allowed to play it. We'll play a lot better."

Smith said Friday he had not decided on his starting goaltender for tonight's game and will not do so until today.

Crozier started Thursday's game but was replaced in the third period by Gerry Desjardins, who gave up the last two Montreal goals. Desjardins was making his first appearance in the Sabres net since injuring his right knee in a goalmouth collision with Canadiens' Bob Gainey in the opening game of the series.

Ken Dryden, who recorded his second shutout of this season's playoffs, will be in goal for Montreal.

Tonight's game will be tarried on the full CBC television network starting at 8 p.m. EDT. The fifth game of the series is scheduled for Buffalo Tuesday night with a sixth, if necessary, here Thursday night.

Marlies Square Off Against Beavers Tonight

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — It may be an open season on goaltenders tonight when two high-scoring major junior hockey teams—Toronto Marlboros and Sherbrooke Beavers—face off in the opening game of the Memorial Cup round-robin tournament.

The Marlboros, winners of the Ontario Hockey Association Major Junior A series, qualified for the annual Canadian championship after a 23-game postseason playoff grind following a runaway first-place finish in the regular season.

New Westminster Bruins, winner of the Western Canada Hockey League championship, make up the third team in the eight-day tournament that takes the top team from each of Canada's three major junior leagues.

Toronto scored 469 goals in the regular season, and had top performances from Bruce Boudreau, the league's leading scorer with a record 95 points on 42 goals and 97 assists, and Mark Napier, a powerful two-way player who has already signed a contract with Toronto Toros of the World Hockey Association.

Sherbrooke, winners of the Quebec Major Junior Hockey League, had eight players who scored 30 goals in the regular season. The Beavers swept to a first-place finish and lost only one game in three rounds of playoffs.

The goaltending edge has to be given to Sherbrooke. Nick Ricci was the league's top goaltender in the regular season, appearing in 66 games and registering a 3.05 goals against average. He has seven shutouts, including two in the playoffs and one when Sherbrooke beat the Soviet Union's national junior team 7-6 in an exhibition game.

Steve Bosco and Gary Carr shared the Toronto goaltending duties during the regular season and gave up 293 goals, fifth best in the league. Carr played regularly throughout the playoffs and was inconsistent in the eight-game quarter-final series with Kingston Canadians as well as later tests with Sudbury Wolves and the final series with Hamilton Fincups.

While the Marlboros were stumbling through the playoffs, the New Westminster—third-place finishers in the WCHL's Western Division—polished off some of the league powerhouses.

The Bruins beat second-place Medicine Hat Tigers in five games in the quarter-finals, defeated first-place Victoria Cougars in six games in the best-of-seven semi-final set, then came back from 3-0 and 3-2 deficits to beat Saskatoon Blades in the final.

The Bruins are idle until Monday when they take on Sherbrooke. The teams will play each other once in the first round, Toronto and New Westminster play Wednesday.

The team with the best record gains a bye into the Sunday, May 11, final while the other two play off Friday. All night games start at 8 p.m. EDT with the Sunday winner scheduled for 8 p.m. on the CTV network.

Coach Ernie McLean of the Bruins credits a strong farm system with the team's success in regular and post-season play.

The team moved from Estevan, Sask., four years ago and McLean said it's taken that long for a farm system to develop.

"We like tough, aggressive hockey and that's what we're going to have to play if we want that national title," McLean said as the team prepared to head east.

General manager George Guilbault of Sherbrooke looks for a tough series but is counting on his goaltender and a top defensive corps to carry his team to the national championship.

Guilbault had his coach, Ghislain Delage, scouting the Marlboros when Toronto played Hamilton in the final, and said he had contacts in the west watching the WCHL finals.

Nighthawks Even Calder Cup Series

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — New Haven Nighthawks tied the Calder Cup American Hockey League best-of-seven series at one game each Friday night, defeating Springfield Indians 5-3 behind a pair of goals by Rod Norrish and strong goaltending of Brian Hoffman.

The teams will play game three in the best-of-seven series tonight in Springfield.

The Indians outshot New Haven by a wide margin, 49-32, but were shut out after the first 12:51 mark of the second period.

The goals came within 20 seconds, with Peters getting the go-ahead score at 6:37 of the first period.

Springfield held that lead until 51 seconds of the second period when Norrish tied it 2-2. Rick Kessell and Norrish again gave New Haven a 4-3 lead on a stage midway in the same period.

Phil Hoene scored on the rebound to narrow the gap to 4-3. But the Indians were unable to score again and Walt Ledingham of New Haven pushed the puck in from in front of the net at 19:22 of the final period for the clinching goal.

WHA Final Opens Tonight

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Aeros coach Bill Dineen says he is glad the World Hockey Association championship series between the Aeros and Quebec Nordiques starts tonight and was not delayed several days.

The two teams also will meet Tuesday night in Sam Houston Coliseum for the second game in the best-of-seven series.

"We've come this far and the guys are anxious to get it started," said Dineen. "Besides, if we wait any longer we would lose the home ice advantage since the Coliseum isn't available after May 17."

Houston gained the final round with a 4-1 quarter-final series victory over Cleveland Cusaders and a 4-0 victory over San Diego Mariners.

Quebec beat Phoenix Roadrunners 4-1 in the first round and eliminated Minnesota Fighting Saints 4-2 in the semi-finals.

Houston and Quebec split six games during the regular season, each winning two of three at home. Houston wound up with a 36-23 edge in goals scored in the six games.

"Quebec is a much better skating club than either Cleveland or San Diego," Dineen said. "And all you have to do is look at the scoring to see where the strength is. Guys like (Gerger) Bernier and (Chris) Bordeleau are good skating centers.

"Guys like (Marc) Tardif can score and somebody like (Steve) Sutherland can mix things up. So we have to keep skating well to keep up with them."

The Nordiques arrived Friday night and discovered there was a shortage of hotel and motel rooms.

A science conference was expected to attract 40,000 to the city beginning Sunday and there were few hotels and motel rooms available.

Sonny Tate, Aeros public relations director, said he spent five hours Friday telephoning all over the city and to nearby cities before finding a place for the team to stay.

The Nordiques stayed at one hotel here Friday night and today and were to move to an apartment centre in northwest Houston on Sunday.

SHOOTS RECORD

PARIS (AP) — Neil Coles, a 40-year-old Briton, shot a course record of 64 Thursday, the best competitive round of his 29-year pro career, and took the first-round lead in the French Open golf championship. Coles' round included three eagles. He was par after seven holes, then went seven under in the closing 11 holes. David Chillas of Britain was second place with a 65. John O'Leary of Ireland and Brian Barnes of Britain were tied for third at 66.

Can Islanders Do It Again?

After erasing a 3-0 deficit with four consecutive victories against Pittsburgh Penguins in their Stanley Cup quarter-final series, the Islanders find themselves down 3-0 to Philadelphia Flyers.

They hope to get unbracked Sunday in the fifth game against best-of-seven National Hockey League semi-final playoff.

"There's no way we are going to quit," vowed Denis Potvin, the Islanders' all-star defenceman.

Potvin believes the Islanders may have already started their comeback. After falling behind 4-1 in the second game of the series at Philadelphia Thursday night, New York scored three goals to send the game into overtime.

Bobby Clarke's goal at 2:36 of the overtime session gave the Flyers the decision, but Potvin feels the Islanders proved a point.

"It proved to a lot of observers who came into the dressing room Tuesday night (after Philadelphia won the series opener 2-0) saying, 'How can you beat a club like Philadelphia?'

"We showed that we played a little better. It was just a matter of bounces. We don't play skate, say team can check us right into the ice, and that's what the Flyers did for a game and a half. We didn't play a 60-minute game and we realize that's what we have to do to beat Philadelphia."

Islanders coach Al Arbour agreed that his club had finally started to generate some momentum late in Thursday's Flyers game.

"Everybody was doing his job, and the momentum started to swing our way through a lot of hard work," Arbour said. "They're a bunch of fighters and they'll fight right down to the last second."

Clarke have a new adversary to fight against Sunday.

Bernie Parent, the Flyers' star goalie who missed the first two games because of a knee injury, showed up at practice Friday in better shape than expected and coach Fred Shero said Parent would be in the net Sunday.

Little-used Wayne Stephenson had filled in for Parent in the first two games of this series.

Clarke was happy to hear that with his team's victory Thursday.

"I don't think we played well in any period," he said. "We had a lot of mental mistakes.

Sharp or not, the Flyers still proved able to stretch their unbeaten string to 38 games, including playoffs, the last three games of the regular season. The composite Islanders hope to snap that string Sunday.

NHL Won't Draft Under-age Juniors

MONTREAL (CP) — Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, said Friday that the NHL will not draft but that it will not enter players at this year's amateur draft but that will not enter agreement "with anybody who would put us at a financial disadvantage."

He was commenting on a statement Thursday by Ben Hatskin of Winnipeg, World Hockey Association chief executive officer, that the WHA will not sign an agreement to pay the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association for junior players it drafts.

Campbell said the NHL will "honor the guidelines set out by the federal government that we not sign any under-age juniors—that is, any player under 20 who has not completed his junior eligibility."

He said the NHL had been prepared to enter a further agreement with the CAHA whereby it pays the amateur group for junior players drafted and signed. The course agreement "technically expired at the end of the 1975 playing season."

"If we entered into an agreement we would be in violation of our obligations. We have paid a lot of disadvantage in junior hockey, but we're not going to pay any more if we are not at a financial disadvantage."

In other words, the NHL will continue to enter into agreements to pay the CAHA unless the WHA does.

The stand by the two pro leagues comes as no surprise to the CAHA.

"We expected it," said Gordon Fairley, CAHA executive-director in Ottawa. "The CAHA has done everything possible. We felt it is in the hands of the federal government. It moves the situation. The next step is up to them."

CARDS OF THANKS

ORR — Mrs. Russell Orr and family of the late Russell William Orr of Stirling, wish to thank Revs. Hobbs, Mr. Gordon Wright, Mr. Ken Wright, Mr. Ken Wright and the ladies of Grace United Church for their wonderful lunch and courtesy shown to myself and family during our recent bereavement. Also thanks to Dr. Ralph Wannamaker and staff for their kindness and service extended to us. Special thanks to Mrs. Gladys Orr, Mrs. Evelyn Hickey, of Belleville, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Orr, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Orr, Stirling. Thanks also for floral tributes, Tom Shortt, W. D. Donnelly, Mrs. Harry Clifford, Trenaglins, Marvin Gibson, Russell Potter.

Mrs. Russell Orr and family.

IN MEMORIAM

MARSHALL — In loving memory of a dear wife Frances Jane Marshall who passed away May 3, 1974.
Not some days or one days only,
Not the toil and strife,
But deep sorrow that lasts a lifetime,
Forever, forever.
—Lovingly remembered by husband Mansfield.

BAGLEY — In loving memory of my dear husband Ernest Bagley who passed away May 3, 1967.
And God wiped all tears from my eyes
He dearly loved by one and all,
Dearly missed by husband Ernest.
As in the hour he passed away
—Lovingly remembered by his wife Flossie, daughter Joyce and children.

YOUNG — In loving memory of a dear father Douglas Young who passed away May 3, 1971.
A happy home we once enjoyed,
Not dreaming death would come
And take from us our husband,
The world one never can.
—John and Pauline.

YOUNG — In loving memory of a dear father Douglas Young who passed away May 4, 1968.
In our home he was always happy,
Always kindly, fond and true,
Ever ready to help and cheer us,
We do not forget you dear Dad.
—Always remembered by Bev and Allan.

YOUNG — In loving memory of a dear father Douglas Young who passed away May 4, 1968.
Sweet and sad the day we miss thee,
Dad,
Much may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow,
Long within our hearts concealed.
—Blaine-Ann and Karen.

YOUNG — In loving memory of a dear husband Douglas Young, who passed away May 4, 1968.
The world may change from year to year,
But I can't, I don't, I won't,
But never will the one I love,
Much memory pass away.
—Kay.

YOUNG — In loving memory of a dear father Douglas Young who passed away May 4, 1968.
A light is from our household gone,
A voice we loved is stilled,
A place is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled.
God in His wisdom has the right
To call whom He sees fit
What we think seems to be unjust
He does not err in this.
As your always were before
—Richard, Carol and Ann.

MORRISSEY — In loving memory of our dear son and grandson Charles Morrissey who passed away May 4, 1973.
Years go by and best years remain
Memory
There is a memory kind and true
There is a token of affection, dear
There is a thought of you, dear
Memory never dies and also of pride
But memory turns back every year
—Ever remembered by Mom, Dad, Myrtle and families.

MARSH — In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. Ethel Dora Marsh who died May 4, 1970 and a dear father and grandfather, Ernest Marsh who died May 5, 1971.
Our family circle has been broken,
Two links gone from our chain
But though we've parted for a time
We know
We know we will meet again
Some day we hope to meet you.
Some day we long to greet you,
We shall meet in a better land.
—Always remembered by family.

MORAN — In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mrs. Theresa Moran, who passed away May 3, 1972.
Sweet is the hour we spend in quiet,
Sweet is the hour we spend in our thoughts,
A hour in our family chair is never lost,
We miss you more
—Lovingly remembered by husband, Thos. Moran and family.

IN MEMORIAM

Mabie and Mrs. D'Arcy Henry are happy to announce the engagement of their daughter Theresa Ann to Mr. Ken Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Ross of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Lamontis, of Belleville. The wedding will take place May 31 at twelve noon in St. Joseph's Church, Belleville.

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

BRAND NEW
ONLY $34,900. URBAN
We have a limited number of lots within the city where we can offer homes on these lots at only $34,900.00. The down payment is only $500 less than $2,000.00 and if it's your first home, you may get the entire amount returned in grants from the Government.
These will be sold on a first come first sold basis, so call early and get the best choice.
-10% MORTGAGE
AND $2,000.00 GRANT
is a combination pretty hard to beat in today's market. We have two homes in the East end, each of which offers just such a combination. You could move in at once. Everything is done — even the lawns are seeded.
INVEST WITH NO CASH
and make several thousands in a couple of years. Sound impossible? Not so! You can let the Government give you a down payment on a new Townhouse. It's free! For a couple years and sell at a profit. Ask those who bought townhouses a couple of years ago. Many have made large profits. You can too! You will never get another opportunity like this!

OPEN HOUSE
at 57 JANLYN CRESCENT
SUNDAY, MAY 4th.
From 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.
YOUR HOST BILL POPPENOW
Drop in and see this unique home with a large in-ground pool, heated, and fenced. Also a finished rec. room and den.

MAINTENANCE ELECTRICIAN

A vacancy exists in our Electrical Department for a Maintenance Electrician. This position is challenging because of the wide variety of plant electrical equipment and it is expected that the candidate will have previous experience in industry. He must be prepared to learn trouble shooting on sophisticated equipment via our in-plant training program and if necessary to attend the local Community College to take electrical/electronic courses assisted by our tuition aid plan.
Excellent benefits package.

CAREER OPPORTUNITY

As Belleville's representative for one of Canada's leading life, fire, and auto insurance companies, the person we seek is probably doing well at present job yet somewhat impatient with progress.

To this person we offer a civic position and unlimited earnings potential.

We offer independence of own business yet affiliation and support of large financial firm, plus opportunity to advance in management.

THE UNEXPLAINED

by Allen Spraggett

UFOs Explained

Good news, everybody. You can stop worrying (if you were) about those pesky UFOs. There's no mystery left about them has been solved.

The solution: There isn't any such thing as a UFO.

This is the conclusion reached by writer Philip J. Klass in a new book entitled, rather misleadingly, UFOs Explained.

What Klass calls "explaining" a genuinely puzzling UFO case (and he admits that such cases do exist) is to start from the premise that UFOs don't exist because it's plainly impossible, therefore any so-called UFO must be something else.

The something else, says Klass, may be a meteor, birds, tricks of the eyes, or this invention a hoax. But anything it CAN'T be is a UFO.

Taking this approach one would be able to write a pretty convincing book proving the non-existence of just about anything out of the ordinary. In fact, this is precisely what the French Academy did in the 18th century when that learned body declared officially that no such thing as a meteorite could exist because it was clearly "impossible" for rocks to fall from the sky. That conclusion was reached in spite of the thousands of eye-witness reports of people who had seen meteorites plunge earthward.

There are hundreds, if not thousands of witnesses — many of them military personnel, commercial pilots and police officers — who report having seen UFOs. Yet Klass says there all mistakes because UFOs can't possible exist.

Consider two versions of an impressive UFO case: The version reported by the two reputable witnesses who experienced it and that offered by debunker Klass (who is not a scientist but a technical writer for a magazine).

On the night of October 18, 1973, a US army helicopter with a four-man crew reported a terrifying encounter with a UFO. Here's the version:

The pilot, Capt. Lawrence J. Coyne, corroborated by his crew, said that as the helicopter flew near Mansfield, Ohio in clear weather, an object which shone with a red light hurtled toward them on a collision course. Capt. Coyne took evasive action and threw his craft into a steep dive.

Then the crew saw what they called a UFO hover above them. They described it in considerable detail and later drew a sketch of it. They estimated it to be 50 to 60 feet in length.

Here is part of Capt. Coyne's verbatim description of the UFO: "The front edge had a bright red light on it . . . You could delineate where the overhang jutted out a gray metallic structure began. . . "You could also see a red reflection off the gray metallic structure."

Another crew member said: "It had a steady red light on its nose. It was cigar-shaped and had this green light shining down . . . No noise from it."

Asked by an investigator if the outline of the UFO was fuzzy or sharp, they replied: "Distinct! Because you had stars united and it was dark. You could see the ground and with the stars are you could actually see the outline."

The crew members agreed that the UFO hovered over the helicopter, moving very slowly back and forth, as though examining it. "Almost like to see what we were," said one of the crew.)

All agreed that the UFO appeared to be metallic, was cigar-shaped, had a red light on the front and a green light emitted from the rear.

Another unusual feature of the case is that though Capt. Coyne had thrown the helicopter into a steep dive to avoid the anticipated mid-air collision his altimeter showed that the helicopter actually had risen more than 2,000 feet — as though the UFO had sucked the craft upward.

All witnesses agreed that the UFO, which had been hovering, suddenly streaked away at tremendous speed.

An official of the Federal Aviation Administration, asked to rate Capt. Coyne's credibility, said: "I have an extremely high regard for his integrity and his capabilities . . . I trust him without a question of a doubt."

And, of course, the three other crew members confirmed his story.

What does debunker Klass say about this case?

Well, remembering Rule One, which is that whatever something is, it isn't a UFO because they can't exist, Klass speculates that what the helicopter crew saw may have been a meteor which may have been as far as 150 miles away. The rest was their imagination.

Klass arrived at this non-explanation on the basis of telephone conversations with Capt. Coyne without bothering to fly the original route with him in the helicopter (as some other scientific UFO investigators did).

Klass admits he can't prove his theory but he doesn't have to; you've got to prove him wrong, he says.

Well, I think I'll write a book denying that man has walked on the moon. The whole scenario was a C.I.A. hoax staged in the Arizona desert somewhere.

Now just prove me wrong

Opening lead — K ♣

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

Most players would go down at four spades. The combination of the 4-1 trump break and ruffing diamond finesse will prove too much for them. Most experts would make the hand in spite of those bad breaks.

There is a back line of play available. The second club is ruffed, the queen of trumps is cashed followed by a low trump to dummy's 10. Then, since trumps have broken 4-1, the eight of diamonds is led for a finesse. It loses and a third club is led. If South ruffs he will go down, but South simply discards a heart.

Now he can ruff a fourth club in dummy, preserve trump control and make his contract. Note that the heart he discarded was a loser anyway; South just elected to lose his trick when he wanted.

Simple, isn't it. Now how did our friend the unlucky expert go down on that very line of play?

When he led the eight of diamonds and let it ride, West played his four spot. The unlucky expert wasting half of the East-West cards. He repeated the diamond finesse. This time it lost.

A third club was led and South checked that losing heart. Alert came a fourth club South ruffed in dummy. But East discarded his last diamond. South could not get to his hand to draw trumps!

Of course, South could have foiled this by playing just one round of trumps before attacking diamonds or he could have figured out that West was up to it and dropped the king. But experts are not infallible.

CARD SENSE

The bidding has been:

You, South, hold:
♠ K Q 9 3 ♥ A 3 ♦ K 4 ♣ A 9 8 7

What do you do now?

A — Bid four clubs. Your hand is worth a solid slam try.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You bid four clubs and your partner bids four diamonds. What do you do now?

Sunday and Monday Horoscopes

BERNICE BEDE OSOL

Sunday, May 4

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll have a few minor irritations to contend with today. They may amount to a hill of beans if you treat them philosophically.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A situation will arise where it may cost you a little cash up front before you see a return later. Be profit minded.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be sure your goals are in harmony with your friends. If not, make some adjustments so no one feels left out.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You have a tendency today to anticipate the outcome of events negatively. Fortunately, you'll be wrong on the important issues.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You'll be prim and by the book today. Trying to talk too much at this time to a friend who is not involved in a venture you share will unsettle you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) In any bargaining you do today let the other party do most of the selling. You'll get better terms.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Don't base major decisions today upon partial or hearsay information. Seek out the facts firsthand.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If you have any dealings of importance, you'll fare better toward late afternoon than in the early part of the day.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Lady Luck is trying to get to you either through a member of your family or a family contact. Don't shut her out.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Erase from your mind petty little worries relating to your work-they can be attended to later in the week. Relax. Let go.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) A chance remark by a friend will trigger your imagination. A profitable idea will result. Do something with it.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Though you will get off on the wrong foot today, things will work out when the final results are tallied.

Monday, May 5

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Things are working for your benefit today in a rather mysterious way. Let those you're closely associated with do the spadework.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're a big reluctant to impose upon a friend to help advance a personal interest. Don't be. This person will be glad to help.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Something important you're expecting to achieve is accomplished now if you'll exert the effort. Delay will lessen your chances.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You'll have more success today dealing directly with the top man than with subordinates. Don't go through intermediaries.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you hold firm to what you expect from a business arrangement you should be able to get the gains you hope for. Be patient.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be alert or you may be taken advantage of in a small, annoying way. However, chances are you'll spot and correct it in time.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) This should be a profitable productive time for you. Constructive ideas you have are about to be harvested.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're very capable at managing things today—with the exception of your checkbook. Don't cater to an expensive whim!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) A good day for that serious discussion with your mate you've been putting off about some changes around the house.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You'll have reason to feel that you've been dubious about what work out fine when you put it to the test today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 19) Your material prospects look very encouraging, especially through involvements you have with persons such as profiled you previously.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your best results will come now if you don't circumvent issues. If you have a point to make, hammer it home.

Heart Transplant Survivor Dead

TORONTO (CP) — Six years, five months and two weeks after "borrowed time" ended Friday for Claude Johnston, a resident of Toronto.

Considered the longest-surviving male heart transplant patient in the world, Mr. Johnston was admitted to St. Michael's Hospital Wednesday. He died as a result of lung complications.

The function of his transplanted heart was excellent up to the time of death," the hospital said in a statement.

It was in St. Michael's that Mr. Johnston received a new heart, donated by the family of an 18-year-old accident victim on Nov. 27, 1968.

The operation was conducted by a team of more than 30 doctors and nurses.

Mr. Johnston, who has willed his body to science, suffered his first heart attack about 18 years ago. A second attack eight years later forced his retirement.

From that time until his transplant, his health deteriorated until he was constantly in and out of hospital with a rapidly diminishing life expectancy.

Mr. Johnston, one of 27 persons given heart transplants in Canada between May 31, 1968, and Dec. 30, 1971, was the last surviving heart-transplant patient in the country.

Pay Increased

OTTAWA (CP) — The money provided annually by the government to pay staff at MPs' constituency offices has been increased to $7,200 from $6,000, Commons Clerk Alistair Fraser said Friday the increase took effect last month following a decision by the Commons commission of internal economy. He said the increase was made to reflect pay boosts for Ottawa staff performing similar tasks. The constituency office payments begin about 18 months ago.

Uranium Deal Set

TORONTO (CP) — Rio Algom Ltd. announced Friday that Washington Public Power Supply System has agreed to purchase one million pounds of uranium oxide from Rio Algom's Elliot Lake properties in Ontario, subject to government approval. The sale would be for each between 115 and 120 million. Under a separate agreement with Eldorado Nuclear Ltd., a Canadian Crown corporation, the material will be refined at Eldorado's Port Hope refinery before shipment to the United States.

Coins Are Phoney

OTTAWA (CP) — Postmaster General Bryce Mackasey said Friday that a counterfeit ring is manufacturing and selling phony Olympic gold coins in Europe. He told Otto Jelinek (PC-High Park-Humber Valley) in the Commons that European police officials are co-operating with the RCMP in the investigation. Mr. Mackasey said he does not think counterfeit coins are being sold in Canada, but he advised that Canadians buy the coins "from authorized dealers such as chartered banks and other reputable firms."

Lawn Job Slowdown Advocated

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP) — Premier William Davis said Friday that Canadians are living beyond their means and unless they accept that fact soon, severe difficulties lie ahead.

During a day of activity which included announcement of the existence of a new Progressive Conservative policy committee, Mr. Davis told the Sudbury riding Progressive Conservative association that the economy cannot continue at its current pace. In many industries, he added, continued growth is unattainable.

Law to Change

OTTAWA (CP) — The government will introduce new federal bankruptcy legislation Monday, drawing together existing bankruptcy rules from several federal statutes, Corporate Affairs Minister Andre Ouellet indicated Friday. The legislation will draw on conclusions from a 1970 report on bankruptcy and insolvency legislation, but the government will leave administration of bankruptcies and commercial arrangements in the hands of private trustees.

Council to Protest Restaurant Ban

Highway 401 Speeds Cut

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP) — Niagara regional council will ask the provincial government for legislation which will prohibit restaurants from banning seeing-eye dogs.

Council is supporting one of its members, Trevor Morgan, a St. Catharines lawyer and former MP who is partially blind.

Mr. Morgan said Friday he had been denied entry with his seeing-eye dog at a number of restaurants.

"I take exception to being considered a social problem," he said. "But with the situation the way it is now it becomes a financial nuisance. Its frustrating."

REBELLION GOOD THING

On Jan. 30, 1797, Thomas Jefferson told James Madison "a little rebellion now and then is a good thing.

TORONTO (CP) — Reduced speeds and resulting headaches are forecast for the rest of this year as an 8.8-million widening program for a section of Highway 401 west of Toronto is carried out.

Speed limit on the 8.5-mile section, between Highway 427 and a point west of the High way 10 interchange, was cut to 50 m.p.h. this week from the normal 70 m.p.h. The slow down with construction work already under way at Dixie Road, has produced traffic jams of monumental proportions.

Casson Says Art World Chaotic

WOODSTOCK, Ont. (CP) — The art world is in absolute chaos today, A. J. Casson, the last surviving member of the Group of Seven artists, said Friday.

Mr. Casson said the artistic chaos is the result of the proliferation of art galleries and the tendency of some people to look on art as an investment opportunity.

He said the art world was different in the 1920s when he was the youngest member of the Group of Seven. Then there were few established galleries and "the critics counted for nothing."

"If you were going to make it then you had to make it on your own," he said.

Mr. Casson was here to open an exhibition of paintings by his late friends J. S. Hallam and L. A. C. Panton, contemporaries of the Group of Seven but not members.

Mr. Casson, 77, said the only purpose of the Group of Seven was to "get Canadian painters to paint Canada as Canadians rather than as Europeans."

However, most art critics were not impressed by the goals of the group, he recalled.

The Group of Seven was noted primarily for its paintings of people and places of Canada's north. Mr. Casson said that for many people in the 1920s the far north was Muskoka.

Most of the group's work was done in the area of Algonquin Park and farther north.

Mr. Casson said that despite the profusion of galleries and artists today the highest prices paid at art auctions are usually paid for works of the Group of Seven.

Mr. Casson still paints, although he does not travel at times in the north as he would like to. He said he paints in many of the small villages around Ontario.

Baby Blue Movies Out

TORONTO (CP) — CITY-TV, creator of the Baby Blue Movie, announced Friday it has cancelled the program because the product was hard to come by and we were not enjoying it any more."

The weekly erotic movie had put Channel 79 on the television map on Sept. 29, 1972—the day after the station went on the air.

During its early days, the controversial program showed a number of films the station called erotic classics, including I Am Curious (Yellow), I Am Curious (Blue), Loving Couples and Camille 2000.

Plant 70 Years Old

This Rex Begonia was started 70 years ago from a leaf obtained from another plant by the mother of Bessie Hollinger, seated, and her sister, Mrs. William Fitchett, standing. The plant was at its peak in 1930 with leaves as big as dinner plates. It is in the Fitchett home in Stirling.

Stirling Family Owns Begonia 70 Years Old

By CHRIS ALMEY
Staff Correspondent

STIRLING — Long before William Fitchett went overseas in World War One a Rex Begonia was started by his mother-in-law-to-be, Mrs. James Hollinger, of Fuller, in 1905. Now, Mr. and Mrs. Fitchett and Mrs. Fitchett's sister, Bessie Hollinger, all of 98 Mill St., Stirling, still have this magnificent plant in their home. 70 years after it was started. It is not known how old the plant was from which the leaf was obtained to start this remarkable beauty.

A snapshot taken in 1930 when the Rex Begonia was at its peak reveals leaves as large as dinner plates. The leaves have a dark green centre, a band of pale green, and then the edges are trimmed with the same dark green. The plant has been repotted three times in 70 years, and its largest leaf at present is about eight inches long.

Margaret and her husband William have had the plant with them since 1920 when they farmed on the fifth concession of Rawdon. Another sister of Bessie and Margaret, Mrs. Herbert Burke of Fuller, who was confined to a wheelchair for 13 years, made the attractive stand the plant sits upon.

Mrs. Burke with a board across the arms of the wheelchair, would break up pieces of broken colored China, mirrors, and fancy buttons. Then she would set them in putty on the old grain binder roller which is the shaft of the stand.

UN Orders Firms Stop Taking Namibia Wealth

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — The United Nations, in a decree from its Commissioner for Namibia, has told foreign companies to stop taking natural resources out of South West Africa without UN authorization.

The order was made available to reporters Sunday by delegates to the 34-country Commonwealth summit conference.

MacBride, UN commissioner for Namibia and winner of last year's Isobel Peace Prize, is reported to have sent the order to Canadian, British, U.S. and South African companies with interests in the African territory.

In addition to banning prospecting or export of any natural resources from South West Africa, also known as Namibia, the UN decree declared that any rights, concessions or licences granted by South Africa are void.

The order warned that any vehicle, ship or container found carrying resources from South West Africa "shall also be subject to seizure and forfeiture."

South West Africa, a scrub-covered plateau on the Atlantic coast north of South Africa, has rich deposits of diamonds and other minerals.

The United Nations has sought for years to wrest the territory away from South Africa, which has administered it since the First World War.

MacBride's order was seen by delegates at the meeting here as a move to reinforce pressures being mounted by Commonwealth countries on the South Africans to concede self-determination to South West Africa.

The Commonwealth conference ends Tuesday.

Montreal Dockers Vote to Remain Idle

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal longshoremen Sunday voted to remain off the job following two separate meetings with members of the union executive.

Leo Taylor, president of the Montreal checkers' local of the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA), said the men decided "on their own volition" not to return despite back-to-work legislation passed by the Commons April 29.

The union executive "didn't recommend anything to them," Mr. Taylor said. "We just read them the law."

"The men want to wait for the results of court hearings being held this week," he said.

"The ILA filed an action in Quebec Superior Court last week challenging the federal government on the grounds that the back-to-work order was illegal and unconstitutional.

Last Thursday the federal government asked Quebec Superior Court to order the longshoremen back to work. On the same day, the ILA asked the court not to issue an injunction since it claimed Quebec Superior Court constitutionally does not have such authority.

Court hearings are scheduled for Thursday, Mr. Taylor said.

Most Stores Answering Questionnaires Vote to Stay Open All Day Wednesday

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

A survey of downtown businesses has shown the majority in favor of uniform store hours, says Gerry O'Shaughnessy, president of the Downtown Business Association.

Of 51 stores which replied to the association questionnaire, 40 (more than 78 per cent) voted in favor of Wednesday afternoon opening.

The membership was split on Thursday night opening with 42 percent for opening and 38 per cent against.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy said "while 20 replies is not a large percentage of the questionnaires it does represent a large cross-section of the businessmen".

Questionnaires were delivered to every type of business in the downtown area — many going to professional people who already have a standard operating schedule and did not reply to the downtown survey.

"The 78 per cent in favor of Wednesday afternoons, represents a strong majority of the businesses such uniform shopping hours would affect," said Mr. O'Shaughnessy.

He said the association will follow the survey results to determine the best way of implementing a change to uniformity.

U.S. Reduces Size Of Thailand Force

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The United States said today it will remove more than one-quarter of its troops stationed in Thailand during the next two months, the first step toward total military withdrawal from Southeast Asia.

The announcement, made jointly by the Thai and U.S. governments, said that of 27,000 U.S. troops will be cut 28 per cent to 19,500. The announcement did not say how many of the 350 U.S. military planes remaining from the armada that bombed Cambodia and North and South Vietnam will be allowed to remain.

The fall of the South Vietnamese government last week prompted some left and centre US government officials to demand that the government "drive out the Americans as soon as possible."

The U.S. has no status of forces agreement with Thailand, its oldest Asian ally, and bases its presence on old agreements between former administrations.

Meanwhile, in New York, Time and Newsweek magazines reported killings in Cambodia. Newsweek said U.S. intelligence intercepted radio orders from the Cambodian regime calling for the execution of thousands of supporters of the defeated Lon Nol government.

"Thousands have already been executed," the magazine quoted a U.S. official as saying.

Time said in high-ranking officers of the defeated Cambodian army have been executed by the new Khmer Rouge government. It said its report was based on information in a private conversation between President Ford and a group of Republican leaders.

Ford was reported to have said: "They killed the wives, too. They said the wives were just the same as the husbands. This is a horrible thing to report to you, but we are certain that our sources are accurate."

In other Indochina developments:

— former Duong Van (Big) Minh was released from custody along with 9 other government figures by the new government in Saigon. Liberation Radio announced in a broadcast monitored in Bangkok. Report quoted Minh as saying: "I am happy to become a citizen of an independent Vietnam."

—Associated Press writer Daniel DeLuce reported from Hanoi that 2,500 Vietnamese Roman Catholics attended early-morning mass at Hanoi Cathedral on their first Sunday of peace in a generation.

The Chicago Tribune reported that Graham Martin, U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam, withheld information from officials in Washington and failed to disclose evacuation plans soon enough for military personnel to leave Saigon in an orderly manner. In today's editions, the newspaper quotes an embassy source from the U.S.S. Okinawa to which evacuees from South Vietnam were flown.

The island of Guam was expected to be jammed by Wednesday with as many as 30,000 refugees, 15,000 more than anticipated. Admiral George Morrison said. The commander of the Pacific Fleet said the evacuation airlift will step up its pace from 4,000 every 24 hours to 6,000.

The refugees were being sent to Camp Pendleton, Calif., Elgin Air Force Base in Florida and Fort Chaffee, Ark.

Some 4,400 refugees arrived in Hong Kong Sunday aboard the Danish freighter Clara Maersk after being removed from their sinking ship in the South China Sea. Friday. Officials said they will be allowed to stay while countries that would receive them as immigrants were found.

Kissinger Will Watch Red Rulers

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Henry Kissinger said the U.S. will watch the actions of the new Communist regime in Saigon before deciding whether to recognize it diplomatically.

"We now have to see what the conduct of this government is internationally and particularly domestically," Kissinger said in an interview today on NBC's Today show.

"For example, we know that in Cambodia, very tragic and inhuman and impoverished things are going on," Kissinger said. "We don't regret not having recognized Cambodia immediately."

Kissinger also said he doubts that Hanoi would have staged its successful military drive on Saigon if Watergate had not sapped presidential power and Congress had not passed the War Powers Act.

"In January '73 we did not foresee that Watergate would sap the executive authority of the United States to such a degree that flexibility of executive action inherently would be circumscribed," Kissinger said.

"We did not foresee that the Congress would pass a law which prohibited us from enforcing the Paris agreement and while we probably might have done nothing anyway it makes a lot of difference to Hanoi whether it thinks the United States probably will act or whether it thinks that we certainly cannot," Kissinger said.

Thieu, Not U.S., Blamed by Ky

AGANA, Guam (AP) — The United States has no blame for the fall of South Vietnam, says Nguyen Cao Ky, former premier and vice-president of the defeated Saigon regime.

"Concerning America, and the American people, in the last 10 years, you did a lot for us, and I appreciate it," Ky said shortly after arriving here. "Unfortunately, we could not be brave enough to overthrow Mr. Thieu (the former president of South Vietnam)."

Ky said he actively plotted to overthrow of Thieu to install either himself or the head of the National Assembly as the president.

"What we needed was new military leaders—we were not successful in doing that," the Air Marshal said.

"Then and his people were so corrupted and so incapable; it was like the story of the fallen angels."

Ky said he hopes eventually to become a private citizen in the United States. He had been aboard the USS Blue Ridge after leaving South Vietnam by helicopter. He arrived here from the Philippines.

Economic Reform Plan to Be Drafted

KINGSTON (CP) — Commonwealth delegates have agreed to recommend that 10 of the 33 countries in the organization be asked to participate in a group which will consider various proposals for reform of the world economic order.

Sources said Sunday that the committee is almost certain to include a Canadian and probably will accept Prime Minister Trudeau's invitation to meet in Ottawa.

The figure of 10 was agreed to in weekend meetings by officials of various countries who negotiated while their leaders were relaxing at Montego Bay at the other end of the island.

The leaders will be asked to approve the terms of reference today or Tuesday.

Under the terms of reference the group will be asked to produce an interim report in time for the Commonwealth finance ministers conference in Georgetown, Guyana, in the fall.

If all goes well, the finance ministers could come up with a comprehensive plan the Commonwealth leaders could take to the special session of the UN General Assembly that is scheduled for a new world economic order later in the fall.

News Briefs

Pay Limits Planned

TORONTO (CP) — The Star says it has learned the federal government is proposing that wage and salary increases over the next year be limited to 12 per cent or $2,400, whichever is less. Companies would be taxed, the newspaper says, to restrict price increases to "amounts sufficient to cover increases in costs."

Food Situation Critical

GENEVA (Reuter) — United Nations Secretary General Kurt Waldheim warned today that the world food situation is critical for 400 million people, half of them children. "Unless action is taken, many will die," he told delegates from more than 50 developed and developing countries.

Reserves Regained

WASHINGTON (AP) — The world's industrialized countries have regained most of the monetary reserves they had lost since the four-fold increase in the price of world oil, the International Monetary Fund (IMF) reported Sunday. The development appeared to end fears, at least temporarily, that the oil importing industrialized world would be bankrupted by the high cost of oil imports.

Montrealers Get Mail

MONTREAL (CP)—Residents of the Montreal area received mail today as all post office workers returned to their jobs. "For the last few days at least we expect things will go ahead normally," said post office spokesman Jacques Pilleau.

Press Said NDP Foe

NEW LISKEARD, Ont. (CP) — Bud Germa, New Democratic Party member of the Ontario legislature for Sudbury, says the press is the NDP's most dangerous enemy. "The press is our most insidious enemy," he said Sunday.

Driver Escaped Before Collision

The driver of this late model car, Richard Allan McCumber, 176 Caldwell St., Carleton Place, escaped injury Sunday night when he abandoned his car seconds before a Canadian Pacific freight train collided with it near White's Rockpile Bayside. The vehicle was left on the tracks. The train drove the car about one-half mile before it stopped. Belleville OPP, investigating the accident, said there were no injuries and no charges in the mishap. The west-bound CP train was in charge of engineer Alex F. Wray, from Scarborough.

Dig This!

Timmy Struthers and Duane Itch prepare to plant tree seedlings at the Macaulay Mountain Conservation site in conjunction with Trees Canada Project.

About 100 cubs and boy scouts from Prince Edward planted 2,000 seedlings on Prince Edward Region Conservation property on Saturday.

Trees Planted by Thousands

Boy Scouts, Cubs and Beavers from the Quinte area travelled to the Gale property 19 miles north east of Road Saturday planting Trees for Canada. The boys, with assistance from the provincial ministry of natural resources, planted the seedlings as a conservation gesture and also as a way to raise funds for the local scouting movement.

Big Day for Trees!

READ — More than 600 cubs and scouts planted nearly 30,000 trees Saturday on the farm of John Gales, a few miles northeast of this community.

The trees, about three-year-old, were a variety of pulpwood, white spruce, white pine and red pine. About nine hundred left Belleville early Saturday morning. The official ceremony saw Tyendinaga township reeve Leonard Walsh plant the official tree of the day around 12.30 p.m.

Trees for Canada chairman Fred Moon presented an appreciation plaque to Mr. and Mrs. John Gale on behalf of the Belleville scouting movement. Belleville RCMP officer Jim Roses was on hand for the ceremonies.

Ken Caulfe, treasurer of the Belleville Boy Scouts, was on the site with the Royal Bank van and with his staff figured out the pledge cards. The pledges of this plant-a-thon will be collected May 10 at St. Thomas Parish Hall.

District commissioner Bill Bairstow Heads Play

Bairstow Heads Play

Loyalist College theatre arts director Ted Bairstow will bring a production of the Moss Hart-George Kaufman comedy You Can't Take It With You into Napanee's Lennox Theatre on May 7 for eight performances.

Williams said he was pleased with the turnout. On May 19 the cubs and Beavers of Sir James Whitney School will be planting some 500 trees at the Edgehill Road Park.

The money raised during the plant-a-thons will be used to send cubs and scouts to jamborees.

Mortgage Funding Tight

Unless you've got a nice bit of savings or stashing more than $20,000 a year, this spring will be a tough time to buy a home, says Quinte District Real Estate Board president Phil Bennett.

This last Thursday mortgage rates went up with money now selling for an average of 11 per cent. "And that's if you can get it at all," said Mr. Bennett.

Some banks are still making mortgage agreements but Victoria and Grey Trust company — the city's largest housing lender — has no funds at all for mortgages, Cecil Brown, V. and G. manager said Friday.

"We're up to our limit and will have to wait until money starts coming back in," said Mr. Brown during an interview with The Intelligencer.

"I don't want to sound like the voice of doom," said Mr. Bennett. "There are twice as many houses on the market this year than there were at the same time last year — but business is spotty," he said.

Mr. Bennett said while mortgages money is tight from the traditional lending institutions, he suggested current home owners might take back second mortgages on the sale.

With the vendor willing to take a second mortgage, it can reduce the downpayment needed on the property making it easier to sell, he said.

"Second mortgages would also be a good investment for the current owner," said Mr. Bennett.

Asked for a general comment on market conditions, Mr. Bennett said "it certainly isn't a seller's market."

If a salesman with a broker's licence wanted to go out on his own today, I would strongly advise him against it," said Mr. Bennett.

Stolen Car Hits Another

A Tweedsmuir man was arrested and charged with auto theft by city police Sunday morning less than half an hour after a car was taken from the 16 Alexander St. residence of Frederick Peel.

Charged with auto theft is Douglas Graham McFaden, 19, of Tweedsmuir and formerly of Belleville.

City police chief Douglas Crombie said a car was taken from the Peel residence at approximately 2:10 a.m. Sunday. When the thief backed down the driveway, the Peel vehicle struck a car parked on the opposite side of the road and then was driven away.

Chief Crombie said the arrest came 20 minutes after the Peel vehicle was reported stolen, when it was spotted on Sidney St.

Approximately 150 damage was done to the parked car owned by Forward Gardens resident John Edward Dickson, the chief said.

V-E Day's 30th Anniversary

The Belleville Veterans Council held its annual church parade Sunday to commemorate the 30th anniversary of the Victory in Europe and the Battle of the Atlantic. Council chairman Howard Kalmak and Rev. Jack Morrison are chat over sandwiches served by Nursing Sister Dorothy Howes at a 4th Wing, RCAF reception following the parade.

Telescope Tops

A grade 13 student at North Hastings High School in Bancroft, Richard Fogg walked off with the top honors at the 1978 Scienscope held in Bancroft on Friday and Saturday. Richard's display involved a handmade machine for the grinding of mirrors and lens for use in his homemade telescope.

Pipers Lead Parade To Picton Cenotaph

PICTON — The Bay of Quinte Lodge, No. 148, IOOF, Sunday held its annual church joined by members of the Macphadeh and Bay of Quinte Canton. Also in attendance were members of the women's auxiliary: LAPM, Belleville.

Led by the Brighton Legion Pipe Band lodge members paraded through Main Street to the Picton Salvation Army Citadel where a special service was conducted by Captain Colin Lewery.

At the close of morning worship, the parade reformed and marched to the Cenotaph where a memorial wreath was placed by veterans Morden Walker of Milford and Abe Meyerck of Wellington.

The Last Post and Reveille were sounded by bugler Creighton Lockyer of Picton.

Because of Sunday's rains, plot in Glenwood Cemetery was not visited as usual, but a brief "in memoriam" service was held at the Picton IOOF Hall.

Wreaths from the Old Fellows, Rebekahs and The Encampment were placed.

A luncheon later was served to approximately 85 persons attending the memorial services.

Thieves Take 30 Tires

City police today reported the theft of 30 tires valued at approximately $1,700 from the Rescher Ave. warehouse of Independent Tire Sales.

Chief Douglas Crombie said thieves pushed aside a door leading the pick on the front door sometime Friday night or Saturday. There were no burglar alarms in the building.

June 26 Predicted

Election Preparations Under Way

The wheels of provincial election machinery started turning in Belleville this weekend for the first time since the last provincial election in 1971.

Quinte riding returning officer Gerry Joyce said during an interview with The Intelligencer Saturday: "There's only one person who can set an election date but we've been told to get everything ready."

By tradition, the fourth year of office brings an election in Ontario though the party power can wait until the 25th and final year. Observers of the political scene have been kicking dates around for an election and the Quinte riding's returning officer is no exception.

"My personal guess is June 26," said Mr. Joyce.

With the federal government called its general election last July, most provincial experts tend to believe the Ontario contest will come in June or be stalled until the fall.

"There's no way a election will be called in the summer," said Mr. Joyce.

In recent weeks, returning officers from across the province have begun to hold seminars for instructional sessions to brush up on any recent amendments to election regulations and some substantial changes in election forms and paperwork detail. Mr. Joyce underwent the training session Friday.

This weekend he began the task of recruiting the polling sub divisions that make up the Quinte riding — by distributing the subdivisions to bring an average of 350 voters to each poll."

The Quinte riding, made up of 124 polling subdivisions, includes the municipalities of Belleville, Trenton and Frankford and the township of Sidney.

Mr. Joyce said he will also be contacting the heads of the party hierarchies in the riding to advise them of candidate nomination papers and ask for assistance from the party for the offices of scrutineers, poll clerks and deputy returning officers.

"We were not given an actual procedure to follow the work completed by," said Mr. Joyce. "We just had to get it done and have a backlog of office profiles that could be rented when we get the phone call."

"We know the election will fall on a Thursday," said Mr. Joyce. "We just don't know which one."

Bancroft Hobby Fair Draws 100 Entries

BANCROFT — North Hastings Junior Science, trade and hobby exhibition Science Scope ended its two-day run on Saturday night and according to the organizing Lion's Club was "a complete success".

More than 100 local youngsters displayed science and hobby exhibits in an attempt to win one of the coveted prizes.

Top honors in the science awards went to Richard Fogg of North Hastings High who built his own lens and mirror grinding equipment to assist his homemade telescope.

Three other winners from the senior elementary level were also winners of major awards.

Bill Ralph of North Hastings High received top honors for his designed the home of the future which, he feels, will be heated by solar energy.

The effort that paid off — the effort that shut, condensated drinks have on plant life and animal life. Bangor showed the effect that various utilities will have on the microscopic animal paramecium.

The four top winners will be sent by the local Lion's Club to compete in the Canada Wide Science Fair in Sherbrooke Quebec on May 27.

An old time fiddling contest held at Saturday night was won by Bruce Osborne of Peterborough.

Vietnam May Emerge as Both Marxist and Nationalist—like Yugoslavia

By JOHN D. HARRISON

Foreign Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

There are two far Marxist states in Southeast Asia today, one in the West and the other in the East. The West one is Cambodia. There, as Cambodia's ruler, Prince Sihanouk, the Democratic People's Republic of Kampuchea as a communist Marxist state and the East one is Vietnam, Marxist-inspired in Hanoi.

In a parade of events, not unlikely, in the Vietnamese in their history, a foreign political and philosophical influence will attempt to hold sway over the persistent indigenous structure of this new array of Indo-Chinese states.

The chances are they will emerge in the years ahead as persistently Vietnamese as in the past, while acknowledging the Marxist power.

The Khmer Rouge who now rule in Cambodia remind us of the great medieval Hindu kingdom of the Khmers which extended and for a time dominated the Assamese Empire based at Hue, still called the imperial city.

The treasure of the Khmer dynasty is the temple of Angkor Wat, whose mixed architectural style reflecting Hindu and Chinese influence reminds us of the close contact—ally and foe of Islam, and Chinese religious and political power in Indo-China.

The French, who finally ruled the region, all of it except the Kingdom of Siam, today's Thailand which was never conquered, ruled through local princes. The British did the same in nearby India. The old imperial empires were not all bad.

The French of course found the imperial city, so that part of the historic families of Indo-China as well as a broad base of the population, became Catholic and have remained so.

The ruling families once Buddhist, surrendered in part to Catholicism so that Vietnamese elite familiar to us by now from news, the Cy, Nguyen, Diem families, embraced Catholicism.

The Emperor Bao Dai ruled from Hue, when the partition took place in 1954, creating two entirely new Indo-Chinese states, North and South Vietnam.

An ancient empress still lives in that historic city, second only to Angkor Wat as a centre of Indochinese history and culture, not outright hostile to Communist safety by the now ruling Provisional Revolutionary Government of the Viet Cong.

All this is why the Chinese in the north will finally have to view the emergence of four self-willed Indochinese states as a potential menace to herself. The Chinese influence first through military conquerors like Chiang Kai-Shek and then religious through Buddhism is strong in the country.

And so is the Marxist one again through the support of the People's Republic of China.

The chances are good that the new regime in Saigon or Ho Chi Minh City will emerge as a kind of South East Asian Yugoslavia with a strong tendency to a nationalist form of Marxism.

One must remember too that the artificial division of the Geneva Agreements of 1954 into "north" and "south" Vietnam had its historic parallels. This must be borne in mind in any assessment of how long Vietnam will be "united" by Hanoi in the north and the new Viet Cong government in the south.

It may be a long time, for, since the separate cultures of Indo China have never been united in a single regional empire or kingdom throughout a long and colorful history.

Signs and Portents

Memories of those who have died for freedom are always appropriate, as witness the Vimy Ridge commemoration in Wellington, and the 30th anniversary celebrations of the end of the war in Italy where nearly 6,000 Canadian dead are buried.

But times are changing and while those who fought and died are always enshrined in our memories, we see little thought being given to the more alarming political signs of our time.

In Wellington, Prince Edward, Senator Hugh George Rees of the Battle of Vimy Ridge, but it should be acknowledged that today the "war" and the "enemy" are very language and Canadian thought is in the grip within men's minds. There is very real evidence that government policy, as well as the political content of much of the media today, reflects not what might be expected of a country that has fought two world wars for freedom, but rather the effects of what only can be described as brainwashing.

Brainwashing, that is, by Communist propaganda, and it is to be found in the programming of the CBC, in some of our newspapers, in the writings too of New Times, those theses whose work is reproduced in some newspapers in Canada, in the teachings of university academics who also filter into the high schools, and in he unremitting anti-American tone that characterizes much of the political commentary in this country.

In a recent letter to this newspaper, a reader referred in part to a "last ditch effort to adjust to a set of old values which are better off left behind. Given time, new values will replace them." The writer's concept of what these values should be was not enunciated. Rather he confined himself to the suggestion that what they might be "would depend on the efforts of the adults to our present society."

This is not to say new values would necessarily be of the kind proposed by potential enemies of the free world, yet it is significant that such a negation of the old order is a fact on Communist strategy.

Thus, "Naked Communist," a paper put before the U.S. Congress some years ago by a former Council officer, and quoted in part here recently, also offered this: "Infiltrate the churches and replace revealed religion with social religion." Discard the Bible and emphasize the need for intellectual maturity which does not need a 'religious crutch.'"

What does society say to this? What do our servants, organizations and politicians say to it? Are the Women's groups Unhappily, the silence too often is deafening.

People in Extremity

What do you say to a situation in our "fortunate" land in which a 27-year-old blind mother with three children, two of whom are partly blind, is threatened with eviction from her Ontario Housing Corporation townhouse because she owes $550 in overdue rent.

A Canadian Press picture of this family does not say in which city they live, or suggest what may become of them. Indeed it would be wrong to suppose they will be put out on the street without the housing corporation and municipal authorities taking some action or other to assist them.

It does, however, indicate the plight of some people in our society. Yet the mother, Agatha Huard, is a handsome well-groomed woman, and her children — one of whom Paul 6, is the eyes of the family — look well cared for.

It's just that . . . well, the rest of us have little to complain about, and not forgetting the many others who are in extremity of one kind or another.

Life's Ups and Downs

There is a touch of irony in some of the news from across the bay.

On the one hand, government benevolence, through the Local Initiatives Program, is extending to cemetery maintenance in Sophistiburg township. On the other we read of a brush with the next world in the form of a single car accident on Highway 7 which saw a car, leave the road, and the driver escape with cuts and bruises. At least, the driver, from some what far-away Hamilton, doesn't need a headstone just yet!

Another interesting piece of news from Prince Edward was the crop-dusting or seed planting of wheat fields initiative by two pilots of a Kincardine air service. This is a labor-saving idea of the kind pioneered in New Zealand and an interesting innovation in these parts.

An Idea Whose Time Has Come

Communist Subversive Practice

They are essentially the same as the principles of Communist subversion outlined in part in a paper issued by the Tass Intelligencer, quoting from a paper presented to the United States Congress by a former Council official. They appeared on this page originally in June 1970 in the course of a letter from a reader.

As pointed out by The Sun's Gordon Ford, they have made a lot of people in the Toronto area, at least, the point that they have been making copies. In substance, these examples of Communist strategy and strategy reflect warnings in this space in recent years.

Perhaps now, in the context of both domestic and foreign affairs at this time, they will have the kind of impact they deserve if Canadians are to see that the institutions and freedom are guarded adequately.

All last week, CFRB was bombarded by phone calls from listeners asking if newscaster Charles Dunning had reported an item he read on communism. The call came from Dunning that morning, at one could probably hear Dunning's comments, as follows:

"Last Tuesday at five o'clock I read an item which had been brought to my attention called The Communist Rules of Revolution.

The copy I had was clipped from the London, England Sunday Post of Oct. 6, 1974. But while it isn't new, there are apparently a great many people who haven't heard it before. I was flooded with phone calls and written requests for a copy of the article but I don't have copies to send out and so I have decided to repeat it.

In May of 1919 at Dusseldorf, Germany, the Allied Forces captured a copy of Rules of Communist Rules of Revolution. Here they follow:

Corrupt the young; get them away from religion. Get them interested in sex. Make them sceptical; ridicule all things sacred.

Divide the people into hostile groups by constantly harping on controversial matters of no importance.

Destroy the people's faith in their natural leaders by holding the latter up to contempt, ridicule and disgrace. Always preach true democracy, but insist power as fast and as ruthlessly as possible.

By encouraging government extravagance, destroy its credit, produce years of inflation with rising prices and general discontent.

Incite unnecessary strikes in vital industries, encourage civil disorders and foster a lenient and soft attitude on the part of government toward such offenders.

Cause breakdowns of the old moral virtues — honesty, sobriety — self-restraint — faith in the people, love of fatherhood.

Remember that came from Communist Rules of Revolution printed in 1919. Some of it may be far-fetched, true, but stop to think. How much of it is true in this country today. A bit frightening.

SIMON FORD.

People Are Staying Put During Recession Period

By VINCENT EGAN

Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

The month of May is traditionally moving time.

This year, however, many Canadians are staying put, unable to find suitably priced new housing or unwilling to cope with current mortgage rates.

Interest rates vary from place to place, but generally across Canada the rate is 10.5 per cent on mortgages, compared under the National Housing Act, and 10.75 per cent as conventional mortgages.

That's as low as they are likely to go during the current interest-rate cycle, according to one big lender.

W. P. Carter of Royal Bank of Canada says he expects all interest rates to begin rising again before year-end.

"With continuation of a high level of inflation, and notwithstanding higher interest rates, I believe there will be a continued strong demand for existing housing," he told a real-estate convention in Kamloops, B.C.

"On the other hand, the supply of new housing will be substantially below potential, and a shortage of housing accommodation is inevitable."

In looking back at the housing market in Canada last year or so, however, it becomes apparent that a shortage of housing accommodation doesn't necessarily mean a rush to buy houses.

There seems to be a psychological barrier when interest rates go above the 11 per cent market. As rates move higher in a tight-money situation, potential home-buyers drop out of the market. Selling prices, in turn, begin to decline.

In Ontario, the Land Speculation Tax has been in effect for the past year, with the aim of keeping real-estate prices steadily rising.

But the Act has had little or no effect in decreasing housing prices, in the view of Leonard Rosenfeld, president of Parfor Investments Ltd., Toronto-based mortgage brokers.

Mr. Rosenfeld predicts it has led to have been in raw land to be condemned. Price reductions have been negated by the federal government's action in raising interest rates as an anti-inflationary measure.

Potential mortgage borrowers are well advised, as always, to shop around for the lowest interest rate.

But don't concentrate on the interest rate to the exclusion of other borrowing costs. Certain trust and loan companies are blandly testing on an additional charge of up to three or even four per cent.

They describe it with some such term as "placement fee" — as if "placing" a loan were not an ordinary part of mortgage operations.

Example: You arrange a 50,000 uninsured 11 per cent first-mortgage loan. The lender charges a four per cent placement fee, and so you receive a net $48,000.

On that sum, your borrowing rate is close to 13 per cent—and you still have to repay the full $50,000.

Most mortgage lenders stay near to home. Relatively small amounts of funds available at any time, and a few have increased their lending rates while record short.

That makes it all the more important for borrowers to be on guard against questionable charges that could raise their costs still more.

LETTERS

Reader Is Unconvinced

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

Globe and Mail writer Gerald McAuliffe had a point when he wrote that the Liberal Senate lacked "investigative reporters". The editorial entitled "Politics of the 70s" showed a complete lack of it.

As usual, whenever Communism is mentioned, your editorialist missed the point. The point was that writers, critical of his original editorial suggesting that sex book stores were agents of "alien forces" argued the ire of those whose livelihoods have been insulted. Like the undressed, they were unable to associate any "alien forces", Communist or otherwise, with the sale of pornographic books.

However, your editorialist, in his blithe ignorance, says that part of Communist strategy is to "break morality by promoting pornography and liberally in books, magazines, motion pictures, radio and TV". Therefore, if he is right we don't have to go far for the alien forces. They are the local sex book stores all over the country, many of them members of their Chamber of Commerce.

They will be grateful I am sure to discover that the local newspaper editorially label them "alien forces". Perhaps, maybe, these book stores are the Communist agents, members of the Communist party or fellow travellers. Certainly, maybe, they are simply products of the free enterprise society, making a buck, however questionable it might be from a moral point of view.

Editorial onlookers are more likely to subscribe to the theory that it is a moral breakdown, far from being planned by the Communist stems right from the short-sighted or ignorant. Congratulations to the school teachers who wrote to you. They are the sort of people who are teaching our kids then maybe there is a hope that, just for a after all. I'd like to think my kid is in good hands. A question such rubbish.

WILLIAM C. HOCKLEY

Editor's note: Editorial outlook is not "reporting" per se, but comment supported by facts as we see them. Again, if intelligence has been "demonstrated" by actual evidence of Communist subversive practice in our homes? Pornography and related material and film projects are well, as does the practice for example, of catching diplomatic agents at the commissioning situations via alcohol and sex. The writer of the letter is referred to the Communist Rules of Revolution appearing elsewhere on this page; it sums bulk of such presumptuous, or if they fail to perceive their full implications, at the no more reason to fear for the direction of our, for the moment, democratic society. The "rules," incidentally, are not presented as insinuated in the last paragraph, but rather the "principles" they speculated them — in 1919.

Trenton Area Unemployment Double That of April 1974

By Al ZAHAS
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — Unemployment in the approximate 25 km. area of Trenton is double within a 10-mile radius of Trenton when compared to April last year, the employment manager for Canada Manpower here said.

The Trenton official said the April unemployment figures are down slightly from March totals, when the crest-Canada jobless rate stood at 8.8 per cent, up from 6.4 in March, 1974.

In the Trenton area, figures for the month of April indicate the unemployment rate stands at 16 per cent, up to per cent over last year.

Mr. Heshka said unemployment among construction workers is high (about 9-12 per cent of the total jobless) though requests for manpower are slowly coming in from the home building industry.

The 587 workers fall mostly in the unskilled categories.

Construction of the $3.75-million plaza in east-end Trenton has not influenced the jobless rate - among construction workers a great deal to date, Mr. Neshki said.

"They haven't used a lot of men in the straight labor category," he said. Most workers at the plaza job site are heavy equipment operators of block layers.

"Maybe half a dozen guys with a crane are doing the job of 30 men," he said. The picture should change, he predicted, when the interiors of stores are being built and then sales staff are needed.

Among Trenton-area construction workers, the jobless rate in March stood between nine and 9.5 percent, far lower than the unemployment picture across Canada. Statistics Canada reported a March jobless rate at 25.1 per cent, up from 17.1 per cent a year earlier.

Attempted Murder Charge Stems from Domestic Dispute

Charged in Frederick Reid Gish, 27, of 235 Wightman Ave. in Peterborough.

Trenton police Sgt. Gerry Clark was detained in the Quinte Regional Detention Centre overnight in default of a $1,000 bail bond today in a Trenton court.

Victim of the stabbing, Stephen Reid, 34, of 176 Water St. in Peterborough is listed in reading in the intensive care unit of Trenton Memorial Hospital in good condition. A hospital spokesman says a cast has been placed on Reid's left side, under the arm.

Town police say Reid was stabbed once in the chest with a knife during a domestic dispute at 230 Byron St., shortly before 1 p.m. Saturday. He was taken to hospital by ambulance.

Vandals Smash Windows

PICTON — Picton Police Chief Charles Fletcher today was investigating a case involving two men in some windows of a local hotel.

He said patrolling constable Ronald Rollin discovered the windows in question broken with rocks when checking on the store shortly after 5 a.m. Sunday.

Rollin said that a rear window of the Bank of Montreal also was broken by a rock the weekend.

In addition, the window of a Queen St. resident, Vivian Rydell was broken by a rock.

Potter Prefers Life in Lonsdale

By RON CARSON
Staff Reporter

LONSDALE — When potter Harlan House opens his month-long exhibition at Toronto this week he'll still get copies a few days — he's right on hand at Patty Doyle's Hotel at Lonsdale, about 20 miles north east of Belleville.

That's because the 31-year-old specialist potter, his wife, Maureen, and their two children, reside at the 150-year-old hotel. Each has a place because a home-made and a place patronized during these month-long exhibitions in Canada's major cities.

Harlan describes himself as one of the few porcelain potters in Canada who can make a living from this high specialized and fragile facet of the ceramic fields. He works exclusively in porcelain which now attracts as much as $250 for one piece.

The Toronto show, which opens May 6 at the Craft Gallery on Prince Arthur Ave., will feature about 75 pieces based on the theme of flowers. He has finished a Montreal exhibition April 20 sponsored by the Canadian Guild of Crafts.

Born in British Columbia, Harlan studied at the Alberta College of Art where he won numerous scholarships and awards for his work. He later taught at the college between 1969 and 1971. He currently has his work on exhibition at major craft galleries from Vancouver to Prince Edward Island.

He has also been commissioned by several large companies to design and create porcelain murals for offices and new buildings. He has also done commissioned work for the Alberta government and the Royal Bank of Canada. He contributed to the Canadian Pavilion at the Osaka World Fair in Japan.

Harlan is not for small talk about his work. "If the pieces themselves can't say what I'm trying to do then no amount of talking will explain it," he said. He keeps several pots on hand for visitors who pass by the hotel.

He describes himself as a traditionalist in the sense that porcelain pottery is a very old craft dating back to early Chinese civilization. He also uses a traditional glaze called celadon but has managed to develop a unique formula of his own. Porcelain differs from stoneware pottery in that it is very fine, fragile and extremely difficult to work with.

However, Harlan experiments with new techniques in porcelain said is certainly having some success. He has managed to design larger pieces of work that previously had not been accomplished in this field.

He describes the Canadian market for his work as limited. "Canadians are not yet used to porcelain . . . it will take some time," he added.

Harlan sells most of his work through exhibitions and galleries but he now reports he is starting to place some pots in stores for sale. "Right now, I couldn't handle any more work," said Harlan, who at the same time is renovating and restoring the hotel to somewhat its original flavor.

Lonsdale potter Harlan House, a specialist in porcelain pottery opens a month-long exhibition at Toronto this week. The 31-year-old artist lives with his wife and two children at the old hotel in this community about 20 miles north east of Belleville.

Mr. Gray, 14, waits his turn in show off goods during the Trenton and District Council Auction Saturday. Drifting his wedding auction, the Trenton Scout Council raised $1,200 that will be used to send nine boys to the world jamboree in Norway this summer.

Stirling Man Breaks Arm in Crash

SOPHIASBURG A Stirling area man Sunday afternoon was treated at Prince Edward County Memorial Hospital for a broken arm received in a two-car accident on a Sophiasburg Township road, four and a half miles west of Stirling.

Injured was Bryan Irish, 17, of RR 1 Stirling, a passenger in a car driven by John Stephens, 17, of Picton.

The accident occurred when the Stephens vehicle attempted to pass a car driven by Richard Carter, 20, of RR 4 Belleville. The Carter vehicle moved to the centre of the road and the Stephens car entered the ditch striking a mailbox and a hydro pole.

Damage in the Stephens car was estimated at $800.

Police say Carter has been charged with failure to move to the right when being overtaken.

Auction Assists Scouts for Trip

TRENTON One of the most successful Trenton Rotarict Council one-day fund raising events was held Saturday with the addition of 1,234 to the scout fund to send nine Trenton boys to Norway for the World Jamboree.

The auction at the farm of Bob Dalbec, west of Trenton, ended several weeks of work by action co-ordinator Shelly Douglas and donation pick-up co-ordinator Don MacKay.

District information officer Cecil Paul said Sunday the two were instrumental in making the auction a success. Items from puppies to electric stoves, were auctioned during the afternoon.

Money raised during the auction will be used to send nine Trenton Scouts to the 16th annual Scouts World Jamboree in Norway this summer. Additional funds will also be raised through a Trees for Canada program, instituted in Trenton for the first time this year.

Big as Four Football Fields

Huge New Steel Plant Transforms Countryside

By JOSEPH DUPUIS

HAMILTONE, Ont. (CP)—From the air, the huge, grid-like shape of excavation pit and jetting pylons appear misplaced in the gentle rural countryside.

To the south, 1½-miles away, lie the shallow waters of Lake Erie, its shoreline dotted with summer cottages, still battened down against the winter.

Many of them won't see an other summer. They are to be removed to make way for docks. Nanticoke itself, a sleepy village on the lake-shore 40 miles southwest of Hamilton, is slip-caught up in the swirl of a gigantic industrial development that is bringing explosive change to the area.

Giant earth-movers engulfed in their own dust race around and beyond the huge pit to dump fill into the lake for a mile-long bridge-causeway dock being built by Steel Co. of Canada Ltd. (Stelco)

The dock is a small part of the first phase of Stelco's $3-billion steelmaking facility and accompanying industrial park, covering an area larger than 10 square miles. The pit is the excavation for the new steel plant that is expected to be ready next year to start producing 1.3 million tons a year.

Stelco, largest steel-makers in Canada, are the major Hydro has built a big generating station nearby that by 1980 will be producing four million kilowatts of power, twice the output of Niagara Falls.

A stone's throw away is an other big development, the new Texaco Canada Ltd. refinery.

Stelco's project dwarfs these two and its planners have assumed leadership in easing the impact of a major industrial development on a pastoral area.

The steel plant will occupy 2,800 acres. Another 1,800 will be for light industry in a unique industrial park and about 350 will be set aside as green belt.

"We had to look at it from the point of view of how we were going to minimize the impact of a major industry moving into a rural area," said Alex Fisher, Stelco vice-president of engineering-planning and research.

Stelco hired consultants, worked long hours with local and provincial governments, and came up with a total package to protect the environment and fit the scheme into the landscape, a package that will absorb about 10 per cent of their total costs.

Major woodlot areas around the site were left untouched. They built an expensive bypass so their trucks wouldn't have to trundle through Nanticoke. Instead of a temporary straight construction road, they built a wide, paved highway that will eventually become a scenic drive.

Artificial hills 30 feet high, to be landscaped and treed, are strategically going up around the site. They will not only hide the plant from the main flow of traffic but will cut down on noise and act as a buffer against dust, as well as being restful to the eye. So far 30,000 trees and shrubs have been planted.

Mr. Fisher said the Lake Erie project marks the first time in Canada that a major corporation has taken "a total ecological approach to a greenfield development that goes far beyond the mere control of plant emissions."

Even the dock, which will take the entire city production of a new mine in Pennsylvania and supplies from Stelco's mine in Quebec, was changed to include a bridge over breaks in the causeway to permit unimpeded flow of water, fish and small boats.

At least 300 construction workers are on the site and this total will rise to about 2,000 by the end of the year.

About 7,500 workers will be needed for the projected start of steelmaking next year; another 7,500 will eventually find work with firms in the industrial park, which will include shopping malls, offices and recreational facilities.

Mr. Fisher estimated that up to 15,000 employees will be spread over the Stelco development by 1984. Another projection indicates 225,000 new residents for the area by 1985 to go with the current population of 85,000.

All this means total upheaval for towns and villages that have been content to earn their living through dairy farming and the growing of corn.

Ron Tipler, Stelco's community relations officer in the area, said he finds little resentment among the people.

Talk to people in the 10 towns and villages that range in size from 1,000 to 12,000—towns like Simcoe, Jarvis, Caledonia—and the sentiment is easy to categorize.

The young people are either strongly for or against the development.

The middle-aged look on the development as a god-send. They have seen families broken up as soon and daughters moved to Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, or Kitchener to seek jobs. Now, with jobs becoming available, in the thousands, they see an opportunity to keep their offspring home.

For older people, the new industrial age is not welcome. Many came here to retire or are natives who want their remaining years to be peaceful. If they live in Caledonia, a stroll across the pretty bridge in the middle of town is less pleasant than before.

Since the trucks came rumbling out of Hamilton bringing supplies to the construction sites, the bridge has become a noisy, traffic bottleneck.

To cope with the newcomers, the provincial government has purchased sites to establish two new cities.

One, on 12,000 acres, will be located in the Jarvis area on what is locally known as the Townsend site. By the year 2000, it is expected to house up to 200,000 people.

The second will be located about 19 miles east of Townsend, on the Grand River.

A boon to developers like Stelco has been the formation of regional government that amalgamated the towns and villages into the single unit of Haldiman-Norfolk.

"We were able to deal with only one government, rather than several county governments," said Mr. Tipler.

Provincial Status Is Urged for North

YELLOWKNIFE (CP) — The Northwest Territories must have provincial status before it can develop the kind of government it needs, says Marie Tremblay, 39, an adviser to two northern Eskimo groups.

Mrs. Tremblay, who describes herself as a "democratic" socialist, is currently keeping tabs on the Berger inquiry into the proposed Mackenzie Valley natural-gas pipeline for the Inuit Tapirisat (Eskimo Brotherhood) of Canada but also acts as a consultant to the Northern Quebec Inuit Association.

After six years of off-and-on living in the North while she acquired master's and doctoral degrees in political science and economics, she said she has concluded that the "limbo" state of the territorial government—that of a "colony" and not a province—is producing problems.

She said the federal government is pushing "capitalism-oriented" development projects into the North and the territorial government, because it can be overruled by the commissioner and Ottawa, cannot control development.

The people were fatalistic, although the last election revealed more interest on the part of natives—who make up two-thirds of the population of 40,000 and elected nine Native to the council of 15.

But there is no guarantee the territories would elect the kind of government favored by Mrs. Tremblay, if it had full provincial status, she said the traditional life-style of the natives is more socialistic than that of white society.

Mrs. Tremblay said in an interview that she hopes to bring to the North when she won a $10,000 grant from a for mentally disturbed boys and a drug-addicted girl therapist. She was married at 19 and divorced at 23.

Mrs. Tremblay said the question of native land claims, on which she advises the Eskimo groups, must be settled before the North will know where it's going. The possibility of developing new institutions in the North hinged on the land-claims issue.

THE CORPORATION OF THE CITY OF BELLEVILLE PROCLAMATION
To call the attention of the public to communication disorders, and to services available to the 250,000 Canadians who suffer from them, the observance of Hearing and Speech Month is sponsored each May by the Canadian Hearing Society and the Quinte Club of the Deaf.
This observance encourages and stimulates early detection of communication disabilities and rehabilitation of handicapped individuals to allow full use of their potential and abilities.
To promote this effort, I, as Mayor of Belleville, hereby designate the week of May 5th to May 10th as Deaf Awareness Week, I urge all citizens to take this opportunity to become knowledgeable about hearing and speech problems and their treatment. I encourage community agencies and volunteer groups to help inform the public about these disorders of communicative ability.
Finally, I salute the Quinte Club of the Deaf for its fine service to the community.

Whitlam Wants Aid To Vietnam

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — A Vietnamese minister Gough Whitlam Sunday called on nations that fought in Indochina to join in a creative program of reconstruction and reconstruction in that region.

Whitlam told a news conference that Australia, which he described as one of "the guilty countries" that participated in the Vietnamese "civil war," already has begun involving itself aid.

The Australian prime minister, who is attending the Commonwealth summit here, flies to Washington Wednesday for talks with President Ford and State Secretary Henry Kissinger.

Whitlam issued his appeal after being asked if he believes that nations that fought in Vietnam, such as the United States, feel an obligation to help in rebuilding Vietnam.

He replied that Australia has such an obligation "and we have gun shelling it—and he thinks others should do the same, preferably through international organizations."

Whitlam's aides said later he intended repeating his call in a major speech he will make in Washington, and will raise the matter in his talks with Ford and Kissinger.

Firemen Hurt

TORONTO (CP) — Four firefighters were injured Sunday night battling a shopping-centre fire that destroyed several stores and killed about 40 animals in a pet shop.

The fire, which broke out in the Newtonbrook Plaza in North York borough, spread to a total of seven stores although some were damaged only by water and smoke.

Wants Review

KENORA, Ont. (CP) — Ontario Opposition Leader Robert Nixon said Saturday that he would empower the Ontario Energy Board to review gas and oil prices if the Liberal Party is elected in the next provincial election.

The Liberal leader told about 120 people here that a Liberal government would also order oil and gasoline prices to be reduced if higher prices could not be justified.

Brantford Wins

CAMBRIDGE, Ont. (CP) — Brantford's North Park collegiate was the original-produce section category Saturday in the annual Canadian Co-op Art Play Festival sponsored by Canada collegiates.

Guerrilla Dies

STUTTGART (Reuter) — The death toll in the siege of the West German embassy in Stockholm late last month rose to four Sunday with the death of one of the captured guerrillas.

A police official said Siegfried Hausner, 31, died in hospital after suffering burns and head injuries in the siege, during which guerrillas blew up the embassy. Four other West German guerrillas flown back from Sweden are awaiting trial.

Dangerous Reaction

London (Reuter) — The breakfast combination of coffee and bacon might produce a cancer-forming agent in the bacon, two British scientists say.

In a report in the science journal Nature, the London University scientists say a combination of coffee might be responsible for converting preservatives in cheese, corned beef, ham and other pork products into cancer-causing agents.

Dr. Brian Challis and Chris Bartlett of Imperial College, whose work is supported by the British cancer research campaign and the Science Research Council, have been conducting food experiments.

They say that in tests, chemical acid, a major constituent of coffee, interacts with nitrate preservatives put into pork, and other foods to prevent food poisoning, to produce nitroso-pyrrolidine, one of the most powerful cancer-causing agents known.

Priests Plan Fast

TORONTO (CP) — Six Roman Catholic priests say they plan to begin a hunger strike 40 day to obtain a federal cabinet inquiries for condemned killer Rene Vaillancourt.

The priests, members of the city's Holy Cross Fathers order, said they will fast outside Toronto's Don Jail—scene of Vaillancourt's incarceration—until the cabinet meets Thursday to make its decision.

Stops Bullet

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP) — Mrs. William Christian became the unlikely rival of the comic book hero that stops speeding bullets.

"I was talking to my husband when I heard a whistling, burning sound; then I had in my stomach," the Stratford-area woman said Saturday. "It felt as though someone had thrown a rock at me."

"I tore open the front of my dress expecting to see blood but there was just a red mark. I found the slug just in front of me on the ground—it was sort of flattened on one side."

She said the 22-calibre bullet from a hunter's gun had killed a grandfather, then either ricocheted or continued flight until it struck her.

Provincial police said no charges have been laid.

Spy Marries

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — John Downey, the CIA spy released in 1971 after 20 years in a Chinese prison, married Andrea Lee, a Chinese native, in a private ceremony Saturday at Yale University. Mr. Downey, a research associate in a biological laboratory and biochemistry, said she was born in China and met Mr. Downey, 44, in New Haven.

Return to Work

TORONTO (CP) — Striking Norwich Airways employees were ordered to work this morning after ratifying a contract Sunday that will give them a 35-per-cent-average increase over two years.

Last Stooge Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Moe Howard, the last member of the Three Stooges comedy team, died Sunday night of lung cancer. He was 78.

Hay Pitch on Energy

Dr. R.H. Hay (Manitoba) has a positive plan to be speaker about the energy crisis at an ecumenical gathering of Kiwanis Club members at the Legion Hall in Belleville Wednesday. The occasion was a special dinner in honor of U.S. Canada Goodwill Week. Chris Lockyer of Picton, general chairman of the meeting, sits in Dr. Hay's right. Dr. Hay is a Kingston public utilities commissioner.

Russian Child Beaten By New York Robbers

NEW YORK (AP) — Three men and a woman wearing ski masks invaded a Soviet residence compound Saturday and beaten a nine-year-old girl and then dragged a nine-year-old girl and beat her, police reported Sunday.

Police said the incident in the curved Saturday evening at the Soviet residence here in the Riverside section of the Bronx was not a robbery and Soviet officials said hatred lately.

The four got into the fenced-in compound, police said, and accosted the group of children, among about 50 living in the building.

When the woman brandished a gun and said in Russian "hands up," gave her four cohorts, all the children ran away except Galina Ivanova, a nine-year-old who had been in the United States only a few days. She put up her hands and said she had no money.

The invaders then forced her to crawl under the fence at a corner of the property, tied her to a tree, hit her repeatedly and stripped her wrists with a knife.

The child apparently lost consciousness briefly but revived and was released. Her attackers then told her to go back to the residence and bring other young women or they would kill her.

Police said the girl reported the incident to Soviet officials and the intruders apparently fled in the meantime.

The building is used as a residence for the families of members of the Soviet delegation to the United Nations and for trade and tourist officials.

February Date

GRANBY, Que. (CP) — A Progressive Conservative leadership convention will probably be held in February, party leader Robert Stanfield said Saturday.

Mr. Stanfield told a news conference he preferred a February date because of technical problems which the party faced in holding a November convention.

GUIDE HELPS DISABLED

LONDON (CP) — The first guide to railways in Britain ever specially designed for disabled people has been published by the Central Council for the Disabled in co-operation with British Rail. In addition to general travel information it gives details of arrangements at 321 stations of importance to the disabled traveller, such as notes on car parking, refreshments and toilet facilities.

Hard-line Protestants Win Ulster Election

BELFAST (AP) — A former Northern Ireland prime minister says the north faces the "real and terrifying alternatives" of civil war or independence from Britain after a hard-line Protestant victory in election for an assembly to draw up a new constitution.

The United Ulster Unionist Coalition, a Protestant group opposed to sharing power with Ulster's Roman Catholic minority, took 46 of the constitutional assembly's 78 seats in results announced during the weekend.

Brian Faulkner, who served as prime minister in Northern Ireland from 1971 to 1974, also headed a moderate Unionist party that won only five seats, Ulster Unionist party leader Chichester-Clark said Sunday.

Faulkner said the election results underscored the political impossibility of agreement on a power-sharing executive body in the north.

Dr. Conor Cruise O'Brien, minister of posts and telegraphs in the Dublin government, said on a radio interview that the election outcome destroyed all possibility of agreement on a power-sharing executive body in the north.

He said the election results underscored the political impossibility of agreement on a power-sharing executive body in the north.

$500. Federal Grant

$1500. Provincial Grant

START BUILDING TOMORROW WITH

THE SELF-HELP HOME PLAN

Am I eligible for both grants with the Self-Help plan?

The Federal and Provincial Grants are separate plans and if you qualify for both, you receive both. Briefly the requirements are that you must be buying or building your first home and it must be your principal residence. The Federal Grant states that you must be moved in by October 31, 1975, while the Provincial Grant requires ownership by December 31, 1975. This means you should be making your move now to take advantage of these bonuses.

There are no price restrictions for the Provincial Grant, so you will receive a $1,000 cheque when your application is approved and $250. after one year, and again after two years occupancy.

However there are limits on the Federal Grant, and that's where the Self-Help plan can really help. By lowering over-all costs, you can build the home you want and still be under the limits set by C.M.H.C. Actually you can save several thousand dollars above and beyond the grants by substituting your own labor on the home's interior.

No Down Payment is required, the cost is lower, you can be eligible for $2,000. in grants . . . so there's nothing to stop you now!

Blue Potatoes Would Turn Anybody Off!

Dear Ann Landers: I married with strange coloring bills my wife's.

Sally insists I have a hangup and I must get rid of it. So now I'm getting pink milk, purple cottage cheese and polka-dot cauliflower, along with the blue potatoes.

Sally reads your column and your word is law in our house. Last night I let her artificial-color-mind fool me into thinking I had had nothing to do with emotional problems and to forget about my trying to break out of a "hangup."

It's no gag. It's a for-real problem and I'd appreciate your help.—Hungry Herbie

Dear Herbie: This is for Sally: Is-say to the co-lay o-lin-g-kay, kiddo. Herbie doesn't need to conquer the "hangup." It's a normal reaction. In fact, he thought the polka-dot cauliflower was funny. So did I and I can eat anything.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 24-year-old girl with a terrible case of acne. I was asking some of the girls at work what to do about it. The advice and scorn I've been using don't do any good.

One girl asked me if I was a virgin. When I said, "Yes," she replied, "Your skin will clear up when you have sexual relations." Then I discussed this with a couple of other girls and they agreed with her.

What about it, Ann? True or false?—Need To Know In Lake Island

Dear Need: Is that old yarn still kicking around? Usually it's the boys who promote that garbage, but apparently some of the girls believe it, too. (Maybe someone said THEM a bill of goods.)

There's no truth to it. If there were, all virgins would have skin problems and the pounds-of-pimples-per-square-inch would have the most beautiful complexions. You know very well that such is not the case. Quit feeding around with salves and soaps and go to a dermatologist.

Acne CAN be eliminated but you should be under the care and observation of a skin specialist.

Dear Ann Landers: Settle a family argument, please. My husband's brother was divorced from his wife. Is she still our sister-in-law? If so, does this mean if he marries three more times we could end up with four sisters-in-law on account of this not?

You wouldn't believe the flap this has caused in our family. Hurry your answer. What's Who?—Who

Dear Who: When you married and his wife married the most legally, his wife became your FORMER sister-in-law. She was related only by marriage. When the marriage was terminated, she lost her title.

No matter how often your brother married, he can give you only one set of in-laws at a time.

Dear Ann Landers: My girl friend used to run her life according to the horoscope in the paper. She got into trouble a few times because she relied too much on the horoscope. Now she is debating between a mailman in Beverly Hills and a palmist in Boyle Heights. Which would you recommend?—Joe

Dear Joe: I have no faith in either, but if she MUST choose, she's better off with the palmist. It will probably cost her less and besides, I'm sure she has a palm.

Doris Clark

Dad Won't Let Her Date

Dear Doris: I am 15 years old. I have a problem about my father. My mother allows me to go to the show or school dances with a guy I really like a lot, but my father disagrees with me going around with guys at my age.

My mother told me to sit down and talk to him, but I know he'll only say, "You're too young." What can I do?

Problem.

Dear Problem: Why not sit down and talk this over with your father and your mother?

I think it's fine for you to go to a movie or school dance with a boy. But — I'd say your Dad is right if you become so involved with boy friends and dates that it interferes with your classes and homework.

A lot depends on how mature you are. Do you help willingly at home, gladly accept responsibility, co-operate with other family members? If you have good sense about the important things in life, dating at 15 is okay.

Dear Doris: I would like the words of a song that was popular some 50 years ago — "My Little Grey Home In The West." Some of the words are: "There are two eyes that shine, just because they are mine. —" It love Rogers

There, no place can compare With my little grey home in the west."

Here's Hoping.

Dear Hoping: Funny thing, but our public library has not been able to turn up this song, although the title is very familiar. Perhaps one of our Old Faithfuls will be able to recite it from memory or turn it up for us — and then you may be sure we will send it along to you.

Dear Doris: A long time ago in a school reader we had a song or poem — I remember it as a song, called "Chick-a-dee-dee". Would it be possible someone would have it?

Dear Gloria: The Ontario readers in my library don't contain it. I note you are from Moncton. Could it have originated in New Brunswick? Perhaps a reader from down your way can help.

(When writing in to Doris, in care of this newspaper, allow four weeks for private reply, which will be sent if an eight-cent-stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed.)

Successful Magazine by, for Women Began with One Woman's Wild Idea

KINGSTON (CP) — About 18 months ago Susan McGaughey was contemplating a few months in the city leaving women in "Eaton's is a wild kind of sales."

The idea was to start a top-quality national magazine for Canadian women.

At the first meeting, the women discovered "that we shared a desire to publish such a magazine, that we thought we could do it, and that we were willing to make a damned good try at doing it," she said.

Today the magazine, Branching Out, is in its sixth edition and has attracted readers from the Maritimes to the Yukon, she says, delighted "not to find a recipe on every page."

Copies are generally sold out from coast to coast and, despite tales of payment, the magazine has managed to attract contributors from writers at well-known as Margaret Atwood.

"It seems that women across Canada were looking for what we were doing," said a statement by the editorial staff in its January-February issue, anniversary issue.

Intended to a forum "by and for women," such issue contained about 50 pages of art, poetry, photography, music and film reviews, news about women's groups across the country and articles covering everything from the nursing profession to the problems of being a welfare mother.

Branching Out is produced on high-quality glossy paper, a feature viewed as important by Naomi Loeb, a CBC production assistant who was in the founding group.

"We wanted to attract a wider audience than would be drawn to photo-copied feminist publications, important as they are."

Moreover, the staff decided from the beginning to accept only high-quality contributions.

"We want to provide an opportunity for fledgling women writers, but we've had to turn down a lot of mediocre manuscripts from women whom efforts we admired but who didn't meet our standards," Mr. Loeb said.

The magazine, published every two months, is staffed by 10 volunteers most of whom have full-time jobs in related fields. The group has an office, no telephone, and expense accounts are unheard of.

The group has managed to publish regularly since December, 1971, and now is distributing the magazine in St. John, N.B., Ottawa, Montreal, Toronto, Saskatoon, Edmonton, Winnipeg, Calgary and Vancouver. Circulation of the 21 publication is about 4,500 and it cost of $2,000 an issue—and there are about 1,500 paid subscriptions.

Although publications with a feminist slant traditionally attract younger readers, a recent survey showed Branching Out is read by a wide age and occupational range, with 12 per cent of the readers over 50.

The group began by incorporating as the New Women's Research Society and slaking about $2,500 of their own funds to the issue. They then solicited material from writers, photographers and artists, who were paid $5 for their first contribution and $7.50 for their second, plus two subscriptions. Rates haven't changed since.

"It hurts us not to be able to pay contributors more, but even the token amount shows that we value what they are doing," Mr. Loeb said.

The society was able to find some advertisers and through personal contacts and women's groups, set up distribution points across the country.

The final headache was production. Some of the staff are typesetting and with little experience themselves, the group rented facilities and hired themselves in the midst of "a three-week job of 16-hour days."

Branching Out finally appeared on the stands in December, 1971, and met with a encouraging response from readers. At the media, it a big let-down followed the first issue.

"We had produced a magazine and we were very proud of ourselves, but suddenly there loomed the idea that we had committed ourselves to something," said Mary Alyce Beaton, business co-ordinator.

"For about six weeks we just sat there. Then it became apparent that we had to have someone in charge of pulling the thing together or it would never be done."

The society named Sharon Reid, a psychology graduate from Ottawa, as top co-ordinator, adopted new administrative techniques and redefined roles. With some help by from CBC radio's This Country in the Morning and a $2,500 government grant, it has continued to roll off the presses every quarter.

"With each issue we become more and more committed and the magazine becomes more professional," Mr. Loeb said.

Today the magazine still is staffed by volunteers, contributions are solicited and, with the exception of hiring a printer, the staff handles all aspects of publication, from layout to distribution.

"We still have debts and no money," Mr. Beaton said.

Plans for expansion are under way, although Ms. Loeb said the society now is working a "philosophical crossroads" about what direction Branching Out should take.

"We don't want to keep publishing the same kinds of articles; we want to bring new perspectives to issues."

Quinte Cuisine

Barbara McDowell's bran muffin recipe is one of those magic things you can't quite believe. It lets you turn out muffins in the time it takes to bake them. That's an advantage for busy Mrs. McDowell who's a garden club member and avid rug hooker. Her husband, Alex, is a minister at Eastminster United Church.

Bran Muffins

two cups natural bran
one cup shortening
1½ cups white sugar four eggs
five cups flour
two tsp. salt
five tsp. soda
one quart buttermilk four cups Bran Bud
one-lb. raisins

Pour two cups boiling water over the natural bran and set aside to cool.

Cream well together shortening and sugar. Add eggs. Sift flour, soda and salt. Add dry ingredients alternately with buttermilk. Add Bran Bud brand cereal and milk. Add raisins and mix well. Bake at 375 for 30 minutes. This batter, which will make six dozen muffins, can be stored for six weeks in the refrigerator in a covered dish.

Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond M. Gunsolus announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara-Ann Ann, to William Glen Joseph Sweet of Picton, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Sweet. The marriage will take place on Saturday, May 31, at Bridge Street United Church, Belleville.

Downtown Fashion Show Set

Total Beauty is the theme of a show of fashions, new cars, song and dance which will be presented Friday, May 16 at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. in downtown Belleville.

Sponsored by Trudeau Motors and the Downtown Merchant's Association, the show is being produced by Toronto-based Ida Burns and Associates.

It will take place in the area of Walker's Store.

Shoes, men and women's clothing, cars, watches and even cosmetics will be featured.

"I'm very excited about this show," says Ida Burns, the producer. "This is a fashion show, a car show and great musical entertainment all on one stage. It's adding a whole new dimension to fashion presentation."

The music and dance includes show tunes and dancing and even 'poetry read by the fashion commentator.

"It's totally theatrical. I see a beautiful kinship of fashion, the theatre and rhythm."

Mr. and Mrs. Brian Clark

Clark — Jewell

Tabernacle United Church was the setting for the April 12 wedding of Lee-Ann Elaine Jewell and Brian Wayne Clark, performed by Rev. Leslie Dean.

The bride is the daughter of Les and Vivian Jewell and the groom is the son of Earle and Dorothy Clark.

Given in marriage by her father and mother, the bride wore a gown of sheer over sharkskin with a high mandarin neckline, a front and back bodice featuring Alencon lace trim, long sleeves, and a skirt with detachable train appliqued with lace. A crown headpiece of lace with ribbon inserts completed the bride's ensemble, and she carried deep red roses on white lace.

Lynn Gallupe and Denise Jewell, the bride's sister, were bridesmaids in gowns identical to the maid of honor's.

Bruce Clark, the groom's brother, was his best man, and Brent Gallupe and Don Grant were ushers.

After a dinner and dance at the Black Hawk Motel, the newly-married couple travelled west on their honeymoon. They now live at 34 Hillside Street.

PATRICIA ANNE PATTERSON of Stirling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doug Patterson received her Bachelor of Arts (Honors) Degree from the University of Guelph earlier this spring. Patricia is presently employed with the County of Hastings as Planning Assistant.

People and Events

IODE LUNCHEON

Red roses, advertising the 72th anniversary of the IODE decorated St. Thomas Parish Hall on Thursday afternoon April 22.

The occasion was a lunch sponsored by the IODE, St. Julien chapter provided by the "Luncheon is Served" company.

The event coincided with the date of the battle of St. Julien 60 years ago, from which the chapter was named.

Regent Thelma Bailey met guests at the door, assisted by convener Loreen Ellis.

A showing of jewelry followed the lunch. Prizes of IODE roses and jewelry were drawn at the close of the afternoon.

CANNIFTON-CORBYVILLE WI

Edna Welsh was hostess for the April meeting of the Canniflton-Corbyville Women's Institute, who voted to sponsor a ball team during the coming season.

The following officers for the next term were installed by Doris Elsworth: Gertie Bowers, president; Doris Elsworth, first vice-pres.; Ivy Meale, second vice-pres.; Kay Windsor, secretary-treasurer and Hilda Moore, district director.

Mrs. Meale presented a program dealing with the first 15 years of the WI. This year marks the 25th anniversary of the Canniflton-Corbyville branch.

REDNERSVILLE W. I

Flossie Pulver was hostess for the April meeting of the Rednersville Women's Institute. President Edith Cairns welcomed the members who answered the roll call with what they have learned through the WI.

Summary Day for the senior project "Accessories for the Home" was announced for May 8, to be held in the Wellington Town Hall at 1.30 p.m.

The year's financial statement was read, and reports from the auditors, standing committees and conveners were presented. The president reported on her WI activities during the past months as well.

Frances Young conducted the election of officers. The executive includes past president, Mabeel Onderdonk; Edith Cairns, president and Marion Townsend, secretary-treasurer.

Mabel Onderdonk presented information about resolutions. Referring to home and country reports, Mrs. Onderdonk said that in 1974, there were 32 resolutions sustained in Ontario, five of which were from the Trent Valley Area. She suggested that WI members attend council meetings and other public meetings where community matters are discussed and decided.

CARMEL W.I.

The April meeting of Carmel Women's Institute was held at the home of Denelda Foley.

Marguerite Lucas presided over the business portion of the meeting.

Cora Bitz, Denelda Foley and Louella Urch will be delegates for the District Annual being held May 12 at Melrose United Church.

A committee was appointed to arrange for catering at an auction sale.

The new officers for 1975-76 are: Denelda Foley, president; Joan Jessup, first vice-pres. Elsie Whitmore, second vice-pres.; Mar Embury, secretary-treasurer; Cora Bitz, district director; Sheila Patton, assistant district director; Olive Thompson, curator; Marilyn Vance, public relations.

Andras Wants Law To Assist Refugees

MONTREAL (CP)—Immigration Minister Robert Andras says he hopes new legislation on immigration will contain better provision for refugee situations.

In a speech to the Jewish Immigrant Aid Society Sunday, he said the current Immigration Act does not make specific provision for refugees, who are subject to the same selection standards as other immigrants.

And special methods of dealing with refugees or with individuals liable to persecution who are still in their country of origin were awkward, he said.

He told the society, which is marking the 18th anniversary of the arrival of Jewish immigrants from Hungary after the 1956 uprising, that 16 per cent of all immigrants to Canada since 1946 have been refugees.

In regard to the Vietnam situation Mr. Andras said attempts would be made when possible to start the process of family reunification between Vietnamese and Cambodian residents of Canada and their relatives still in indochina.

Such a program would be similar to programs started with China, the Soviet Union, and other Eastern European countries.

Immigration officers are dealing with applications from about 600 Jews from Eastern Europe now in Italy who were originally destined for Israel he said.

Another 122 Soviet Jewish emigrants have already arrived in Canada from Brussels and another 63 Soviet Jews were expected May 14, he said. These were people who had left the Soviet Union and had been in Israel for up to three years.

As a result of the agreement on reunification of families with the People's Republic of China, 7,000 applications have been submitted and 222 relatives had arrived from China in the second half of 1974 to be reunited with families in Canada.

Text of Mr. Andras' speech was released in advance.

Fire in Cell

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP) — Police said Sunday that a fire in an occupied padded cell forced caused about $25,000 damage at the Niagara region police headquarters.

Police said the fire began in a basement cell occupied by William Vance, 35, of St. Catharines. The man was

Munro and Kerr Listed As Witnesses at Trial

HAMILTON (CP) — Witnesses scheduled to testify in the trial beginning today of two men charged with conspiracy and fraud include federal Labor Minister John Munro and George Kerr, former Ontario solicitor-general.

Kenneth Ronald Elliott, 42, a former Hamilton harbor commissioner, faces 11 charges, and Reginald Leigh Fisher, 61, a business consultant, 10 charges.

The charges were laid in connection with an alleged $365,000 kickback in a 1971-72 dredging contract after an 18-month RCMP investigation.

NDP Leadership Candidates Oppose Foreign Ownership

NDP Urged to Redefine Its Goals

BRANDON, Manitoba (CP) — Canadians must decide how to counter the high degree of foreign ownership of the country's assets, a forum of candidates for the federal NDP leadership was told during the weekend.

John Harney, a professor who was MP for Scarborough West from 1971 to 1974, said Canada is well able to take control of its own economy and has considerable investment capital resources of its own.

Lorne Nystrom, MP for Yorkton-Melville and NDP parliamentary finance critic, said that instead of permiting direct investment by foreign concerns Canada should obtain needed foreign funds by borrowing, an approach advocated by the Saskatchewan Economic Development.

The candidates, Mr. Harney, Mr. Nystrom, poet-painter William Thomas Bedwell and Douglas Campbell, a Mississauga, Ont., taxi driver, were replying to questions from a member of the audience.

The two other declared candidates for the federal NDP leadership—parliamentary leader Ed Broadbent and British Columbia MLA Rosemary Brown—had other commitments and did not attend the Saturday night meeting, one of a series leading to the July 4-6 convention in Winnipeg.

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Rosemary Brown, NDP member of the British Columbia legislature for Vancouver-Burrard, said Saturday her party must go back to its grass roots beginning and redefine its goals if it hopes to gain power federally.

"My commitment to socialism makes me see the necessity of the party clarifying its goals," said Ms. Brown, who is seeking leadership of the federal party. "We must clearly demonstrate the difference between us and the other federal parties to show that we are the clear alternative," she told a group of about 40 persons at St. Peter's Separate School.

Ms. Brown said that to do this the party must identify its constituents and educate them to know what ricks the party would take for them.

"If we're only seen as the party that introduces welfare policies, then there is no reason for anyone to vote for us," said Ms. Brown.

Let's Wake Up Before We Miss the Boat — Again

A few years ago Belleville earned a nickname from one of the way visitors and vacationers in the area were treated we were dubbed 'the friendly city'.

However, when it comes to sports Belleville's reputation is rapidly becoming known as "the cheaky city". Our new fencil reputation is based on the many sports activities, teams and sports individuals which plant themselves in the city only to wither up and die.

What it boils down to is that there are more skeptics in this city and area than there are supporters.

Though it hasn't quite boiled over yet, the Tam O'Shanter Hockey School is the next item that will either need a transfusion or join several previous endeavors in Belleville's sports cemetery.

"It comes down to one thing" said a frustrated Gary Green, executive director of the school. "Either the day-time registrations pick up this year or we have to move to another city."

Tam's present day-time enrolment stands at approximately 80 students across over the six-week period.

There are 400 students registered (the other 320 coming from various parts of the province).

"We need about 700 day-time students if the school is going to stay in Belleville," added the director.

The difference between day-time students and full-time students is: day-timers are from the immediate area. They need only to commute to and from the school in the morning and the evening. Fulltimers are those who are from outside the area and have to stay overnight in residence.

For one week, it costs a full time student $65 for a day-time is $65. A daytime receives all the benefits of fulltime student, except he doesn't have to worry about sleeping in a strange place.

Included in the $65 are transportation to and from Trenton Community Gardens. Gasoline from Albert College, the full-time residence, and return later in the day; two meals a day, and a hockey sweater valued at 16. In essence what the school gets out of a day-timer's registration is beyond its need used to cover instructors fees and administration costs.

Instructors at the school include Jim Turkiewicz, of the Toronto Toros, Jim Jones and Colin Campbell of the Vancouver Blazers, both established teams of the World Hockey Association, and Jack Valiquette, the highest paid rookie in the Toronto Maple Leaf organization.

You can't beat this kind of hockey instruction for $65. a week. If you send your kid off to town to another school where he receives instruction on a de-personalized level) it could cost you three or four times as much.

For information on the school write Tam O'Shanter Hockey School, in care of Goelph Office, 10 Quebec St., Guelph, Ontario, or phone 519-821-4363.

If you're ready to sign your youngster up send an application to Albert College.

Let's get behind this school before we end up waving goodbye to it.

SLICES — Everything got washed away Sunday. The McDonald's, the Belleville-Scarborough Ladies' Softball games and almost everything else that was scheduled to go in the outdoors on the Sabbath.

The word from Doug Adams was that the Macs are trying to reschedule the washed-out double-header from the weekend for this Wednesday. Barring rejection from the Toronto, rejection on acquisition of Alemlie Park and more rain,'the games should come off.

The Belleville Indoor Soccer League recently announced their choices for trophy winners for the 1974-75 season.

Most Valuable Player went to Charlie Nesterovski, Cosy Grill. Most Sportsmanlike Player was Pundit Zdravko, Olympics. Most Improved Player went to Kevin Tillier, of John's Variety, Chris Johnson of the Olympics took top goaltender, and John O'Neill, also of the Olympics, earned top goalscorer.

This was the first year of operation for the new league and four teams participated. Next year the organization plans to double in size.

Trophies will be presented at the awards night, Wednesday, May 14 at Golden Mile Restaurant. The event goes underway at 9 p.m.

Olympics Top Kingston Team

KINGSTON (Special) — The Belleville Olympics surprised everyone, including themselves on Sunday, when they defeated the Kingston Canadians here, 4-2 to keep their chances alive for an exhibition action alive.

The Olympics, who are suffering heavily from early season injuries, have lost all three of their exhibition matches. Five players were currently on the mend.

Sunday's game was one where even the lame came through with a strong effort. Fundic Zdravko, last year's leading scorer, is hurting with a bad knee, but everybodies scored twice to lead the Olympic attack.

"This was a team victory," said coach Manuel Mosles. "everyone played well."

Other Belleville markers were Ernie Brown and Dave Langman, Fred Jeppert and Jimmy Jones replied for Kingston.

Belleville's next game is an exhibition match against Kingston Canadians in the Exhibition Grounds at 4. p.m. Sunday they have a return hook-up with Italo-Canadians.

Paddlers Battle Moira Rapids

Dave DeBuriatte, of Toronto, charges through white water of the Moira River at Riverside Park, Sunday, taking part in a sanctioned competition of the Ontario White Water Association. Despite the hazards of white water paddling, the Canadian Associations lists the most severe injury in the association's history as a wrenched shoulder. The Sunday race down the Moira was a warm up for national competitions to be held in Bancroft this summer.

Competitors Meet Challenge

More than 50 paddlers from Ontario, Quebec and New York state arrived in Belleville this weekend to test their kayak and canoe skills in the rapids of the Moira River.

Though reduced to a trickle for the majority of the summer, the Moira as it now runs through Belleville offers some of the most exciting white water paddling in the province and has drawn top notch paddlers every spring for the past several years.

Participants began arriving in Belleville by Saturday afternoon giving themselves a day before the race to get the feel of the river.

The Belleville event is a down river race beginning at Riverside Park and finishing at the river mouth. Unlike the slalom runs where the paddler must negotiate gates, the down-rivers run is a test of strength and endurance.

The Moira race has no international importance but is considered a vital warm up and point-getting race for entry into national trials later in the summer.

The national competition this year will be held at Herman Kerchoff's paddling school on the Madawaska River near Bancroft.

About a week later, paddlers will travel to a point 150 miles north of Quebec City for international competition.

Paddlers who do well in taking a berth on Canada's national team which tours Europe.

Wins Title

LAGOS (Reuter) — Dele Johathan, a Spanish-based Nigerian boxer, retained the Commonwealth lightweight title Sunday with a comfortable points win over Scotland's Jim Watts. The only knockdown in the 15-round bout was in the second when Jonathan sent Watts to the canvas for a compulsory eight count.

115 Attend Training Day

BANCROFT — A record setting 115 young athletes and coaches from Belleville, Trenton, Peterborough, Perth and Brampton track and field attended a training day here on Saturday.

Part of the drawing card for the local clinic was the excellent turnout but most of the young hopefuls came to meet with and receive instruction from the internationally known coaches and athletes who also attended.

Participating in the clinic was Julie White, a 16-year-old high jumper who is currently ranked at seventh in the world and who is considered to be a contender for the Canadian Olympic team in 1976.

Also attending were Maggie Woods and Elaine Jerome, both 15 years old; Roman Olszewski, 53 international race walker and Nevil Cosby, Canada's junior Champion race walker.

In addition to the young athletes, four Canadian Senior coaches were on hand to work with the youngsters.

Cecil Smith of the Etobicoke Striders Club, Bob Hallett, coaches Glen Arbeau, Bill Arnold and Brent McFarlane in the instruction program.

According to local coach and organizer Tom MacWilliam, the clinic was a complete success.

The local Hastings Highlanders will begin a series of Tri-light meets in Bancroft and Barry's Bay, May 11.

The meets will continue on Wednesday evenings throughout the summer.

Habs Demolish Sabres

MONTREAL (CP)—There was little Buffalo Sabres could say about their performance in the fourth game of their Stanley Cup semi-final series against the Montreal Canadiens.

"We played badly and they played well," ral defi winger Richard Martin after the Canadiens thrashed the Sabres 8-2 Saturday night to even the best-of-seven set at 2-2.

"But in Buffalo you will see two different teams," Martin added.

"We've lost a bit of our drive," Sabres coach Floyd Smith said. "We seemed frustrated and we were unable to get untracked. Everything they did was right; everything we did was wrong. We'll have to go home and take stock of ourselves."

Guy Lafleur and Yvon Lambert each scored two goals for the Canadiens, who held a 42-25 edge in shots on goal. Bob Gainey, Jacques Lemaire, Guy Lapointe and Glen Sather were the other Montreal marksmen, with Don Luce and Jerry Korab replying for Buffalo.

The game featured a brawl with 3:17 remaining in the second period. It started with an altercation between the Sabres' Danny Gare and Montreal's Doug Risebrough.

Buffalo defenceman Bill Hajt jumped in as the third man, followed quickly by Montreal's Larry Robinson. Then both benches cleared but no other fights broke out, although there was some sweater-tugging.

Hajt was tossed out of the game by referee Dave Newell for being the third man in and Robinson was ejected for being the first player to leave the players' bench.

Robinson was fingered by one of the minor officials as being the third man to leave his bench. However, it was later proved that Robinson was in fact on the ice when the altercation flared.

After a meeting among Newell, the minor officials, referee-in-chief Scotty Morrison, president Clarence Campbell, the National Hockey League announced that Robinson would play Tuesday and not sit out a one-game suspension for being first to leave the bench.

Under an NHL regulation, the first player to leave a players' bench during a fight is given an automatic one-game suspension for the first offence.

Canadiens coach Scotty Bowman was fuming after the game about the call against Robinson.

"It's got nothing to do with Newell," Bowman said. "It's the minor officials. That was just incredible."

Bowman said that Buffalo team captain Jim Schoenfeld was the first player over the boards.

"I told our guys to wait," Bowman said. He (Schoenfeld) caused the bench-clearing. He could have caused a riot."

Bowman said he had checked tapes of the incident at the end of the second period and he clearly showed Robinson on the ice.

About the game itself, Bowman said he was "happy with the way we played."

Aeros' Kids Produce

HOUSTON (AP) When Houston Aeros coach Bill Dineen sends the kids out to play, the opposition doesn't relax.

That's because the Aeros' fourth line—they call it their Kid Line—plays just as big a part in Houston's success as the other three veteran lines.

Houston's 6-2 victory over Quebec Nordiques in the first game of the World Hockey Association final series Saturday night was a good example of the Kid Line's contribution.

Terry Ruskowski, the rookie line's centre, scored one of four Houston goals in a runaway first period and right winger Don Lawsary scored another for Houston in the second period.

"Our young guys are doing such an excellent job," said veteran Gordon Labossiere, who scored two goals in Saturday's victory. "Actually, it's sometimes harder to play with four lines because you're not on the ice much and your mind gets away from the game.

"But, it sure hasn't bothered us this year. You can't knock success."

Part of Houston's success in this year's WHA playoffs has been their fast starts in each series. Houston pounced on both Cleveland and San Diego in the first two rounds and they did the same thing to Quebec Saturday.

"The key to the playoffs is to be mentally prepared for that first game," Labossiere said. "It seemed tonight that we were that way and we were against San Diego and Cleveland too."

Labossiere, Larry Lund, Gordie Howe and Ruskowski scored in the first period and Larway added his second-period goal for a 5-0 Houston lead before the Nordiques scored.

Marc Tardif scored in the second period and Bob Guindon added the Nordiques' final goal early in the third period. Labossiere's second goal came at 11:45 of the final period.

"They're a better hockey club than that," Dineen said. "I think they'll come back and play well."

The best-of-seven series resumes here Tuesday night.

Penalties Kill Sherbrooke Team

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — Sherbrooke Beavers may never again question the strength of a Toronto Marlboros power play.

The Beavers, representing the Quebec Major Junior Hockey League at the Memorial Cup tournament, for Canada's top three major-junior teams, were leading the Marlboros 3-0 early in the second period of the opening game Saturday night.

Then the Sherbrooke penalty door opened and the roof fell in.

John Smrke scored two power-play goals in succession to narrow the Sherbrooke lead to 3-2 and Mark Napier tied the game at 12:15 with three seconds left in a Sherbrooke penalty.

Napier scored his second goal of the game at the 11-minute mark of the third period to give the Marlboros the lead, only to have Sherbrooke's Claude Larose tie the game at 19:31 of the third and send the contest into sudden-death overtime.

The Marlboros, Ontario Hockey Association Major Junior A series champions, won the game 5-4 on Doug Ferguson's goal at 12:33 of the first overtime.

Under the Memorial Cup round-robin format, the teams play each other once in the first round. In tonight's second game of the tournament, the penalty-prone New Westminster Bruins of the Western Canada Hockey League take on Sherbrooke in an 8 p.m. EDT start at Kitchener Memorial Auditorium—site of all games in the eight-day tournament.

The Marlboros are idle until Wednesday when they take on the Bruins.

Ho-hum, Flyers in Command

Not Spectacular But It Works

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (CP) — "You were with a championship by being reckless," says coach Fred Shero of Philadelphia Flyers, the arch-priest of tight defensive hockey.

A well-disciplined Flyer team followed Shero's orders almost to the letter and beat New York Islanders 1-0 Sunday night on Reggie Leach's goal soon after the third period started.

The victory placed the defending Stanley Cup champions in the enviable position of needing one more to gain the National Hockey League playoff final against either Montreal or Buffalo.

The fourth game of the Flyers - Islanders best-of-seven semi-final is scheduled here Wednesday night with a fifth game, if necessary, in Philadelphia Thursday night.

Despite the three Philadelphia wins over the Islanders, Shero said the series thus far has been tougher than four-game sweep against Toronto in the quarter-finals.

"Hockey it's only what we expected of them. Actually, the Islanders played tougher and better hockey against us during the season than any other club, even the Montreal Canadiens or the Buffalo Sabres."

Coach Al Arbour of the Islanders chose Glenn (Chico) Resch as his goalie, and Resch was brilliant in making 31 saves.

Bernie Parent, making his first start in 15 days—he was injured in a pre-game warmup prior to the first game against the Islanders—had only 14 saves in the Flyers nets.

"They never really gave us a chance to get going," Arbour said. "They were on top of us continually. We'd pass to an open man and by the time he got going, they'd have another man right there to take him out of the play."

Parent's shutout was his third of the playoffs, the-coming against Toronto. He didn't have to work hard. He said only about three shots would be considered difficult for him.

Resch, the loser in the opening 4-0 shutout by the Flyers, this time was sharp and in the first two periods held the Flyers scoreless. In that 40-minute span, Philadelphia outshot the Islanders 24 to 11.

It was a four-on-four situation when Leach caught Islanders defenceman Dave Lewis near the blueline in a two-on-one play with Bobby Clarke, who centred the pass. Leach fired it from about 20 feet over Resch's left shoulder.

"We're going to come out here Wednesday night and try and get it over with so that we can have a couple of days rest before the finals," said Leach.

In Sherok's eyes, it was discipline that won for the Flyers.

"I think discipline really showed in the last seven or eight minutes when we had them shorthanded twice.

"We did not go for the goal unless we had a good chance. In other words, we were disciplined enough not to get cheap penalties. I told them not to get a penalty unless it's to save a goal.

"They were very careful. They still controlled the puck. One goal is as good as the other. In other words, they were controlling the play and eating up the clock."

Getting more from the vegetable plot

John Bradshaw

In the next week or so, you can make the difference between a so-so crop and a bumper crop of vegetables. Here's how.

Your crop may be running short of nutrients. Leafy vegetables need more nitrogen: root vegetables may need more potassium. What's more, root maggots really get busy on radishes, carrots, peas, corn, onion and celery right about now.

The expert gardener fences over his share vegetables. He feeds his crop, and protects them from root maggots. Here's what you do. To feed them, use CIL Flower & Vegetable Food: work it into the top 2 inches of soil along the vegetable row, taking care not to damage roots. Then water in.

Maggot attack is hard to spot — short of pulling up the plant! Maggot flies may be as small as ⅛" long. So it's best to prevent attack: shake CIL Maggot Killer around each plant, scratch it into the top ½ inch of soil, and water in. Incidentally, CIL Maggot Killer does an excellent job on fleas (pets), ants, cutworms and wireworms. You'll find a good section on vegetable care in my free 1975 CIL Lawn and Garden Guide.

Cincinnati's Riverfront Stadium became a scoreboard watcher's nightmare.

One more run scored Sunday and major league baseball would hit one million.

It was a few seconds after 2:31 p.m. EDT when Cincinnati's Dave Concepcion's hit a home run.

The crowd of more than 51,000 cheered not only the fifth homer hit by one of Atlanta's Phil Niekro pitches, also what it thought was Concepcion's mad dash around the bases for the millionth run.

"I never in my life ran faster," said the Reds' shortstop. "I saw everybody jumping and cheering and thought: 'I got it! I got it!' "

He didn't.

It was a few seconds after 12:31 p.m. CST, 10:31 p.m. EDT, in San Francisco's Candlestick Park. Houston's Bob Watson was standing on second base when the ball whistled off Mike Ivie's bat.

The crowd of less than 10,000 wasn't thrilled by the second-inning threesen homer for the Astros but cheered nevertheless for Watson as he dashed home. WATSON GETS IT

And at 30 seconds after 12:32 p.m. PDT, Watson touched home plate, the millionth time it had happened in the majors and the 999,999th since the Philadelphia Athletics started it all at 3:30 p.m. on April 26, 1901.

"I run hard," Watson said. "I had no idea how many runs it would take to score in the ballpark, but then I saw everybody only 2 or 3 seconds when the game started.

"Then I came to bat in the second inning. I saw a 'one' on the scoreboard, so I knew I had a chance," Watson walked and then Jim Wynn hit a long drive that bounced off Mike Lum's glove and rolled into the right field screen.

"When the ball was hit, I had to hold up because it looked like Bobby Murcer had a play on it," Watson said. "I went back to second to tag, then I ran hard when I saw it was over. "Give Bill Wynn a hand," he added. "It wouldn't have been possible without his homer."

DAVE CONCEPCION

played such a small part in this great game,"he said. "I wish I could do my part."

In Reds' Cincinnati, Concepcion was still drinking in the cheers of the crowd and the congratulations of his teammates when the word came on the scoreboard that he had run No. 1,000,000. He'd been the one who first hoist when Watson scored.

"I broke my heart," Concepcion said. Then, turning philosophic, he added: "I'll get the two-millionth run."

Concepcion returned to the plate in the seventh inning to hit a tie-breaking double off Walker that gave the Reds a 3-2 victory over the Braves.

And while Mays's three-run homer in a three-run second inning wasn't enough to keep the Giants from winning 3-6, the defeat came back in the second game of the doubleheader for a 12-6 victory.

In Sunday's two other NL games, Steve Garvey's fourth-inning home run for Ron Tyson held California. Bill Hands, who was ready to quit baseball last year until Texas manager Billy Martin talked him out of it, held California on five hits through 8 1-3 innings and then got clutch relief help from Jim Umbarger and Steve Foucault to preserve the win in the shutout.

At Bumbry and Doug DeCinces collected four hits, including one home run apiece, as Baltimore routed Cleveland ace Gaylord Perry for its first game in snap a six-game losing streak. Bumbry drove in four runs and DeCinces three. Mike Torrez, 3-1, stopped the Tribe on five hits.

The Indians rallied in the eighth-top win in the 11th inning when Frank Duffy doubled and scored on a single by George Hendrick, his fourth hit of the game.

Left-hander Jim Kaat posted his 11th consecutive victory, his fourth this season, and Jorge Orta hit a double and two singles for the White Sox. Brian Downing homered for Chicago and Reggie Jackson hit one for Oakland.

National League games, San Diego Padres beat Los Angeles Dodgers 10-7 and Chicago Cubs defeated St. Louis Cardinals 8-6.

Saturday, Montreal Expos beat New York Mets 3-4, Philadelphia swept a doubleheader from Pittsburgh 4-3 and 4-3, Chicago defeated St. Louis 7-3, Cincinnati beat Atlanta 6-1 and San Diego defeated Los Angeles 3-1. A Houston-San Francisco game was rained out.

Cincinnati's first-inning run on Johnny Bench's 10th of the season helped Cincinnati—the Braves took a 3-1 lead in the fourth. Concepcion's homer tied it in the fifth and, in the seventh, he doubled to the right field wall after pitcher Gene Garber walked.

San Francisco rallied for its first-game victory on Gary Thompson's bases-loaded, two-run triple in the seventh inning. The Astros tied back in the second game with a six-run fourth, being highlighted by Mary's two-run single; and Rob Andrews' two-run double.

San Diego's Gene Lockhart scored a decisive seven-run spoken with a sole homer and doubled in with a two-run double against the Dodgers in the seventh inning.

Carew, Chambliss Close But Not Quite There

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Minnesota Twins' Rod Carew and New York Yankees' Chris Chambliss were 30 feet away from glory Sunday, but they came up a couple of feet short.

Carew and Chambliss each both threws out at home plate moments before Cincinnati's Bob Watson scored major league baseball's one millionth run Sunday. Watson collected a hit and a gold watch for his feat. Carew could take consolation in the Twins' 4-3 victory over Kansas City Royals. Chambliss and the Yankees got nothing but a 11-4 beating from Milwaukee Brewers.

"I knew it would have been the one millionth run because the word was relayed from the dugout," said Carew, who was thrown out at the plate by right fielder Al Cowens on a short fly ball in the second inning.

Chambliss relayed his chance in the fourth when Milwaukee first baseman George Scott caught him trying to score on a grounder.

"I did that to Chambliss! I didn't know that," said Scott. "Poor Chambliss. That's all I can say, man—poor Chambliss. If I knew that maybe I would have thrown him out . . . yes, I would have, too."

Elsewhere in Sunday's American League baseball action, Texas Rangers edged California Angels 1-6, Chicago White Sox beat Oakland A's 2-3, Baltimore Orioles and Cleveland Indians split a doubleheader, the Orioles winning the opener 11-1 and the Indians taking the nightcap 4-1 in 11 innings, and a Detroit-Boston doubleheader was rained out.

Saturday, Boston defeated Detroit 12-2, Cleveland beat Baltimore 9-1, Minnesota whipped Kansas City 14-5, Milwaukee edged New York 4-3, Chicago beat Oakland 4-3 and California defeated Texas 4-2.

Minnesota got seven accolades instead of relief pitching from Jim Hughes to hand the Royals their 16th loss in the last 19 games. Hughes surrendered seven hits to match his first major league victory.

Craig Kusick homered for the winners and Harmon Killebrew, whose number was retired by the Twins before the game, hit a two-run homer for Kansas City as the first pitch thrown to him.

In Milwaukee, Gorin Lescano collected four hits and Scott had three as the Brewers ran their winning streak to five games.

Jeff Burroughs' fourth-inning home run for Texas held California. Bill Hands, who was ready to quit baseball last year until Texas manager Billy Martin talked him out of it, held California on five hits through 8 1-3 innings and then got clutch relief help from Jim Umbarger and Steve Foucault to preserve the win in the shutout.

At Bumbry and Doug DeCinces collected four hits, including one home run apiece, as Baltimore routed Cleveland ace Gaylord Perry for its first game in snap a six-game losing streak. Bumbry drove in four runs and DeCinces three. Mike Torrez, 3-1, stopped the Tribe on five hits.

The Indians rallied in the nightcap to win in the 11th inning when Frank Duffy doubled and scored on a single by George Hendrick, his fourth hit of the game.

Barrie Takes Lead in Final

BARRIE, Ont. (CP) — Barrie Flyers are just two games away from winning their second consecutive Allan Cup senior hockey title but judging from the crowd support here, few fans care.

Only 1,187 fans turned out Sunday night at 3,200-seat Barrie Arena to see the Flyers beat Thunder Bay Twins 7-4 and take a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven national final.

There were only 1,367 on hand Saturday night when the Twins scored a 7-2 win over the Flyers. Barrie had won the opening game on Friday 8-5 before a crowd of 2,317.

The series was scheduled to move to Thunder Bay for games Tuesday and Wednesday and, if necessary, Friday and Saturday but the Barrie team is hoping to have the schedule put back to the weekend. Some players fear losing their jobs if they have to take off in mid-week and team lawyer John Wright was preparing a petition to be handed to Canadian Amateur Hockey Association officials today.

Biltmores Hold On

EDMONTON (CP) — A third-period rally by Spruce Grove Mets fell inches short Sunday night as the Mets lost 4-3 to Guelph Biltmores in the opening game of the 1975 Centennial Cup hockey championship.

The Mets were trailing 3-0 after storming back from a 3-0 deficit when a shot by Bryan Grassfield skipped high off the glove of netminder Bob Mears and came to rest on top of the net.

Spruce Grove eventually got their third goal, but not before Guelph scored an insurance goal and put the game out of reach.

IN MEMORIAM

BENCLIFFE — In loving memory of Brother Robert Lavell Benclifte who passed away May 6, 1974.
Can today be that year ago. Sadly
Why life was love and labor,
Your live for your family true true.
You did your best for all of us,
What more can anyone do.
Those left behind are very good,
Kind to friends and neighbours.
They left with regret your thoughts unknown.
But memories you left we are proud to own.
Sadly missed and always remembered by wife Lily and family and mother.

CARR — In loving memory of a dear father, Charles Edward Carr, who died one year ago May 5, 1974.
Sorrowed by friends I am lonely
Sorrowed by friends I am lonely
In the midst of my joys I am sad
With a smile on my face I've a heart
Longing, dear mother for you.
— Sadly missed by daughter Barbara, Carl and grandchildren.

REUNION

REAL ESTATE FOR SALE

BRAND NEW
ONLY $34,900.. URBAN
We have a limited number of lots within the city where we can offer certain three bedroom homes at only $34,900.00. The down payment would be less than $5,000.00 and if it's your first home, you would get the entire - amount - returned - in grants from the Government.
These will be sold on a first come, first sold basis, so call early and get the best choice.

10% MORTGAGE
AND $2,000.00 GRANT
is a combination pretty hard to beat in today's market. We have two homes in the East end, each of which offers just such a combination. You could move in at once. Everything is done — even the lawns are seeded.
INVEST WITH NO CASH
and make your thousands in a couple of years. Sound impossible? Not so! You can let the Government give you a down payment on a new Townhouse, live in it for a couple years and sell at a profit. Ask those who bought townhouses a couple of years ago. Many have made large profits. You too! You will never get another opportunity like this!

Lord, Don't Help the Bear!

Seven Seas Amusement Park animal trainer, John Carlyle Arlington, Texas, is really up a tree with Buster, a Himalayan black bear.

Performing Arts, which is advertising the availability of grants to cultural organizations, Mr. Davis reminisced about some of the pitfalls of hidden guest challenges.

On rare occasions, guests arrived in inebriated condition, creating well-concealed tension among the show's producers and host.

Times like these can ruffle even Fred Davis. The fillyish Toronto native, who began his career playing trumpet in dance orchestras, looks as youthful as he appears on TV. Blue-eyed, blonde and pleasant, he has become a recognizable acquaintance to many fans rather than a mere celebrity.

In 1943 he joined the Royal Canadian Signal Corps and was later transferred to the broadcast detachment of Canadian Army Shows. While overseas he was associated with the BBC Armed Forces Network.

After the war he graduated from Lorne Greene's Academy of Radio Arts and joined an Ottawa radio station where he worked for six years as announcer, disc jockey, newscaster and program director.

In 1952 he joined the National Film Board, appearing as an actor and commentator in several documentary series for television filmed on location in Europe, Asia and Canada. His five TV career started on the popular daytime show Open House with Anna Cameron.

Simultaneously during the late '50s and early '60s he commuted to New York and Hollywood for appearances in panel shows and as spokesinstalle acquaintance to many fans rather than a mere celebrity.

Until recently he handled the moderator's duties on the debate shows Under Attack and Crossfire and was master of ceremonies on radio's On Stage variety series.

Last year was one of his most demanding. He was host of a five-times-weekly interview show, named after him. It meant travelling to New York, Hollywood and London interviewing showbusiness stars. Frequently he interviewed as many as seven in one day.

Accused of being "Mr. Obsequious" because of his polite, non-abrasive manner, Davis replies: "Why go for the jugular? I would never make a guest feel uncomfortable for the transient thrill of it. As an interviewer I feel like an accompanist to a soloist: in the end, one gets a better show."

Davis tired doing the Fred Davis Show and, although it was not renewed, said he hopes to perform in that kind of medium again.

The program, produced by his wife, also afforded an opportunity for him, to meet people he had always admired.

His favorite guests included actress Jean Gabin, actor Bong Fu star Keye Luke and British actor Ralph Richardson, who made the startling comment that his career got worse each year because an experienced actor knew all the things that can go wrong. Davis, however, said a certain amount of tension is necessary.

"The chances are better of doing your best when the adrenalin's working; if one approaches too cool, he may seem blase, disinterested or even sloppy."

COCKTAIL SOUPCRAS

To make your own cocktail soybeans, soak the dry beans overnight then drain and spread them on a cookie sheet; leave them at room temperature until their surface is dry. Fry in small batches in hot deep fat, about 350 degrees for eight to 10 minutes.

Irish Rovers Capture Canadian TV Award

TORONTO (CP)—Actor William Hutt, broadcaster Barbara Frum, and the perennial Irish Rovers won top honors Wednesday night at the fourth annual awards dinner of the Association of Canadian Television and Radio Artists (ACTRA).

The prizes—bronze figurines popularly known among ACTRA members as Nellies—were handed out during a two-hour television show obviously designed to be a Canadian counterpart of the annual Oscar awards in Hollywood.

Hutt, veteran of many comic and dramatic roles at the Stratford Festival where he now is associate director, won the top artist award for his portrayal of John A. Macdonald in the CBC-TV historical series, The National Dream, based on Berton's books.

The Irish Rovers, one of the most popular CBC-TV variety entertainment groups, won their prize for a special filmed in Cork.

Mrs. Frum—who earlier this year won honors in the National Press Club in Ottawa—was the best radio public affairs broadcaster award—for the second time for the CBC's evening magazine show, As It Happens, of which she is co-host.

Harry Rasky, Toronto TV producer-director-writer, won the best show of 1974 award for Neal Ward Year in Jerusalem, a documentary on the Holy Land. He previously won ACTRA and other awards for documentaries on Tennessee Williams, and St. Peter's Cathedral in Rome.

The National Dream was the only show to win two awards. In addition to Hutt as best actor, William Whitehead and Timothy Findley won a best-writer award.

Two Canadian films won honors in the prizes originally restricted to radio and television work.

Stuart Gillard won the best film performance award for starring in the National Film Board's Why Rock the Boat? shows.

Michael Maclear, a former CBC news correspondent, won the best news broadcaster award for his CTV show, Maclear. It was accepted in his absence by Murray Cherkover, CTV producer. Helen Hutchinson took the TV public affairs broadcaster award for the CTV morning magazine show, Canada AM.

Fred Davis Never Gets Bored

HALIFAX (CP) — Despite his impeccable appearance and near-legendary poise, veteran broadcaster, interviewer and moderator Fred Davis says he is as "uptight as every."

Best known as the ever-smiling and congenial host of Front Page Challenge, the show, now in its 11th season, Davis says it really is a challenge.

"Granted, the mechanics of a show become second nature but the spontaneity involved means none of us ever becomes jaded," he said.

He was referring to the three regular panelists who have solved the mysteries of guest challengers representing some of the major news stories of the last century. Gordon Sinclair, Pierre Berton and Betty Kennedy are journalists and their integrity is at stake, he said, which prevents them from getting stale with their questions.

"We've geared our lives to the show. It's a way of life and I think there would be a sadness if it ended." The show has been renewed for another season.

Your Horoscope

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

Tuesday, May 6

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Weigh what you say today very carefully when dealing with a sensitive friend. A thoughtless remark will leave ill feelings.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You'll find yourself somewhat reared if you put around with friends today who are able to spend more freely than you can.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You won't be at relaxed best today as you should be. You'll find it easier to put things off till tomorrow.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Decisions you make today are apt to be short-sighted and based upon conclusions neither factual nor practical.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be careful in material transactions with friends today. Your generous nature is like to overrule common sense.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Things will not come your way today by wishful thinking. You'd better roll up your sleeves and get to work.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) You'll unknowingly rely upon another to take care of something important you could do better yourself.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your social image is extremely delicate today. Don't try to impress others or do anything potentially in poor taste.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) An event will not turn out as fruitfully as you hope today. It won't be too disappointing. Don't make too much of it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't be lavish with your compliments unless the other party deserves them. Flattery for its own sake won't take.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Put blinders on today when you pass shop windows featuring expensive items that you know are beyond your budget.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) You'll knowingly let those in your charge get away with things they shouldn't today. Later they'll try the same thing again.

Jim:: "The code word ARCH is never more useful than at bridge contracts."

Oswald:: "The 'R' for Review and Modified Jack important in this hand, but the 'A' for Analyze the hand: the 'C' for Count the winners and losers and the 'H' for How can I make this hand really are important."

Jim: "South counts three winners in the majors and needs only a fine finesse to make three notrump. He has to play both nine suits and two little chance to make his contract if the club finesse is going to lose."

Oswald: "Therefore, he should assume that the club finesse will work. This gives him the winning line of play."

Jim:: "He starts by leading the eight of diamonds and overtaking with dummy's ten. East, stays off. Next South cashes four ♣s and takes the finesse. It works."

Oswald: "Now South leads a second diamond, overtaking in dummy while East can do no better than to hold up again. A second club finesse followed by ace and a small club lets East take his king. East clears the spades now, but it is too late. South scores a fourth club trick which gives him the six minor suit tricks he needs."

To Your Good Health

Do Not Depend On Office Girl

By C. C. THOMPSON, MD

Dear Doctor Thompson: Recently I had a cold with a pain on the left side. The x-ray report showed no sign of pleurisy, but the office girl told me I had an enlarged heart.

How serious is this? Do you have to limit your work? I am retired, and do yard work and gardening—Mrs. R. L. S.

Most medical office girls accumulate a storehouse of knowledge about medicine, being in close association with the subject year in and year out. Yet they are valuable assets for any physician. But tell me, you were really going to accept this kind of an evaluation of your condition? Wouldn't it make better sense to simply go back and ask your doctor what is wrong with you?

The heart can enlarge under physical stress, in certain lung diseases, or in high blood pressure conditions. Severe vitamin B deficiency can also cause it. In the latter situation it is called beri-beri heart.

In enlarging, the heart muscle is compensating for a stress stress, whatever the cause, but as would any other muscle in the body.

Now, I've told you all this, but how in the world can you expect me or anyone else, for that matter, to comment on your condition when you haven't consulted your own physician?

Yes, you may have to curtail some activity further depending on just what is causing your enlarged heart, but can you be really sure that this is the problem? You'll never know from second-hand information from your doctor's office girl.

Most office girls I've known would agree with this.

Dear Dr. Thompson: Can you tell me if there is anything that can be done for chronic catarrh? Mine is far advanced and fills my mouth with a discharge which I keep, hoping that it get into the Eustachian tubes and cause an infection?—L. E.

Catarrh (economic mucus production from mucous membranes) is a generalized term referring to inflammation of the passages of the head and throat. In modern medicine other terms are used to identify the area of inflammation more specifically.

Any excessive mucus production is a symptom of membrane irritation. Allergy is a common causative factor—to smoke, smog, house dust, or airborne irritants such as animal or bird dander, etc. Sensitivity to pillow feathers is a common cause, especially when the pillow cover wants to become aggravated during sleep.

A nose defect (a deviated septum, for example) can also be involved, as can nasal growths (polyps). A problem as serious as yours seems to be should be investigated to determine the exact cause.

It is quite possible that, untreated, your "catarrh" could develop into more serious problems for you. And yes, infection of one or both of the Eustachian tubes, which lead from the inner ear down to the nasopharynx, is a possibility.

Dear Dr. Thompson: Is there some relationship between arthritis and psoriasis? Each June for three years my mother has had severe back pains, accompanied by a severe outbreak of psoriasis.—Mrs. A. B.

Yes, in some cases of arthritis psoriasis will occur. The condition is called "psoriatic arthritis." The small joints of the fingers are usually involved and the back is often affected, causing stiffness.

In this, the psoriasis usually precedes the joint symptoms. When the fingers are involved, the nails are usually affected.

Dear Doctor: I have read of a case where a boy's bed-wetting was stopped by giving him cranberry juice in bottlins. What about this?—A. B.

I have not read the account of this. It might be true. Cranberry juice produces an acid reaction in the urine which, in this individual case, might have been what was needed. Also, it could have been a psychological reaction on the child's part to the idea that something different was being used for the writing problem.

However, neither cranberry juice nor any other juice or food can be considered an infallible therapy for bed-wetting.

Vast Coal Beds Under North Sea

NEWCASTLE, England (CP) — Besides oil and gas, the North Sea holds vast untapped reserves of coal, an energy combination that will supply Britain with 1 billion tons of British National Coal Board (NCB) for the northern group of coalfields, said 10 years' exploratory drilling has proved than there is at least one billion tons of coal off the northeast coast of England near Durham.

"Although our big coastal pits have been shinking at the edges over the last decade, there are vast reserves of coal," Mills said. "The NCB has developed an offshore strategy for Durham and Northumberland of the 1970s, will be based on collieries which will be capable of producing a million tons or more a year. Modern mining techniques are matched anywhere in the world. More than £12 million of investment has already been announced for this strategy and it will need a few to £30 million by the time it is completed."

Mills, chairman of Britain's world's biggest underseas mine—already is involved in a scheme which has brought the industry's capital investment in the northeast to more than £50 million in 18 months, said Mills.

The plan is to extend this pit, which produces 2.5 million tons a year, into unknown sections of Northumberland undersea coalfield.

Leaky Oven Safeguards B.C. People

VANCOUVER (CP) — The microwave oven in the tiny basement room looks like it is for the public good.

The bank was put there deliberately by officials of the British Columbia government's radiation protection service to demonstrate what happens when there are problems with the seal on an oven door.

They deliberately put a thumbnail-sized piece out of the oven door, but a piece of food stuck to the door would create the same hazard.

Dr. Wayne Greene heads a four-member team which inspects radiation equipment and provides consultant services, mainly on industrial equipment.

The leaking oven is used to demonstrate radiation measurement by health inspectors who then check restaurants and report their findings to the radiation protection service.

Dr. Greene said home micro-waves ovens are usually well constructed and safe, provided the owner keeps the door shut clean.

Other sources of radiation in the home, including television sets and sun lamps, don't usually come under the branch's jurisdiction, Dr. Greene said, because they are generally not dangerous although some older color television generate soft x-rays "in excess of maximum permissible values."

NEW SETS SAFE

Dr. Greene said the sets emit x-rays near their high-voltage powers. Since 1966, he said, no kinds of sets leaked radiation, mostly from the tube on the rear of the cabinet.

"Of course, solid-state circuitry does away with the main source of the radiation."

Persons sitting more than six feet from the set are safe from even any potential hazard because the soft rays fall off sharply in intensity as they get farther from the set.

About 70 per cent of the service's work involves checking the approximately 1,000 x-ray sets in British Columbia.

Dr. Greene said he eventually hopes to be able to check each machine every ten years and have them registered so officials can monitor performance.

The service also deals with what Dr. Greene calls "incidents." The team recently checked seven possible radiation hazards left over from the Second World War, impacted buildings believed to have been used to store radioactive material.

The check was initiated after radiation levels up to 200 times safety limits were found on the third floor of a Toronto building where a radium paint spill occurred.

Of the seven possible B.C. sites, one was found to be safe, but two had been demolished and the rest did not pose any threat.

Dr. Greene said a more usual case involved some radioactive material used in oil exploration but fell off the back of a truck on the Alaska Highway.

The material, secondary contained and harmless, was found and moved over to the RCMP.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS

TAYLOR, Mich. (AP) — Police removed 16 poodles from the home of Theodore McGlothlin, 48, and charged her with cruelty to animals and maintaining a health hazard. Authorities said several of the animals had to be destroyed. Police said they found five dogs outside in a small pen and 91 were inside the house.

A CONCIDENCE

CATANIA, Italy (AP) — Orazio Quatrocchi gave birth to her 13th child and became a grandmother at the same time in the same room. While Mrs. Quatrocchi, 48, was in labor on one bed, her oldest daughter, Elvira, 18, was experiencing the pangs of childbirth for the first time in an adjoining bed in the apartment they share in the Sicilian city. Both gave birth to boys.

Normal Days Ahead

Most of Central Canada will have near-normal temperatures during May, according to the 30-day forecast of the United States weather bureau. Temperatures will be below normal in southern parts of the western provinces and most of the Atlantic provinces. Above - normal precipitation is expected for most populated areas, except eastern Ontario and most of Quebec. The outlook is not a specific forecast and changes may occur. (CP Newsmap)

Farming in Far North Becoming Important

YELLOWKNIFE (CP) — Farming in the Northwest Territories is less than a major occupation, but research is under way to achieve that goal.

Joe Bergasse, responsible for industry and commerce in the territorial government's department of economic development, said there are three farming operations and a cluster of market gardens in the 1.3-million-square-mile territories.

The farms, all less than 160 acres, are located around Fort Providence on the south-western tip of Great Slave Lake. The market gardens are in the Hay River area.

Mr. Bergasse said in an interview that the number of farms is not likely o increase soon as the Indian government, which holds title to more than 99 per cent of the land, this year imposed a moratorium on granting leases for farms until the N.W.T., the Yukon and Ottawa can develop a plan for land use.

The moratorium has met with some hostility, including one farmer threatening to park his bell inside a government office building, but Mr. Bergasse said it is necessary.

The farming potential is there, he said, but no one is being encouraged until the governments know where they are going.

"Farming is big business and needs services such as roads and power lines which the territorial government is not yet equipped to provide.

"I think the days of the pioneer in farming are over," Mr. Bergasse said.

The government also wants to see what happens to native land claims and the outcome of studies into suitable crops, climate and growing season and soil conditions, all of which will take two to three years.

Mr. Bergasse said most territorial farms concentrate on potatoes and cereal crops. Livestock had not proven successful. More than last year made it impossible to stockpile enough for the one major herd that had existed, Anthrax and brucellosis had been found south of Great Slave Lake which, coupled with salty soil, made it unattractive for agriculture.

The problem of marketing also outlined against agricultural development. The territories are sparsely populated by 40,000 persons and have few centres large enough to support a farming population. Grocers were reluctant to give up suppliers in the south for fear they would have trouble re-ordering if they switched to local farmers.

Life-long Exhaust System Ignored by Manufacturers

OTTAWA (CP) — A group of Ottawa engineering students say they have developed an automobile exhaust system that will last a lifetime and save motorists from what have met negative reactions from major car manufacturers.

A report prepared after last week by second-year engineering students at University of Ottawa said the exhaust system doesn't wear out; they just corrode. To retard corrosion they use stainless steel, which cost more in the beginning but was cheaper in the long run.

But Prof. Daniel Gorman, faculty adviser on the project, said initial contacts with General Motors and Ford have produced "negative reactions."

"General Motors wrote us a two-or three-page letter explaining why they have not attempted to use this type of system," Dr. Gorman said.

Ford turned us over to their supply company, Arvin Industries, and said they would not be willing to pay the extra cost for a Ble-long exhaust system.

Dr. Gorman said he said, contend that higher cost is the main deterrent but the limited availability of chrome is another major consideration.

"They do not think there would be enough chrome available for the proposed system," Mr. Gorman said, "but we think differently."

The students said they will continue to probe the automobile industry.

"We have been getting the kind of exhaust system we deserve because we were willing to accept what they gave them," the report says. We need consumers deserve better and that the time has come for vehicle manufacturers. Consumers have kept in business for so many years, to make a concerted effort on our behalf."

Mr. Gorman said he will ask the federal department of consumer affairs department for government reaction to the system.

"We can produce evidence to show that the system works," he said. "We've at the 'where do we go from here' stage."

The students use and recommend a stainless steel system for two main reasons. An exhaust system should be designed to function without replacement and the materials must be available and inexpensive to compare on the market.

Mufflers now are made from ordinary sheet steel with the various parts generally held together by welding.

Exhaust and tail pipes and mufflers disintegrate, say the students, because they are subjected internally to the corrosive action of exhaust gases and externally to the corrosive action of salt spread on roads in winter.

A student spokesman said since the problem is essentially corrosion it is also a materials problem. The kind of steel used in exhaust systems "differs little, if any, from other strip steel used in fenders and door panels."

"It is hard to imagine any engineering material which could be worse than the point of view of corrosion."

Stainless steels are widely used in nuclear power and other industries where corrosion is not acceptable.

The students submitted their project to empirical testing in November, 1967. A muffler made from stainless steel installed in a 1967 station wagon owned by a man who drives about 30 miles a day during the week and greater distance on weekends.

Approximately 8,000 miles were put on the vehicle during the winter and an additional 1,500 the following summer before the muffler was removed.

The muffler was then wiped clean and examined for deterioration. The report prepared by the students said "no evidence of any corrosion was found."

Golden State Trails Bulls

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Golden State Warriors are happy to be going home this week but they know they have their work cut out for them.

The Warriors trail the Chicago National Basketball Association Western Conference final series against Chicago Bulls who Sunday won their second game in a row at Chicago with a 108-101 decision.

Now the Warriors, who were pinned on the ropes the entire second half by the sharp shooting of Chicago's Norm Van Lier, have Tuesday and Thursday night contests at their own court to recoup in the best-of-seven series.

"We know there was a possibility of losing both our games here," Warriors coach Al Attles said. "And now the pressure is on us."

In the Eastern Conference final, Boston Celtics beat Washington 101-90 on Saturday, cutting the Bullets' lead in that series to 3-1.

Hawley Escapes Serious Injury

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Sandy Hawley, leading jockey at Hollywood Park, escaped serious injury Sunday after his mount reared in the starting gate and unseated him.

Hawley was taken by ambulance to hospital, but x-rays proved negative. Track spokesmen said he suffered only a bruised right hold and a pulled hamstring muscle.

The incident occurred while Hawley was aboard Nightly Caper. He was excused from his mounts for the remainder of the day.

The 26-year-old resident of Mississauga, Ont., leads Hollywood Park riders with 44 victories, far ahead of runner-up Fernando Toro with 19. Bill Shoemaker is next with 18.

Hawley won three races Saturday including the $5,000 El Dorado Handicap aboard unbeaten Native Good. He also has 15 seconds and 19 thirds.

A Rose Is a Rose

Foolish Pleasure Leads the Field

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Three and probably four of the starters in the 101st Kentucky Derby, won by Foolish Pleasure, are headed for the May 17 Preakness Stakes at Pimlico, where as many as seven new challengers await them in the second jewel of thoroughbred racing's Triple Crown.

Of course, Foolish Pleasure will try the next step toward a triple, but his victory on Saturday already "carries a horse a long way down the road," trainer LeRoy Jolley said Sunday.

Of the three Triple Crown races, "the Belmont may be most important: to some breeders" in the thoroughbred industry, "but the Derby is always such a hard-fought race," Jolley said.

"Let's face it—there's always a big field in the Derby, but by the time we get to the Belmont (June 7) you've most often down to just four or five," he added.

John L. Greer's Foolish Pleasure, with Jacinto Vasquez in the saddle, broke freely in the 1¼-mile Derby on Saturday and stalked the leaders until he began his move with half a mile left and romped to a 1½-length victory timed in 2:02. That time was more than two seconds faster than Secretariat's track record set two years ago.

Roland Arduinson's Bombay Duck set the early pace but faded quickly in the turn for home. His rider, Menotti Arienzo, one of the owner, said he was hit by a horsefly bite can and wouldn't run after that. He finished last.

Jockey Bill Shoemaker held Avatar just off the pace early in the race and took the lead on the turn for home only to be passed by Foolish Pleasure when Avatar and Diabolo as the charging leader instead of Foolish Pleasure until the final 30 yards when he realized his error.

Traveling to Baltimore for the Preakness with Foolish Pleasure will be Diabolo, and Dr. Anthony Leggio's Bold Chapeau.

Another possible traveler from Churchill Downs to Pimlico is Avatar. Trainer Tommy Doyle would like to pass the Preakness, but owner Arthur A. Seeligson Jr. wants Avatar to run.

Other possible Preakness Starters include J.M. Roebling's Laramie Trail and W. Preston Gilbride's Greek Answer, who has been a nemesis to Triple Crown candidates at both Oaklawn Park and Churchill Downs this season.

Greek Answer ran Saturday in a $25,000 allowance race at Churchill Downs, finishing third. The entry of Greek Answer and Dancing Champ could give the Preakness a strong Canadian interest. Taylor and Gilbride are both from Toronto while Diabolo owner Frank McMahon is from Vancouver.

Diabolo suffered a cut on his right front leg in a burneing incident during the Derby's stretch drive, but trainer Sid Martin said Sunday that the injury apparently was too minor to hurt his Preakness chances.

Crampton Comes Through

HOUSTON (AP) — Bruce Crampton came to Houston hoping to make the cut for the last two rounds in the Houston open golf championship. Now he goes home to Dallas seeking two victories in a row.

"There is no substitute for victory," the veteran Crampton said Sunday after winning the tournament by two strokes over challenging Dr. Gil Morgan, a far sighted eye doctor who decided to take up golf instead of fitting glasses.

"I felt very bad about the way I was playing when I came here," Crampton said. "My game wasn't good at all."

He said his wife had called earlier and asked "about bringing the kids down for the weekend."

"I told her, you'd better check real careful to see that I make the cut. It could be that we'd pass on the highway, you coming down and me going home after Friday's round."

But it didn't happen that way.

Crampton, an Australian native now living in Dallas, made the cut comfortably on Friday, took the lead from struggling Lee Trevino the next day and scored by two strokes Sunday with a last-round 68 and a 271 total, 15 under par on the Woodlands Country Club course, a 6,929-yard layout.

Morgan, in his second year of tour activity, briefly tied Crampton three times on the front side of the final round but couldn't stand the pace. Bruce dropped a pair of 15-foot birdie putts coming home that Morgan couldn't match.

Record Smashed

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — John Powell, 27, a San Jose policeman, smashed the world record in the discus throw by two feet Sunday with a toss of 226 feet 8 inches in his fourth attempt of the day.

The record, established at the Long Beach Invitational track meet, surpassed a throw of 224-8 six weeks ago by South African John Van Reenen.

Officials first measured the hurl at 225-9, but that was by a glass fibre tape measure, unacceptable for world records. A steel tape and three remeasurements later, the mark of 226 was recorded. The discus will be weighed to see if it is the precise weight.

"Sure, it's nice, but I'd trade it right now for an Olympic gold medal," said the 6-foot-4, 238-pound Powell said of the feat. "The only real way to determine who's the best discus thrower is to let them throw against each other in the same conditions."

Commons To Be Asked To OK TV Coverage

OTTAWA (CP) — The first formal step toward unlimited television coverage of Parliament might be taken this week.

A resolution asking MPs to officially approve admission of television cameras is expected to be tabled during the week by Government House Leader Michael Sharp.

No date has been allotted yet to debate the issue. And, it might be months after the resolution has been approved before the first tapes of regular Commons proceedings appear on the late night news.

"It will be well into the next session of Parliament at least," a government spokesman said.

Preparation for television apparently has been more complicated than expected. The plan was first announced in the throne speech when Parliament opened last September.

Since then, cameras have been permitted, experimentally, to cover several meetings of a Senate committee studying proposed legislation to lighten marijuana penalties.

But broader plans for full daily access have been delayed by protracted technical discussions on the best method to use.

The government is keeping details of its plans quiet but there are indications that it is studying a system that would have several cameras positioned strategically at floor level in the Commons chamber.

Netherlands Celebrates Liberation 30 Years Ago

HOLTEN, The Netherlands (CP) — The Netherlands celebrates 30 years of liberation from the Nazis today, and for thousands of Dutch citizens the day recalls memories of the returning Canadian army.

The people of Holten have a special reason to remember those Canadians driving into town in the spring of 1945.

On a nearby hillside, where German troops once fled for cover from Canadian mortars, a small cemetery holds about 1,200 Canadians who never made it home.

There, among the rows of white tombstones, local residents and some of the Canadians who freed them gathered in the drizzle last Friday for a special memorial service.

Later, they remembered.

Frances Ist Doset was a pretty, dark-haired 12-year-old holding in her grandfather's cellar when the Canadians signalled their approach with a shell crashing through the farmhouse roof. The next day, a neighbor shouted: "We are liberated—the Canadians are here."

"There were a lot of Canadians in tanks," says Mrs. ter Doset. "We were all laughing and cheering and the soldiers gave cigarettes. Oh, I don't think we will ever forget it."

SIMPSONS-SEARS COMPARATIVE PRICING POLICY

Our pricing policy is designed to protect our customers. All price comparisons are as accurate as possible at the time of printing and refer to prices within the preceding 12 months. We publish different pricing for 4 geographic zones in Canada to equalize the costs of merchandise distribution and thereby provide our customers with the fairest prices.

Regular, Was or Were—means that in a retail store or catalogue in your geographic zone Simpsons-Sears has offered for sale, within the preceding 12 months, this item at the comparative price shown.

Value—means Simpsons-Sears has offered for sale in a retail store or catalogue in your geographic zone an item of identical quality within the preceding twelve months, differing only in color, pattern, style or aesthetic design at the higher price quoted.

Comparable Quality—does not refer to any former catalogue or retail price of Simpsons-Sears but means that we believe the item to be equal in quality to similar items generally available within the preceding twelve months. However, we cannot take into account pricing of similar items in every community.

Postal Strike Likely

EDMONTON (CP) — Joe Davidson, president of the 22,000-member Canadian Union of Postal Workers (CUPW), said Monday a national strike is almost inevitable if the union's current round of bargaining with the federal government.

"I'd say that from the offer we got recently, and with the attitude of our employer, it will be hard to avoid a national confrontation at this time."

Mr. Davidson, in Edmonton for meetings with the city CUPW local, referred to the latest government offer which would provide a $1.15-an-hour increase—about 27 per cent—over 22 months.

The CUPW mail sorters, handlers and dispatchers now earn an average of $4.25 an hour. They are requesting a 71-per-cent wage increase.

Mr. Davidson attributed the high wages demand partly to a 25-per-cent loss of purchasing power during the last three years.

Such issues as the effects of automation, job classification and job security cannot be negotiated under the Public Service Staff Relations Act, which governs the postal workers, he said.

Oil Firms, NDP Pleased

Gas Price Rises And Oil Tax Cut

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government was praise from two New Democrat provinces and the oil industry Monday for raising the export price of natural gas and cutting the export tax on crude oil.

Energy Minister Donald Macdonald announced in the Commons the gas export price will go to $1.40 a thousand cubic feet Aug. 1 and $1.60 on Nov. 1 from a current price of $1.

He had barely finished outlining the gas price changes when the National Energy Board issued a statement over his name cutting the oil export tax by 80 cents to $4.70 for light crude and $4.20 for heavy crude effective June 1.

Both announcements drew a warm welcome from industry and provincial government officials.

Premier Dave Barrett of British Columbia and the two opposition energy critics in the Commons—New Democrat T. C. Douglas and Progressive Conservative James Gillies—welcomed the announcement of higher prices for gas, which they said has been under-priced in the U.S. market.

Mr. Macdonald said the gas price increase, which will add $382 million to the cost of the one trillion cubic feet exported annually, is needed to move it closer to fair market values.

Compared with the price of alternate energy sources in the U.S., such as crude oil, the exports should be priced at about $1 a thousand cubic feet. He said further increases can be expected next year unless oil prices drop dramatically.

The minister said the federal cabinet decided not to introduce the full price increase Aug. 1 as had been suggested by the National Energy Board.

Instead, it accepted a recommendation made by U.S. officials in a meeting last month to introduce the price increases in stages, easing the impact on the U.S. economy.

Mr. Macdonald said that in British Columbia, which supplies about two-thirds of the gas exported, the additional money will go to the British Columbia Petroleum Corp., a provincial agency, "with the expectation that the corporation will take the necessary steps to stimulate the production of gas in that province."

Negotiations are under way with Alberta on a formula to spread the additional revenue among all gas producers in the province, including those who only produce for the domestic market, the minister said.

The sharp cut in the crude oil export tax came following a major drop in the amount of oil shipped daily to the United States.

Reason for the drop in demand for Canadian oil was a surplus of tankers which lowered transportation costs and allowed Middle East and Venezuelan producers to land oil in U.S. markets at below Canadian prices.

Mr. Macdonald said to meet the competition, the export tax on light crude will drop to $4.70 from $5.50, on heavy crude to $4.20 from $5 and on Lloydminster, Sask., heavy crude to $4.20 from $4.60.

Oil shipped to the U.S. currently sells at $12 a barrel for light crude including the $5.50 export tax. With the tax reduction effective June 1, the price will drop to $11.20 a barrel.

Ottawa will lose about $448,600 a day, based on April exports, as a result of the tax change. Money from the tax is used to finance a compensation program to lower the cost of international oil used in the eastern provinces to the frozen domestic crude price of $6.50 a barrel.

News Briefs

Railway in Trouble

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian Pacific chairman Ian Sinclair says the railway will fall to pieces, the victim of shopworn trains and aging roadbeds, without a clear track to increase freight rates, dump passenger services and abandon branch lines. Mr. Sinclair told the Commons transport committee CP Rail is beset by government controls on freight rates, soaring costs, tough unions and lazy employees.

Mindszenty Dies

VIENNA, Australia (AP) — Jozsef Cardinal Mindszenty, former primate of the Hungarian Roman Catholic Church and onetime major figure of East-West controversy, died here today, the Catholic Press Service reported. He was 83.

LaMarsh Gets Help

TORONTO (CP) — Scott Young, Globe and Mail columnist, and Lachen Beaulieu, a provincial family court judge, acknowledged Monday that they will join Judy LaMarsh on a provincial royal commission to investigate violence in the media. The Ontario government will announce their appointments in the legislature today.

Recognition Possible

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — Commonwealth leaders today were considering a draft communique that calls on the new regimes in Cambodia and South Vietnam to play "their full part in the community of nations." If the passage referring to "the new governments" in Saigon and Phnom Penh is approved, it would amount to tacit recognition of the two regimes.

CIA Under Pressure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defence Secretary James Schlesinger says senior White House officials put pressure on the CIA to undertake domestic surveillance activities. "My recollection and the whole tone of the agency would suggest that behind there were expressions of interest in domestic surveillance on the part of senior officials of the government," Schlesinger said Monday. He headed the agency for six months in 1973 under former president Richard Nixon.

Hearing Likely Thursday

OTTAWA (CP) — A hearing likely will be held in Montreal Thursday on a government bid for a court order insisting that Quebec dock workers obey a back to work law, Labor Minister John Munro said Monday. Parliament passed a special law 12 days ago ordering an end to the strike.

Six Fasting

TORONTO (CP) — A Roman Catholic priest and a taxi driver were among six persons who began a fast outside Toronto jail Monday in an attempt to convince the federal cabinet to commute the May 15 hanging of Rene Vaillancourt. Rev. Richard Renshaw and cabbie Francis Millard said they, along with four companions, will maintain their vigil outside the jail until the cabinet meets Thursday to decide Vaillancourt's fate.

Third Rocket Found Aimed At Jerusalem

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Police found a third Arab terrorist rocket pointed at Jerusalem today, three days after two missiles exploded near an Israeli museum.

The Soviet-made Katyusha rocket was mounted on a portable launcher near the twin launchers that fired the earlier rounds.

A police spokesman said it apparently was meant to fire with the other two rockets but it failed to go off.

The launchers were found near the village of Beit Zafafa on the road to Bethlehem about five miles from Jerusalem. The rockets exploded harmlessly on empty ground near the museum.

Thailand Wants to Keep All Planes from Vietnam

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cambodia's new Communist-backed rulers said today they will respect the national and territorial integrity of neighboring states but foreign troops will not be allowed on Cambodian soil.

Cambodia's neighbors are South Vietnam, Laos and Thailand. It was and known whether the reference to foreign troops included the North Vietnamese.

A Khmer Rouge broadcast from Phnom Penh said Cambodia will continue to seek good relations with countries of Asia, Africa and North and South America, but did not mention establishing diplomatic ties or requests for foreign aid.

"We will work hard for ourselves," the broadcast said.

In Bangkok, it was announced today that the United States has agreed at Thailand's request to suspend its removal of U.S. made aircraft flown by South Vietnamese refugee pilots to a Thai air base.

The most valuable and formidable of 128 U.S. warplanes, which have also been claimed by the new Saigon government, were already aboard the U.S. carrier Midway in the Gulf of Thailand by the time Foreign Minister Chatichai Choonhavan announced the agreement.

The Thai cabinet had earlier in the day said it would hold on to the aircraft.

Meanwhile, Hanoi's Vietnam News Agency reported that the forces of the Revolutionary Government in Saigon have taken six islands in the contested Spratly archipelago in the South China Sea, and that the puppet forces on the islands were put out of action."

It said the islands were taken between April 14 and April 29.

Coleman St. To Get Meters

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

City council's traffic committee has moved to solve parking problems on a busy, commercial strip of Coleman St.

The strip is between West Moira and Harder Streets.

The committee Monday concurred with a Parking Authority request for parking meters on the street's west side and prohibition of parking on the east side.

The committee's recommendation to council was made subject to approval by the city police who will make an on-the-spot survey of the situation, which Chief Douglas Crobbie admitted, becomes "pretty complicated" near Belleville Shopping Bowrs.

The street's west side includes the Canadian Tire Associate Store.

Knowles Thinks PM Quits if Man Hanged

OTTAWA (CP) — Several cabinet ministers, including Prime Minister Trudeau, would resign before they would allow a hanging, Stanley Knowles speculated Monday.

The New Democratic Party House leader said in an interview there will be "several resignations" and just Warren Allmand" if capital punishment is restored.

Mr. Allmand, solicitor-general, has said he will resign his portfolio or leave the cabinet altogether if any of the prisoners death row are allowed to hang.

Eight men, including Rene Vaillancourt, are scheduled to hang May 15, are awaiting execution. The cabinet, by law, must review each sentence and decide whether to commute them to life imprisonment.

If death sentences have been commuted since 1962. The last executions took place in Toronto when two prisoners were hanged back to back.

Mr. Knowles said he cannot imagine the Trudeau cabinet approving a hanging:

"Cabinet decisions aren't decided by a majority vote. The prime minister listens to arguments and announces what the decision will be."

Mr. Trudeau is opposed to the death penalty.

Mr. Knowles said he would not be surprised to see the government introduce a bill to abolish the death penalty.

Despite opinion polls that show a large majority of Canadians in favor of capital punishment, the bill probably would pass, he predicted.

"It would be touch and go ... but chances would be good."

A majority of Liberals would back the bill and there would be enough New Democrats and "civilized Tories ... the

Some Landlords Keep Their Tenants in Dark

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Landlords of some apartment units in Belleville turn off stair lights at night, forcing tenants to grope their way in darkness, Mayor Robin Jeffrey said Monday night.

She made the comment as the Subdividers Liaison Committee — assigned to help produce a property maintenance standards bylaw for city hall — ran into its first full working session.

Her comment came as the committee discussed a clause involving lighting of property.

A suggestion requiring lighting in units should be inserted in the bylaw, Mike DeMark, Quinte Home Builders spokesman, suggested.

"How do you get the landlord to turn them (lights) on?" pondered the mayor, adding the committee would examine the suggestion.

"We've had landlords that turn them off and the tenants have to crawl upstairs in the dark."

Stanfield Fairweather MacDonald 'Tories' to ensure passage, he said.

Acting Prime Minister Mitchell Sharp said earlier in the day no government decision has been made on the future of the death penalty.

Sidney Puts Ban On Pools

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

Sidney, Township Council Monday passed a motion to ban construction of swimming pools in Quinte Heights subdivision east of Bayside Secondary School because of a feared water shortage.

Noranco Corporation of Toronto — responsible for the housing development of approximately 60 homes — asked council either to refuse building permits for pools or delay issuance until Noranco can meet with the homeowner.

Because the subdivision is five years old and lawns are not completely finished heavy lawn watering in past summer has led to a shortage of drinking water in the area, said members of council.

Rather than delay issuance and notify Noranco of the homeowners intent to build a pool, Sidney Reeve Gord Williams said "the township wants to stay right out of this".

"Every had week-long any permits issued right now because of this possible water shortage," he said.

One subdivision resident approached council for permission to build a pool and assured he would not use local water but would truck water to fill the pool.

Members of council felt there was no way of supervising this and voted to turn down the submission.

Correction

The Intelligencer apologizes for any embarrassment which may have been caused by a story published Monday. May 5 in which it was said an attempted murder charge was laid following a domestic dispute at a Trenton home. This paper has since been informed there was no domestic dispute.

Charged with attempted murder is Frederick Roland Clark, 27, of 225 Dufferin Ave., Peterborough. The victim of the stabbing was Stephen Reid, 24 of 224 Water St., Peterborough. The incident occurred Saturday at a Trenton residence on Byron Street.

Officer Sworn In

Picton's newest police constable, Kenneth Campbell, Monday morning took his oath of office before Judge Wilfrid S. Lane at the Prince Edward County Court House. Judge Lane said it was the first time, to his knowledge, a town police constable was sworn in within the county courtroom. Constable Campbell is congratulated by Picton police chief Charles Fletcher.

Danger: Children at Play

Potential traffic hazards on residential streets is a mounting problem of modern times, city council's traffic committee was told Monday.

The threat is posed as traffic increases on suburban streets which are also play areas for young children.

"It's getting to be quite a problem. It's unbelievable," said Mayor Robin Jeffrey.

But the committee found no immediately easy solution to the situation.

Caution signs are enforceable, Police Chief Douglas Crothie reminded the committee. Drivers will obey lower speed limits — as long as they're backed up by the presence of police radar controls.

Debate on the situation was touched off by a request to the committee from a woman on Dunnett Blvd. in the city's west end, appealing for safety measures to protect children.

The committee passed the request onto police traffic officials for further investigation.

Dunnett is a crescent link that runs through a suburban area from Palmer Road to the Quinte Exhibition Grounds on West Bridge St.

Mrs. James Moore asked for signs on both ends of the boulevard to caution drivers about youngsters crossing the street.

Some drivers now are "speeding recklessly with no regard" for children. Traffic has increased since Dunnett is used as a shortcut and because of its closeness to the exhibition grounds, she wrote the committee.

Chief Crothie said erection of cautionary signs could mean "you will have to put them on every street — and they are totally non-enforceable" by law.

Mayor Jeffrey agreed and also pointed out that the city's policy would be an 25-mile-an-hour limit. Such a limit was imposed on Avondale Rd., but circles on that street were an added hazard factor, she noted.

Ald. Arthur Keegan said it was "a changing world" and the safety of youngsters in such situations also was a parental responsibility. Where children want to cross such roads to join playmates "let the parents take them by the hand," he said.

Lab Tests being Studied

No New Developments in St. Thomas' Fire

There have been no new developments in the investigation into the blaze which destroyed St. Thomas' Anglican Church last week, City Police Chief Douglas Crothie said today.

He said results of tests at the Ontario centre of forensic sciences at Toronto have not been sent to police and fire officials here.

A quantity of liquid had been discovered in a basement stairwell in the church following the fire last week and sent to Toronto for analysis to determine whether it is a petroleum by-product which might have been used as an accelerant.

Officials have said a breakin and vandalism occurred sometime before the fire and a quantity of silver used in communion services was stolen.

Chief Crothie said, "several people have been questioned to no avail."

A report late last week that a taxicab driver had delivered several youths to the area of the church a few hours prior to the fire is false, "as far as we know," he added.

The fate of the gutted structure of the 100-year-old church at the corner of Church and East Bridge streets will be discussed at a meeting of the St. Thomas' council at the vestry Wednesday in the parish hall at 7:30 p.m.

An application has been made to the Ontario Heritage Foundation by Dr. Richard Potter, Quinte M.L.A., on behalf of church officials to secure funds for the restoration of St. Thomas' as an historical site.

Wrist Broken

COE HILL — A 23-year-old resident of this hamlet is in satisfactory condition in Belleville General Hospital with a fractured wrist and a back injury following a motorcycle accident Monday on Highway 14 near Oak Lake.

James Warden was proceeding north on his vehicle which went out of control and collided a guard rail causing an estimated $25 damage in the 3:30 p.m. mishap.

Ian Thomas Will Rock Centennial

Belleville rock fans are set for Thursday night as one of Canada's leading recording and concert artists, Ian Thomas, will appear at Centennial Secondary School at 8.15 p.m.

The concert here is being sponsored by the Quinte Arts Council and tickets have been selling for $4 each at Mantz Stereo in Belleville and Holiday Book and Record at Trenton. When they are here Thomas and his group will be completing the western part of a tour. After finishing the Ontario portion of this tour they will move on to the Maritimes.

In less than 18 months Ian Thomas has written and recorded an unprecedented number of hit singles, including such songs as Mother Earth, Long Long Way, Come the Sun, Painted Ladies and his current release Julia.

In March last year he received the Juno award as Canada's most promising male vocalist. He is a contemporary composer, singer, arranger, and producer, performer on acoustic guitar and keyboards.

Trenton Concerned About Dock Facilities

TRENTON — A sense of urgency prevailed discussion in two council Monday over the operation of the federal government dock in Trenton this summer.

The town is confronted with a May 14 open opening of the navigation season on the Trent Waterway without someone to operate the town-owned facility on the dock.

Compounding the problem is confusion over wharfage. Ottawa has announced it will institute at the dock this year.

Discussion of dock operation was sparked by town clerk Aubrey Sharp when he asked council a tender call for dock operation closed recently without a single response.

Trenton leases the wharf under an agreement with Ottawa and itself provides gasoline, sewage pump facilities, water and power. In the past, it has hired attendants to operate the dock during the boating season (May 15 to October).

Docking fees are a new ingredient in the dock operation and confusion precisely the rate to be charged and the manner of fee collection.

Mr. Sharp said Monday the federal government has not told Trenton what wharfage will be levied this year. The matter is becoming urgent, he said, "It's getting late now — the boating season is coming up quickly."

Council instructed Mr. Sharp to investigate the new fees and provide a set of alternative solutions to dock operation.

During discussion of the issue, several alternatives emerged in chambers.

Councillor Ed Todd suggested council pull out of dock operation entirely and post signs that services are no longer available to boaters.

Ron Price opted for continued dock operation but with the swing bridge attendant also serving as dock attendant.

Mayor Bob Patrick told councillors they might consider of renting Trenton-installed facilities to the federal government and take part of the proceeds. He reasoned that the wharfage collector — already at the dock, could collect fees and run the town gas pumps and possibly the concession stand.

Pete Aziz claimed operation of the dock was unprofitable.

"It doesn't seem a feasible business proposition," he said. "That's why Mr. Sharp has had trouble getting someone to operate it." With two or three people working from about 7 a.m. to 9 p.m., "the amount of intake would not appear enough to pay for its operation."

He suggested council might guarantee any loss suffered by the dock operator, thereby, he reasoned, assuring someone would run it for the town this summer.

Mr. Sharp confirmed Mr. Aziz's speculation that dock operation was unprofitable, saying dock operation by works department crews "would not be feasible at all."

Site of New Baseball Diamond May be Moved to Bain Park

TRENTON — An inter-agency committee will be formed shortly to look at the feasibility of moving the baseball diamond now planned for Centennial Park to Bain Memorial Park.

Trenton council agreed Monday to the formation of the ad hoc committee without its own direct involvement.

It acted on a suggestion from the town's recreation committee which has found itself faced with a high development cost for the baseball diamond in Centennial.

At present the committee has $40,000 available for diamond development. Funds for the project have been earmarked by the Rotary Club, to be one of the participants of the ad hoc committee.

Other members will be representatives of the parks board and the recreation committee. Recreation director Dano Gettas will act on the ad-committee committee in an advisory role.

In agreeing to the proposal, town council shut down a request from the committee for a transfer of $20,000 from Centennial Park to Bain Park development.

Opposing the suggestion was councillor Ed Todd who said the town should finish Centennial Park before transferring any funds to Bain Park. Waving a report on Centennial Park development, he told his colleagues the master plan contained in the report should be implemented, not allowed to sit unused.

He chided council for letting five other reports, filed in his desk, go unused. "They haven't been looked at since the day we got them."

"This is just one for 1975," he said. "Let's use it and not grave out."

Behind the recreation committee's request for a change in ball park plans is recent news it could take as much as $40,000 to prepare land in Centennial Park for baseball, back-stop could be installed.

Drainage in the park is poor, whereas one councillor said, no such problems are seriou in Bain Park.

Mayor Bob Patrick said that the approximate $17,000 slated for use for correcting drainage problems in Bain Park should put the ball park plans well on the way to completion.

Councillor Questions Out-of-town Tenders

TRENTON — Councillor Ed Todd questioned the need for out-of-town tender calls for equipment amid debate Monday over the one bid council received for the supply of uniforms for Trenton's fire department.

Mr. Todd was objecting to the views of several councillors who felt more than one tender should have been obtained for department uniforms, if need be, outside Trenton.

Three Trenton companies had been invited to submit bids for new department uniforms, but only one replied. Only one bid has been received by council for the past several years.

Action on purchase of uniforms was postponed two weeks ago while council awaited a report from Fire Chief Cecil Ellis. The chief's report this week recommended acceptance of a $4,184 bid from Vic Anger and Son Men's Wear.

Mr. Todd reasoned that if an out-of-town tendering policy was followed in this case, the town should do the same to satisfy all its equipment needs. The clothing firm west to the trouble of preparing a bid, he said, and it should be accepted.

Council instructed the chief to purchase the uniforms.

Greenbelt Talks Planned

TRENTON — Trenton council will enter talks with the Lower Trent Region Conservation Authority over the future course both will take in land purchases for the town's $12-million greenbelt.

Mayor Bob Patrick said Monday the review will allow both bodies to reassess their positions in the face of possible involvement in the greenbelt project by the CORTS (Canada-Ontario Rideau-Trent-Severn) committee.

As a prerequisite to such talks, town council Monday passed a resolution that effectively freezes further land purchases along Front St., south of Lot 11, roughly opposite the LCA, food store north of Division St. It is not known when council will review its decision and resume purchasing.

Mayor Patrick said the move was made in an effort by council to reassess the project approved by council two years ago. He said council is not completely aware of all circumstances surrounding further purchases and wants the opportunity to talk them over with the authority.

He said he was not sure what repercussions council's move Monday will have.

In mid-April, authority resources manager Bryan Boyce said he felt programs approved in the 1975 authority budget must be completed the same year. Otherwise the authority would lose supplementary grants from Queen's Park and be forced to up levies for all member municipalities in 1976.

To date, Trenton and the authority have spent $125,000 to buy land along the west bank of the Trent River. Seventy percent has come from authority coffers, with the remainder coming from the town purse.

Funds for Trenton's 1975 purchases in the greenbelt were withdrawn by the Ontario Municipal Board last month when it cut almost a half million dollars from the town capital budget. At that time, the mayor said the OMB's decision effectively cut off further purchases along the river.

Dog Motion Endorsed

TRENTON — Trenton council endorsed Monday a move by the city of Sudbury to ask for a change in provincial legislation to allow municipalities to levy stiffer fines against owners who let their dogs run at large.

Fines, suggested the Sudbury resolution, should be set at a minimum of $25 and a maximum of $100. Provision should also be made for a per-fine-at-the-door policy to minimize the need to go to court to extract fines from offending dog owners.

It also gives an animal control officer of police the right to enter private property to seize a dog. Only residences would be barred from entry.

Assessment rolls would be marked to indicate whether a dog was housed on each town property.

Sudbury's motion will be forwarded to the provincial government in the hope it will change its legislation to give municipalities more power to control dogs and other animals.

Two Weeks Made Special

TRENTON — Town council has proclaimed June 15-21 as Senior Citizen Week and June 1-7 as Nurses Week in Trenton. The proclamations followed requests from Jean Brunelle, provincial minister of Community and Social Services, and the Registered Nurses Association of Ontario.

Rink Visitors Pay Extra

TRENTON — Trenton will surcharge out-of-town registrants in town hockey and figure skating programs $10 a head this winter, it was agreed by council Monday.

Council's action came at the suggestion of the town recreation committee and at the urging of councillor Ed Todd. According to recreation department figures, registration by Trenton residents in the skating program rose at 8 per cent (1373 figures) and in minor hockey programs at 53 per cent. Other registrants come from neighboring municipalities.

If you are a householder, no doubt you already have some preconceived notions about the fundamental requirements of your new home. Perhaps it's a thought to consider which may help facilitate the images of your new home's "master plan" as well as your long range financial planning.

Consider the stage of your family life, and how it should change within the next five or ten years. As your family members become by means of vocation, campus living, and marriage, so will your space requirements.

Don't imagine that your task is to find a home in which you will live happily all the rest of your days. A home is not forever. For perfectly sound reasons, such as advancing age, changing career prospects, changing family size and requirements, people tend to move on, often in less than ten years. # The Transformation of Claude Wagner: from Political Tiger to Pussy-foot

By RICHARD JACKSON
OTTAWA — Looking back at Claude Wagner now, the Conservative MP from Saint-Henri-Westmount, and French Canada's "Backlash leader" for the last crusade of his party, you wouldn't dream that a man could so change.

In not much more than 10 years time, he has gone from a power-cut.

He was Quebec's Attorney General back in the 1960s.

Brash and tough. A razored of a man. Tough as a Doberman.

A no-nonsense judge turned politician.

So tough and uncompromising in his battle against crime was Claude Wagner in his days as Attorney General, where he really had bouncing.

It was — and still remains — the last royal visit of any but a few years' duration, to Quebec.

Down the street surged the mob.

And run head-on into Claude Wagner's riot law. Swift, sharp, slickered, helmeted, armed, and refusing heavy top-foot-long riot clubs.

It was no contest.

The students — they came armed, too, with clubs, rocks and bottles among other weapons and missiles — met the first shock wave, broke and ran.

That is the way it was when Claude Wagner was laying down the law.

Quebec bowed to the legal line.

What has happened since? Well, among other things, for the first couple of months this year a murder rate in Montreal of one a day.

Dubbed — world famed as "Murder City, USA", three times the size of Montreal, it doubles the kill.

It was Claude Wagner's tough law and order image that won him Quebec's respect. He was the in the provincial legislature, his honored place in the cabinet, and since then, his seat for Saint-Hyacinthe, in the House of Commons.

And since those days, Claude Wagner, Mr. Law and Order, changed.

That's why, if you knew and saw him back in the 60s when as Attorney General, he and his police kept Quebec relatively crime-clean and in good civic order, you wouldn't believe him now.

What a switch!

Quiet spoken. The very epitome of courtesy. Salaamalaikum. Gone the bark of command. Softened the hard cliff of face. Vanished the brush cut under. would you believe — so, of course you wouldn't — long hair, longer than Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau's down the back of the neck. And with a gentle wave at the forehead.

Very fetching.

Ultra fashionable three-piece suits of soft expensive cloth in tasteful muted colours.

The old authoritive stride has shortened and softened. Pussy-foot is perhaps the word for it.

The once-tough cop who marched to the beat of a night club swinging his riot clubs, softly, carefully, even daintily.

He is even known to understanding of political opponents, giving all the appearances of making the matter of sympathy for small "L" liberalism.

The masterminds at Conservative headquarters, the Toronto establishment where trendy key socialism is the in thing, have laid hands on him and made over the man in the image, if you can imagine it, of Pierre Trudeau.

The old Claude Wagner of the hard back has hard eye, and the hard fist might do better at a Conservative leadership convention and — never to be mistaken for a liberal, much less a Trudeau-liberal — better at an election than the new.

The new Vietnam, they are not a priority.

Indeed the population neither requires nor desires much else, and Big Brother up there hands down party policy and the people too the line. It's all very compact and very simple — in theory at least. No mention of course of the stultifying nature of it all, its effects on the human spirit, its negation of free choice, its brutal put-downs of opposition — yet it may suit that kind of a society, and the West, while holding to its free democratic system, cannot ignore it.

Cannot ignore it, because it is a system that seeks to dominate others, has already succeeded in doing so in much of eastern and northern Europe and in Asia, and does not intend to stop there. A system which has more determination and purpose than western societies that have gone soft with affluence and easy-living.

Let's keep our institutions and our freedom, but let's also see to it that our dedication to these ideals and to their defence is not found wanting.

Politics and Society

Politics and the direction in which it leads is something that cannot be ignored, for both these elements affect every single one of us.

This is why apathy and voter disinterest can be so dangerous at election time, dangerous also in times of relative political calm, when what is happening beneath the surface must concern us.

From Vietnam comes word of one of the first actions of any new Communist regime — the same thing happened in Cuba — the closing of night clubs, dance halls, bars and brothels, anything in fact that smacks of what the Communists refer to as western-style decadence.

Indeed, the free world might take a lesson from discipline Communist-style — a discipline which dispenses with private gymnasiums and dens, western-oriented recreational activity, preoccupation with status, acquisition of material things and so on. Very few of us, even western-ized these things, and emulate it to a degree, but in fledging Communist states such as the new Vietnam, they are not a priority.

Indeed the population neither requires nor desires much else, and Big Brother up there hands down party policy and the people too the line. It's all very compact and very simple — in theory at least. No mention of course of the stultifying nature of it all, its effects on the human spirit, its negation of free choice, its brutal put-downs of opposition — yet it may suit that kind of a society, and the West, while holding to its free democratic system, cannot ignore it.

Cannot ignore it, because it is a system that seeks to dominate others, has already succeeded in doing so in much of eastern and northern Europe and in Asia, and does not intend to stop there. A system which has more determination and purpose than western societies that have gone soft with affluence and easy-living.

Let's keep our institutions and our freedom, but let's also see to it that our dedication to these ideals and to their defence is not found wanting.

Economy May Take Upturn

By VINCENT EGAN
Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

Canada's economic activity is remaining flat in 1975, according to the first figures and estimates for the January-March period.

The first-quarter indicators are decidedly mixed. But on balance they suggest that the late-1974 decline has been arrested and that the economy may be early 1975 is heading between downturn and upturn.

That raises the possibility of a revival in real economic activity as early as the last few months of 1975, according to Robert Bagley, senior economist of the Royal Bank of Canada.

The bank's Trendicator—a composite index of leading economic indicators—gave a reading of 181.2 for first-quarter 1975, on the basis of partial January-March data available so far.

That's an insignificant change from a 181.1 in fourth-quarter 1974—a time when the index was dropping at an annual rate of 4.9 per cent.

(Base year for the index is 1961.)

Here are factors helping to strengthen Canada's economic performance during the early months of 1975:

—Increases in the money supply and the value of total bank lending permits (both adjusted to discount the effect of inflation). Also, the improvement in the price-earnings ratio of Toronto Stock Exchange stocks (that is, the market price of each stock in relation to the current earnings of the company concerned) and in an index of the prices of 114 widely held common stocks.

And there are the positive factors that largely offset these improvements:

—Declines in corporate profits before taxes (again, adjusted to offset the inflationary factor), primary steel production, the number of residential building permits issued and the ratio of prices to unit labor costs.

In addition, declines were recorded in housing housing starts (despite the variety of federal and provincial grants and other stimulants) and in the average hours worked in manufacturing industries.

Trendicator was designed to serve as an economic weather-vane, by giving signals of advance changes in the trend of real economic activity in this country.

Comparing its record against the actual performance of the economy over the past few years, the bank has found that it usually anticipates upturns by six to nine months, and downturns by three to six months.

Dr. Bagsley is cautious about the outlook of the Trendicator. He expects the next six weeks to provide more solid information.

Then, he says, "it will be possible to confirm whether or not the apparent flattening of Trendicator . . . is a genuine turnaround, or whether it is just a temporary halt of a continuing downtrend.

"Should Trendicator resume its downward course, then prospects for such economic turnaround in Canada would be judged to be poor."

Influence on Schools

What is the role of the university and the school in the shaping of our young people?

In these days of instant communications and of keener political awareness, it is something that must be considered.

The outpourings of Canadian academics, of some at least, among them many from the United States — as quoted by letters and articles in newspapers — make it manifestly clear their sympathies are with the left.

This cannot help but have a bearing on the student population in Canada, both in university and in the secondary schools.

It is something that should be borne in mind in these days of swift political evolution — and revolution. This is still a free country, but remember too that the price of liberty is eternal vigilance.

Five . . . ten . . . twenty years from now, will we still be turning out students free to hold any political belief in a society which, while tolerating such beliefs, remains free? Free, that is, from complete State domination?

Shades of Old Days

The primary schools too, where are they heading? We have been reading of a one-room — yes, one-room — establishment in Cumber East where Rowena Reynolds is in charge and, according to superintendent of schools R. A. Dodds, "she is the most outstanding primary teacher I've seen."

An article in an area newspaper explains that Mrs. Reynolds has fourgrades in one in a school that has several rooms but only one is used and the kids range in age from 6 to 10.

Mrs. Reynolds is not keen on the youngsters being bussed off hither and yon, so she came up with the four grades in one idea. Her students thrive on a combination of strict discipline and a creative atmosphere that is full of challenges.

She doesn't believe in the primer system, and instead of readers the students spend time writing about experiences such as a visit to a farmer's sugar bush.

Best of all, Mrs. Reynolds manages to project a lot of individual attention and praise where it is due. The result, happy growing and awas young individuals of the kind we hope Canada will continue to produce in a "continuing free society.

Lasting impressions are gained at the primary level and unquestionably, it is from a school atmosphere such as the one described here that some of our best citizens will develop.

All Year-round Task

As ever the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) is in the van of providing long-term assistance and emergency relief in developing countries.

Indeed, it is a task UNICEF has been performing for 30 years. To further this vital work, it has launched another campaign for year-round UNICEF cards. Similar to the familiar Christmas cards, these ones carry on the UNICEF tradition by helping to gather vital funds on a continuing basis.

Several sets of cards, available from the Ontario UNICEF Committee, 6 Pallton Crescent, Toronto, are part of the ongoing program of providing help in no fewer than 115 countries.

Construction Industry

Summer of Discontent Anticipated

By DON O'HEARN
Queen's Park Bureau
Thomson News Service

TORONTO — Another summer of trouble in the construction industry would seem to be in the cards.

The Construction Labour Association of Ontario, representing about 1,200 companies in the province, and about half of the construction industry, has been issuing warnings.

And they appear serious enough to warrant attention.

The association says that demands by the construction trades for contracts coming up for renewal this year are completely unrealistic.

And figures cited bear it out.

Thus plumbers in Windsor recently settled for an end package of $12.96 an hour which by the time the contract expires by April of 1977 would mean the normal Windsor plumber would be receiving $23,112 a year in wages and fringe benefits.

In Ottawa carpenters who now receive a wage-fringe package of $8.56 are asking for a further 27.49. This would bring them to $38,324 annually.

Other large demands the association put forward are Oshawa electricians, $8.46 on top of $8.85, for a $16,896 total and a 36 per cent increase, and Kingston sheet-metal workers for a 36.91 boost for a 65.8 per cent increase and a $26,700 total.

The association doesn't say so, but you suspect that many of these demands, or close to them, will be granted.

Its concern is about the bargaining approach now followed in the province and for this it largely blames the government.

Under this approach a good many contractors bargain individually. And some of them, it is felt, settle too easily; if they are small this can be a question of either settling or going broke.

But when they settle they set a precedent for other workers in the particular trade, as when one trade settles it sets an example for other trades. And the consequence is an inflationary spiral.

The construction association wants wider bargaining areas, and blames the government for not making this compulsory.

At present, any wide bargaining within the industry is voluntary.

And this would seem to be one occasion where industry-wide bargaining, undesirable as it may be in some cases, is called for.

The reason, construction trades were able to get such high rates in the past was that their work was seasonal.

But the association says this no longer applies. Statistics Canada data shows that construction workers in Ontario average 38.2 hours a week.

The annual earnings figures that have been used are based on a 36-week year at an average of 38 hours a week.

20 YEARS AGO
May 6, 1955.

The Ontario Department of Highways today called for tenders for grading 4.5 miles of roadbed for four-lane superhighway 401 between Shannonville and Marysville. The contract also calls for the construction of concrete culverts and the laying of a granular base. The call for tenders is in addition to the contract already let for 6.6 miles of roadbed east of Highway No. 14. The roadbed for 401 will extend to a point just west of Marysville, where it joins with Highway No. 2 will be made. Work will commence in June.

With final victory in Europe getting closer by the hour and with the announcement expected to be made at any time, final preparations for the observance of V.E. Day have been announced by the Belleville Victory Committee in charge. It has been decided that if the announcement comes during the day, the remainder of the day will be a holiday while on the day following, the V.E. program will be held.

At the closing meeting for the season of the Association of Teachers and Instructors of the Deaf, H.J. Clarke, B.A., Public School Inspector for South Hastings, was honored by members of the Association at the conclusion of his twenty-seventh year as inspector of the Ontario Schools for the Deaf. The warm regard in which Mr. Clarke is held by all members of the school with whom he had been associated was expressed in the sincere tribute paid to his tireless interest and constant encouragement, and as a farewell gift a painting by Mr. Clarke's daughter was presented to Mr. Clarke.

The occasion was a reception for the living life members of the Chapter, only 8 remaining of the original 33. The Chapter was established in 1858 with 33 brothers from the Chapter in Kingston incorporated in Chapter Hiro. The tools they used originally were revived at the reception and were in the degree work with the visiting masons from Kingston.

LETTERS

Health Unit Nurses' Pay

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

I wish to respond to Robin Clare's letter of Thursday's paper concerning contract negotiations between Local 31 of the OPSEU and the Hastings and Prince Edward Counties Board of Health.

As a concerned citizen of Belleville I would like to see what happened to the cash made available by the Ministry of Health in August 1974 for merit salaries. It is apparent that two groups of civil servants, performing similar tasks—with the exception of the training for Public Health Nurses) — can be paid at two different rates.

Perhaps arguments can be made that other centres at hospitals have poorer working conditions, shorter hours of shift work; however I understand a shift differential is given to hospitals which would be inconvenience of night work.

Clare's letter implies that observed at the Health that deserve equal treatment. I have had the opportunity to see the Public Health Unit nurses in a secondary school, and I feel they perform a much needed role in the community. It is a preventative, which includes such tasks as screening, immunization, and advice, assisting in student counselling and organizing immunization programs. These services are performed by a nurse who, I feel, they should not be insulted, by such low pay.

If the Health Unit wishes to retain its high calibre of nursing staff, they must offer reasonable wages.

Canadian Content Missing

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

I have a very large complaint about our international system.

My son is in Grade 4 and as far has his city knows, little about Canada. As far as most of them know, I'm sure they taught anything about our own area. Since Grade one he's been bringing home work sheets and coloring books that all had pictures of the United States. The American.

In Grade two he brought home a coloring book that had a full page on American politics. When asked why not Canadian Minister of Canada was he answered either Trudeau or Stanley. I made me angry but the paper he brought home last week really cut it. It is a Grade 4 work sheet titled "Parts of Canada" — a direct quote from this sheet is:

"Each country has its own air, has its own flag, its own president is, Washington, D.C. is the capital of Canada."

Now as far as I know we have not because the last time I check and I resent the school system for giving the impression to our children. If our Ontario Board of Education is too stupid to know the facts of this, maybe other citizens are not.

I am not anti-American but I do believe this is just a bit much.

MR. AND MRS. L. McCAW.

Students' Hospitality

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

Due to the demands on The Intelligencer in this particular week, I feel that it was impossible for the paper to cover the Senior Citizens' Tea held on May 1 for the students of Sir Mackenzie Senior Secondary.

I am a volunteer of the Hall Hills Senior Citizens' Auxiliary in extended care, and I was very impressed with the size of our Senior Citizens to this tea.

They had a wonderful time, and I feel it was a great day for the school. The students couldn't have been more helpful to them.

Grade 12 Home Economics Class did most of the preparation, and did a fine serving were very pleasant.

I do think a lot of credit should be given to these teachers and students involved in this project, as it was a lot of work.

Many thanks to everyone.

Rat Race Attracts Boaters

By NAN WHITLAW
Staff Correspondent

BANCROFT — It's only two weeks until the first annual Bancroft River Rat Race is held on the York River and a number of local race enthusiasts are busy putting the final touches on their home-made crafts.

Bancroft businessman Norm Maxwell has designed and built a craft which should zap down the 12-mile race route in a minimum of time with its six-man crew.

The Maxwell craft will be powered by three pairs of bicycles making paddle wheels go, while two more are sitting on plush bucket seats rowing and the sixth man operates the pole.

According to Mr. Maxwell, the craft was made from scrap parts and lumber however, the seats, bearing and bushings have cost about $130.

Who knows with these extravagant costs perhaps the River Rat race will turn into the sport of kings?

The winning prize will be $100.

Conflict?

Sidney Township Council has proclaimed the week June 15 to 21, Senior Citizens Week — but not before Deputy Reeve Glen Meyers declared a conflict.

The deputy reeve, 71 today, began to make a motion that the week for senior citizens be proclaimed when he stopped in mid-sentence to say, "I can't move this thing. I'd be in conflict of interest."

Pedals Paddle-wheeler

Bancroft businessman Norm Maxwell gives his River Rat Race Craft a dry run before trying it out on the York River race route. The Race will be run in Bancroft on May 18 during the Mayfest week-end celebrations.

Walls rising for Bancroft Senior Citizens' housing

Senior Housing Closer

BANCROFT — The long hoped for senior citizens housing for North Hastings is coming closer with the construction of the forms and supports for the 16-unit building.

The project is being financed by the Ontario Housing Corporation and is supported by the nine northern townships of the county.

No completion date has been set yet for the units however application forms for occupancy are available at the local municipal office.

The million-dollar plus contract for the building was awarded to Taro properties of St. Catharines.

Fire Truck Named 'Lemon'

Sidney Township has the first yellow fire vehicle in Hastings County.

Purchased recently for $41,000 the truck is designed to go into service in the Bayside fire hall when that building is constructed.

"They're calling it the lemon" said Township Fire Chief Douglas Scott. "That refers to the color," he assured council, "and is not an indication of how the pumper works."

Sidney Levy Up Substantially

Sidney Township rate payers should have some indication of what their 1975 budget will look like within the next two weeks, it was learned at a council meeting Monday.

Hastings County council and school levies were announced to be up substantially for Sidney Township this year which led Deputy Reeve Glen Meyers to say "we seem to be the sugar daddy of Hastings County".

The township will pay $138,000 or 48 per cent more to the county this year and $113,500 or 17 per cent more to the board of education. These figures do not necessarily mean equally substantial increases in the mill rate bills to the township resident, said the township treasurer.

Reeve Gord Willman said there should be some "good indication of mill rates for the year by early next week".

Formal budget discussions in council are expected by May 20.

Six Congregations Participate in Service

BANCROFT — The annual North Hastings ecumenical service of Christian witness was held Thursday in Bancroft.

Six congregations participated in the service which was conducted by Rev. George Elson of the Anglican parish of North Hastings.

Also involved in the service were Mr. George Elsasser, John Weese, Bernard Paskoski and a massed choir from area churches.

In his sermon to the interdenominational congregation, Rev. Elson said," We need joy in our lives. — we need to reassess our religious attitudes so that we enjoy life not just endure it.

"We can really live life or just let it go by us as if it were unwanted said Mr. Elson, as he urged those present to have, "a lift in your heart and a spring in your step."

Solzhenitsyn Travels

MONTREAL (CP) — Alexander Solzhenitsyn left Montreal Monday "in the g... ...ction of Ottawa and Toronto, moving just as unobtrusively as he came of the characters in his own novels.

The exiled Soviet writer spent the Russian Orthodox Easter in Ottawa at a spiritual retreat until Sunday after arriving here April 28 for a private Canadian visit from his new home in Switzerland.

Rev. John Tkachuk, dean of St. Peter and St. Paul Cathedral where Mr. Solzhenitsyn worshipped, said he does not know the author's travel plans and also could not say where he will stay in Toronto, Ottawa and perhaps other Ontario centres.

Athletes Need Help

TORONTO (CP) — Money spent on a sports achievement dinner April 29 would have been more wisely spent had it been given to Ontario's needy athletes, Liberal leader Robert Nixon suggested Monday.

He described the dinner as a "colossal" event and said he became concerned about Ontario's Olympic athletes after reading a Toronto Sun report on Sunday.

George Gross, Sun sports editor, wrote that some of the athletes are leaving Ontario because they do not have enough financial support to carry on preparations for the 1976 Olympic Games.

Eric Winkler, chairman of management board, said the dinner was an annual affair and was included in expenditure estimates of the ministry of culture and recreation.

He said he hadn't seen the article but would track it down and discuss it with Robert Welch, minister of culture and recreation.

Library Books Damaged

TORONTO (CP) — About 200 Metro Toronto Library Board books have been torn beyond repair recently at Metropolitan Toronto's central reference library, say library staff.

Almost all divisions of the system said in reports to the board that they are unable to maintain close supervision over 800,000 books, 220,000 pictures, 100,000 maps and other material, 40,000 manuscripts and 28,000 records and tapes because of small staffs.

Services' Sentences Protested

OTTAWA (CP) — Joe Flynn (Lib—Kitchener) sought unsuccessfully Monday an investigation into the sentencing of military personnel in the Atlantic region.

He said in the Commons, that one man was given a year in jail for taking duty-free cigarettes and a bottle of whisky.

Defence Minister James Richardson replied that the sentences "are in order for the crimes committed." He said they can be appealed.

Mr. Flynn said in an interview it is unfair for someone to be given a year in jail for taking duty-free cigarettes off a base "when people crept boxcars every day for smuggling stuff."

He also said a warrant officer was fined $300 and dismissed from the service with no pension after being convicted of providing duty-free liquor and cigarettes to stag movie patrons.

Mr. Flynn says he wants "an investigation into the whole thing. It seems unreasonable."

45 in Danger

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail says the provincial health authorities have asked the health of Elliot Lake, Ont., miners shown that a pneumoconiosis—whose lungs are going through changes preliminary to silicosis—is still at work.

Silicosis is an occupational disease that affects the lungs.

The newspaper says portions of the study will be tabled in the legislature today.

No Inquiry

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario government has no plans for a public inquiry regarding insurance companies to justify predicted auto insurance increases of about 15 per cent, Consumer Affairs Minister Sidney Handleman told the legislature Monday.

Lack Power

OTTAWA (CP) — Government guides designed to tighten controls over marine dredging contracts following recent scandals still cannot be enforced in ports like Hamilton, the Commons was told Monday.

Public Works Minister C. M. Drury said the federal government does not have direct control over ports such as Hamilton, which is governed by a harbor commission with considerable independence.

Plan Opposed

BARRIE, Ont. (CP) — Reeve Bill Gibbins of Innisfil Township has announced a campaign against expansion of Barrie as proposed by the provincially-appointed Simcoe-Georgian area study group.

Tickets on Sale

TORONTO (CP) — Large crowds gathered in Monday as tickets for the 1976 Olympic Games in Montreal went on sale exclusively at T. Eaton Co. Ltd. stores across Canada.

"The demand has just been unbelievable," said T. J. Jones, Eaton's vice-president of special marketing services responsible for the ticket sales.

Action Asked

TORONTO (CP) — The union at the Denison Mines Ltd. uranium mine in Elliot Lake, Ont., has asked federal and provincial authorities to prosecute the company for violation of overtime regulations, the union president says.

Ed Vance, president of Local 862, United Steel Workers of America, said in an interview the union believes Denison has violated provincial and federal laws by having men work up to 70 hours a week underground.

Help Sought

OTTAWA (CP) — A group of athletes training for the 1976 Olympics talked to Health Minister Marc Lalonde Monday about their financial problems.

"We will be looking at their representations," Mr. Lalonde said after the meeting. He did not commit the government to increasing subsidies for athletes.

Perjury Charged

HAMILTON (CP) — Ivo Bernatovic, 28, of Hamilton, who claims to be a high-ranking officer in the Croatian Armed Forces, was remanded Monday in provincial court until July 4 on a charge of perjury.

Bernatovic, who also says he is a Yugoslav policeman, was denied bail April 30 when RCMP Constable Lance Hodges testified that he was charged under false claims were found in his passport and application for identity papers.

Bernatovic was among five men charged last month with possession of explosives and restricted weapons. The men said they were officers in the Croatian Armed Forces.

Sales High

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Chrysler Canada Ltd. reported Monday the second highest April passenger car and truck retail deliveries in the company's history.

Record Month

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP) — General Motors of Canada Ltd. dealers delivered 45,675 passenger cars and trucks during April, a record for the month, and 4.5 per cent higher than the 43,840 delivered last year, J. D. Duffy, company vice-president, announced Monday.

Truck sales of 11,648 set a record for April, exceeding the previous record by 15.5 per cent. Passenger car deliveries of 34,027 compared with the 1973 April record of 34,363.

Repeal Law

TORONTO (CP) — The legislature voted Monday to repeal a law allowing provincial judges to send children to training schools if their parents allege they are unmanageable.

Correctional Services Minister Richard Potter said during debate Monday that a government committee will study each child now in a school under Section 8 of the previous Training School Act.

The section allowed children to be committed if their parents said they were uncontrollable, if no suitable welfare agency was available and if the schools provided "necessary training and treatment."

Lottery on TV

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Lottery Corporation has purchased 30 minutes of prime television time to announce winning ticket numbers in its first Winfario lottery, to be televised on CTV network stations at 9:30 p.m. May 15

Jim Perry, master of ceremonies for two previous Olympic lottery extravaganzas on national television, will perform a similar task for the Winfario production.

Bankruptcy Legislation Changes Are Proposed

OTTAWA (CP) — The government proposed new federal bankruptcy legislation Monday, stiffening the liabilities for directors and officers of bankrupt corporations but simplifying insolvency procedures for consumers and small businesses.

The legislation was introduced in the House of Commons by Corporate Affairs Minister Andre Ouellet, but it has been under preparation by department officials for several years.

Mr. Ouellet said later that the government's intent is to make it easier for businesses and consumer debtors to make an arrangement, either through extended time to pay or by repaying a rateable part of each debtor's claim, rather than declare a straight bankruptcy.

He predicted the number of bankruptcies could be reduced by as much as 50 per cent. In 1974, there were 2,242 business bankruptcies and 4,511 bankruptcies by individuals and professionals.

School Classes Urged In Immigrants' Tongues

TORONTO (CP) — A city board of education report says the emerging immigrant majority in Toronto schools should be encouraged to study its native language and culture.

The report by the board's multiculturalism study group says programs using a child's native language should be implemented in the primary grades and courses on ethnic cultures in later grades.

The report—based on a year-long study by six trustees and two board officials—rejects a quota system in hiring but recommends active recruitment of teachers from ethnic and racial groups.

The study group's recommendations would create about 25 new positions, known as school-community liaison officers, to explain the school system to immigrant parents and students and to interpret the hopes and concerns of ethnic groups to the board.

"We are asking the board for a broad policy statement that the system—teachers and all departments become responsive to the needs and aspirations of the ethnic communities," said trustee Daniel Lackie, chairman of the study group which will report to the board later this month.

Awards Made

NEW YORK (AP) — The Boston Globe has won its fourth Pulitzer Prize in nine years, and playwright Edward Albee has been honored with his second Pulitzer in eight years.

Imports Up

DETROIT (AP) — One out of five United States new car buyers picked a foreign model in April, giving imports a record share of the U.S. market. Domestic sales remained at a 16-year low.

Electricians Will Be Paid $13.34 an Hour

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto's 4,300 unionized electricians will vote Sunday on a tentative agreement that will give them a 52-an-hour increase over a two-year contract.

The agreement provides $1.38 an hour during the first year and a further $1.38 in the second year. The old agreement expired May 1.

The current combination of wages, vacation pay and health and welfare benefits total $18.34 an hour. The tentative agreement would raise this figure to $11.94 in the first year and to $12.34 in the second year.

Before and After

Elizabeth DeVries before and after makeup session with Paulo Mazzoni, creative makeup director for Elizabeth Arden. ## 'There's Nothing Bad About Looking Good'

TORONTO (CP) — A man who has rouged the cheeks of such famous women as the Duchess of Windsor and singer Maria Callas believes that perfect beauty is boring and finds flaws "rather interesting."

Paulo Mazzoni, creative makeup director for Elizabeth Arden in New York, is in Canada for demonstrations in department stores in Toronto and Winnipeg.

He said: "I give each woman individual advice" on makeup. "There is always something special to discover, some sexy thing she has.

"There is something lovable about differences which must be played up—it is the only way to be remembered."

Mr. Mazzoni suggested that with fashions becoming softer, floatier and more alluring, the more defined look of realistic makeup is replaced by a soft tender look.

"In all cases it is a clean skin."

The makeup artist's ideal look for the face of spring was demonstrated in a step-by-step session. His model, Elizabeth DeVries, is a young woman with fair, peaches-and-cream complexion and natural strawberry-blonde hair. Her eyelashes are fair, and Mr. Mazzoni said that such pale lashes can be dyed black quite simply in a salon.

He started by covering her face with a deep moisturizer, and said: "I like the type of cream that is not too oily, yet penetrates to shield the skin."

Using a foundation cream one shade darker than the model's skin Mr. Mazzoni used a sponge to apply what he described as a more natural cover.

Because "everyone gets shadows under their eyes from age 12 on," he applied concealing cream around the lower part of her eyes.

He then applied a sponge-on cheek color in a cherry and wood tone taking it up beyond the cheekbones to the side of the face by the eyes, and then onwards up the hairline.

"Women blush from high up on the face; this is why the more extensive use of rouge," he explained.

Using a fine horse-hair brush he lightly grazed powder in around the sides and corners of Elizabeth's nostrils.

Starting on her eyes, Mr. Mazzoni applied a plum-toned pencil (the "lead" is soft and pliable almost like crayon and can be used both at eye shadow and liner) and surrounded both the lids and underneath the eyes with color.

"I like using the pencils because they don't flake or smudge," he said.

Picking up a roll-on mascara stick (the type that has the applicator that curls and separates lashes, he applied it from the top of the lid to the bottom of the lash at first.

"Mascara should be applied from back, then from the bottom of the lashes for extra thickness," he said.

Mr. Mazzoni uses eyeliner, contrary to some experts who have said it is harsh.

"I say to women, don't give up eyeliner. Apply it in a thin line along the eyelid, then, while it is wet, smudge it slightly for a natural look."

He puts false eyelashes on after most of the eye makeup has been applied. Then he applies a dark brown pencil from the eyelid all the way up to the brow.

"At night, for a luminous look, I place blue pencil inside the corners of the eye. The blue removes redness in the whites of the eyes by creating an optical illusion."

Finally, he touched Elizabeth's cheekbones with another shade of rouge, this time a wine tone softly blended in so "it wouldn't look like rouge, but a natural illusion."

Using a brow pencil he outlined her lips, then filled them in with lipstick applied with a brush.

He completed the lip work with a glossy stick, again brushed on because "it gives a wet look, very sensual."

Mr. Mazzoni said any woman can achieve the appearance he has created.

"All she needs is moisturizer, foundation, two rouges, a light powder, three or four eye sticks, mascara and lipstick."

And his final comment on women using makeup at all was: "Women's liberation got on my nerves. There is nothing bad about looking better."

Ann Landers

Recognize Dangers of Depression

Dear Ann Landers:: With your extensive coverage why don't you make more of an effort to educate people to the dangers of depression? If you printed a list of famous people who have had severe bouts of depression it would read like Who's Who.

Newspapers are full of stories about suicides and homicides. Hard alone knows how many deaths from "natural causes" were actually planned in advance.

The symptoms of depression are not always the obvious ones. In fact some depressed people can put on a very good front. The things to look for are changes in personality, sleeping habits, unjustified accusations, feelings of being persecuted and abnormal hostility. People who are suddenly show these traits need medical attention.

I needn't tell you, Miss Landers, that there aren't enough psychiatrists to go around. Also, many medical doctors don't know how to recognize the signs of depression. They could use some refresher courses.

There are excellent drugs available that can help lift people out of depressions. A relative of mine who was very nearly non-functional is now on a drug that has made it possible for her to go to work every day and be a wife and mother.

Please enlighten the uninformed.—Up With People.

Dear Up:: Everything you say is true, but I must caution my readers against believing that a drug can cure depression. Medicine can be very helpful in getting a depressed person through a crisis, but to depend on drugs as a way of life is merely masking the symptoms and it does nothing to solve the problem.

For individuals who experience radical personality changes or go into emotional tailspins, I recommend first a thorough physical examination to make sure there is no organic or neurological problem. Then, if the doctor suggests drugs to help, I would say, "Fine, go ahead." Drugs CAN get the patient through the difficult period, but stick to the prescribed dosage and quit when the doctors says, "No more."

Women Dying Like Men

At one time the ratio of male to female deaths from lung cancer was nearly seven to one. It is now four to one, and not because male deaths have declined.

Marvin A. Schneiderman and James A. Peters of the National Cancer Institute.

What happened? Too many women are smoking, too few are quitting. And teen-age girls are starting younger.

Women have become heavy smokers. Women who smoke are dying of lung cancer and other smoking-related diseases at twice the rate of women who don't.

The trend is clear. Women are smoking more like men. And dying like men. And the trend is just beginning.

Dear Doris:: Have you ever met anyone who simply cannot carry on a conversation? Frustrating, isn't it?

We recently started clubbing with my husband's working companions. I have made desperate efforts to get to know their wives by probing their interests, hobbies, etc.; but they seem to leave me at a dead end, straining for something to say.

All Tuked Out!

Dear All: Frustrating is the word for it!

Office parties may bring together quite a miscellany of people, from assorted backgrounds, with only their work places in common. The wives are one step further removed from sharing mutual interests.

Having tried prying, probing, hunting for a fertile topic and failing, look around you for something you and one other might do. Could you pass the sandwiches or offer help in the kitchen? Or lend a hand with some part of what is going on, even if it is just helping some equally desperate wife find the washroom as an escape?

It does happen that occupying the hands is a good way to begin communicating, when the tongue fails. I'm sending you my free 25-cent leaflet:: "Tips On Talking" and "On Making Conversation". They were both written for the younger set, but contain ideas to help anyone.

50th ANNIVERSARY

Mabel and Eugene Brady McGill Street, Marmora, recently celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with an open house at Sacred Heart Church Hall.

They were married April 23, 1925, after a five year courtship by the late Father B.L. Farrell.

The day began with a special mass at 9:30 a.m. celebrated by Father T.C. Scanlon and attended by all members of the family in a group photo. Four grandchildren who sang as a group, Father Scanlon presented Mr. and Mrs. Brady with a Papal Blessing in honor of the occasion. A brunch was held at the Relm Club for members of the family following the service.

Many friends made during a lifetime in Marmora called during open house to extend their congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Brady.

Visiting two children, Mrs. Richard Scanlon (Patricia) of Scarborough and son Tom of Marmora Township, and their respective families were on hand for the celebration, as were eleven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Also present were Mr. Brady's sister Mary of Marmora, brothers Charles and Hugh of Marmora and Jack of Norwood. Charley was best man at his brother's wedding.

On Mrs. Brady's side of the family, two sisters, Mrs. Hugh Brady (Ada) of Marmora and Mrs. Frank Franklin (Edith) of Brantford and brothers Ernest Archer of Bowmanville and Bill Archer of Toronto, attended. Another brother, Percy of Peterborough, was unable to be present.

Mr. Brady retired in 1969 after spending 25 years with Dominion Sandstone and Refining Company and five years with Deloro Stellite in Belleville.

The church hall was decorated for the occasion with baskets of flowers, streamers and candles. The focal point of the tea table was the three-tiered wedding cake made by Mrs. Brady herself and decorated by Eileen Barrons.

Tea was poured during the afternoon by Mrs. Franklin, Mary Brady, Mrs. Hugh Brady and Bessie Tinsdell.

Messages of congratulation were received by Mr. and Mrs. Brady from Governor-General John Lord, Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau, Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield, Premier William Davis.

Clarke T. Robins, Hastings MPP and Mrs. Robins called during the afternoon and presented a plaque from the Government of Ontario. Hundreds of cards and a number of gifts were also received by the happy couple.

A potluck supper attended by 250 of Dad's friends and relatives concluded the celebration.

HART'S - RIGGS' WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

Mrs. Cecil Weeks was re-elected president of the Hart's-Riggs' Women's Institute recently as the organization held their annual meeting in the Institute Hall, beginning with a pot luck dinner at noon.

Mrs. Weeks, after thanking the branch and the officers for their active co-operation during the past year, declared all offices vacant and requested Mrs. Allan Pigeon to conduct the election of officers.

Others installed in the various offices were past president, Mrs. Allan Pigeon; first vice-president, Mrs. Joe Foley; second vice-pres., Mrs. David Franklin; secretary, Mrs. Max Burnside; treasurer, Mrs. Carl Fleming; district directors, Mrs. Allan Pigeon; public relations officer, Mrs. Max Burnside; branch director, Mrs. Earl Gerrmith; Mrs. Arthur Fleming and Mrs. John Howard.

Mrs. Weeks opened the meeting in the usual manner and welcomed those present. In answer to the roll call, 21 ladies paid their membership fees and choices of senior training school and short courses for 1975-76 were made.

Mary Sutherland, Special Nursery Teacher

In both her career and personal life, Mary Sutherland's approach is a very positive one.

As a teacher, she tries "to catch a kid doing good," rewarding and praising the progress each child makes.

As a citizen of Belleville for the last three years, she has already made a considerable contribution to the city's education programs for special children.

Mrs. Sutherland has been one of the local women responsible for three Local Initiatives Project grants received by Belleville groups — two for Project Help, an aid to children with learning disabilities, and one for the Toy Lending Library begun this year by Queen Mary School.

"I think this city is one in a million," she says. "There are so many people involved in the community, so many people who care. Whenever I need something, there's always someone I can call, who can help with what I'm doing or suggest someone else who can."

Unlike some newcomers who find Belleville "hard to break into," Mrs. Sutherland finds it a warm, friendly place, and rapidly became part of city projects concerning children. She is now head teacher at the Special Nursery on John Street, a treatment centre for children whose emotional problems impair their learning abilities.

There are 12 pre-schoolers between two and six years old there, who take part in a carefully individualized program structured by Mrs. Sutherland, Dr. R. D. Cole, and a team consisting of teachers, child care worker and a psychologist.

"Our aim is to integrate these children into the regular school system," says Mrs. Sutherland, who uses a variety of approaches in order to reach her goal. "We modify their behavior by reinforcing the good behavior. We don't punish bad behavior, we isolate the child from the group until he's ready to come back.

"If we punished a child in front of the others it might encourage them to act up too, in order to get attention."

Mrs. Sutherland, who had lived in Montreal until she and her husband Lyle and their three children moved to Bancroft five years ago, is a graduate of McGill and has had a wide range of experiences dealing with children.

She and her husband where job as an educational assistant for the Hastings County Board of Education brought the family to Belleville — worked in summer recreation programs together before they were married and have always been involved and interested in education.

"Back in high school I worked with retarded children, and I worked with emotionally disturbed teenagers prior to our move," she recalls. "But I must say I love this job more than any. They respond so openly, and are so appreciative."

"You can see change more rapidly, and in a way that makes it easier, since there's so much preventive work to do."

Mrs. Sutherland is already seeing the happy results of the Special Nursery program. Some children have already "graduated" and many others are making great strides in their language-learning ability.

"This is really the most satisfying kind of job," says Mrs. Sutherland.

LORETTA, EMMA AND SANDRA

It's a serious business having your picture taken for Today's Child — at least we of these girls seem to think so. Loretta, back right, isn't quite as serious as her sisters. She has a twinkle and an almost-smile that shows dangling dimples. The girls are Indian and white in descent. Emma is 10, Loretta nine, Sandra six.

These healthy, active youngsters all wear glasses — near-sightedness. Emma will need some orthodontic work when she is a little older. The Children's Aid Society will assume responsibility for this if the financial burden might be an obstacle to the children being adopted.

The girls are average in ability. Emma is in Grade four, Loretta in Grade three and Sandra in Grade one.

The sisters are living apart now. Emma and Loretta in one foster home and Sandra in another. They look forward to frequent visits arranged by their social worker but their dearest wish is that visits won't be necessary — that they will be together in an adoption home with a mother and father belonging to all of them.

Emma especially worries about the separation because as the oldest she feels responsible for her sisters. How can she watch over Sandra when she doesn't see her every day?

All three are outgoing children, not too shy to be friendly with strangers. With people they know they are affectionate and one can foresee them being loving and demonstrative as soon as they feel comfortable with new parents.

Sandra is the outdoor one of the trio. Swimming in summer and skating in winter rate high with her but whether there's a planned activity or not she likes to be outside in any weather.

Emma and Loretta enjoy swimming in cold weather they are inclined to prefer indoor games. Both like drawing and painting and they spend a good deal of time at crafts. Emma is learning to sew by making dolls' clothes.

Sandra is a contented youngster, happy to play alone if nobody she is around. She likes music and has a good singing voice.

The girls are adaptable enough to fit easily into a new family. Lovable youngsters, they will blossom in a warm, cherishing atmosphere.

To inquire about adopting Emma, Loretta and Sandra, please write to Today's Child, Ministry of Community and Social Services, Box 888, Station K, Toronto, M4P 3E3.

Watercolors On Display

Twila Langman helps Dorinda Cameron hang her recent water colors in the lower gallery at Corby Library, in preparation for her May 9-19 exhibit.

Several large water colors by Dorinda Cameron are now hanging in the lower gallery of the Corby Library art gallery.

Art lovers in the Belleville area have for many years followed the career of Mrs. Cameron, who with her husband Allan owns the Cameron Art Gallery at Rt. 1, Carrying Place.

A native of Owen Sound, Mrs. Cameron has painted all her life. Although she has had no formal training outside of seminars spent at painting schools at Doon, Kempenfelt and Actinolite, she has won several awards, not only in Belleville, but in other cities where she has shown her work.

Dorinda Cameron water-colors have been seen recently in Belleville Art Association exhibits, and in the Quinte Artistes' Visual Arts Display during April. She teaches art classes both for Loyalist College and for the Prince Edward County Board of Education.

The present exhibit of watercolors, on view until May 19, portray a range of realistic scenes and still-life subjects. All the work is for sale.

In the upper gallery of the Corby Library an exhibit of Emily Carr paintings and drawings from the Vancouver Art Gallery will be on display until May 23.

Variety of Books Boon to Gardeners

LAWN BEAUTY — by Editors of Organic Gardening.

This book brings informative lawn advice to readers and shows them how to employ natural organic methods of lawn culture that give lasting, beautiful results.

THE FRAGRANT YEAR — Helen Wilson and L. Bell.

"The Fragrant Year" will increase your pleasure in plants and introduce you to the many fragrant ones that add a delightful fourth dimension to the theme. Particularly valuable are the lists of the most fragrant plants that "freely scent the air".

THE GIFT OF A GARDEN — Beverly Nichols.

Mr. Nichols' books have charmed generations, in the past and will surely do so for generations to come. "The Gift of a Garden" is a condensation of three of his most famous gardening books. It is beautifully illustrated by the drawings of Rex Whistler.

THE GARDEN RULES OF SPRING — Marc Reynolds and William Meachem.

In all phases of gardening, nothing is more rewarding than the appearance of spring-flowering bulbs. They mark the end of winter and the beginning of a new season. This book provides the latest and best information on how to plant, where to plant, for a colorful garden throughout springtime.

WATER GARDENING — Jack Kramer.

Water in the garden — reflecting pools, ponds, fountains and waterfalls, are desirable in almost any garden, large or small. What is more soothing to the ear than the quiet trickles of water on a hot day? "Water Gardening" shows and tells you how to have a small reflecting pool, a large formal pool or a fountain. Construction and explicit how-to-do-it drawings are included.

It's Time Again To Prune Roses

By ROSS HAWTHORNE

It's time for the pleasurable task — the spring cleaning and pruning of your rose bed, with the hope that winter hasn't wrought too great a ravage.

If my roses are any indication, the bed shouldn't be too great. There was a fair amount of snow insulation in February and March and not too many intervals of freezing and thawing. In any case, now is the time to go to work with a trowel, pruning snips, heavy gloves and a bushel basket — and old clothes — because we're going to do a some-how inspection. Oh yes, and don't forget, — a baseball bat.

Your first step is of course to carefully clear away the mounded earth around each shrub. And I say carefully, because there are likely new buds hidden beneath that soil, that can be easily lopped off. I actually do most of it by hand, using the trowel only around the outer periphery of the soil mound.

Once the soil is clear, check the height of the knob or graft where the grafted canes originate. If you can see it — sorry about that — but you're going to have to replant until that graft is buried about one inch. Then, with pruning snips and on hands and knees, inspect every shrub, and every cane on every shrub. Step one is to prune away all twiggy or broken canes or any canes growing into the centre of the shrub. Then comes the major pruning job.

Trace each cane down to the end of the winter kill and then trace farther down the outside, I repeat — outside — of each cane till you come to a bud point, which at this time of the year may be just a colored section of the cane. Then prune the dead cane off about ¼ inch above that outside bud. The reason I stress "outside bud" is this. With this spring pruning you are directing the summer growth — your shrub. And you want your canes to grow outward — away from the centre. If you prune just above a bud facing the centre, then that's the way the new cane will grow — into the centre of the shrub.

Of course, you can prune above a sideways facing bud, as long as you're not directing the new cane into another one.

Now at this point, a word of caution. Cut every dead cane up into small sections and make sure every section goes in the basket. Reason: because even a tiny section of dead cane can be a real hazard to hands and knees in future months. And with that task completed, it's time for feeding.

Roses are notorious eaters and will revel in a fertilizing about every three weeks, from now through till mid September. It doesn't matter powder or you select a fertilizer packed in a bag, tin, bottle or box. Or whether it carries a recommendation for roses, geraniums or vegetables. Rather, look at the numbers on the containers and make sure the first number is the lowest, the second number the highest and the last number is between the two. That middle number represents phosphorous — the ingredient that stimulates flowering and deep root growth. The last number represents potash, the builder of the sturdy stems necessary to hold up the blooms. And application is simple.

Carefully dig a one-foot circle around each shrub, or I should say, loosen the soil — rather than dig — to a depth of six to eight inches. One of those hand forks are ideal for the purpose. Then pour your fertilizer solution carefully into the loosened soil — about 1 gallon to each shrub. And wait. Once the solution has been thoroughly absorbed into the soil, then reach for your trusty baseball bat and with the butt end gently compact the soil around each shrub. And if necessary, fill any pockets to ground level.

You see, roses just won't tolerate air pockets and your baseball bat is the best way to eliminate them. Your neighbours may think you're a little dingy, but your roses will love you for it.

Might Follow Bridge

LONDON (AP) — The famous London chapel of Methodist pioneer John Wesley could be shipped to the United States as was done with the London Bridge if British Methodists cannot restore it, says Rev. A. Stanley Jones. Despite an appeal to Americans to contribute to the cost of renovating the 18th-century building, Methodists still are uncertain the job can be done.

Hull Poses Mental Barrier

HULL, Que. (CP) — The crossing of the Ottawa River in the crossing of a mental barrier for many English-speaking Canadians, says Pierre-Louis Laponite.

Mr. Laponite is co-ordinator of festivities for La Grande Fête, a 24-week celebration this summer to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the incorporation of Hull and the 175th anniversary of its founding.

In planning for the event, Mr. Laponite says he wants to overcome this "mental barrier" of English-speaking residents of Ottawa, yet across the Ottawa River. And he would like to attract some of the thousands of tourists who visit the capital city every year.

Co-ordinator Laponite concedes that some English-speaking Canadians have the trip across the river to drink at the city's night spots and others speed through Hull to reach Gatineau Park and ski centres north of here.

One of the reasons he cited for the "mental barrier" around the city, historically a textile city, and paper centre, is that its population of 64,000 is about 95 per cent French-speaking.

Mr. Laponite, a former historical research officer with the Outaouais Development Corp. noted that this was not always the case. The founder of Hull was an American, Philemon Wright, who began to cultivate the soil of the Ottawa Valley after his arrival in 1800.

Until 1858 the town was largely English-speaking. A vestige of this era remains—a solid stone farmhouse that belonged to the Wright family and dates from 1828.

The building is the property of the National Capital Commission and houses one of the best French restaurants in the capital region.

But Hull has lost some of its other heritage structures in recent years. One of its main churches and its historic city hall were destroyed in fires.

Landmarks a visitor to Hull does see are the federal government's new multi-storey office buildings, which soar above the old downtown structures. Huge cranes mark the skyline along the riverfront where other federal buildings are taking shape.

The Grande Fête will include concerts, car rallies, cultural exhibits, an antique display and an international softball tournament, with teams expected from across Canada and the United States.

Theme for the $100,000 celebration, from June 20 to July 4, is "France . . . c'est la fun; French is fun.

Aquarobic.
The only sewage treatment system for individual households to be accepted by the Ontario Ministry of the Environment.

Aquarobic. You may not know the name of this revolutionary, new, home sewage treatment system, but the Ontario Research Foundation is very familiar with it.

The people at ORF, working in consultation with the Ontario Ministry of the Environment, tested Aquarobic for 12 full months. The result: Aquarobic was accepted for use in Ontario for individual households.

Hundreds of other people . . . owners of full-time dwellings, cottages, chalets . . . have come to know Aquarobic in the past year as the only practical solution for their home sewage treatment problems.

The completely automatic Aquarobic system is the first true alternative to the septic tank. It was perfected and is marketed by a 70-year old Canadian company, Waltec Industries Ltd. The company guarantees every system for 10 years.

Just how much waste water can Aquarobic handle? The answer: Aquarobic can treat up to 400 Canadian gallons of raw sewage per day, the waste water of up to 10 persons.

Sophisticated engineering design often allows Aquarobic to be installed in an area as small as one-fifth the size needed for a septic system. This makes Aquarobic particularly valuable to owners of lots with irregular shapes, rocky terrain, many trees or other limiting site conditions.

If you're concerned about the proper treatment of household waste at your home or cottage, you owe it to yourself to find out more about Aquarobic.

Write for your free copy of our 16-page "Aquarobic Story" — a full-colour book containing detailed information.

Home of the Week

Design R3-1680
1,344 Sq. Ft.

Long, low lines and wide overhangs enhance the exterior appearance of this modern ranch home. The interior is just as attractive.

The entrance is recessed with a roomy front porch, all protected by a roof which is an extension of the roof line over the garage. The entry hall gives access to both living room and family room, the latter having an imposing fireplace and glass doors leading to the garden. The fireplace could be extended to include a barbecue on the terrace.

Wide floor-to-ceiling windows flood the living room with natural light but there is still ample wall space for furniture placement. The master bedroom has its own bath or suite, one of three in the house. A convenient laundry with powder room and large storage closets are located on ground level although the design includes a full basement. The illustrations show the design in frame but the plans include conversion details for building in brick veneer.

Plans for Design R3-1680 cost $25 for the first set, $11 each additional set and are supplied by return mail. Order from Home Planning, 40 Jarvis St., Toronto, Ontario.

Third of Israelis In Union Housing

TEL AVIV (AP) — The labor movement in Israel is so all-embracing that Premier Yitzhak Rabin is a member along with Arab workers and 24,000 Jewish housewives.

A third of the population lives in homes built by the Trades Union Federation's housing programme.

When an Israeli falls sick, chances are he goes to a clinic run by the federation. He rides there on a bus built in a federation-owned factory. The labor monolith not only represents the worker but owns many of the enterprises he works in.

Last March the federation, in which the premier as an individual member has no more voice than a factory welder or an Arab strawberry picker, showed its power in a fight with Rabin's government over rising prices and unemployment.

A showdown with the federation, whose Hebrew name is Histadrut, is virtually impossible because of its political ties, but such a struggle would shake Israel to its economic roots.

The Histadrut represents 80 per cent of all wage and salary earners in the country, its enterprises control 25 per cent of the entire economy and its pension fund assets of 3 billion are almost equal to Israel's defence budget.

So when Yerubam Meshel, the Russian-born former construction worker who heads the Histadrut, protested that the government's new sales and payroll taxes would boost unemployment and worsen Israel's 58-per-cent inflation rate, the government was quick to act.

Three key cabinet ministers, headed by Finance Minister Yehoshua Rabinowitz, rushed from Jerusalem to Histadrut headquarters in Tel Aviv, known to Israelis as the Kremlin.

Under Meshel's prodding on behalf of both workers and employers, the finance minister agreed to reduce the payroll tax from 7.5 to four per cent, speed up reform of other taxes and set up a special inspection squad to catch income tax dodgers.

The compromise was typical of the influence wielded by the Histadrut.

"When it comes to service we think a bank should do more than just give or take your money."

Don't get stuck with a good investment.

It only takes $1000 to make a good investment.

$1000 in a Commerce Term Deposit earns $210.19 interest in three years and one day.

If you decide to put your interest into a Commerce Savings account, you'll earn even more interest.

You'll probably collect it tax free now that the government allows you $1000 interest earnings tax free annually.

But what if you want to get your money out before your three years is up?

Some places won't let you. You're stuck with your commitment.

The Commerce will. It's your money. We feel you should be free to withdraw it when you want it. And after a month, with interest at a slightly lower rate.

Talk to one of our over 1600 managers about a Commerce Term Deposit.

He'll show you how to make saving money profitable. And how not to get stuck with a good investment.

Reap some benefits from all the cheques you write.

If you write ten or more cheques a month, consider a Commerce Key Account.

Because at 16¢ each, ten cheques already cost you $1.60. That's for the cheques you write, period.

But an extra 90¢ makes it a whole different story.

With a Commerce Key Account you can get a preferred rate on most consumer loans, (and that's a nice thing to remember). You can get this summer's travellers' cheques for no extra service charge.

You'll have an identification card which allows you to cash a personal cheque, up to $100, at any of our 1600 Commerce branches in Canada.

And that's not all. There is no service charge when you use 24-Hour Cash Dispensers, you'll get special cheques, money orders, domestic drafts, and a whole raft of other services.

All for a flat $2.50 a month. Or, in your case, maybe 90¢ more than you are paying now for cheques alone.

But hold on. We don't think everybody should get a Commerce Key Account. If you're not writing ten or more cheques you could be wasting your money.

And that's exactly what a Commerce Key Account doesn't want you to do.

How to save money at our expense.

Money makes money. It's a simple fail-safe idea.

Put it into one of the many Commerce savings accounts, and you'll always collect the benefit of interest.

The question is, are you collecting the maximum interest?

The person who can answer that, is one of our over 1600 Commerce managers. Because it depends on your particular requirements.

Take a for instance. A Chequing Savings Account only earns you 3%, calculated on the minimum half-yearly balance. So the idea is to keep your balance low there, and take some of your surplus funds and put them somewhere else.

Maybe into a Savings Account where they'll collect 6½%, calculated on the minimum monthly balance. Or perhaps a Term Deposit. Or Growth Savings Certificates. Maybe even a Commerce SMART registered savings plan so you can also benefit from the income tax deduction.

We think now is the time to make the most of the money you have. At our expense.

So talk to your local Commerce manager. We don't think there's anybody in the world with so much money he doesn't know what to do with it.

But if there is, send him to the Commerce.

How to approach a loan these days.

For a loan, as with anything else, it pays to shop around.

Rates do vary from place to place.

At the Commerce, though our rates are already competitive, we can even go one better. If you have a Commerce Key Account you get preferred rates on most consumer loans.

The fact remains, however, a loan costs money. And you have to repay it.

That's why we'd like to sit down and talk about it with you.

It's part of making sure you don't get in over your head just because you need the money.

If you need the loan for a car, we want to make sure your repayment plan still leaves you money to run it.

Talk to one of our over 1600 Commerce managers about the facts behind a Commerce Bankplan loan.

The more you know about the in's and out's of money, the better you can make use of the money you have.

And that's certainly worth talking about.

IT'S YOUR MONEY. MAKE THE MOST OF IT.

County Strike A First

Hastings County government is believed engaged in the first labor dispute in its history.

Today, its roadworkers — members of Local 783, International Union of Operating Engineers — went on strike after last-minute mediation talks broke down Monday.

Main issues are the hours of work and wages said area union rep. Brian Gunther. However, Mr. Gunther, busy this morning moving between pickets at various county sites did not have time to be immediately more specific.

Carl Bateman, county treasurer-administrator, was at a meeting this morning and could not available for comment.

The local, organized as bargaining unit for roadworkers four years ago, was into contract talks with the county last February before its contract ran out the end of March.

Conciliation talks two weeks ago produced a tentative report — giving the workers the right to legally strike.

Mr. Gunther said mediation talks were held Monday since the workers were entitled to walk out.

But "negotiations broke down completely," he said. "All offers were withdrawn from both sides — We've just lost for now on the work rules and wages."

Membership in the local varies from 25 to a summer high of about 50 when seasonal projects are in full swing, estimated the local's steward, John Boyle.

One road building project directly affected by the strike, he said, was reconstruction of County Road 14 which runs along Thurlow Township's second concession from Belleville to the Shannonville Gravel Road.

Fire Maps Presented

Sidney Township Fire Department — represented here by Chief Douglas Scott and commissioner John Cormack — presented Reeve Harold Wilman Monday showing emergency routes around the township used by fire vehicles. The maps will be placed in the fire halls to aid staff in locating particular farms and the fastest route to take.

Red Shield $10,000 Richer

The opening day of Belleville's Salvation Army 1975 Red Shield campaign closed with $10,000 in contributions.

About $7,000 of the total came in during a door-to-door blitz of the city Monday night.

Goal of the week-long campaign this year is $14,000 up $1,000 from 1974.

Capt. Robert Shore, in charge of the Army's Belleville corps, said the total reached by the end of the first day made organizers "optimistic" the goal would be reached.

Still to be included in the canvass count is the city's business sector and special donors.

Parking on Private Property Poses Problem for Merchants

Indiscriminate parking on private business lots may be an ongoing frustration for businessmen.

It's a problem becoming more complex as the number of unsupervised parking lot increase, believes Police Chief Douglas Crosbie.

But it found no immediate solution by city council's traffic committee Monday.

Before becoming further involved, the committee decided to canvass opinions on the situation from the Downtown Improvement Area board — the city-appointed merchant group which managed downtown projects.

The committee's scrutiny of the problem was touched off at its chairman, Ald. Jack Ireland sought discussion on the possibility of a bylaw dealing with unauthorized parking on private property.

The problem, as it emerged during the debate: drivers have long taken advantage of lots owned by downtown stores and private business — for free parking.

At present, owners may have such vehicles towed away. But businessmen are reluctant. It's not only a matter of public relations, but legal issue could ensue if the vehicles are damaged.

Only legal recourse of lot owners at present is to charge such drivers with petty trespass — if warning signs are posted.

And, if there was a special bylaw, police would be reluctant to enforce it because of the time and expense.

Instead suggested Chief Crosbie, owners could, under a bylaw (1) Contract with the city's Parking Authority for the services of its bylaw enforcement officers, or (2) Have parking-lot attendants officially sworn and appointed to administer such an ordinance.

Costs prohibit the use of police officers as enforcers, agreed Mayor Robin Jeffrey.

"When you think of all the private lots around the city we'd have to hire after, how could we do it? Keep our men on the beat," he said.

Chief Crosbie also warned such enforcement by police could lead to requests from owners of apartment buildings.

"There's no doubt about it," said the chief. "As we get more and more apartments off-street lots we're going to get more problems."

Ald. George Zegouras said if stores maintained attendants to supervise their lots a bylaw would be unnecessary

Keon and Ullman to Oilers?

DAVE KEON

NORM ULLMAN

TORONTO (CP) — Centre Norm Ullman of Toronto Maple Leafs denied Friday's Monday night he has signed a contract with Edmonton Oilers of the World Hockey Association.

Radio station CFCW of Camrose, Alta., said both Ullman and centre Dave Keon were not included in the Leafs' future plans and had left the National Hockey League club for the OilERS.

Oiler general manager Bill Hunter denied the report and said he did not know which WHA club held Keon's playing rights.

Ullman said Edmonton holds his WHA rights and Hunter had called him several weeks ago to say he was interested and would call again later.

He has not called back and no firm offer was made in the initial call and no money was discussed, Ullman said.

The 39-year-old veteran, who becomes a free agent June 1, said he is interested in playing for the Oilers, "but I've heard that several other teams—including one in the NHL—have expressed to me. I'm just waiting to hear."

As for his position with the Leafs, "I'd like to stay with them, but it doesn't look like they want me."

Ullman said he believes Keon, 35, to be in the same situation.

"The last time he signed with the Leafs was when I signed, so I guess he'll be a free agent June 1, too."

Keon was not available for comment.

System Drilled Home

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (CP) — Fred Shero says he took a page from his Soviet hockey textbook to turn the present edition of Philadelphia Flyers into the most disciplined club he has ever coached.

"Every drill we do on the ice is a Russian drill or a European drill," Shero said Friday in a review Monday. "It is designed to make players agile and a lot more attacks under game conditions."

Shero doesn't believe in scrimmaging unless it's controlled. "We hardly scrimmage, about once every two weeks briefly."

Like the Russians, the Flyers always manage to get a piece of a player in their tight-knit hockey game.

The Flyers system has disabled New York Islanders for almost eight of the nine periods the two defending teams have played in their best-of-seven National Hockey League quarter-final playoff series.

Philadelphia built a 3-0 lead in the series Sunday with a 1-0 shutout, limiting the Islanders to a scoring low of 14 shots.

Coach Al Arbour of the Islanders said the Flyers the best team in hockey.

"They take the man out of the play. They don't play the puck. They run into you. They get in your way. They make it very tough on you."

In developing the Philadelphia pattern, Shero said, he studied the Russian game and apply it to our game. And there are a lot of things they could do or could learn from us, I'm sure."

But discipline is not only accepted.

"It's not easy to convince an athlete that what you say is right because generally through the years athletes have played with abandon, without a system.

"They could do anything they want. And now in the NHL, they have to be disciplined. The body wants to be free. They fight it all the time. But now they had my team (last year) where they pretty well accept discipline."

The 54-year-old Winnipeg-born coach brought the expansion Flyers to the Stanley Cup last season in his third year in Philadelphia.

In the current playoffs, the Flyers have allowed 19 goals in seven games. Goalie Bernie Parent recorded three shutouts and Wayne Stephenson one.

In its playoffs, Shero said, discipline is a prerequisite to success.

"Even though the checks are somewhat slow at times you get to accept this and discipline yourself. You get to look at the check. Your whole game is at stake. It takes courage to do this."

But, as Shero noted, it's easy for a player to believe in a system when the team is winning. And the Flyers are on a pre-game unbeaten streak going back into the regular season.

Spruce Grove Squares Final

EDMONTON (CP) — Rookie Barry Dean scored twice and added an assist Monday night as Spruce Grove Metis outplayed 1-2 over Calgary Cowboys to even their best-of-seven Centennial Cup hockey final at one game apiece.

Brown, a brilliant 18-year-old prospect, who managed only 13 goals during the regular season in the Alberta Junior Hockey League, scored Spruce Grove's first, three goals and another on the last one.

The skirmishes ended Mike Hamill of the Billtmore in a first-period fight that left Dean with a bloody nose and Spruce Grove defenseman Gordon Hunter a little pre-barbed.

"I don't think there is any doubt that the Guelph player was sent from the bench to get hurt," said Dean, who had two goals." Meeder said, "I hope it doesn't mean it will be the kind of series."

Late referee Ron Burwash of Calgary ruled firmly in the first period when the players appeared ready to take the law into their own hands.

"They could do anything they want. And now in the NHL, they have to be disciplined. The body wants to be free. They fight it all the time. But now they had my team (last year) where they pretty well accept discipline."

The 54-year-old Winnipeg-born coach brought the expansion Flyers to the Stanley Cup last season in his third year in Philadelphia.

In the current playoffs, the Flyers have allowed 19 goals in seven games. Goalie Bernie Parent recorded three shutouts and Wayne Stephenson one.

In its playoffs, Shero said, discipline is a prerequisite to success.

"Even though the checks are somewhat slow at times you get to accept this and discipline yourself. You get to look at the check. Your whole game is at stake. It takes courage to do this."

But, as Shero noted, it's easy for a player to believe in a system when the team is winning. And the Flyers are on a pre-game unbeaten streak going back into the regular season.

Islanders Need Another Miracle

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — The story is familiar: New York Islanders are one loss from playoff elimination, Philadelphia Flyers one victory from moving on to Stanley Cup competition.

The Islanders went into the last game of their National Hockey League preliminary round tied 1-1 with New York Rangers, then won the best-of-three series in overtime. They went into the fourth game 1-1 against the Flyers, then Philadelphia, meanwhile, took a week off with a first-round bye, breezed past Toronto with two shutouts in a four-game sweep, and before whirlwinded into the Islanders' home to extending their unbeaten streak to 21 games.

Can New York repeat its four-game comeback against the Stanley Cup champions? The answer is provided by the looks on the Islanders' faces.

"Well, one thing you should know by now is that they are going to fight until the very last second and it's not over," said Coach Al Arbour.

"The odds are against us," added right wing Billy Harris. "But we have to try. But Philadelphia is a different type of team than Pittsburgh was."

Indeed. Flyers Coach Fred Shero has his players at their disciplined best. Their forechecking has never been stronger, their defense more stingy.

Unlike New York can perform a second miracle, the finals will open in Philadelphia. But nobody is writing off the Islanders—least of all the Flyers.

"You can't lay back against a team like this," says Flyers goaltender Bernie Parent. "They didn't come this semi-finals because they were lucky. They're a good hockey team."

Nordiques Given The Runaround

HOUSTON (AP) — If Houston Aeros defeat Quebec Nordiques in their World Hockey Association final playoff series, the league should consider giving an award to the Offshore Technology Conference.

With 60,000 conference delegates jammed virtually every available hotel room, the conclaves have made more money off the city than the Aeros are trying to keep a roof over their heads while battle Quebec Aeros for the WHA championship.

"The nation's sixth largest city and we are forced to go to stay," said Nordiques coach Jacques Demers. "Houston designs have made more money off the city than the Aeros are trying to keep a roof over their heads while battle Quebec Aeros for the WHA championship.

"The nation's sixth largest city and we are forced to go to stay." said Nordiques coach Jacques Demers. "Houston designs have made more money off the city than the Aeros are trying to keep a roof over their heads while battle Quebec Aeros for the WHA championship.

Quebec was forced to check out of a downtown hotel to make room for conference delegates with reservations for Sunday.

With the help of Aeros personnel, a local apartment owner agreed to house the team. Although the apartments were unfurnished, the owner provided mattresses and bath toilet-ries.

Ed Brooks, Aeros director of marketing and sales, said Nordiques officials inspected the apartments and second priority but Monday moved into another hotel that had some cancellations of conference delegates.

Starting the playoffs Saturday still irks Goodman.

Brooks said Goodman sold their first-round series against Minnesota last Thursday in Minneapolis.

"I told the guys to go out and make a good time because we wouldn't start the final series Saturday or Tuesday," Brooks said. Then about three days before the series, he told us to go to Houston. We were expecting to go back to Quebec.

Tax on Teams A New Proposal

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association is proposing to heavily tax professional hockey leagues which do not have a pro-am system which is affiliated with the CAHA.

Roland Mercier, vice-president of the CAHA, said the proposal, which would in effect ask the federal government to tax the leagues for playing in Canadian ice—would only be used as a "last resort."

"We're going to do all we can to work out an agreement with the leagues," Mercier said.

"We want to sit down with them, but right now they're refusing to meet us."

Mercier was referring to the World Hockey Association which already has stated it would have no part of the pro-am setup inter into a pro-am agreement with the CAHA to the Underground of the players it drafts from the CAHA.

The WHA currently owes the CAHA $250,000 in development fees which the National Hockey League is debt free.

He said he submitted the proposal to Robert Giroux, deputy health minister, at a meeting in Toronto last Monday.

He said the CAHA could charge a team $20,000 for an annual permit to play on Canadian ice.

Mercier also said the proposal might cast amateur leagues associated with the pro teams. He said the amateur Ontario hockey league in the United States that was considering expanding to Canada. Under the proposed tax, the amateur league would have to pay the price of playing two games on Canadian ice.

Sabres Looking to Bounce Back

BUFFALO (CP) — Fans in Montreal, New York, or Chicago wonderful if Buffalo Sabres can come back against Montreal Canadiens.

The Sabres who won the first two games of the Stanley Cup semi-final against Montreal, dropped the next two in Montreal and now are outscored 15-4 in the process.

"You have got to figure both teams will be going," Montreal coach Scotty Bowman said after Montreal's fifth game. "You can't say they won't be going because they have to. You can't say the Canadiens won't be go-ing because they're on the road.

"I expect Buffalo will try and forecheck us and try and harass us all over. I think they'll try and block out the two games in Montreal and we'll be going a hog our mountain.

"We can start the game will be important. We have the momentum, but their crowd will help them.

The Canadiens may have one lineup change for tonight's game. Left winger Bob Gainey suffered a hip injury in Saturday's 3-2 victory, but Bowman hopes he will be able to play.

"I hope he'll be ready," Bowman said. "Playing and bodychecking is his game. I think he'll be all right. He's been playing against Rene Robert and Robert Killed us all year."

For the last two games, Gainey has been on a line with Henri Jacques Lemaire. The right winger Jim Roberts and the trio has managed to do an effective job checking Rob Robert and his linemates Gil Perreault and Rick Martin.

Buffalo coach Floyd Smith said he has no plans to pull the Perreault line off Montreal's checking line.

The home coach has the last option on line changes. There's no force. Smith could put another line out on the ice each time Bowman sends out Lemaire's line.

"It's up to Perreault to go out and battle them," Smith said. "If Gil can't do the job, then I can't complain if we have to put out there. He's our best.

"We've got to score more goals. The only difference is that they have scored more tonight's game. Dudley suffered a knee injury in the series opener a week ago and while he doesn't definitely on Sunday, Smith doesn't expect him to be ready for the fifth game.

Smith said that Gerry Desjardins, beaten for all eight goals Saturday night, will start for the Sabres tonight. Ken Dryden will be the starting Montreal netminder.

Tonight's game will be telecast on the CBC national network starting at 8 p.m. EDT.

BOB GAINEY

RICK DUDLEY

Averry said the Canadiens now know they can beat the Sabres.

"In the last two games, we did exactly what we should have done and what we forgot in the first three."

"There is no excuse why we couldn't continue to play in the same vein."

The Sabres will be without winger Rick Dudley for

Sherbrooke Can't Hold Lead

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — For New Westminster Bruins, it was another notch in their roller-coaster season.

For Sherbrooke Beavers, it was another game of the Memorial Cup round-robin tournament brought back haunting memories.

The Bruins, champions of the Western Canada Hockey League, scored five unanswered goals in the second period, then hung on for a 7-5 win over the Quebec Major Junior Hockey League winners.

It was the second loss for the Beavers in the first round of the tournament to decide the Canadian major junior hockey champion.

In Saturday night's first game, Toronto Marlboros of the Ontario Hockey Association Major Junior A series came from behind to beat the Beavers 2-1 in overtime.

In that game, Sherbrooke took a 3-0 lead then collapsed before the Toronto power play and gave up three second-period goals.

In Monday's game, the Beavers led 3-0 at the end of the first period but squandered quickly in the second, and gave New Westminster more than enough chances to score five goals.

New Westminster gave Quebec Toronto in the third game of the first round Wednesday night. The loser will play Sherbrooke on Friday to determine the other town in Sunday's final to be televised at 1:30 p.m. EDT on CTV.

The Bruins are getting used to coming from behind. They trailed Victoria Cougars 4-1 in the third period of a second-final game, and came back to win. In the WCHL final series with Saskatoon Blades, they trailed 3-0 and 4-3 in a best-of-seven set, but came back with two victories to represent Canada in the league in the Memorial Cup.

Fred Berry, Barry Smith, Richard Shinyey, Kelly Secord, Brian Shnyr, Steve Clippingdale and Clayton Pachal scored the New Westminster goals. Robert Simpson and Claude Larose had two each for Sherbrooke, and Richard Mulhern had the other.

The game-played before a crowd of 3,156 at Kitchener memorial Auditorium—saw 102 minutes in penalties called, including 14 fighting majors.

Bruins Coach Lorne Ernie McLean said Sherbrooke was the opposite the Bruins, but didn't succeed when New Westminster started skating in the second period.

Meanwhile, the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, organizer of the eight-day tournament, had harsh news for professional leagues that don't wish to pay development fees for junior players they draft from the association.

Roland Mercier, CAHA vice-president, said he has proposed that the federal government tax the professional leagues for the right to play on Canadian ice if an agreement can be reached.

Mercier stressed the tax would only be used as a last resort. He was referring to the World Hockey Association — which has already said it will not, under the present setup, enter into a pro-am agreement with the CAHA to pay for development of junior players it drafts from the CAHA.

No Delay In Final

OTTAWA (CP) — The fourth game of the best-of-seven Allan Cup hockey finals will be played tonight despite a report of a request by one of the teams to have play delayed, a Canadian Amateur Hockey Association (CAHA) spokesman said Monday.

Barrie, Ont., Flyers were reported to have asked Monday for a delay but the spokesman said "nothing's been made official."

Barrie will play Thunder Bay Twins in Thunder Bay tonight as planned, the spokesman said. The winner leads the series for the Canadian senior hockey championship 3-1.

You Cant Help But Get Your Money's Worth

The Tom O'Hanter Hockey School is on the ropes. Either the citizens of Belleville and the surrounding area support it or kiss it goodbye.

By supporting the school all you have to do is send Junior to it. The cost to you is a mere $65 and Junior gets more professional instruction than he'll likely be able to handle.

There's Jim Turkiewicz, of the Toronto Toros, Jim Jones of Old Vancouver Blazers, Jack McCampbell of Pittsburgh Penguins, and Jack Valiquette, a member of the Toronto Maple Leaf organization.

"We have to have at least 75 daytime students this year," said Gary Green, executive director of the O'Hanter organization, "or next year we move the school to another city."

And, who cares?

Well, if you want to send little Johnny to a hockey school you can send him to one of the operations in Toronto or Peterborough or somewhere away from home. Park out $200 a week. Most of these out of town schools will give four, maybe five, hours of ice time a week and he'll have two instructors shouts' them at him — and 25 or 30 other kids at the same time. The best the Tom can do is six on-ice instructors at all times — therefore offering Johnny more explicit instruction at a personal level.

So what, I mean, what's another $200-250 anyway?

Boys while commuting distances of Tom O'Hanter Hockey School pay $65 and is guaranteed three hours of on-ice instruction a day, two hours of pre-practice lectures, instructional movies, video tapes and hockey systems lectures and two hours of conditioning, crossbeing of weight training, hockey calisthenics, mechanics and special Russian training techniques.

Heard some reasons why you should take advantage of the Tom O'Hanter School while it's still in Belleville? Well, there's the obvious good reasons — and for $65 you should already have heard enough.

Included in the registration fee is Johnny's transportation costs to and from the Trenton Community Gardens where the ice instruction takes place. Once you drop him at Albert College in the east end you don't have to worry about picking him up at night.

What about meals?

That $65 also includes a couple of meals a day. And they are properly prepared meals, selected by a dietician and based on necessary amounts of nutrition for hockey players.

On top of everything else, the $65 includes a hockey sweater, worth about $14, which Johnny hopes once he leaves the school.

Oh yes. And if you support the Tom and send your little youngster, you are also supporting the Belleville Minor Hockey Association. For every student enrolled (three miles commuting distance) Belleville Minor Hockey system gets $5 right off the top of the registration fee.

And if all that ain't enough for $65, maybe you ought to send Johnny to one of these $200 a week camps and take your chances.

SLICES — If at first you don't succeed, try, try again. And you've got to give Doug Adams credit for trying.

Adams and the Belleville McDonald's had their Ontario Football League exhibition game scrubbed last Sunday, he hopped on the phone and lined up the Ohsawa Tuny's for Wednesday night. Just in time fall sinses at the Belleville and District Ladies Softball League to get the game. It was all set. The Mac could have Alemite Park from 7.30 p.m. He even got the nod from the weatherman. The forecast called for warmer temperatures and sunny skies.

This morning, after Adams had scrambled all Monday to make all the arrangements, the Tuny's manager called and told him they couldn't make it.

"They have a game tonight and a game Thursday night," said a dejected Adams. "He said only six or seven guys would be able to hook off work, three nights in a row so they wouldn't be able to come down."

"I don't know why he didn't say "no" in the first place," said the general manager.

Adams is trying to reschedule the Ohsawa visit for another weekend, but while he's at it he's also trying to schedule an exhibition game against last year's OFL champs, Newmarket.

That doubleheader is also scheduled for 2 p.m. at Alemite Park.

Lions Major Midget manager, Gerry Murphy, presents Tony Bennett with the team's Most Improved Player award for the 1974-75 season. Bennett came to the team at the first of the year a fringe player and developed into one of the club's more steady performers.

Contest Serves Double Purpose

The Big Fish Contest, conducted annually for the past 15 years by the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters, is now open and will run until November 16.

The cash awards total $2,300 and range from $100 for the biggest fish in each of the eight eligible species to $10 for the 15th prize.

In addition, all fish that meet the minimum weight requirements for the species, qualify for a special angler's certificate. The contest is run in co-operation with Molson's Brewery (Ontario) Limited.

The prize fish eligible for entry in the contest are Rainbow Trout, Speckled (Brook) Trout, Lake Trout or Splake, Walleye (Pickerel) Northern Pike, Largemouth Bass, Smallmouth Bass and Muskinunge.

Entry forms must be accompanied by a clear side view photograph of the fish. Scale samples are requested, if possible, and these are sent to the Ministry of Natural Resources for study.

Scales submitted over the past years have provided the Fisheries Department with valuable information on our sport fish.

Entry forms are available at convenient location throughout the Province and can also be obtained by writing to the Big Fish Contest, Box 1280, Campbellford, Ontario.

Girls Enter 28th Annual Run

A First for Colling Road Race

John Sheppard, a 17-year-old student at Quinte Secondary School, is the favorite to win this year's Ken Colling Memorial Road Race scheduled for Wednesday afternoon.

The local marathoner won the run last year finishing 17 yards ahead of his closest rival, also from Quinte.

In 1974 Sheppard completed the course in 28.23 and hoping to run against strong winds. This year, if weather conditions are favorable he could smash the four-mile run's record of 21:46.5, set by Pictou's Paul Cory in 1973.

This year John will get some competition he didn't plan on. For the first time in the 28-year history of the event it has opened its doors to females.

In the field of 70 runners registered so far, there are six girls. One from Nicholson Catholic College, one from Centennial secondary School and five from Bayside Secondary School.

The top 25 runners in the event receive crests and the girls are expected to give the top 26 finishers a run for their money.

Quinte runners are favored, while competitors from East Northumberland in Brighton, led by Dave Peckham, are also rated strong contenders. If strength comes in numbers, Belleville Collegiate Institute (BCI) should have a good shot since there are nine entered from that school.

The event starts and finishes at BCI. Starting time is 1.30 p.m.

JOHN SHEPPARD

Sandy Waterson, the top scorer during the Lions Major Midgets Ontario Minor Hockey Association season, accepts the club's scoring trophy from Fred Merrill at Saturday night's awards banquet. Waterson tallied 52 goals in new club record for a single season and added 38 assists for 90 points. His total points was a new single season record for the major midgets.

ELECTED TO CLUB

NEW YORK (CP) — Lt.-Col. harles Baker of King, Ont., chairman of the board of the Ontario Jockey Club, has been elected to membership in The Jockey Club, it was announced Monday. Baker, who has his own racing stable, is honorary president of the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair in Toronto and was an international equestrian for Canada, winning medals in the 1956 and 1960 Olympics and 1959 Pan American Games.

LEAVES FOR PREAKNESS

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Kentucky Derby winner Foolish Pleasure left Monday for Pimlico and the Preakness, where he will be challenged by some of the thoroughbreds he whipped in the first leg of the Triple Crown in the United States. Also making the trip to Baltimore for the race on May 17 are Diabolo, owned by Frank McMahon of Vancouver which finished third in Saturday's race here, and Dr. Anthony Longden's Bold Champion, which ran eighth.

CONFIRMS TITLE FIGHT

NEW YORK (AP) — Promoter Don King confirmed Monday that Muhammad Ali is scheduled to defend his world heavyweight boxing title against Joe Bugner in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, on June 30. The only stumbling block would be a loss by Ali to Ron Lyle on May 16 at Las Vegas. King said Ali would receive more than $2 million for the fight, to be seen on closed circuit television, and European champion Bugner will get $500,000.

PINK PLATINUM WINS

CHICAGO (AP) — Pink Platinum, making up eight lengths in the last three furlongs, routed 16 rivals to capture the $37,175 Balmoral Handicap at Sportsman's Park. Sonas B., more than four lengths behind at the wire, was second. Pink Platinum earned $22,365 for owner Herb Spoon of Detroit and paid $4, $3 and $2.40.

Yanks Learn Orioles Are Mudders

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For seven innings in Baltimore Monday night, Baltimore Orioles failed away at the (Catfish) Hunter's pitches. In all that time, all they could manage against him and the New York Yankees were four hits and one run.

It was clearly a time for a little strategy.

"We talked about it in the locker room before the game," said Bobby Grich, whose eighth inning hook shot Hunter's wild throw with R—based the Orioles to their 3-2 American League baseball victory.

"Earl Weaver and his coaches reminded us that it had rained here all night Friday and again on Saturday night—that the field was very wet and to take advantage of it by laying down some bunts."

Hunter had his off the eighth with a perfect bunt down the third base line. It was so well placed that Hunter couldn't get to it. Grich then bunted a ball so almost the same spot. Hunter got in the ball this time but bounced it into right field. By the time it returned to the infield Blair had crossed the plate with the tie-breaking run and Grich was sliding into third.

"I came in and picked up the ball and thought Grich would be past first," Hunter explained. "When I looked up, I saw he was about 20 feet away.

"I had a good grip on the ball but my feet was sliding all the time. I've never seen an infield wet in all my life."

Monday night's other American League games, Texas at Kansas City, California Angels 4-3, and Boston Red Sox at Cleveland Indians 7-5.

In the National League, Montreal Expos beat Chicago Cubs 3-2, St. Louis Cardinals defeated Philadelphia Phillies 11-2, and Los Angeles Dodgers beat Houston Astros 2-0.

Hunter, 2-4, lost despite giving up only six hits. Jim Palmer, 4-2, won with a five-hitter. He fanned seven Yanks and didn't walk any of them.

Carlos Tomo's two-run single capped Texas' three-run burst in the eighth inning that beat the Angels and gave Ferguson Jenkins his fourth consecutive victory. Mike Hargrove's walk and singles by Jim Spencer and Roy Smalley brought in the Rangers' first run, they worked a double steal and Tomo singled to centre.

Luis Melendez and Mike Tyson hit two-run triples in a six-run first inning and Tyson, Reggie Smith and Ted Simmons added homers as the Cardinals, with Bob Gibson notching his first victory of the year, cruised past Philadelphia.

Doug Rau checked Houston on two hits as the Dodgers widened their National League West lead over idle Cincinnati to 3½ games. Los Angeles' rout came on a first-inning sacrifice fly by Rusty Coy and Joe Ferguson's third-inning single.

Parrish, Mangual Belt Homers

Blair a Wild Winner

MONTREAL (CP) — Right-hander Dennis Blair had trouble finding the plate but stumbled across a winning combination Monday night as Montreal Expos held on to defeat Chicago Cubs 3-2 in National League baseball action.

Blair, now 1-3, issued seven walks but gave up only four hits in his 6 2-3 innings and became the Expos' first right-handed winner of the season. Left-hander Dave McNally and Woodie Fryman have three wins apiece.

Pete Mangual's two-run home run in the third inning and Larry Parrish's solo shot in the sixth staked the Expos to a 3-0 lead, but four double plays in the first five innings were instrumental in keeping the erratic Blair in the game.

He came apart in the seventh, when the Cubs got one run on a pinch-hitter Adrian Garrett's ground ball and another on Blair's second wild pitch of the inning. Pete Lacock, who reached on a wild pitch, had walked on a wild pitch, and a walk to pinch-hitter Andy Thornton brought Chuck Taylor out of the bullpen.

Taylor picked up his second save of the season with 2 1-3 relief innings in which he gave up the first batter he faced, Carlos Lezcano, who singled to left field second and the play struck out Thornton at third.

The closest the Cubs came to the tying run after that was a long fly to right-centre field by Lacock to lead off the ninth. Gary Carter hauled it down on the warning track and Taylor struck out Manny Trillo and Don Kessinger to end the game.

Cubs starter Ray Burris, 3-1, took the loss.

Meanwhile, the Expos announced that outfielder Rich Coggins received permission Monday from the club physician to remain workouts following treatment in California for a thyroid problem. Coggins, acquired from Baltimore Orioles of the American League in the off-season, arrives here Sunday but remained on the disabled list.

Quebec Tops Philadelphia

QUEBEC (CP) — Pat Differ and Dave Durante scored three goals each to pace Quebec Caribous to an 18-13 win over Philadelphia Wings in the only National Lacrosse League game Monday night.

The win was the second in five games for the Caribous and prevented Philadelphia from climbing into a first-place tie with Maryland Arrows and Montreal Quebecois. The Wings have a 4-5 won-lost record for eight points.

IN MEMORIAM

LOWRIE — In loving memory of a dear friend Roy Lowrie, who passed away on May 6, 1974.
Just a thought of your remembrance,
Just a memory and and true,
Just the love and sweet devotion
Of one who thinks of you.
— Myrtle and Family.

BRIGLITTS — In loving memory of our father Ernest Brigloitts who passed away May 6, 1972.
One year ago today you left your home,
Your life you love and labor,
Your love for your family was true
You did your best for all of us,
What more could anyone do.
Those left behind are very good,
We miss you more
You left us quietly, your thoughts
Were kind
But memories you left we are proud to own.
Lovingly missed and always remembered by wife Lily and family.

CARDS OF THANKS

Words cannot express the sincere thanks for kindness and visits to Percy while he was in the hospital, and during his sudden passing. The prayers of my husband, for the comfort of our daughter, Mrs. Jackson Wilson of Grimsby and her 8 sons who were the bearers, the Rev. Dwight Ellis for his comforting words, the Quinte Glass Company and Stokes and In Worlds Minutes, Dr. Ross Gibson and all the other doctors who watched over Percy while in hospital, and to Mrs. Dean Orr for the lovely music, Mr. Ross Orr for his comforting words at the Funeral Home, and the ladies of Calvary Temple for serving lunch.
Mrs. Percy Rollins and family.

BRAND NEW
ONLY $34,900.. URBAN
We have a limited number of lots within the city where we can offer certain three bedroom homes at only $34,900.00. The down payment would be less than $2,000.00 and if it's your first home, you would qualify for entire mortgage and maybe a grants from the Government.
These will be sold on a first come, first sold basis, so call early and get the best choice.

10% MORTGAGE
AND $2,000.00 GRANT
is a combination pretty hard to beat in today's market. We have two houses in the East end, each of which offers just such a combination. You could move in at once. Everything is done — even the lawns are sodded.

INVEST WITH NO CASH
and make several thousands in a couple of years. Sound impossible? Not so! You can let the Government give you a down payment or a new Townhouse, live in it for a couple years and sell at a profit. Ask those who bought townhouses a couple of years ago. Many have made large profits. You can too! You will never get another opportunity like this!

HOW TO WRITE A GOOD CLASSIFIED WANT AD

Be clear; Readers respond more quickly and favorably when given specific information about what you want.

Be Brief; Save money by using abbreviations, initials, and numbers. Make up words for your name and address. If you do not have a post office box or rural route, use your street address.

Place Yourself in the reader's position and ask yourself what you would want to know if you were buying the item you are selling.

Wait And Watch; Be sure you have the item you are selling or the service you are offering available before you start advertising.

Bancroft Animal Pound Getting to be Expensive Operation

By MAX WHITLAW
Staff Correspondent

BANCROFT — The financial situation of the North Hastings Municipal Pound, a joint project of Bancroft and five townships, has recently received the attention of council members.

The pound is in its third month of operation and was constructed through the co-operative efforts of Bancroft, Faraday township, Hershel township, Wollaston township, Cardiff township and the improvement district of Bicroft.

Bancroft has assumed the major responsibility for the pound and village bylaw enforcement officer David Talbot looks after the animals and at the moment is maintaining the building.

During April the pound's expenditures were $38 while revenues totalled only $23. According to Mr. Talbot the expenditure incurred through his hours of work, food, disinfectant and other supplies.

"This pound certainly looks like a losing proposition," said Rae Carswell.

"You're going to have to have an agreement with the rest of the councils for the monthly cost of operating," said Bancroft reeve Russell Hawley. "There is no way Bancroft alone is going to pay $2,600 a year to run this pound."

Mr. Talbot told the council that not all of the other municipalities are using the pound even though they participated in its construction.

He also said that some of the other councils regard him as the only official operator of the pound. "I've been called away from home many evenings to release dogs for residents of township," he said. "I'm also supposed to collect the 'impounding' fee and the money for the tag and return it to the township."

Of the five township four of them have animal control officers who also have access to the pound.

Bancroft reeve Hawley and council instructed Mr. Talbot "built up the cost of the operation of the pound and bill each township on a per capital basis."

According to Mr. Talbot based on a five cent per resident levy Bancroft will pay $108, Faraday township, $69 Hershel, $35, Wollaston, $30, Cardiff, $22, and Bicroft, $90.

The pound is located on Monck Rd. in Faraday township and will be finally approved and completed this summer.

Water and improved ventilation are still necessary according to provincial ministry of agriculture.

"It's compulsory to have air-conditioning in the pound," said reeve Hawley, "but we don't want to have it in the hospital."

Picton Council Considers Provincial Policing

PICTON — With the taxpayer's dollar in mind town council Monday voted to request the Picton Police Commission to obtain cost figures for protection by the Ontario Provincial Police.

The decision followed indications from town clerk Andrew Jarvis and Picton mayor Donald King that the 1975 police budget may be $170,000.

Mr. Jarvis said the budget, which has not yet been approved by the commission through a resolution, apparently allows for a 20 per cent salary increase.

Mayor King, a member of the police commission, told council the commission is now negotiating with the Picton Police Association and "a considerable per centage increase on top of their present salary" is being sought.

He added that four per cent separates the commission and the association in their negotiations.

A pension adjustment also has been requested and payment of past and present OMERS (Ontario Municipal Employment Retirement Service).

"This means a sizable amount to the town," said mayor King.

He added that the police commission did not consider this request but did agree to present OMERS payment and a "a certain per centage increase" in salaries.

"They turned it down and said they would go to arbitration," noted the mayor.

"I would hate to see us lose the police force, we would be losing a certain identity," he observed.

The mayor added, however, that he shares council's concern for ratepayers.

Picton councillor Norman March commented it is council's responsibility to the taxpayer to investigate all possible ways to cut expenses. He moved that the police commission should be asked to obtain the cost of provincial police protection and was supported by reeve Larry Richardson.

"There is no harm in looking into things. The police commission could give a cost comparison for a report to council next month," he said.

Picton deputy — reeve Richard Byers opposed the decision and suggested council is "jumping in with both feet at an inappropriate time."

He said negotiations between the police commission and the police association should be conducted without any outside influence. When the negotiations are complete council can evaluate the results.

Deputy — reeve Byers said if council takes action now a public or indirect effect on negotiations may result.

"It might act as a bomb and cause a further delay but council's views must be considered, "said councillor Norman March.

"We are not to save a dollar and they want a dollar and a big one," he added.

Deputy — reeve Byers said the implication of the motion is that council is dissatisfied with the police budget.

"How can we be until we known what it is?" he asked.

Picton reeve Larry Richardson pointed out if the negotiating parties had wanted complete privacy they would have held in camera sessions. Since this was not done they are open to public comment.

"Negotiations often include the public sector," he noted.

He termed $170,000 for policing as "a lot of money" and expected investigation of protection through the Ontario Provincial Police.

707 Heads for Guam

TRENTON — An armed forces Boeing 707 from CFB Trenton is flying to Guam today to remove a possible 146 South Vietnamese relatives of Canadian citizens from the Pacific island and bring them to Canada.

The 437 Squadron aircraft left Trenton for Ottawa late Monday to pick up a nine-man medical team and a portable X-ray laboratory. Additional medical supplies were also placed aboard before the aircraft left for the Pacific.

An immigration department spokesman said from Ottawa today the aircraft has 146 seats available for the return flight to Canada, but it is not clear yet how many people the plane will be bringing back.

He said if children are included in the flight, because of their smaller size, more people could be placed aboard the return flight. For the moment, said the spokesman, all those coming to Canada will be South Vietnamese refugees who have been sponsored by relatives in Canada.

"Our first priority is to deal with relatives," he said. So far 226 people have been identified as related to Canadian citizens by a three-man immigration team on Guam.

Pool Set For Picton

PICTON — Town council Monday voted that Picton should act as the designated sponsor of the proposed community swimming pool project to obtain provincial Community Centres grants.

The decision is conditional on the raising of sufficient funds to begin the project.

Picton reeve Larry Richardson, chairman of the recreation and parks committee, said the motion simply finalizes "something that must be done if a pool is to be built."

He said the town could apply for funds available through the Community Centres Act. No financial outlay is involved.

Reeve Richardson explained there is no simple way for county council to act in this capacity although the pool is a county project.

He added the pool is to be located in the town tentatively at Prince Edward College Institute, and when it is completed will be turned over to the town.

He said many persons have been reluctant to donate to the pool fund because of secret ballots at Belleville and the fact that no specific municipality seemed involved.

Around Prince Edward

Wants Cleanup

PICTON — Picton mayor Donald King wants a clean town and with this in mind he has approached the Prince Edward Chamber of Commerce to encourage merchants in street improvements.

Mayor King said he has spoken with Picton police chief Charles Fletcher concerning litterbugs and also has asked the merchants' co-operation in sweeping the walks in front of their stores.

"The Chamber of Commerce welcomed the idea and one of the service clubs may enlarge on it," he observed.

Ask for Tenders

PICTON — Picton's animal control officer, Donald Tucker of Sidney will be given three months notice of termination of his contract with the town to permit new tenders to be called for the job.

Dissatisfaction with animal control here was brought to a head during Monday's council meeting when Picton Reeve Larry Richardson referred to numerous complaints he has received recently.

Reeve Richardson said many persons feel the job could be handled more efficiently by a Prince Edward resident who would be closer to cells of complaint.

Speeders Warned

PICTON — Picton mayor Donald King says he will not tolerate the speeding hot rodders on town streets and has called for a crackdown.

He said Picton police chief Charles Fletcher has assured him that if fences numbers are provided his force will take action to stop the hotrodders.

Belleville Angler Tops

WELLINGTON — A Belleville man, William Little of 174 West Street, won an electric motor, swivel fish seat and a life jacket as first prize in the second annual pickerel derby held here Saturday. His catch weighed in at 8 lbs.

The derby, with fishing in all Prince Edward County waters, drew over 100 participants, said Daryle Boyce, president of the Wellington Lion's Club, sponsors of the event. Anglers from as far away as West Virginia and Florida registered for the derby.

Stelco Plant Built with Algoma Steel, Has Trouble Buying Its Own Fencing

JARVIS, Ont. (CP) — A question Ronald J. (Ron) Tipler sometimes asks himself is why so many Canadians don't seem to know about the huge industrial developments taking place in the Lake Erie area of Haldimand-Norfolk.

"I guess I get the feeling everybody out there knows about us because I take as many people there as I can on every day," he said.

He owns one of his data book for April showing almost daily assignments to Canadian group tours, ranging from school and church groups to engineers and politicians from around the world. They all want to see the biggest development of them all, the four-phase steel plant and industrial park project of Steel Co. of Canada Ltd. (Stelco).

Mr. Tipler is Stelco's community relations supervisor which means he works with local people, keeping them informed on what the company is doing and reminding the way for the day when hordes of workers move in to take the jobs.

If all goes well, the hoffer will be completed in about 10 years, adding a quarter of a million new residents in the area and two new cities to house them.

So, why all the apparent ignorance about a development that will create a population of 1.5 million people and change pastoral Haldimand-Norfolk into another Ruhr or Pittsburgh?

Certainly the townsfolk of Jarvis, Simcoe, Caledonia and Nanticoke, to mention only a few centres, are aware of it. They see it in the trucks that seem never to stop moving—2,000 truckloads of supplies a month delivered to southern Stelco sites.

They read and hear about land speculation—$2,100 an acre—and see surveyors and engineers in.

Stelco had to pay a reported $60,000 for one plain cottage in the way of dock construction when the owner held out for a high price.

"I love big in the Stelco development!

In terms of the world, not too big, said Alex Fisher, a Stelco vice-president.

By late next year, the new mill will be pouring 1.3 million tons a year, not in the same league as the Japanese who think in terms of five to six million tons in a single plant. Bethlehem Steel, in the United States, has a capacity of eight to 10 million.

Nevertheless, the Lake Erie project is the largest ever undertaken by any steel maker in Canada. It will cost Stelco $700 million in the first of four phases and $2 billion on completion.

As now planned, when the first phase begins operation in 1976, the Lake Erie mill will be producing 1.4 million tons a year. Add this to the company's six-million-ton capacity at its Hamilton operations and Stelco will rank close to the world's top steel makers in production.

Stelco, with a payroll of more than 21,000 and 95 per cent Canadian-owned, supplies about 40 per cent of all the iron and steel produced in Canada. Sixty per cent of it is sold in Ontario, and 30 per cent of Stelco products are absorbed by the Canadian market.

Ironically, Stelco doesn't produce structural steel and had to buy it from Algoma Steel Corp. of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. for its mill construction here.

The first phase, well under way, involves construction of a 4,000-foot ore dock, a blast furnace, coke ovens, two basic oxygen converters and a hot strip mill.

Phases 2, 3 and 4 will expand this capacity, as well as adding a cold-rolling plant, a plate mill and a continuous galvanizing line.

Mr. Tipler bounces around the construction site, just south of here near Nanticoke on Lake Erie, in his own car, now dented and dust-coated.

"Your car sounds like a lawn mower and rides like a truck," a visitor remarked as Mr. Tipler skirted the huge excavation for the new mill.

Helmeted workers noted atop sky-high support columns, clutching at reinforcement rods, as Stelco directed cement from a conveyer into place.

Off in the distance, but still on the site, four large house trailers, attached together, act as temporary construction office—spacious, neat, air-conditioned, and coffee costs only five cents a cup.

Stelco realized more than a decade ago that steel capacity at its Hamilton Hilton works was not enough to meet domestic demand that last year alone grew 12 per cent over 1971.

The need for a major flat rolled mill was evident and equally obvious was the impossibility of trying to expand Hilton which already crowded Hamilton's skyline.

After five years of study, they chose the Nanticoke site, near a new hydro development and on one of the best harbor fronts in Lake Erie.

The area's thick, clay soil was ideal to support heavy construction and the lake provided cheap water access to Stelco's coal and iron ore sources in Minnesota, Michigan, northwestern Ontario, Quebec and Newfoundland.

In addition, the Ontario markets were close—85 miles to Toronto, 40 to Hamilton, 65 to London, and less than 50 to the burgeoning industrial centres of Brantford, Kitchener and Waterloo.

"Funny thing," remarked Mr. Tipler as he slowed down for a large earth-mover tossing up a cloud of dust. "We've been pretty sensitive about our public image in this project in trying to make sure the people know what we're trying to do and is working with them.

"But in our own company it sometimes doesn't work that way.

"You know, we make Frost fences and, of course, we require a lot of fencing on the site for security reasons. But when we put in our initial order to our Frost division, it was denied.

"Want to know why? They told us we were not preferred customers."

Big Development

Work has begun on the first phase of a massive $2-billion steelmaking facility and industrial park by Steel Co. of Canada Ltd. (Stelco), covering an area larger than 10 square miles, 40 miles southwest of Hamilton. Stelco now has about 300 construction orders on the site and the total will rise to about 2,000 by the end of this year. (CP Newsmap)

Not So Stimulating

ILFORD, England (CP) — Sent to the local coroner's court for inquest, coroner John McGuin has been fined $720 for selling a purported aphrodisiac that produced burps instead of passions.

Mr. McGuin complained about the reduced-price potion, costing $1.20. Chemical analysis revealed the potion consisted of caffeine, citric acid and bicarbonate of soda. "It was about as stimulating as cup of purported aphrodisiac that pro-coffee," said the analyst.

Son of A. A. Milne Tells of Childhood

By JOE MA
Canadian Press Writer

For a small boy growing up in a world where his name is a household word, life can be difficult. Such was the lot of Christopher Robin, the son of A. A. Milne whose books, including When We Were Young and The House at Pooh Corner, had the boy as the central character.

His was the Christopher Robin of his father's stories and he had to live with the fame thrust upon him as a result. Another problem was that his mother wanted a girl and even had chosen a name for the child born on Aug. 21, 1920—Christopher.

But Christopher Milne's account of his childhood, The Enchanted Places, is that of a happy if lonely child. Perhaps he was a typical English middle-class child growing up in the 1920s and early 1930s in the countryside, observing the activities of animals and birds in the family's home, Cotchford Farm in Sussex.

He was good at mathematics and fond of carpentry. And he had his pet animals—Pooh Bear, Eeyore, Tigger and the rest. And there were the enchanted places—Pooh's Bridge, Gill's Lair and Owl's House among them.

At 14, Milne quit his boarding school and left the public school system with his wife.

Gas Search in Arctic Theme of New Novel

By JOE MA
The Canadian Press

John Ballem says The Dirty Scenario, his second book, is fiction.

Set in the late 1970s, it revolves around desperate United States attempts to obtain natural gas from the Canadian Arctic.

Mr. Ballem spins out a cloak-and-dagger web of intrigue, centred on Central Intelligence Agency efforts to influence, blackmail or kill Paul Ocelot, a psychiatrist who has just been appointed Canada's energy minister and whose emotional problems make his decisions difficult to predict.

Mr. Ballem, a Calgary lawyer and counsel for the Canadian Petroleum Association, and the novel reflects what he fears could happen to Canada, though not necessarily in the sequence of the book and everything happening at the same time.

"But it's fiction and should be read as fiction."

Mr. Ballem's first novel, The Devil's Fighter, was on the Canadian best-seller list for 12 weeks.

In The Dirty Scenario he provides an insider's view of Canadian politics and a dash of sex, but also cooks up with some facts—stiff dialogue and news-story excerpts that lack journalistic style.

Mr. Ballem's novel follows in the footsteps of Exmeration by Richard Robinson, in which the energy-starved United States attempts military force to obtain Canada's petroleum reserves. The energy situation will obviously provide story fuel for more Canadian authors.

Robb Tries to Get Harbor Charge Quashed

HAMILTON (CP) — A complicated legal argument marked the opening day of the Hamilton harbor trial Monday.

Malcolm Robb of Toronto, lawyer for former harbor commissioner Kenneth Ronald Elliott, spent most of the day arguing that the charges against his client be quashed.

Elliott, 63, is charged with 11 offences in connection with alleged dredging kickbacks. A Hamilton business consultant, Reginald Fisher, 61, on trial with Elliott, is charged with 10 offences.

Mr. Robb argued about the wording of the 10-page indictment, handed down by a grand jury April 1. Mr. Justice Thomas Callon of the Ontario Supreme Court will rule on the motions following the Crown's arguments.

No pleas were entered. As each charge was read, Mr. Robb and Ray Harris, Fisher's lawyer, entered motions to quash.

A panel of 75 prospective jurors, some of whom had selection of a jury, was dismissed when it appeared the arguments would be lengthy.

Elliott and Fisher are charged with six counts of conspiracy, three of altering forged documents and one of fraud in connection with alleged kickbacks on dredging contracts in Hamilton harbor. Elliott also is charged with breach of trust.

The charges arose from a lengthy RCMP investigation.

Elliott was the local appointee on the three-man harbor commission.

Specifically, the indictment charges Elliott and Fisher with:

Conspiracy with others to defraud the commission of $38,905; conspiracy to obtain benefits from a dredging company of 15 cents per cubic yard of silt lifted plus 20 per cent for expenses; conspiracy to produce a false invoice for $138,375 in U.S. funds;

Conspiracy to obtain $13,500 in benefits for Elliott from a dredging company "as consideration for co-operation, assistance and the exercise of influence;" conspiracy to produce a false invoice for $13,500 altering a forged cheque for $17,500; using deceit to defraud the commission of $19,182.45; conspiracy to obtain $19,182.45 for Elliott in return for influence; uttering a forged cheque worth $19,500; uttering a forged cheque worth $9,382.45.

Grain Stabilization Bill Stalled in House

OTTAWA (CP) — With the Progressive Conservatives calling Otto Lang stubborn and the wheat board minister responding that they are stupid, hopes for fast passage of the western grain stabilization bill dwindled Monday.

The Opposition and the Liberals have been arguing the bill for more than three debating days, the former doing most of the talking in a series of repetitive speeches criticizing the bill they basically support.

The proposed western grains stabilization act basically would establish a joint farmer-government fund, to which farmers would contribute up to $200 a year. Ottawa would match the producers' dollars two-for-one and the farmers would be compensated in poor years, payment being based on the previous five-year average net income.

The Conservatives argue that the-same protection can be provided under existing crop insurance legislation, which protects them mainly against the vagaries of weather. Mr. Lang has countered with the argument that his bill is designed to offset the effects of changes in markets and sales slumps.

"They want to see the whole thing up if they used a little imagination," said Conservative Gordon Towers said in an interview Monday night. "We hope they'll be open to suggestions."

Mr. Towers (Red Deer) said the long string of Conservative speakers, broken only by Mr. Lang, Ralph Goodale (Lr-Assiniboia) and three New Democratic Party members, is trying to make sure Mr. Lang does not repeat previous mistakes.

"What really concerns the fellows is that Lang's record has not really been that good."

For example, he said, the government's Lower Inventory For Tomorrow (LIFT) program of 1970, which encouraged farmers to reduce wheat production because of drastically-reduced demand, resulted in "many farmers being caught up in a cobweb."

Alvin Hamilton, the chief Conservative agriculture spokesman, said in the Commons that LIFT was "the most colossal mistake ever made" in the history of Canadian agriculture.

Mr. Hamilton (Qu'Appelle-Moose Mountain) said Mr. Lang based the program on erroneous reports from Statistics Canada.

No Best Or Worst Line Route

TORONTO (CP) — There is no best or worst solution for a hydro transmission line between the Lennox generating station and Oshawa, says a report tabled in the legislature Monday.

"The choice of routes is in large and the pros and cons are so varied that there is no single selection that stands out as the best or even the worst," Dr. Gerard Schaad said.

The Schaad Commission report recommended a modified form of a route proposed by Ontario Hydro and its consultants, Commonwealth Associates Inc. Dr. Schaad said he was proposing the route he believes best.

The recommended route proceeds north from the Lennox generating station to Mount Pleasant junction, near Highway 401, within a right-of-way already acquired by Ontario Hydro. It then follows the route described in the Ontario Hydro-Commonwealth Assoc. Inc. report which, after crossing Highway 401, turns west across the Moira River just north of Corbyville and the Trent River just north of Batawa, and continues to a point near Osaca in Hope Township.

The report also supports Hydro recommendation for location of an Oshawa area transformer station at the western boundary of Darlington Township and purchase of right-of-way for lines to incorporate second generating station at Lennox, Wesleyville and Darlington.

Landowners along the route should have offices which would provide "speedy action on difficulties, the report says, suggesting Hydro set up organizations for such offices.

It also recommends Hydro follow its own guidelines for "improved appearance" of lines by using single-shaft steel poles rather than lattice towers for about 16 miles along the route.

Allan Grossman, provincial treasurer secretary, who tabled the report, said he was inviting public comment on recommendations within 60 days. Copies would be delivered to those who made submissions and summary reports would be available in municipal offices between Lennox and Oshawa.

Bernier Fears Fuss At Kenora

TORONTO (CP) — Residents of Kenora, Ont., would not stand for a repetition of past Indian disturbances in their community this year, Leo Bernier, member of the legislature for the area, said Monday.

The minister of natural resources told the house that speaking as MPP for Kenora, he would suggest that "law and order come to immediately" in event of any major disturbance.

He said the residents of Kenora had "gone through a lot" through occupation of their post office a year ago and confrontation at an area park last summer.

"I'm have a third occurrence—I don't think the people of Kenora would stand for it, really I don't," he said.

He said he hoped there would not be further disturbances this summer but publication of a book, Beaded Ribbon, has "further tended to divide the community."

He said the government had given approval in principle to a suggestion last week from Indian leaders for setting up a structure for continuing discussions with the Indian group.

One another matter raised by the Indian leaders last week, Mr. Bernier said the government would continue to preserve harvest of wild rice in its specific areas for the Indians. But he said the question of the harvest has been under review.

Textile Firms Said Healthy

OTTAWA (CP) — The president of the Canadian Textiles Institute Monday denied the Ontario industry is "on its knees", as provincial Industry Minister Claude Bennett claimed late last week.

J. I. Armstrong, commenting in a telephone interview from Montreal, said the textiles industry in Ontario is healthy and viable, and prepared to compete with any industrialized country.

QUINTE OUTLOOK 1975

Belleville Hub of Quinte Growth

Belleville in the 70s'

It's readying to enter its second civic century as a centre of community.

And there's a certainty in its stride.

It's the pace of a city, secure in its promise, conscious of its potential, conscientious of its traditions.

It's confidently oriented to the future — a pattern of vibrant progress no more a matter of great expectations. It's fact.

But it's not simply a centre girded for further, inevitable economic expansion.

It's a city, mindful of social amenities.

Its progress is also to be gracefully measured in the cultural facilities that make it a total community.

As such, Belleville is also the communal bridge binding one of Ontario's most picturesque regions: The Quinte district.

To the south, are the pastoral townships and shorelines of Prince Edward County. To the north, the rural lands, lakes and forests of Hastings County.

For visitors and natives alike in this peerless setting, Belleville is the key centre.

The city in 1974 set itself a new record for economic growth.

Belleville in 1975 is again another progressing story. So is the shape of its future.

This special edition of The Intelligencer seeks to reflect that particular community spirit — and potential — which defines Belleville and its Quinte region.

Congratulations to The Intelligencer for putting to press the 1975 Progress Edition that tells it through its pages in words an up-to-date story of Belleville and the Quinte area.

Important to the citizens of this city and the Quinte area this year, will be the development and approval of the official plan for the village of Frankford and the Townships of Sidney and Thurlow. The land-use plan that is finally approved will indicate where suburban development will take place in our two neighboring townships. The decision will have a major effect on what Belleville and the area surrounding the present city limits will look like for the next 20 years.

The official plan of Belleville is now on the desk of the minister of housing at Queen's Park. We hope the implementing zoning map will be ready for public input this spring. Public meetings similar to those held for the official plan will be scheduled throughout the city of Belleville.

The acquisition of property for the two ice control dams should be completed in 1975 with the College and Lott dams constructed in 1976. Prior to 1950, discussions began on the construction of ice control dams in Belleville and some 25 years later the dams will be built.

The Moira River Conservation Authority with consultants is in the process of developing a waterfront plan for Thurlow, Belleville and Sidney. The final adopted document will make it possible for our municipalities to have a long-term plan that can be used to acquire, protect and develop the waterfront sites along the Bay of Quinte.

The reconstruction of Dundas Street East and Sidney Street between College and Tracey will be completed in 1975. This reconstruction sees us move a step closer to the reality and first consideration of council, the reconstruction of major city road arteries.

With the purchase of the necessary properties in 1975, the new Pinnacle Street bridge should be built in 1976 along with the connecting road links provided MTC will allocate the necessary provincial funding in the one year. This will complete the reconstruction of North First Street from the 401 south to Dundas Street.

Functional plans for the Canniffon Road underpass have been approved and council has authorized the entering into an agreement with the consultants for the final design. Hopefully, 1976 will see this project under way provided the necessary properties can be purchased in 1975.

With the faith shown in our city by private enterprise — the extension of the Quinte Mall and Century Place development in downtown Belleville — the Quinte Sports Centre by the Belleville Yardmen Benefit Fund — the future of Belleville remains positive and exciting.

ROBIN JEFFREY
MAYOR

Having been involved in public life for about 20 years in the Quinte area, having watched the area grow, and without intending to sound boastful, having played a small part in that growth, I am always prepared and pleased to contribute to any publication which promotes the area. Growth for growth's sake is not necessarily good. Belleville and the surrounding area, known as the Quinte district, has been fortunate over the years in having excellent local governments that have firstly promoted sound growth and, as important, have provided services concomitant with that growth.

As industries and commercial enterprises have chosen Belleville, or have chosen to have grown, all the municipal services such as water, utilities, roads, etc., have been provided. Now, more than ever before, the need for municipal services such as parks and harbor facilities. Schools are as good as any in the province of Ontario. Public transit is a service which stands out. Things that people in Belleville take for granted, such as street lighting, I find, in travelling across Canada, that we in fact, have excellent standards. I can't grow strongly enough the need for all people in the area to select and support strong local governments. Related to this, I include Boards of Education, Utilities Commissions, and other elected, and appointed bodies, whether those who are dedicated to their community, whether Belleville, County of Hastings, or rural township, are the ones ultimately responsible for the decision in the area.

For my part, I would not want the area to grow so fast that services would be strained beyond their limit. This always results in deficit budgeting and the taxpayers in the end paying the bill. I would also want to encourage the ongoing meetings between the various local governments on such matters as servicing new areas and uniform regulations. Any new commercial or industrial enterprise in the area benefits the whole area.

The sports complex proposed by the sponsors of the Yardmen Benefit Fund will be one of the most significant assets to be added to the kind of cultural attractions already in the area. To this must be added the expansion at the Belleville Plaza, the Quinte Mall and particularly, the exciting growth in downtown Belleville.

Finally, the most important aspect of the Quinte community is the attitude of the people. Nothing will do this most emphatically and categorically, nothing will do more to promote it over area than the genuine wish of the people here to have it happen. The obvious ones like the industrial commission, civil service, councils, etc., can do little without the help of every salesperson, clergyman, policeman, nurse, teacher, in fact every single individual in the community. Each one of us acts like an ambassador for our area, in some of us benefits. Those few who regularly try to tear apart the fabric of our community cannot, of course, be silenced but they certainly deserve to be ignored. We are no longer the "small rural area where every new person is welcomed by the whole neighborhood" but there is no reason why we cannot extend this same hospitality to anyone we happen to encounter. The end result will be far greater than we could ever imagine.

That the whole Quinte area will grow is inevitable. The rules for growth will be laid down by the elected people. The success of growth is dependent on each one of us.

Directing New Growth Major Task Facing Area Officials

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Wilbur Purcell is an avuncularly soft-spoken. And you'll usually find his office door open.

He carries the same impression when he opens the other door from his office and enters an area city hall's council chamber.

But he's the man who must ultimately have the answers — for politicians and public — on how Belleville's most crucial enterprise is faring — the city itself.

His role will become even more involved with time.

Mayor Robin Jeffrey indicates agreement of that when he talks of the inevitability of Belleville's growth — both economically and as a habitat aware of community amenities.

The analogy is unavoidable. Belleville is big business — and not only financially — despite the fact its population of 35,000 doesn't make it the largest urban centre in Ontario.

Its budget last year was $8-million. It employs close to 200 workers from department heads to part-time school-crossing guards. Its capital works budget grew from around $1.5-million a year.

But it's an operation much more involved than strict business enterprise.

It's all done through public funds and the task of justifying public expenditures becomes more complicated — increasing each year with the growth of public-service programs.

It all comes down to the business of people, their needs, wages, demands — with local government the most immediately involved.

Which should make the top local civil servant's talks that more exciting.

But Mr. Purcell has an administrative formula.

He believes in permitting city hall's various department heads maximum responsibility and views himself as the integrator of their pooled or individual recommendations involving council's policies.

"What I'm really trying to say is that it's a team effort," he says.

If he has an administrative style that just about explains it, indicates Mr. Purcell. He's been putting it to use since he was appointed city manager last year. His appointment was the latest promotion in a career in civic government that dates back to 1952, when he became assistant city engineer at St. Thomas. He came to Belleville as city engineer in 1962.

Executive assignments at city hall will continue to grow, he indicates.

City hall in the last six years has been "steadily directing itself to what he terms "premeditated" parallel development of community amenities — transportation, greenbelt — by councils in the past decade.

Mayor Jeffrey calls Belleville's potential "very positive" for the kind of growth that creates a community that can, like advantage of living amenities.

Its location on major highways and railroads and the provincial government viewing of eastern Ontario as a growth area, are among reasons for inevitable economic expansion. The past five years have brought it new industries.

But such growth is not without problems, admits the mayor: How to control growth without losing the character of the community — "the good things that brought us here", she talks particularly of the Moira River and Bay of Quinte greenbelt potential now being realized.

"It's a very difficult thing that has to be manoeuvered. But it has to be done — and it has to be done as sensitively as possible."

She is blunt about another — attendant and still locally contentious — issue: Restructuring of area government that "has leak beyond its present boundaries".

"I detest these (municipal boundary) lines that were drawn up years ago and as a result have become barriers to what should be done for the future. And I see this as a big issue this community has to face with its neighbors."

But there are moves under way in a common cause. Belleville, along with neighboring Sidney Township and the area Moira River Conservation Authority are involved in acquiring a recreation site — the Potter property — stretching more than 200 acres back from the Bay of Quinte, east of the city. The conservation authority has commissioned a study of recreation and land use possibilities along the Bay waterfront involving the city, Sidney and Thurlow townships.

Such are hopeful signs of municipal jurisdictions operating for future common good, believes the mayor.

"These are the efforts that we're making in order to become united in certain projects. Then that gradually grows into a stronger union that may evolve into the right type of government for the Quinte area."

To now, there's been another attraction about Belleville, she says.

The city's millrate on which taxes are based — in 1974 $230 on a $10,000 assessed home — "we know is lower than other centres of similar size".

Two years from now Belleville — a settlement dating back to the late 1790s — will hit its centennial as a city. Whether Robin Jeffrey may be mayor then is for the future to show.

But what of Belleville 100 years from now?

"It's still going to retain many of its attractive features, because I think we've set a pattern now," says the mayor. "Like the need to retain some of the historic buildings in the area . . . the value of our river development, through greenbelt development. We can't turn our backs on it now

"It'll be a different sized community, I'm sure says its present mayor. "But I still think you're going to have people saying 50 years from now: 'Isn't Belleville a great place to live and bring up our children in?'."

FRED BEMIS

Today we hear so much about development: industrial — commercial — the new industry that has just come to town — or the new commercial development with new office facilities; but what do these things really mean to our community?

Why do we need growth? Why can't we keep our town or city just like it is now?

These are all very valid questions and have very valid answers, both for and against, which for the most part depend solely upon the individual. Collectively, the majority of people are not nestly striving to make not only a comfortable living for themselves and their families, but are also trying to earn sufficient money to afford some of the luxuries our modern society has brought.

In order to accomplish this almost impossible task of earning more dollars, we inevitably arrive at the point of needing a job. This is where it all begins. A demand has been created. If there are no jobs available then that's where the demand hits a bit of detour. The demand is still there but it can't be met at this time.

At about this same time a manufacturer has received a new order for his products and his business must expand. In order for the business to expand it must have more staff and now you are beginning to get the picture.

Without the staff the business must face a decision:

1. forget about expansion in the present location, or

2. find a location where there are sufficient people.

This is a very simplified way of showing a possible development path, but it does point out one of the basic reasons for needing industry — to provide jobs for our existing labor pool. Each year we have hundreds of students graduating from our area schools. These young people have learned basic skills and are in need of employment, and without the new growth and expansion of industry, there would be no employment for these people.

There is general recognition for the need to create jobs and new tax revenues for the community, but a more important task lies in the creation of an atmosphere within the community that is conducive to expansion and growth. The community must plan the future wisely. The establishment of guidelines in planning are important in the overall protection of our unique life style. The growth and diversification of our present industrial base will offer more challenging and diverse employment for our ever-increasing populace. The guidelines must, however, insure that with this development the life style so precious to us is not affected negatively but is enriched.

1974 was a great year in our history. With new industry and expansion of existing companies, our growth was greater than in any other year

A recent history. Part of the impact on employment is yet to be felt but it will help in easing the jobless rate in the area which is due to slowdowns in other economic sectors.

The value of new industrial building permits issued in 1974 was over $7 million. This figure is greater than the total of the last five years.

1975 is an optimistic year for development with new projects planned and new industries looking for sites. We may not duplicate our 1974 records, but with a general upturn in economic conditions forecast, it should be another year of steady growth.

By FRED E. BEMIS
BELLEVILLE INDUSTRIAL COMMISSIONER

GEORGE THOMPSON

Belleville is the sort of community which looks at itself and criticizes itself — and then improves as a result. With intelligent city management and concerned input by its citizens Belleville is acknowledged to be just about an ideal place to live.

But the subject of the day is how did Belleville grow? What will it become? How can we make it better? and "how can we prevent it becoming something less".

Belleville will grow in spite of anything we may do to prevent it. In a free enterprise economy people can live where they like and business people locate where they chose within limits, although shortages of serviced land do place some restriction on growth, eventually these limitations are outweighed by other advantages and growth will result.

What will Belleville become? — It can be what we want it to become if we have the courage and foresight to make it so.

First we must have a clear idea as to what our target is. To me, the ideal process for this is that undertaken by the City of Kingston, the city, development of their official plan. A proposal was submitted to public meetings for comment, and local citizens were encouraged to study it and make recommendations.

The Chamber of Commerce has an important role here too. With the resources available for research and the opportunity to involve its members, the Chamber should have strong recommendations to make regarding the development of the City. No other organization has a membership of such diversity from which to draw.

Belleville is not an island of development and planning for its growth cannot be accomplished without the cooperation of all the municipalities involved. "Belleville" has expanded to the point where not much more than half its inhabitants live within the city limits. And this trend will continue.

This co-operation among municipalities is a difficult thing to accomplish because of the diverse interests and objectives involved. To co-operate involves compromise and these have had to be hammered out by bargaining sessions point by point. The results are worth the cost though, as the Quinte Planning Board, the Hastings County School Board illustrate.

We would not benefit from regional government in my view because we have the means of accomplishing the benefits without the burdensome costs and problems involved.

The Chamber of Commerce would like to offer itself as a means of gathering public opinion, or in any other way we might be useful.

By this process, Belleville can grow slowly, in a well planned and orderly manner. We can provide good jobs for our people in quality industries and homes which offer good employee situations, good corporate citizenship and make only positive contributions to the environment.

We can have a quality of life we would like to see, good educational facilities, housing, recreational activities and opportunities for citizen contribution in the planning and organizing of the community's life style.

And we can have a strong, active Chamber of Commerce deep in the middle of all this activity, focusing the interest of the community on Belleville objective.

GEORGE THOMPSON
PRESIDENT
CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

RICHARD POTTER

The past year has been one of some uncertainty in the economy but I see no reason why we should not be confident about the future.

My confidence stems not from any "insider" information I might have about the direction in which the economy is moving, but from a basic faith in the ability, strength of character and determination of the average Canadian. And in the Quinte area, I believe we are proud to think of ourselves as "average Canadians" which, to me, implies the kind of people who are the backbone of this country and this province.

We in the Quinte region have been fortunate. We have enjoyed a steady expansion of industry. We have seen the development in our community of facilities for senior citizens and family housing. And we have seen steps taken to improve our environment by reducing pollution and by expanding recreation areas. In other words, the Quinte region has enjoyed a reasonable degree of progress combined with planning aimed at improving the quality of life of its citizens.

I hope this trend continues. I believe that it is important that it is therefore imperative that we ensure that the future enjoyment of our community is not compromised in our drive for "progress" inadequate planning; that is to say, we cannot pollute our waterways today and expect to enjoy them as a recreational resource tomorrow. We cannot bury grass and trees under asphalt today and expect to have parks tomorrow. In a period when we are moving toward shorter working hours and more leisure time, we must be mindful of the future.

Planning for the tomorrows of our community requires the support of government, industry and the public today. But such planning is especially the concern of the younger people and working relationships between people elected at the local level to protect and safeguard the community's future.

It is my hope for the future of the Quinte area that this cooperation and spirit of working together on behalf of this region will grow and prosper in the years ahead.

Easing Pain One Goal Of Deloro Stellite

In a co-operative effort Belleville's Deloro Stellite, the Canadian and Ontario research foundations and two Toronto doctors are helping take the pain out of arthritis.

Since 1972, the Belleville plant has been actively engaged in developing a shoulder joint and improvements over available joints that make its application more attractive to the surgeon.

Deloro Stellite in Belleville is hoping these improvements will stand up to current clinical analysis — and give the local firm a head start on the North American market.

With peculiar beginnings, the project was nearly lost before it began.

Len Shacklock, plant administrator, noticed an order for a peculiar part for a Toronto doctor. With a background knowledge of medical sales, Mr. Shacklock investigated the order and — after a meeting with top company officials — ushered Deloro Stellite into full ownership in the project.

"One of the first recipients was derelict drunk," said Mr. Shacklock. His progress with the new joint was "terrific," he said.

Dave Karsikas, manager of engineering and responsible for the medical explorations of the Belleville plant, said during an interview, "It's costing thousands of dollars to make just one joint right now — but hopefully this cost will be minimized.

At the moment, all work on the joints is custom designed and built individually by skilled technicians.

"If all goes well, we'll be expanding the small laboratory facility to employ up to 10 people working on an assembly line of sorts," said Mr. Shacklock.

Mr. Karsikas said it will be another two years before the shoulder joint can be fully marketed — and by that time we'll be capable of constructing hip, knee, elbow and finger joints.

In the meantime, the project is talked about in general terms and plant visitors may be escorted through the laboratory. But, some questions won't be answered and some equipment cannot be photographed.

"It's a highly competitive business and not without the risk of industrial espionage," said Mr. Shacklock.

Because the implant rests in a human body, exacting care in construction is needed — eradicating the possibility of having to remove it later because of a malfunction.

The ball-joint is first welded together and then turned and polished perfectly round — a process the manufacturers are reluctant to elaborate on.

Shanks must be hammered into the bone marrow to anchor the ball and corresponding socket parts in place.

A problem in the past has been ensuring this shank will not move — remedied currently with screws and cement.

The Ontario Research Foundation developed a porous coating to be applied to the shank that would allow bone tissue to "grow into the metal."

Only 14 days before an United States firm was to take over the process, the Belleville firm tendered to the foundation and received the contract to work on the material.

The Belleville plant now is the worldwide distributors of the product and once porous coating is a proven product, Deloro Stellite will retain sole rights for one year to capture the market.

Mechanical joints are not perfect but "perfection is our ultimate goal," said Mr. Karsikas.

"We'll come pretty damn close," he adds.

Council Confident Area On 'Threshold' Of Boom

Belleville is a service hub for some of the most diverse tourist regions in Ontario.

To the south lie the beaches, bays and provincial parks of Prince Edward County — a peninsula gently jutting into Lake Ontario, and laced with sheltered coves and waterways.

To the north lies the rugged wilderness of Hastings County with its lakes and creeks and mineral deposits that draw collectors of mineral gems from around North America.

But it is the hinterland itself whose potential as a year-round recreation area that has scarcely been tapped, says Vern McMurray, president of the Highlands of Hastings Tourist Council.

The Hastings outdoors has 450 lakes — "all with fish" — an centrepiece for an area that is "only on the threshold" of tourist expansion, says Mr. McMurray.

One problem, he admits, is that private investment has been slow in developing the area's possibilities.

"But there's certainly a terrific future for it," he adds.

With the neighboring Land O'Lakes tourist group in Lennox and Addington county, his council has come up with an ambitious proposal.

They've presented the Ontario cabinet with plans for creating a 300,000-acre recreation area on Crown land, running across the central townships of both counties.

Gerry O'Shaughnessy and Doug Rowe debate downtown area plans

Merchants Work Together To Improve City's Core

Belleville's downtown can look forward to a year of change, expansion and improvement, says Gerry O'Shaughnessy, president of the downtown association.

Among the immediate changes are the development of Century Place and the painting of a sign bylaw which will rid the downtown of overhanging signs — both welcomed by the downtown executive.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy has urged downtown members to act as quickly as possible to remove the overhanging signs though the bylaw provides merchants with five years to complete renovations.

Once the signs are replaced with "flat-to-the-wall" signs, the downtown will have a neater appearance and will be relieved of the cluttered look, he says.

Century Place will be a major development for the shopping core boasting five floors of commercial and office space.

The downtown association "is more enthused than ever to work towards re-vitalization of the downtown core," says association vice-president Doug Row.

"This will be our biggest year ever towards re-building the downtown as the prime shopping area" said Mr. Row.

The association this year will work towards re-conditioning of downtown sidewalks, improved clean up of the shopping area; modernization of lighting and renewed investigation into provision of more downtown parking.

For the last two years, every business in the downtown area has paid a special tax levy — over and above normal taxes — with this extra money placed in a downtown redevelopment fund.

This year, the downtown merchants association will have a $15,000 budget to work towards its goals. This budget is drawn from the $25,000 in special taxes collected each year.

A Community's Health: Belleville General Hospital

Education Now Important Task of General Hospital

A hospital is not just care and a comfortable bed when you're ill.

At least, not with Belleville General Hospital. Not anymore.

Founded on charitable funds 90 years ago, BGH in 1975 is perhaps he most visible monument to how Belleville has developed.

From that founding tiny venture in community philanthropy — housing only three nurses when it opened in 1886 — the hospital today is a multi-phase health care delivery centre for an area of 120,000.

The 302-bed structure which today is a landmark on the Bay of Quinte skyline, is the hub of medical activity that reaches far beyond its wards, sophisticated clinics and laboratories.

The community is repeatedly involved in preventive medicine through an ongoing educational programme.

These are among projects by which the hospital seeks to reconcile increasing social demand for health care with inevitable, mounting cost.

Objective of such a thrust in services is what Philip Rickard, BGH executive director, identifies under the collective title of "community outreach."

"What we're doing is placing a lot of emphasis on services that are not in-hospital anymore, but right out in the community."

The hospital itself is a centre that provides a multiplicity of health care services that range from psychiatry to speech therapy, even diet counselling.

But it also is the originator and administrator of programs that include:

(1) Home care. A patient can be treated at home receiving regular housekeeping, therapy, nursing and physician attention. In 1974 its caseload was nearly 1,300 in Hastings, Prince Edward and part of Northumberland counties.

(2) A preschool nursery for youngsters with emotional or other personal problems.

(3) A clinic for emotionally disturbed youth at Trenton.

(4) Continuing educational seminars with public panel discussions involving experts in various health problem areas.

But in-hospital functions also area BGH cover a wide area of referral for special treatment or diagnosis.

Statistics define the demands on what now is an operation budgeting around an annual $12,000,000 — operating costs went up 30 per cent for 1975.

(Owned by the city and County of Hastings, its daily operation probably Belleville's biggest employer with a staff of about 1,000 and a payroll that runs close to $9.5 million).

In 1974 BGH admitted nearly 10,500 patients who spent a total of 101,800 days in hospital — compared to 98,700 in 1974. Some 7,100 babies were delivered; more than 3,000 operation performed. Its laboratories ran more than 2,000,000 tests, on in-patients alone.

The mounting demand is not being pressured by in-patients alone. In 1974, the hospital's emergency unit served 47,000. In 1968 the total was 30,400 when he arrived as administrator, noted Mr. Rickard.

Out-patients treatments by the psychiatric clinic totalled 2,700—up more than 700 from the previous year.

The upswing is dramatically demonstrated by the hospital's nuclear medicine department. Last year it was involved with 4,400 cases. When the service was first organized in 1967 its caseload totalled 222.

Such relentless pressure has brought reactions. The latest included a space study commissioned from international consultants Gordon A. Friesen, of Washington D.C., who designed the present BGH complex in the mid-1960s. Among recommendations was the addition of an eighth-level, costing $1.3 million. The administration still is thinking that one, ever, while probing alternatives.

The hospital's significance has been noted in other quarters.

Four years ago, the provincial health ministry chose BGH to administer experimental project where ambulatory patients could be cared for at less cost than in actual hospital beds. The results of the Queen's Self-Care Unit are still being evaluated, although a recent ministry study suggested it should be reduced in size.

Hundreds Enjoy City's Minor Sports Leagues

By DOUG WALSH
Sports Editor

DON SMITH

Hundreds of city youngsters are involved in minor sports programs each year. Thanks to dozens of interested persons who volunteer their time and energy, the city's youth has a varied menu to select from when it comes time to decide on a sport.

Belleville Minor Sports Association (BMSA) serves as a liaison between city council and the executive of each minor sport.

Each sport is represented on a BMSA executive council.

Heading up the BMSA is president Floyd Armstrong. Don Smith is vice-president; Sy Bochnek, secretary; Tom Neill, past president, and Carolyn Moynes, treasurer.

Armstrong, Bochnek and Smith are also involved in separate divisions of minor sports.

Floyd is president of the Belleville Archery Club. Sy heads the Belleville Minor Baseball Association and Don is president of Belleville Minors Softball Association.

Other members of the archery club executive are past president, Nora Kearney; secretary, Brian Turner; treasurer, Jean Mainland. Armstrong also serves as target chairman and Turner is responsible for publicity.

John Widdicks is field chairman and Howard Adamson handles Junior Olympic Archery Program details for the club.

Working with Bochnek on the baseball executive, are first vice-president, Vi Christopher; second vice-president, Bill Anderson; third vice - president Debbie Christopher; secretary-treasurer, Jean Reid and equipment manager, Charles Bartlett.

KEN CARR

Making up Smith's minor softball executive, are east hill vice-president, Pete Hunt; west hill vice-president, Gary Miller; statistician, Terry Coltman; secretary, Carol Guest, umpire-in-chief, Al Vanclief, and equipment manager, Doug Guest.

A Girls Minor Softball Association is also active with Doreen Lucas, president, and Len Rogers, vice-president. More executive members are expected to be named in the near future.

The 1975 executive for Belleville Minor Hockey Association (BMHA) includes president, Ted Soule; vice-president, Ron McEachern; secretary, Theresa Hounslow; referee - in - chief, Bob Dayment; sponsorship convener, Gord Miller; equipment convener, Mac MacLeod, and director of public relations, Mary Colodon.

Glen Hamilton is convener for BMHA Ontario Minor Hockey Association representative teams. His assistant is Jim Robertson.

Conveners of BMHA house league divisions are: novice, Len Reekum; atom minor, Randy Wickett; atom major, Bob Laing; peewee minor, Norm Roberts; peewee major, Howard Shugg; bantam minor, Jim Phillips; bantam major, Jim Stephenson; midget, John Berbrinion and juvenile, John LaBarge.

Dr. T.I. Woodley heads up the Belleville Minor Soccer Association. Vice-president is Bruno DiGenova, Tilton Beaumont is the statistician, Elizabeth Willman, secretary, Gus Christopher, public relations, Larry Woodley, equipment manager and Joe Iasenna, referee in chief.

Quinte Marine History on Display

SOUTH MARYSBURG — Progress of the fishing and sailing industries in Prince Edward County has been reconstructed at the Marine Museum at South Bay, three miles south of Milford.

An unusual museum it is duplicated only in a few centres in Ontario and annually attracts hundreds of tourists and local residents.

So popular has the museum become and so generous the donations of artifacts that plans are now in progress for an addition to permit additional displays, especially those relating to the fishing industry says Philip Dodds, Marine Society chairman.

For a number of years a marine museum has been the goal of Prince Edward marine historian Willis Metcalfe and a number of others interested in life county's seafaring men. The Marine Society has received full backing from South Marysburg township council since its establishment ten years ago.

In the autumn of 1965 when the lamps of False Duck Island lighthouse went out after 138 successive years and demolition began, plans for a marine museum unfolded.

The Prince Edward Historical Society secured the upper part of the light and it was transported to the mainland at Prince Edward where it was presented to South Marysburg council for use as a reconstructed lighthouse in a park near South Bay Church.

Stone from surrounding fields was used in construction of the tower and the project begun in October, 1966, was completed in time for an official opening in September, 1967.

The lighthouse was Canada's Centennial project by South Marysburg and Athol townships.

A building to house small marine artifacts was officially opened in 1972 during the annual Mariners' Service at the park.

The Mariners' Service is held each summer in South Bay church adjacent to the park.

It is unique in Ontario and attracts hundreds of persons each year.

This service originated at Cherry Valley Church in 1927 and was continued there for 20 years.

After a lapse, it was again started at South Bay in 1970 and has been re-established as an annual event.

The Marine Society is interested in receiving any artifacts relating to the fishing industry or sailing, past or present.

"This is an ideal place to assure that such items will be preserved for posterity," said Mr. Dodds.

He noted the museum and park reflect the progress of two important industries for more than a century.

23,000 Students Attend 54 Public Schools in Hastings County

By RON CARSON
Staff Reporter

The Hastings County Board of Education has a total of 54 elementary and secondary schools providing a learning environment for 22,966 students in the county.

The board has 43 elementary schools, eight secondary schools and three schools for trainable retarded children. These schools represent a total of 918 classrooms with about 45 portable classrooms in operation during the school year.

The total academic staff supporting the 54 schools amounts to about 1,133 teachers and principals as well as other para-educational staff.

The board hires an additional 302 personnel involved with administrative, business and special education staff. There are five superintendents of education who are responsible for families of schools.

Completing the academic administrative staff is education director Eric Runacres and deputy education director Les Reid.

Under the special education section of the board, there are three psychologists, one home instruction teacher and 20 special education support teachers plus group assistant school staffs in working out classroom or behavioral problems.

Under the business staff section the Hastings County Board of Education employees 14 secretaries, both full and part-time. The business section also employs about 191 custodians and maintenance personnel.

Concerning the board's transportation problems there are 270 bus routes that operate on a daily basis in the county. There are about 9,500 students bussed daily within the county system.

County board bus drivers log over two million miles during the school year. They use 190 vehicles — station wagons to 84-passenger buses.

The Hastings County Board of Education has 79 buildings within its responsibilities. These buildings sit on 45 parcels of land throughout the entire county.

The cost of operating these buildings is about $1.77 a square foot with the equalized assessment of the school buildings and property at $69-million.

Concerning budget information the Hastings county board of education struck a budget of $28,100,000 in 1974. This compared with a 1973 budget of $24,621,000.

The board meetings are held on the second and fourth Monday of every month at the Education Centre, 156 Ann St., Belleville.

It is the school board's policy to make school facilities available to responsible organizations when the facilities are not required for school use. For regulations and to reserve facilities interested groups can phone the education centre.

Mr. Thrush is chairman of the business administration committee, while Mr. Hawley heads the bylaw and policy committee.

Economic Climate Now Means Proper Crop Selection Vital

One of the richest and most diversified farming areas in the province surrounds Belleville, with a wide variety of farming operations being carried out in the district.

A prosperous farm community is important to the city, the retail hub of the area and supplier of much of the domestic needs and farm supplies for the district.

In 1973, farmers in the Quinte area will face the hardest decisions they have had to make for many years, says Lyle Vanclief, area farm spokesman.

Mr. Vanclief's Willowlee Farms at Ameliasburg in Prince Edward County produce strawberries, apples, potatoes, pork, beef and feed crops. He is president of the city's Quinte Exhibition and Raceway, the Hastings-Prince Edward Pork Producers' Association, chairman of the Ameliasburg Planning Board, member of the Prince Edward County Board of Education, vice-president of the Prince Edward Soil and Crop Improvement Association and one of three producers on the federal Committee for Food Systems Canada studying the pork industry.

In Mr. Vanclief's opinion, farming in the Quinte district has stabilized over the last few years. Prior to then many older farmers were retiring and their properties were being sold to younger operators, real estate developers or hobby farmers from larger centres.

Now, he says, the majority of the farms will continue to operate as long as economic conditions permit.

With farming being the high-risk, cyclical business it is, Mr. Vanclief says a wrong guess can be ruinous and decisions made on the basis of today's conditions may look ridiculous when the crop is in or the animal is ready for market.

For instance, he said, pig farmers who cut back on production because of high feed costs, now are in the position of not having enough stock on hand or bred when the price of feed came down. The same applies to cattle breeders, only they have a longer gestation period to wait through.

Many Adults Returning To College Classrooms

The popularity and success of the extension division at Loyalist Community College here can be measured in the annual increase in the number of students.

When the extension division handles continuing education of all kinds for all interested residents in the four-county area served by Loyalist.

Since 1971 - 72, extension officials have seen an increase of 2,000 students per year. At that time, there were 1,800 registered students. This year, the number is approaching 8,600.

They have a choice of 51 courses ranging from college credit to hobby and leisure courses at 52 locations in 27 municipalities taught by over 300 instructors administered by 22 night school supervisors.

The extension program is offered through the cooperation of the county boards of education in the affected areas. Both offer continuing education courses, divisioned to ensure no overlapping or duplication which maintains the least possible cost of operation but realizes the highest efficiency.

Camping Boom Providing Jobs

STIRLING — Business is snapping good for Centenary Manufacturing Co. Ltd. in Stirling, fifteen minutes north of Belleville. Business is so good, it stops at workers too, since fiberglass truck tops build up a tremendous charge of static electricity when they are removed from the moldt.

The molds are gingerly wiped out and immediately sprayed with a colour coat before dust particals are attracted to the highly charged mold.

"We started out making 20 truck tops a month but we are upset now if we don't top 100," says company president Hugh Heslip.

"There are eight of us working through the winter, and the rest of the year there are 13 employed full time."

Mr. Heslip has a solid background for the business. After completing a tool design apprenticeship and serving a stint as a naval petty officer, he returned to Canadian General Electric in Peterborough as a tool designer.

During his 12 years with CGE he progressed through various positions of responsibility, including tool design checker, group leader of various projects, and was selected for a company course in manufacturing management, but had to leave this to assume other responsibilities due to the illness of a department head.

He resigned from CGE as supervisor — standards, motor and generator division. He was also chairman of the cost reduction committee and department suggestion committee.

Mr. Heslip joined Deloro Stellite, which he felt offered more personal interest across a wider range of company activities. During his 13 years with the company he was, in succession, supervisor — engineering, drafting and estimating; supervisor — production scheduling; manufacturing manager; supervisor — engineering services; and finally, manager of foundry operations.

In 1971 Mr. Heslip left Deloro Stellite to form Centenary Manufacturing Co Ltd. Mr. B. G. MacKenzie, former sales manager, Deloro Stellite, joined Mr. Heslip in the enterprise.

"The first year in business, my wife Theresa and I earned $4,324.31," Mr. Heslip recalled. In 1974 Centenary's payroll was in excess of $75,000.

At the moment, Centenary is under two roofs. Molding is completed at the premises on Frankford Rd., and finishing and hardware installation is carried out on North St.

"At some point manufacturing has to be put back together under one roof" Mr. Heslip said. "We are making about 100 to 150 tops a month. It depends upon the product mix. If we were producing 30 units a day it would be silly to do detached like this."

Centenary wasn't always located in Stirling. It started out in the spring of 1970 in a basement manufacturing snowmobile safety lights. Then in fall of the same year Centenary moved to Frankford.

In 1971, during visit to California, a chance meeting with a custom hardtop manufacturer made Mr. Heslip realize the sales potential for fiberglas truck tops manufactured in Canada. To accomplish this move to a different type of manufacturing, part of a garage was rented in Frankford.

Bob Hagerman, an experienced fiberglas technician joined Centenary, and the first truck top tooled was for a Datsun.

Now tops for many types of trucks are sold throughout Canada to authorized automobile dealers only.

Early this year Mr. MacKenzie formed his own marketing company, Stirling R.P. Products, and is the sole distributor for Centenary. Mr. MacKenzie handles other compatible lines.

CHAMBER TO BE BUILT

STOCKHOLM (CP) — A giant rock chamber installation is to be built in Gothenburg, West Sweden, for the National Swedish Board of Economic Defence, reports the magazine Byggnadsindustrin. A series of four chambers will hold 1.2 million cubic metres of crude oil. All will lie below sea level.

Volunteers Ready to Help Around the Clock

By SHARON AIRHART
Staff Reporter

"You don't get paid but the rewards are great."

Ruth Burrows sums up what might be called her philosophy of life as director of Belleville's Central Volunteer Bureau.

Giving four hours a day, five days a week, plus attending local meeting and out-of-town conferences in the natural course of events for Mrs. Burrows, who began the Volunteer Bureau about nine years ago.

At the time she was asked to organize a sewing and crafts club for low-income women. She did and as a result, the United Community Services director asked her to begin a volunteer bureau.

"He said I was good at getting volunteers and that a couple of hours a week would take care of organizing a central registry of volunteers," she says.

As it turned out, he was both right and wrong: It's taking a lot more than two hours a week but she is, in fact, very good at it.

In the years the Volunteer Bureau has existed, there has been a steady registry of 500 to 700 active volunteers, giving time in any one of a dozen or more Volunteer Bureau run and or inspired projects.

Currently Mrs. Burrows is involved at a more than local level. She's Ontario regional representative to the new Canadian Committee on Volunteerism — she recently attended an Ottawa formation conference — and a great influence in the new Ontario volunteerism organization.

RUTH BURROWS

These administrative duties are just part of a complex job: Ruth Burrows admits that when she began the bureau she spent months studying the way in which like organizations operated in other cities.

In other words, there's a lot more to it than finding someone to tutor a child or bring books to the elderly.

There's the necessity to be tuned in to government programs, for example, which make funds available to charitable or community service endeavors. And there's the need to match volunteers and their jobs properly so that everyone — including the volunteer — is satisfied.

In spite of the weight of her job, Ruth Burrows stresses that throughout she's tried to be sure that she is not indispensible to the Bureau.

Her systems of key volunteers — persons who are in charge of specific programs — is one example; the bureau's functioning and knowledgeable board of directors is another.

What are the rewards for her efforts?

Besides the obvious gratification of seeing community needs filled, Mrs. Burrows says she's thrilled at the ready-and-willing response from Belleville's citizens.

"Early retirement and other economic factors are bringing an increasing number of talented people into the volunteer community," she says.

Recently, an enquiry for office assistance at the bureau resulted in a record-breaking 32 replies.

"Business is really brisk," she says happily.

County Sponsors Education Week

Hastings County sponsored the annual Education Week this year with Ontario's education minister Thomas Wells opening the activities April 20 at Centennial Secondary School.

Each year a particular county in Ontario is selected as the focal point for the Education Week. Last year it was held in Brant County with Brantford as the centre of activities.

The 1975 Education Week was jointly sponsored by Hastings County Board of Education, The Hastings Prince Edward County Roman Catholic School Board, Loyalist College, Sir James Whitney (OSD) and Ontario Business College. Many other community organizations took part in the celebrations.

The theme of the 1975 Education Week was "Innovating, a co-operative community enterprise". During preliminary stages Ontario's premier William Davis said the week should stress that schools are a community resource which need not be limited to school hours.

"Since school boards consolidated in 1969 they have demonstrated a willingness, indeed and eagerness, to encourage community involvement in the schools. It is hoped these programs and services will help establish a strong community identity, bringing people of all ages together for a wide variety of cultural and educational activities," said the minister.

To advertise the activities and the Education Week three students from Nicholson Catholic College wrote a theme song entitled Learning is. The song was recorded by the ministry of education and played on Ontario radio stations during the week of April 20 to 26.

The official party met Sunday at 10:30 a.m. at Albert College for a special non-denominational service. Radio CJBQ broadcasted the service live. The group, later attended a luncheon at Loyalist College.

Glenora Fisheries Studying Changes in Quinte Water

By CASH MAHAFFY
Staff Reporter

GLENORA — The future of the Bay of Quinte as a prime recreational body of water and source of sport and commercial fish is bright, but there is no scientific evidence to this effect yet, according to Dr. Donald A. Hurley, research scientist with the provincial ministry of natural resources fisheries research station here.

Dr. Hurley's hopeful prediction is based on experience in other areas when the input of phosphorus — mainly from detergents — was stopped or drastically reduced in sewage effluent.

As Glenora anchor man for Project Quinte, Dr. Hurley is working with a team of scientists to evaluate changes in water quality in the Bay that result from phosphorous reductions. Involved are the Ontario resources ministry, ministry of the environment, Queen's and Guelph universities and the federal Canada Centre for Inland Waters at Burlington.

Project Quinte began in the spring of 1972 and has continued as a monitoring program to determine the effect on water quality and aquatic life of the reduction in phosphorous levels in an otherwise unchanged situation.

Although phosphorous levels in the Bay have been reduced somewhat in recent years as detergent manufacturers cut phosphorous levels "in their products, the big move will come at the end of this year. At that time, sewage treatment plants will begin a program of phosphorous removal that will result in only about 30 per cent of phosphorous going into a municipal sewage system coming out the other end and into the Bay and other Ontario waters.

Phosphorous is believed to be the villain in what has happened to the Bay—over the years. Because it acts as a fertilizer in fresh water, phosphorous promotes the growth of algae, the floating green scum often found washed up on shore.

Algae has a relatively short life, says Dr. Hurley, and when it dies, it sinks to the bottom. This is where the trouble begins. As the algae rots, it consumes oxygen. The result is eutrophication — a body of water whose oxygen supply is sufficient only to support low levels of plant and aquatic life.

With the elimination of concentrated inputs of phosphorous from municipal sewage, it is hoped water clarity and oxygen levels will be improved to the point where higher life forms will return to the Bay.

Although sport fishermen and boaters generally agree the situation in the Bay is improving, Dr. Hurley says the Project Quinte team has no evidence based on chemical tests that Bay water quality is improved. Tests are taken on a regular basis at 13 points in the Bay and samples analyzed.

Dr. Hurley is optimistic, though. At Lake Washington, near Seattle, sewage effluent was completely diverted from the lake and within two years a dramatic improvement in water quality was recorded.

Project Quinte will continue until 1980. Until then scientists urge that no new elements — such as fish stocking — be introduced into the Bay. This, Dr. Hurley says, will enable scientists to evaluate, in a controlled situation, what happens when phosphorous levels are reduced.

One fly in the ointment that concerns the researcher is the new Lennox generating station. Then it goes into operation it will discharge large quantities of hot water right at the narrows where the Bay of Quinte joins Lake Ontario. What effect this will have on fish travelling between the Lake and the Bay is unknown.

With the anticipated upgrading in water quality, Dr. Hurley sees a number of things happening. One of the first would be a return of desirable aquatic plants. These would provide shelter for higher level insects that would provide food for better quality fish and spawning cover for some species.

As Dr. Hurley explains, the problem in the Bay is not lack of fish. "There are lots of fish in the Bay. The quantity is there but the quality is missing."

With an improvement in Bay water quality, it is hoped that nature, with help from man as required, will restore the Bay of Quinte to its former status as one of the most productive freshwater fisheries in the world.

"What we are trying to do is rehabilitate an important resource," Dr. Hurley concludes.

Village Schools Serve Thousands

BANCROFT — Since 1969 the education of North Hastings children and the administration of area schools has been the responsibility of the Hastings County Board of Education.

Prior to that time, the area schools system was operated by a local board of trustees. North Hastings is comprised of a number of small communities, most of which have an elementary school, which fills the position of focal point of the community.

In Cox Hill, the reasonably new school sits near a small one room school which has been adapted for the community use.

In the "Little White School House," facilities are available for crafts, pottery, woodworking and a preschool play area.

The new school in Herman is an open concept building that draws its students from the Fort Stewart, Macarthur's Mills and Boulter areas.

The community use of the Herman school includes a public library, a gala New Years Eve Party for area residents and other community events.

The village of Maynooth is home to both the Maynooth Public School and to St. Ignatius Separate School.

The Hastings Prince Edward Roman Catholic Separate School Board operates St. Ignatius and Our Lady of Mercy School in Bancroft.

Both Bird's Creek, four miles north of Bancroft and Paudash, five miles south, have their own Kindergarten to Grade 8 schools.

Bancroft is the hub of the North Hastings Associated School group and students from across the area are bussed to the village to attend the Senior Elementary School for Grade 7 and 8, and to the North Hastings High School for a full Grade 9 to 13 program.

The Northern area office for the Hastings Board is also in Bancroft.

The area office and the northern satellite of the Instructional media centre are located in Bancroft School.

Bancroft School is also a kindergarten to Grade Six School and has an active volunteer parent program in operation.

The hamlet of L'Amable had an active public school which was housed in two buildings until 1972. At that time, the school was closed for general use because of a fall in enrollment. However the buildings are being actively used now as a school for retarded children and a community centre run by the Kinsmen for the use of the North Hastings ARC Industries workshop and the Bancroft parent's Nursery.

Elementary students from Gilmour, Gustic and Wednesday are served by the three-room school at Gilmour.

Cardiff, which is nine miles south west of Bancroft has a public school which is administered by the Haliburton County Board of Education, however students from that community also attend the North Hastings High School in Bancroft.

Sport Fishing

Sports fishing prospects in the Quinte area are brightening as water quality in the area improves, according to veteran angler and ministry of natural resources authorities.

In Bay of Quinte itself, once known as one of the best all-round freshwater fisheries on the continent, fishermen say the bass are back, pickerel are being taken more frequently and pike are bigger and better.

Elsewhere in the southern area, bigger and better catches are reported in the Moira, Trent, Napanee and Salmon rivers and, farther north, Cold Creek remains one of the best trout streams in the province.

Stocking plans in the Quinte area call for a new generation of muskies in Hay Bay, the Trent and upper Moira. If available, splake will go into Lake Ontario and rainbow, speckles and lake trout will be added to suitable waters in the district.

Workers Ready Trent Canal

Trent Canal System Gets Major Facelift

TRENTON — When the boating season's first pleasure craft owner points his bow up the waters of the Trent-Severn Canal this year, he will be greeted by a new look, a distinct promise, and a fee schedule.

Most immediate and most startling of course, will be the newly-instituted rains for use of the canal, the biggest tourist attraction in the eastern part of central Ontario.

The fee structure, still to be approved by Ottawa, breaks boat owners into two groups — those who own vessels under 18 feet in length and those above the 18-foot length.

The first group will be paying $3 daily, $25 monthly and $39 a season for canal use. Boaters in the second group will dish out $4, $40 and $60, respectively.

According to Parks Canada, which operates the 240-mile, 45-lock canal, the fees will partly offset a capital development program the federal government will undertake to improve the canal. It's expected about $20-million will be spend along the system over the next five years.

However, the program is still in the future and changes now are being made in locks and dams on the system. In Trenton itself, $250,000 is being spent along the system over 1975-76 federal fiscal years to restore the concrete walls of the lock and the entrance to Lock One.

Restoration at Trenton is only one of ten major jobs undertaken by Parks Canada during the current off-season. At Young's Pt., 25 miles north of Peterborough, work is being completed on the mechanization of the lock. It was closed 24 days before the rest of the system closed for the season.

Early closure of that one lock did not affect the drop in the number of boaters that used the canal last year, according to Parks Canada officials.

Boat traffic was down in 1974 by about 1,000 from 1973's 214,494. However, the number of different vessels increased by a small 135 boats from 1973 when 23,420 boats used the canal.

Officials blamed the drop in traffic, when a five per cent increase had been expected, on a three-week delay in the opening of the canal, higher gasoline prices, and unsettled summer weather.

Whatever the drop in boat traffic is over the short haul, over an extended number of years, boat traffic and other recreational use of the canal should increase.

Parks Canada's Al Kaiser says from Cornwall the Trent-Severn, as opposed to the Rideau Canal, is Canada's major recreational canal and is being, and will likely continue to be developed with recreational use in mind.

"The Trent Canal is being treated as a recreational canal while the Rideau Canal will be developed as a historic canal," he says. Part of the explanation for such emphasis is simple. Except for the Peterborough Lift Locks, the Trent-Severn is not as deeply interwoven in the history of Ontario.

An attempt to gain a historical perspective of this canal is "like trying to grab hold of molasses," he says, then adds that he has 20 different stories of the Trent Canal's history from 20 different sources.

The Trent Canal, as opposed to the Rideau, has more of its development aimed at the pleasure boater — gas stations, restaurants, marinas — many if not most have been developed by private enterprise.

Mr. Kaiser foresees development of the canal picking up in coming years through the Canada — Ontario Rideau-Trent-Severn (CORTS) agreement. Through CORTS, he expects co-ordination of development plans.

Already, CORTS has revived plans in Trenton for establishment of a marina off Centennial Park. The town wants it desire of many years to bear fruit under funding through CORTS, whose officials have indicated a marina should be a priority for the town waterfront.

A marina here would prove an asset to both the town and the canal, which is already laden with recreational attractions.

Stretching across central Ontario between Trenton and Port Severn on Georgian Bay, the system has 17 lakes and four main rivers — the Trent, Talbot, Otonabee, and the Severn. Along the canal are nine provincial parks.

Glanmore House Keeps Alive County's Past

What has 13-foot ceilings and a $700 musical box? How about school books from the 1860s — or the chair Queen Victoria used at the Dublin Exhibition in 1853?

The easy answer — Glanmore House, the Hastings County Museum, located at 257 Bridge St. East.

Opened in July, 1973, the museum is a long-time Belleville landmark. It's a building designated of national importance for reasons of architectural design and is funded by the municipal and county governments. It is operated by the Hastings County Historical Society, curator is Marten Lewis.

The building is a "gentle mixture of Second Empire and Italianate architectural style" and was the home of John Philpot Curran Phillips who commissioned its construction in the late 1870s.

Jewel of the Victorian mansion is the Phillips Dining Room, which, probably more than any other room in the mansion, has its original flavor preserved. Other main floor rooms include the drawing room, which retains some original furnishing, the card or music room with its 100-year-old Harpe Harmonique Piccolo, a musical box, the billiard room with its Seth Thomas clock and the pleasant breakfast room which catches the morning sun.

On the lower floor is the Cowdin Room with Mrs. Simpson's Kitchen, a recreation of an early local kitchen. It houses a display of farm and building implements.

Upstairs, the Susannah Moodie Library with its early school books and growing collection of material about the Belleville author.

The second floor also boasts the MacDonald Gallery, with its paintings by Manly MacDonald and his easel, table, brushes and the like.

The master bedroom houses the Paul Collection of Lighting devices collected by Dr. W. A. Paul, Tweed, which includes everything from firemaking devices to stone lamps.

The museum is open from June 1 to August 31, Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Sunday from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. During the remaining months it is open Tuesday to Sunday from 1 pm. to 5 p.m.

Drum Corps

The Belleville Yardmen Drum and Bugle Corps has a new administration setup for a more efficient operation.

"We've added a number of positions as well as a constitution we've adopted," says director Hugh Bondy.

The new offices are secretarial and public relations managed by Dorothy Kidd of Belleville, business manager held by Tony Street of Trenton and publicity conducted by Evelyn Monkley of Trenton.

The corps instruction staff includes drill instructors Steve Burns and Bob Peters of Kingston, who played with the Rochester, N.Y., Crusaders, ranked eighth in the world out of 30 senior drum corps. Mr. Peters doubles as corps manager.

Other instructors are Mrs. Monkley for marching and manoeuvering, Paul Capobianco of Kingston for bugles and Greg Rutious of Kingston, for percussion.

Trent Greenbelt One Step Closer

TRENTON — A start on the long-awaited "greening" of the west bank of the Trent River might begin as early as 1976 if needed land purchases and part of the reconstruction of Front St. are completed this year.

Conversion of the now built-up west bank into a strip of open parkland has been in the works for over two years. Lower Trent Region Conservation Authority plans call for development to occur between the Dundas St. bridge and Le Cas Island along the river's bank at an estimated cost of $1.5-million.

The "greening" project will likely be pulled out of its holding pattern by developments this year. Of prime concern is the completion of the towns rebuilding of Front St.

Authority officials cannot move on redevelopment of Phase I of their own plans until the street has been rebuilt and its precise boundaries are known.

Front St. reconstruction in the town's 1975 work picture calls for completion of a section between the MacDonald Bridge and Nicholas St. Work on Water St. will not be done until 1976.

The town's 1975 plans dovetail with the authority's Phase I plans for development, as the section co-incides almost exactly.

Only the purchase of several properties in the strip remains as a stumbling block to a development start. In total, the authority must still purchase 19 pieces of land before the entire project lands are free for full development.

Once the project gets underway, it is expected that it will be complete in 10 years.

Plans call for passive parkland — walking, jogging and bicycling trails — and active parkland — a series of picnic area, children's playgrounds, sports facilities grouped at Le Cas Island.

Project funding will come from the provincial government, which will pay half the cost and the town. Supplementary funding, some 20 percent, can also be anticipated from Queen's Park.

Islander Is All-star

MONTREAL (CP) — Denis Potvin of the New York Islanders has been in the National Hockey League two seasons and has played in two All-Star games. "Last year I was added to the team but this time it meant more," said Potvin.

Deer, Pheasant, Grouse Abound in Hastings Area

Shotguns and rifles are part of the furnishings of many Quinte homes. The reason is the ready availability of game in the area.

The November deer hunt sees a northward exodus to camps in north Hastings and neighboring counties. Earlier in the fall, duck hunters fan out in all directions to set up blinds on the district's many lakes, river and marshes.

Upland game hunting is within easy reach of the city, too. Pheasant, ruffed grouse and rabbit are plentiful in the Brighton Provincial Wildlife area. Woodcock can be found in the district and sharptailed grouse have been established by the ministry of natural resources at Point Petre in Prince Edward County.

For those who prefer to hunt with a camera, Presqu'ile Provincial park, south of Brighton, is a favorite migration crossover point for small birds, including waders and warblers. Late in the fall the area offers a good opportunity to view diving and dabbling ducks.

Lake Ontario Cement Plant Under Expansion

Lake Ontario Cement Plant In Midst of Major Expansion

PICTON — One of Prince Edward's major industries, Lake Ontario Cement Co. Ltd. (LOCL) provides employment for approximately 235 workers.

In addition, about 120 contractor workers are on the job in an expansion program at the plant located three miles north-east of Picton.

When a four-stage, suspension pre-heated kiln system begins operation at the Picton plant this fall, LOCL expects to have the lowest cost cement manufacturing plant in Canada.

Company president William Bateman has stated the 650,000 ton-per-year kiln system will achieve a one-third reduction in normal fuel requirements.

The pre-heater kiln and auxiliary equipment represents the second phase of a major expansion program begun in 1973.

Stage one involved installation of a new Loesche roller mill system cost ~$5 million. This new system went into operation about one year ago and offers substantial fuel savings.

The pre-heater kiln system planned for the plant will cost approximately $14.5 million.

Location of the Picton plant of LOCL on a bay of Lake Ontario offers the company a larger marketing area on a competitive basis than would be possible if it were restricted to overland transportation.

Lake ships provide easy access to Canadian markets adjacent to the entire Great Lakes and St. Lawrence River system and the U.S. markets in upper New York State.

When the pre-heater kiln is completed clinker manufacturing capacity at the Picton plant will double.

The plant's three existing kilns can be phased in and out of production as needed after the new system is placed in operation.

The Picton cement plant now has enough grinding capacity to process clinker into 1.1 million tons of cement per year. Sales over this level would require greater grinding capacity and plans for this are in preparation for the third stage of expansion at the plant.

Addition of a second line of heat exchanger vessels in the suspension tower and construction of a calcining chamber at the base of the tower will be the eventual fourth stage.

Bruce Price, vice-president of operation at the Picton plant says the calciner is primarily an efficiency tool that would increase production of the orginal pre-heater kiln by 50 per cent. This would give the plant a capacity of two million tons of clinker per year, making it one of the largest plants in North America.

William Bateman, president of LOCL told shareholders at the 1974 annual meeting in February that the most important part of the completion timing of expansions is that "we should be ready for a revitalized 1978 economy with a revitalized cement plant."

Fuel economies achieved through the introduction of the pre-heater technology will be especially important.

Mr. Bateman predicted the fuel squeeze in North America will be a chronic situation. Costs will rise higher and say saving that can be made in the traditionally high volume of energy needed to make each ton of cement will be significant to a company's competitive position.

Basic fuel source for the Picton plant is coal or natural gas. Mr. Bateman said he believes gas soon will equate with oil in terms of energy cost in Canada and oil will be set at the world price in the near future.

If this occurs, coal will become the plant's basic fuel and will be shipped from the United States. The ship, on its return trip will carry a load of clinker. Clinker, unlike cement, can be carried in vessels used for other cargoes.

Development of a pilot project using garbage as a fuel source is one of the next steps for the Picton plant of LOCL.

Mr. Bateman has stated that to use garbage as a fuel in the cement manufacturing process where the ash becomes part of the cement product is a true recycling and a viable one.

Phil Bennett, president of the Quinte District Real Estate Board goes over the business with board secretary Sharon Carter. Mr. Bennett said the market is filled with homes for sale with 50 new listing on in the last three weeks. The main function of the board is to administrate the multiple listing service — a service which offers the widest exposure of saleable home to the customer.

Marmora Enjoys 'Dormitory' Image

MARMORA — This is a residential community which is modernizing. Thirty miles northwest of Belleville, this Hastings County village of 1,400 people straddles Highway 7. Sewage lines worth $1½ million, and a treatment plant costing $800,000 are in the final stages of completion to improve the services for the residents. The majority of homes on both sides of the Crowe River are already serviced with water.

The nearby Marmoratun Iron Mine is described by Reeve Jack Reynolds as being a significant economic contributor to the community. Municipal Clerk William Shannon notes that the surrounding area has many good farms situated in pockets of good land despite the presence of the precambrian shield. The heavy summer population of nearby cottages is a major economic factor.

"We are a summer town, in effect," the reeve points out. "There are many cottages on Crowe Lake, Beaver Creek, some smaller lakes, and Crowe River."

"Marmora is a some is 'a dormitory town,'" Mr. Reynolds adds. "I work in Belleville. Many go to Peterborough. If enough of that is going on it is almost as good as having a bunch of industry."

That about the quality of life? Reeve Reynolds says it is good, with "people getting the comfort and benefits of the suburbs without the disadvantages of a city."

Many residents own snowmobiles and virtually have the north country at their doorsteps. And then they have ready access to fishing in the summer.

"There is no problem selling new houses built in Marmora," the reeve declares.

One landowner wants to build 30 homes just outside the village, and he has asked to have his land annexed so this can be done. In the north end of town, one individual owns land which could some day be zoned for residential development, and at least a hundred homes could be located there, the reeve explains.

The Ontario Housing Corporation has advised the town fathers that a 36-unit senior citizens housing complex will be built. "Once that is built, a lot of older type homes will be available for others to live in," Mr. Reynolds notes. "A lot of people from Toronto have been buying houses to retire in here."

Plotting New Routes On Quinte - Hastings Trail

Hastings Trail Spans 250 Miles of Province

Totally urban Belleville is a comfortable starting point for one of Ontario's most ambitious outdoors projects.

It's the Quinte-Hastings Recreation Trail (QHRT), designed to run from Lake Ontario to close to Algonquin Park.

At the outset it may have seemed like an outsized idea ahead of its time. QHRT president Jim Staveley says now. But its concept has been proven.

Routed across a 250-mile landscape of contrasts — from shore Canadian Shield wilderness to pastoral countryside — it had a built-in major added attraction from its start three years ago.

The QHRT was designed as a multi-purpose corridor.

This means the scheme was not restricted to a single outdoors pursuit.

Hiking, trail-biking, horseriding, and snowmobiling were all conceived into the initial project first launched in 1971-72 as a big winter make-work project, with a $112,000 Local Initiatives Improvement (LIP) grant.

It had its initial troubles. Official participation expired when the LIP project was completed.

Its initiators, mostly community-oriented hurriedly formed the QHRT as a volunteer organization to find ways of perpetuating the project.

The crucial need was to keep the facility maintained — to groom back the wilderness, renew directional marking and continue improvements.

But public response, despite use of the trail, was lackluster in the ensuing two years. At one point, despite some support from municipalities and tourist groups, the QHRT treasury was down to a handful of dollars.

At various meetings, trail volunteers emphasized they should hold on to what they believed was a recreation resource which would be a future boon.

Late last year, a refreshing breeze of optimism blew over the QHRT. In November, the provincial government announced plans for 18 revised outdoors recreation facilities. An advisory committee was to be established to assist development of a complete trails system in the province.

Then, the QHRT was given a $27,000 LIP grant for renewal work along a 30 mile stretch of the trail north of Belleville to Bancroft.

Early this year, the provincial natural resources ministry designated 100 miles of trail for official upkeep as a snowmobile route.

This led Jim Staveley, QHRT president, to cheerfully speculate on the implications of senior government interest in the facility.

By that time, too, the trail had more than doubled the outdoors routes under its jurisdiction. In January it took over 236 miles of snowmobile trails developed through south-central Hastings County by the Highlands of Hastings Tourist Region.

The arrival of cross-country skiing also was added to the list of recreations suited to the QHRT this year.

School groups now also have formed clubs to use the trail for outdoor education.

Such developments leave Mr. Staveley even more buoyant.

"The Quinte area is a heartland for recreation in Ontario," he says. "And the demand for outdoor recreation facilities will grow with the spread of urban living, cottier transportation. Now we're right in the forefront."

"The trail might have been an idea ahead of its time. But its potential will be proven — in economic, social and educational value," he says.

Marking the Long, Long, Trail

Apple Crop May Rise 40 Per Cent by 1977

Belleville is right on the edge of one of Ontario's prime apple-growing areas and a boom in apple production is expected in the next few years.

A number of large orchards to the west and south of the city have young trees on the verge of coming into production and the area apple crop is expected to jump by as much as 40 per cent by 1977.

Most popular varieties in the area are McIntosh and Northern Spy, in that order, but local growers predict an increase in Red Delicious production as young trees begin bearing.

At the Smithfield federal experimental farm, a number of new apple varieties have been developed in recent years. The emphasis in new strains has been on early and uniform ripening and resistance to disease.

One of the most promising new varieties is MacFree, a scab-resistant, heavy-bearing strain with good commercial potential.

Loyalist One of Province's Fastest Growing Colleges

By ROBIN CHASE
Staff Reporter

Loyalist Community College, one of 22 such post-secondary institutions in Ontario, is one of the fastest-growing colleges in the province.

Sprawling over about 160 acres at its campus a few miles west of Belleville, Loyalist boasts a student population, both full-and-part-time, of about 8,000, an increase of almost 3,000 from 1973-74.

First established here in 1967, it was one of two campus locations of Sir Sanford Fleming-Loyalist College of Applied Arts and Technology.

They were designated to serve Area 3, one of 19 areas into which the province was divided at that time under legislation by which Ontario's new system of such colleges was established.

It was initially evident the size of the area dictated a split to two separate colleges. There was no previous basis of community interest in a region extending from Haliburton and Lindsay in Victoria County on the north west to Prince Edward and Lennox-Addington counties on the southwest.

Two natural focal points of the region were the Belleville — Trenton area adjacent to Prince Edward County in the southern area and Lindsay-Peterborough, the major population centre of the northwesterly part of the region.

At first, a joint board of governors was appointed for the two campus locations, Loyalist here, servicing the Quinte area and Sir Sanford Fleming in Peterborough, with each campus being operated administratively as an independent institution by a president and a committee of the joint board.

Each college became a separate institution of higher learning in May, 1968, with the passage of orders-in-council to serve the four-county Quinte area.

This area comprises Lennox and Addington, Hastings and Prince Edward counties and that part of Northumberland County other than the townships of Hamilton, South Monaghan and Cobourg.

J. K. Bradford was president from June 1, 1967 until September, 1970. Herbert Young took office Sept. 1, 1970.

Three years ago, the college accepted administrative responsibility for an apprenticeship program in automotive trades as well as the operation of the local manpower retraining program which now is the retraining division of the college.

Adult and continuing education is considered an important responsibility of the college. In addition to providing an opportunity for evening study whereby mature students are able to add to their educational qualifications while they are regularly employed, the programs offered by the extension division have another significance.

In many instances, they are parallel to those offered in the day program. Then, credits can be acquired toward an eventual two or three-year diploma in applied arts or technology.

When the college first opened its doors, it offered 10 basic programs. In September, 1971, some 30 programs were offered.

While the range and number of programs is not expected to expand greatly in the immediate future, the size of the student body is. Three new programs of considerable popularity have recently been authorized.

They are a training course for counsellors of the mentally retarded, a program for training nurses assistants and a concentrated trimester program for accounting, business administration and certain technical students.

The college's first structure, the Pioneer Building, was constructed in August, 1968. From 1970-71, the large Kente building was built as three wings: Lennox-Addington, Hastings, and Northumberland.

They comprise 247,633 square feet built at a cost of $27.01 per square foot.

Total full and part-time faculty and support staff numbered 642 last November, an increase of 140 from the previous year.

Loyalist Students Take Break on Campus Steps

Herb Young, College President

Sidney Township Draws Many New Residents

Working with a $1.5 million budget and taking care of the needs and wants of 11,000 residents, Sidney Township council occupies a strong position in the development of the Belleville area.

With continuing pressures applied to city dwellers, urban residents are beginning to flee to the comparative opposite of the township.

Land shortages in the city are forcing developers to urbanize the rural area.

Sidney council sits in a position of controlling this growth and at the same time — bolstering township services to meet the needs of the new population.

While roads and related services have been ear-marked as a council priority for the coming year, the fire department and parks and recreation department have stepped into the municipal limelight.

This year, parks and recreation has been recognized as a full-time board with its own budget while major expansion is hitting the fire hall.

Both of these services have been diagnosed as necessities by council.

The fire department recently announced it will take on a full time fire chief — the first full time fire fighter to work in the municipality. It has only been since the late 1960s that the township had a complete fire hall.

As building boomed in the township, population dictated fire department expansion.

Currently the township runs two fire halls, one at the township office and the other at Bayside.

Equipment — including a new fire truck — has already been purchased for the third fire hall to be located at Bayside.

Dafoe Watchdog Of City's Affairs

Earl Dafoe is secretary to 35,000 people.

As city clerk he is the man ultimately responsible for all the paper work which originates with city council decisions.

That kind of work has expanded massively over the years as government involvement with social demands becomes increasingly diverse and complex, says Mr. Dafoe, who has been a municipal official 27-years.

But his assignement is no paper role.

In fact, if the occasion should ever arise, he could be the most powerful official in the city.

A municipal clerk is the community's statutory officer and among legislation he administers is the all-powerful Ontario Municipal Act, which lays down the rules of local government.

If a council decided on a policy contrary to the act, it's the clerk's responsibility to point out the discrepancy. If the council persists, "the clerk sits on a bed spot — between two masters. But he would have to abide by the statute."

Such a situation has yet arisen in Belleville — at last, if it has, no one recollects.

However, in small municipalities when a local council became doggedly determined, such conflicts were not unknown in the past, says Mr. Dafoe.

Mr. Dafoe also is the city's electoral officer — organizer and supervisor of the mechanism of city elections held each two years.

He also issues its marriage certificates, records its births and marriages, and is the keeper of all council records.

Lakes Abound in Quinte and North Hastings Area

Tourism Big Business for Quinte Area

PICTON — Tourism is possibly Prince Edward County's biggest industry says Glynn James owner of Picton Bay Motel and president of the Bay of Quinte Regional Tourist Association.

"I don't think the average person realizes what tourism brings in here," he added.

"It is our second largest industry, if not the largest," commented Mr. James.

The motel owner noted figures from the ministry of industry and tourism show a total of $15 million was spent in the Quinte area in 1974.

A breakdown indicates $5,940,000. was spent for food and beverages, including liquor.

Accommodation at hotels, motels, tourist resort cabins and cottages totalled an expenditure of $3,400,000.

A total of $3,240,000 was spent for transportation, including gas, oil and taxi fares.

Minor retail purchases, accounted for an expenditure of $1,980,000. and major retail purchases, such as boats, totalled $540,000.

Entertainment expenditures totalled $900,000.

Mr. James said tourist spending in Prince Edward County last year represented direct employment for 900 persons.

Tourism in Prince Edward is promoted through the Quinte's Isle Tourist Association and the Bay of Quinte Regional Tourist Association. The latter raises funds for the QITA.

Mr. James observed re-organization in the ministry of industry and tourism has prompted a certain amount of local change.

Originally, there were 22 regional tourist committees in Ontario; today there are only nine.

New proposals from the ministry suggested a manager, an office and two field representatives.

Mr. James said it was felt by some that such a set-up could become top heavy with administration costs with little money left for area promotion.

Several tourist groups in this area united in form the Central Ontario Tourist Association. Among these are Highlands of Hastings, Simcoe, Land O' Lakes, Kawartha tourist association, Great Pine Ridge, Haliburton Highlands and Lake Simcoe.

"Financially, we won't be quite as well off so the backing of the local areas is needed but possibly the publicity will be much better," said Mr. James.

He said all other tourist areas in the group promote special events in Prince Edward, such as the Gold Cup Races and the county fair.

Prince Edward County does not offer the summer visitor bright lights, night life and shopping centres but it can provide a guaranteed antidote for the rate race.

Dubbed as "sleepy Prince Edward" in several tourist brochures, the county claims miles of sand beach at Outlet-Sandbanks provincial parks and at North Beach Park.

Lake-On-The Mountain provincial park offers fish lore and breath-taking scenery. The "bottomless lake" fed by an unknown source still intrigues hundreds of summer visitors annually.

The government-operated free ferry at Glenora is a perennial attraction among holidayers who can enjoy a boat ride on the Bay of Quinte from the deck of the Quinte or her sistership the Quinte Loyalist.

For the tourist interested in learning about the county he is visiting there are five museums.

In North Marysburg the historic Rose House recaptures pioneer days as do the Wellington and Ameliasburg museums.

For old salts there is the Mariners Park Museum in South Marysburg, filled with nautical displays.

In Picton the Prince Edward County Museum is a showcase for the county as it was a century ago.

For holidayers eager to discover souvenirs there are dozens of craft shops dotted throughout the townships.

The Quinte's Isle Tourist Association staffs an office on Main St., in Picton to direct summer visitors to Prince Edward land marks.

Madawaska Cup Now Popular Race

BANCROFT — The roar of the motors and the yells of the crowd and pit crews sent drivers on their way roaring around the track at the annual local Madawaska Cup snowmobile races this year.

The Madawaska Cup snowmobile races are organized yearly by the Bancroft-Cardiff Klansmen Club and are sanctioned by the Ontario Snowmobile Racing Federation (OSRF).

The "S" sanctioned event brings drivers from all parts of Ontario and Quebec to compete for the $5,300 in cash prize money.

Bill Vermilliyes, of the OSRF, says the Madawaska Cup could easily be an "A" event, because the calibre of the drivers and the track are excellent.

The races are operated by volunteers and say Klansmen more than 100 local people are needed for the operation.

The rules that the OSFR advocates are carefully followed at the Madawaska Cup . . . stringent safety regulations for machines and drivers as well as effective crowd control.

The traditions third weekend in February is a date to set aside for the enjoyment of the Bancroft Madawaska Cup.

Residents Play Role In New Radio Station

BANCROFT — A group of working in a mutual experiment in community involvement in a commercial radio venture.

CJNH, Radio North Hastings was officially launched March 1, 1975. However, the idea of a Bancroft station had been in the minds of the community for a long time before that.

Quinte Broadcasting with the support of the local citizen's group, applied to the Canadian Radio — Television Commission for a licence to put a satellite station in Bancroft. The licence was granted with the CRTC stating that "it would be noting with interest the involvement of the community".

Once CJNH was on the air the community group of volunteers accepted the challenge of providing 5½-hours weekly of strictly community programming.

The programs, which run Monday to Friday from 5:30 p.m. to 7 p.m., and Sunday 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. feature amateur sports results, weather conditions, notices of meetings, interviews with local residents, original radio drama and a showcase for local talent.

GOOD SENSE ABOUT GOOD TIMES.

The get together's great. Good food, good company, good conversation.
And to round it off, good sense about the drinks.

Because hospitality isn't measured by how much you pour. And appreciation isn't shown by how much you can consume.

Good times are when all the ingredients—food, company, conversation and drinks—are served up with sense.
Good sense.

Library Has More Than Just Books

By ISABEL HUGGAN
Staff Reporter

Lively centre of culture in this city is the Corby Public Library on Pinnacle Street.

Not a stuffy old whispersoftly library, but a building chockfull of people, paintings, films, books, and a feeling that "something's happening".

Since September, 1973, when the new wing was opened the library has had a gallery that offers its space to artists, poets, musicians and organizations who meet there.

"I think the addition is responsible for a whole new dimension in library activities," says Olive Delaney, head librarian in the main branch for more than 25 years.

In fact, the increased public awareness of the library — through attendance at various meetings and functions in the gallery — has resulted in a flurry of activity at the East Branch Library on Victoria Avenue as well.

Both libraries still have lending of books as their chief business, and quite a booming business, too. In 1974, the main branch processed 176,187 adult books, and 57,914 children's books for lenders. The east branch lent 28,885 books to adults and 23,955 books to children in the same year.

The main branch saw 10,387 films borrowed from its film library, and 1,811 clippings borrowed from the vertical files in the reference room.

The donation of material for the archives of the Canadiana Room by the Hastings County Historical Society brought this part of the library into recognition in recent months. Material here and in the reference room is used by researchers, who have access also to microfilmed periodicals and taped information.

The reference librarians received 3,320 inquiries last year, 617 of them by phone.

There are 11 full-time librarians included in the staffs at both branches, and 11 part-time employees. There are also 13 student assistants, who work after school and on weekends.

Some of the activities that keep the staff busy are: The shut-in service that takes books to people confined to their homes; the mNers' morning group at which women attend a weekly program of speakers and films while their pre-school children are entertained; the children's Saturday story hour, film program, and a summer session of creative drama.

Children benefit from library activities in many ways. A six-week series of classes in papier mache took place this winter for youngsters, who have also been exposed to puppet shows and theatrical productions, and have attended poetry readings by poets such as Dennis Lee.

Both libraries feature reading groups, one in the evening at the main branch and one in the morning at the east branch.

Adults have had the advantage of the gallery as a place for meetings — there were 115 held last year in the Corby Public Library. The Belleville Art Association, the University Women's Club, the Quinte Naturalists and the Community Concerts Association are among those who find the pleasant art-lined walls of the gallery ideal for meetings.

At some of those occasions poets and artists such as Al Purdy and Kim Ondaatje have met the public during informal coffee hours following their presentations.

Poet Al Purdy reads in Corby Library gallery.

Trenton Plaza Taking Shape

Work Well Under Way On New Trenton Plaza

TRENTON — By mid October, construction of the $2.75-million shopping centre in Trenton's east end should be complete and cash registers should be ringing up their first sales.

The day it officially opens will mark a first in Trenton retailing history. The plaza is the largest to be built in this town of 14,500 people.

Building plans call for 15 small shops and the location here of K-Mart, a chain store general merchandise outlet, and the expansion of Loblaws to double its present size. In the first phase, the project will cover some 100,000 square feet.

Phase two construction will mean the addition of another 15 to 20 small stores. The second phase construction program depends on economic conditions and could be as far as five years away.

Dr. Murray Frum, president of Group R, a private Toronto company developing the open-air plaza, has estimated between seven and eight million in shoppers' dollars will be drawn by the centre. The money now is going to larger cities.

For many months, what will now undoubtedly be classed as the crown of Trenton's retail community, experienced a series of set backs that delayed a building start. The day it opens to the public will therefore be accompanied by a sense of relief and satisfaction among town councillors who were involved with its location here.

The centre, first proposed as a covered mall, encountered financing difficulties on top of the need for two property acquisitions from Sidney township and the national defence department. Once the needed land was assembled along Dundas St. East, the developers, Toronto's Western Realties Ltd. having by then merged with Abbey Glen, ran headlong into high interest rates and a tight mortgage market.

Group R stepped in and rescued the shopping centre from oblivion.

The Toronto firm revamped the building program by placing it in two stages, thereby making the project financially viable.

Group R reduced the originally planned 120,000-square-foot mall by 20 per cent, thus moving back construction of half the smaller stores. It also eliminated the roof.

Once the entire project is complete, plans call for the shopping centre to be slightly bigger than first proposed.

Official Plan Will Guide County in Future Growth

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

It doesn't hang its economic hat on it.

But tire-trading — Canada's oldest business — still is alive in Hastings County.

Lumbering, also an age-old trade, is still in business.

Then there's one of the newest resources uranium — ready for production again.

The contrasts are typical of the territory for which Hastings County council makes itself the co-ordinating local government.

Hastings is Ontario's second largest county — 2,333 square miles — and the second largest, reaching almost 100 miles north from Belleville.

Its population of 44,000 lives in 37 separate municipalities — well-to-do townships and villages centred on good farmland; communities of scattered settlement throughout rugged Canadian Shield country, at least rich in mineral history with recreation a growing compensation.

Giving them a common identity is the county council to which the member municipalities send 29 representatives, meeting at least in six annual sessions in Belleville — the county town through history, but in fact, now a separate city in its own right.

Now binding them even closer is the county's official plan, at present up for provincial government approval which will give the county a common blueprint of development based on local diversity.

Planning is only one of the modern public services which has given stepped-up, current significance to a county government that dates from 1850.

Roads, welfare, health, housing inspections, homes for the elderly are among services in which county government is an operator or participant. Total county government expenditures in 1974 were $5.7 million.

Despite the changes, officials are vocal when the most major of all municipal changeovers is discussed — regional government. Hastings councillors are adamant on retention of their own county boundaries as a viable modern municipal institution.

Reeve William McCrea of Hungerford, county warden for the year, says Hastings was a fore-runner in adopting county - wide services.

"The county provides the services its people require and can afford. As far as council is concerned the county system works well," he says.

Like a number of his fellow councillors, Warden McCrea also represents one of the county's industries. He's a beef farmer.

Then, there are councillors like Ross Streacker, reeve of Tudor and Cashel townships, the operator of a lumber business dating back three generations.

But farming and lumbering are only a few of the county's industries, still active from the days of settlement.

The resources of the Canadian Shield that runs north of Highway 7, has been a traditional source of industrial hopes for all its wild ruggedness.

It spurred Ontario's first gold rush at Eldorado, north of Madoc, in the 1860s. In 1930, the province's first iron works went into operation at Marmora. It failed, but the potential remained — to be tapped in the 1950s by Bethlehem Steel's Marmoration Mining Co. and its big open-pit operation.

The latest mine is close to Bancroft, where a joint Canadian-U.S. venture now is readying uranium deposits for export to Italy.

A still-growing industry in the Canadian Shield area is recreation. The bushland with its multitude of fresh lakes and clean air is increasingly being explored. The accessible wilderness now has become a year-round playground.

Such are its possibilities that now there's a proposal from local tourist councils to the Ontario cabinet to create a recreation area of dramatic dimension across central Hastings into neighboring Lennox and Addington County — 300,000 acres of Crown land to be set aside for tourism.

It's also a wilderness area in which trappers still ply the oldest of Canadian trades. There may be richer trapping in other, more northerly parts of the province, but the bushland fastness of Grimsthorpe township says provincial resources officials, can claim a record. The highest concentration of beaver in the world.

Plan Special Housing

VANCOUVER (CP) — Construction of two apartment buildings for low-income single women with no dependents, between the ages of 40 and 65, will start here this spring. The project which is jointly funded by the federal and provincial governments will contain bachelor and one-bedroom suites to house 48 women. The apartments are being placed by the Single Women's Housing Committee.

Queen's Gift

NORFOLK, England (CP) — The Queen has given approval for two charities to build 107 homes for young couples, the elderly and disabled on her Sandringham estate here. West Norfolk district council is to grant 100 per cent loans to the charities for the project.

The past year was indeed one of progress for Coles Jewellers Limited, with our downtown store expanding to nearly twice its previous size. Getting bigger to serve you better was the idea behind the expansion and this idea is now a reality. We were able to increase our selection in many lines to offer you one of the largest jewellery and giftware collections in Belleville. But through it all, we continued to strive to provide old-fashioned friendly service.

An independent jewellery business such as Coles Jewellers Limited must rely on the loyalty of its customers to operate successfully. That is why we offer only consistently high quality merchandise, honest value in every sale, and friendly service to make dealing here a pleasure. Both of our stores are staffed with people who know the business and like to serve you. Coles Jewellers Limited will continue to progress and grow with Belleville, but we promise to never lose sight of the reason for our success . . . YOU the customer.

Canadian Forces Base Trenton, nerve centre for Air Transport Command, is also base for Search and Rescue unit.

Pte. Sharlene Commerford does routine weapons check.

Thunder of Aircraft Means Jobs for Many

TRENTON — Except for days of heavy fog or driving snow, the presence of CFB Trenton in the Quinte area is felt daily in the unmistakable thunder of large aircraft overhead.

And despite recurring rumors to the contrary, any Canadian military sources that daily roar of planes is unlikely to change drastically, if at all, in the near future.

Talk about changes at the base, says CFB Trenton information officer Capt. Bob Burke, is just that, talk.

"It's all in the air. It's all speculation at the moment," he says.

Fears over a possible withdrawal of parts of the base have been sparked by an co-going study of Canadian armed forces supply units and the recent announcement by defence ministry James Richardson that a new Air Command will be created this summer.

Any fears of drastic changes at the base are justified, according to Trenton Mayor Bob Patrick. He recently worried over a potentially damaging economic impact on the Quinte area if only one small base component, Air Maintenance Development Unit, were pulled out.

Besides that roar of aircraft, its presence is felt economically. In dollars and cents, the base pumps millions into the Quinte area. In payroll alone, estimated at $3-million a month after staff tax deductions, it represents a guaranteed demand on goods and services in Trenton, Belleville as well as in smaller Quinte centres.

About 3,500 people work at the base, on the outskirts of Trenton. Of this number, 750, are civilians.

But it doesn't end there. Figures provided by CFB Trenton indicate about $80,000 a month, close to a $1,000,000 annually, is spent by the supply and services section.

Businesses from cleaners to lumber dealers in Trenton and Belleville receive annual contracts into the thousands of dollars. In the 1974-75 fiscal year, $130,000 was spent by contract locally.

A base supply officer estimates that a third of CFB Trenton's monthly requirements are met locally. In procuring supplies and services, the base first attempts to meet its needs locally before going farther afield — from California to London, England.

As the Quinte area's largest employer, CFB Trenton's impact on the local economy is substantial.

As an example, Canada Manpower figures show that 281 fewer jobs were filled at the base in fiscal year 1974-75 than in the previous year when the defence department did not face an inflation ravaged budget that forced spending cuts.

Last year, when fuel costs more than tripled and thus forced fewer flights, also foretold of some as-yet unknown changes in the role of Air Transport Command (ATC) for this year.

"Very definitely," said Capt. Burke. "There is going to be a change in the structure of ATC. As an identity it will cease, but as a role, it won't change."

ATC — the Canadian armed forces administrative headquarters for air transport based here — will fit under the wing of a new Air Command that will locate somewhere in western Canada. The change in forces' structure will also mean the departure of present ATC commander Maj.-Gen. Kenneth Lewis to a post as deputy commander of the new command.

Some other officers may move to supplement the new command, says Capt. Burke, but the airlift function at the base — "you call, we haul, whether passengers or tanks" — will remain.

He discounts a mass exodus from ATC, as armed forces function he said he feels the Quinte public continue with the base as a whole.

"People get confused and assume that we will move the whole base," he says, and add that only 250 people work at ATC, as compared with 3,500 who work on the base as a whole.

Speculation now, he insists, is pointless since what changes will be made now are being discussed around tables in Ottawa.

Hercules aircraft based at CFB Trenton fly worldwide relief missions and ferry troops for peacekeeping duties.

Mohawks Looking to Future As Well as Guarding Past

An older, contrasting culture not only survives but thrives in the rapidly-developing Belleville area.

The city has for a nearby neighbor the Tyendinaga Reserve, home of the Quinte Mohawks — the first community settlers to arrive in the Quinte district.

That was back 1784.

They came by canoe. Today the Mohawks have their own limited airfield, one of the best private landing strips in the Belleville district.

It's one of the most progressive reserves in Canada — some years ago it ranked seventh in economic prosperity in a government survey — and was one of the first to become self-governing.

A diversity of local-government services run by the reserve's own elected council account for a budget now running around $600,000 a year, estimates Elton Brant.

Mr. Brant as reserve administrator heads a staff responsible for running community operations — everything from social services to roads. It's own fire services now are being organized.

The Mohawks were granted their reserve lands for loyalty to the British cause after being forced to flee their ancient grounds after the American War of Independence.

They were the first settlers to arrive in the district, now rich in United Empire Loyalist tradition.

Their arrival is marked annually by a re-enactment of that first landing — an event that attracts crowds from wide areas. At that time, their neighbors can see one of the most valued of local historical treasures, for which the reserve is the repository — the silver communion service personally presented the Mohawks by Queen Anne in the early 1700s.

Today's reserve is smaller than the original. Early land surrenders — the major one taken by colonial administrators to create reduced reserve territory, and in recent years the Mohawks have made known their consciousness of any infringement.

Such a spirit has been part of a new awareness of identity — and potential.

Culturally, traditional crafts were restored on the reserve.

The teaching of Mohawk was renewed.

Community facilities today are a distinguishing mark of reserve progress. After their long-time reserve council house burned down, one of Mohawks went to work to create a modern building. Recently, its scattered schoolhouses were consolidated in a new structure housing all Six public school and kindergarten students. The reserve council took over and refurbished the biggest of the former schools for its administrative offices.

A wartime airfield, complete with hangars, also was brought up to standard for licensing.

An industry, run by a group of Mohawks now produces shoe parts for Bata Industries. Its introduction under corporate regulations has sparked dispute on the reserve, but it now employs about 30 Mohawks.

Running the reserve is the jurisdiction of a four-man council and chief, now elected every two years. They meet twice a month.

Each councillor keeps contact with a specific area of community.

But such are the demands of reserve growth, one council meeting is devoted to reports on community affairs, the other to reserve general business, says the present chief, William Brant.

Women's Groups Offer Wide Variety of Activities

Poetry readings, fashion shows, art displays, bazaars.

Selling use. clothes, serving invalids' meals, minding children, making quilts, holding worship services.

Working, enjoying and contributing to the community, Belleville women lead satisfying and busy lives. In addition to their work at home or at outside jobs, by joining any of a multitude of clubs and organizations.

Although membership has dropped in some of the more traditional and conservative groups, women continue to organize themselves for a variety of social, cultural, political and religious reasons.

By far the largest number of groups in the city are associated with churches. Some of these are formed to raise money for congregational needs, others have as their focus missionary fields, and still others function as auxiliaries for men's groups within the church.

The charitable aspect of these women's groups also shows itself in the many services they perform for shut-ins and needy families in the area. Meals on Wheels, for example, is indebted to the voluntary work of church women, who both make and deliver hot meals to invalids.

The church bazaar is still a lively part of Belleville social life, and the pre-Christmas and spring seasons are always crowded with these events that feature homemade baking, clothes, ornaments and handicrafts. Fashion shows and teas are also extremely popular, and bring out large numbers of women at both afternoon and evening occasions.

Women who wish to join church groups that have religious growth as their aim will find these too in Belleville. From one such group of women interested in discussion and stimulating discussion grew the Women's Study Guild, which now is a non-denominational group taking a look at all aspects of life. Another still religious in aim is the Belleville Christian Women's Club.

Women with a particular enthusiasm for art join the Belleville Art Association, and those who are interested in handicrafts become members of the Weavers' Guild or the Rug-hookers' Guild. All these groups have annual exhibits of their work, and throughout the year hold meetings which guest artists speak.

Beta Sigma Phi sorority has eight chapters in the Belleville [illegible] as their aim the appreciation of all branches of fine art. These women also take part in a number of cultural activities.

The Alpha Delta Kappa sorority has women educators as its members, who promote educational and charitable projects in the area.

Education is a major concern for the Argyll Chapter of the Imperial Order of Daughters of the Empire, who provide bursaries and awards to area schools. The St. Julien Chapter of the IODE also is interested in education, and in all aspects of family and community life. These two chapters raise money for a number of projects by teas, dinners, dances and rummage sales, and are especially active as volunteers at blood donor clinics, and in all matters pertaining to citizenship.

The Canadian Federation of University Women has an active chapter in Belleville, meeting monthly to hear guest speakers as well as dividing into several smaller interest groups. These women provide annual scholarships to Belleville students, and encourage high standards of public education. Although membership is restricted to university graduates, meetings at which guest speakers range from poets to politicians are open to the public.

Several men's groups in the city have women's auxiliaries that have become active and important clubs in their own right. Among these are the Kinettes and the Y'kAmettes, and the Legion and ANAF women's auxiliaries.

The Belleville General Hospital Auxiliary has within the last year opened its membership to men, but it is still primarily a women's organization. Its members staff the hospital gift and snack shop, and the Opportunity Shop where sales of used clothes provide the auxiliary with funds to assist in purchase of hospital equipment.

Hastings Manor has an auxiliary as well. These women operate a tuck shop at the home for senior citizens and provide transportation and friendship for elderly residents.

Women who work as secretaries most often become members of the National Secretaries Association, an active organization that sponsors an annual fashion show, and a spring seminar at which they choose the (male) boss of the year.

Quinte Medical Secretaries are similarly active and involved in the community, and have an ongoing educational program for members.

Belleville Business and Professional Women are also a busy group, part of an international membership that encourages the appointment of qualified women to administrative positions in business.

The Belleville Women's Sales and Ad Club has a membership made up of women who work in public relations, sales and advertising. Like the other business clubs, this one assists with specific community projects. Their annual activity is the kick-off for the Cancer Society fund-raising campaign.

Homemakers in the Belleville area can choose to belong to any of several Women's Institutes. Largely rural in its emphasis, the WI is nevertheless of value to all women who seek to increase the dimensions of their lives. Current events, information about improved homemaking techniques and charitable concerns are part of the monthly meetings that take place often in members' homes.

There are a number of lodges for women here, among them the Rebekah Lodge, the Order of the Eastern Star, and the Loyal Orange Benevolent Association. These groups are part of larger international organizations, but also have immediate concerns in the community for which they raise funds by a variety of bazaars, raffles, catering and teas.

Newcomers to town may find themselves bewildered by the wide array of clubs to join. The Newcomers' Club, which meets monthly at Bridge Street United Church, is one means of getting to know other women with similar ideas and interests.

In June, The Intelligencer publishes a Quinte Women's Directory, in which all local groups are listed, with the names of officers who may be contacted for membership.

Christian School Has Many Faiths

The Belleville District Christian School, built and opened in 1964, is just like any other school except it attempts to integrate Christian teachings into the entire curriculum.

The four-room school, located at RR 5, Belleville, about four miles north of the city, is one of two Christian Schools in the Quinte area. The second school is located in Trenton where about 200 students attend. About 65 students attend the Belleville Christian School.

Across Ontario there are 43 elementary Christian schools and seven Christian high Schools. About 9,000 students are enrolled in these schools with about 250 teachers from all denominations.

Henry Schaly, principal of the school, said the school operates as a non-denominational institution but it teaches the scriptures according to the life of Christ. "The school is founded on the belief that God requires a place of learning . . . that he has a part to play in the learning process," said Mr. Schaly.

The teaching staff at the Christian school comes from all denominations. "This school is as public as any other school system," explained Mr. Schaly.

Mr. Schaly said that to date the school attracts mainly ethnic families mostly from the Netherlands. However, he said this is by no means a prerequisite. A family pays $800 a year for one or more children to attend. Next year the tuition fee will be increased to $1,100. The school operates on an annual budget of about $42,000. Next year it is expected to increase to about $58,000.

Additional funds are obtained through donations from former students or the families of former students who have since graduated from the school. Mr. Schaly said families with young children who will attend the school in future years also contribute financially.

The White Chapel, One of Many Historic Buildings in the Quinte Area

Quinte Area Dotted with Historic Buildings

PICTON — Advertised in tourist brochures as "scenic" and "sleepy" Prince Edward County offers summer visitors more than just card pretty views.

The county is dotted with historic buildings that tell the story of a by-gone era in eloquent silence.

One of the most impressive of these buildings is the old Prince Edward Court House in Picton where two convicted murderers lie buried in the jail yard in unmarked graves.

In June, 1884, Joseph Tempestt and David Lowder were hanged back-to-back for the murder of Peter Lazier.

The men protested their guilt until death but were sent to the gallows which still remains at the court house.

The court house was constructed in Picton on land donated to Prince Edward by Rev. William Macaulay.

Construction began in 1832, but the court house and jail were not completed until the early 1840s.

Stone for the building was brought by ship from Kingston after being quarried by convicts.

The court house and lock-up were constructed at a cost of $12,000.

Another of Prince Edward's historic buildings is the West Lake Boarding School on Bloomfield Road.

Today a private residence, this stately brick home was opened as a Quaker school in 1842 — the first Quaker seminary in Canada.

Initially, only Quaker youngsters were accepted as students but fund shortages soon changed this policy and other children were admitted.

Students were instructed in English, reading, writing, geography, grammar, and other approved subjects. All shared with the farm work connected with the school.

An historical plaque today marks the site of the old boarding school which has been maintained in excellent condition.

The old Church of St. Mary Magdalene, erected between, 1825 and 1827, has become a landmark in Prince Edward.

It is the town's oldest church and the first Anglican church constructed in the district. Also, it is one of the oldest in Upper Canada.

In 1973, the old church was dedicated as a county museum with the Rt. Reverend J.B. Creeggan, Bishop of the Diocese of Ontario in attendance.

The museum has drawn hundreds of visitors and features a wide variety of displays depicting early life in rural Prince Edward.

The chancel area has been preserved and a stained-glass window, donated by Picton's late mayor H.J. McFarland, is the focal point.

Historic Prince Edward is dotted with country churches, among them the White Chapel constructed in 1828.

One of the oldest Methodist churches in Upper Canada, the White Chapel is located off Highway 49 about two miles north of Picton.

Land for the two-storey-white frame building was donated by Stephen Conger, a Loyalist from New Jersey.

This "church in the wilderness" has been maintained as a place of worship longer that any other church of Methodist origin in Ontario.

Each year, on the first Sunday in June, an anniversary service is held in the pioneer chapel. This is the only time that the church is opened for public worship.

The event is popular among county residents and the White Chapel annually is filled to capacity.

Game Management Means Abundance of Wildlife

Belleville-based hunting and fishing enthusiasts can get all the action they want within easy driving range of the city. And their families can enjoy all aspects of Ontario's outdoors in the immediate area.

Waterfowl hunting is a major fall sport with Prince Edward County's Lake Ontario shoreline, the Bay of Quinte and provincial wildlife management areas the most popular spots in the south.

Presqu'ile Provincial Park south of Brighton is a favorite spot for both hunters and bird-watchers. The 2,110-acre point jutting out into Lake Ontario is a crossing-over spot for small birds, including waders and warblers. The warbler migration in May and the wader migration in late August and September attract thousands of visitors.

Late in the fall the park offers an opportunity to hunt and view diving and dabbling ducks. Waterfowl hunting is limited to 25 positioned blinds that will accommodate up to two hunters each. The blinds are rented at the park office on a first-come, first-served basis on Mondays, Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays.

A few miles north, lying north of Highway 401 between Brighton and Trenton, the Brighton Provincial Wildlife Area offers 854 acres of open fields, orchards, wooded bottomland and beaver ponds. The varied landscape provides ideal habitat for ruffed grouse, woodcock, ducks, cottontails and European hare. Pheasants from the ministry of natural resources Codrington bird farm — a few miles to the west — are stocked periodically during the hunting season.

There are no restrictions on the number of hunters that can use the area at any time. Hunting is permitted Monday through Saturday and no fee is charged.

Wildlife management officer Terry Humberstone, of the ministry's Napanee district office, emphasized the ministry's concern with attracting non-hunters to the areas it administers. For example, he said, the Brighton area had a 1600 - foot range that can be used for sighting in rifles or shooting clay pigeons, hiking trails are located throughout the area and it is widely used by cadet and boy Scout groups for orienteering and for retrevver training and trials.

Northeast of Napanee, but still an easy drive, the Camden Lake wildlife management area has a resident flock of free-flying Canada geese which cannot be hunted. Waterfowl can be observed from a tower.

For hunters, duck hunting is allowed, in season, within 25 feet of approximately 40 blinds free of charge. Blind sites are accessible only by boat.

The Napanee office is also working to establish a sharp-tailed grouse population at Point Petre, the southernmost point of Prince Edward County on a former artillery range. The grouse are being introduced to complement other upland game already native to the area, which provides good duck hunting in the fall.

Another ministry project in the area is work on the Murray Marsh section of Percy Reach on the Trent River. The wooded marsh area of about 2,000 acres has "great waterfowl potential," according to Terry Humberstone and then is a substantial deer population.

Farther north, but easy to get to, the country is dotted with lakes and crisscrossed by rivers and streams for the fisherman and marshes and beaver ponds for duck and deer hunters.

While intensive management is not practised by the ministry of natural resources in the northern area, improvement to habitat, stocking and enforcement of hunting and fishing regulations is a year-round job.

Foil-Twine Ltd. manager Gerry Toulouse checks new plant production

Industrial Growth Key to City's Prosperity

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

Belleville experienced rejuvenating industrial growth during 1974 with the city's industrial commission ushering eight new industries into the city.

In terms of direct benefits, these eight industries will provide approximately 300 new manufacturing jobs and generate an annual payroll of something in excess of $3 million.

Construction of these new plants, which began last winter, was completed by late summer by the majority of cases. Some companies have come "on stream" and now are into their manufacturing operations with the remainder expecting production to commence within the next few months.

While industrial growth provides underpinned benefits to the community, rapid growth can be a double-edged sword.

Record expansion, as experienced in Belleville, places unusual demands on available land and services and carries the danger of being uncoordinated or unruly growth.

Both of these pitfalls are cautiously considered by industrial commissioner Fred Bemis and commission chairman Bruce Nickson of Corby Distilleries.

Last summer Mr. Nickson predicted, "Belleville must have more land if its industrial community is to continue growing in an orderly fashion."

He said the question of supply of industrial land is in the hands of city council but that his preference would be to continue the creation of industrial parks stretching in an east-west fashion bordering Highway 401.

The mayor said council agreed with the commission chairman's thinking and have entered into agreements with Thurlow Township for the purchase of land that will cater to some extent the city's land shortage.

"We have to have land to show to prospective buyers," said Mr. Nickson.

Reluctant to guess whether 1974's heralding rate of growth could be matched this year, Mr. Nickson hinted that the commission now has 42 "prospects," a figure roughly similar to last year.

Of these 42, "four are exceptionally strong possibilities," said the chairman.

Based on provincial statistics, Belleville is the fastest growing community between Toronto and Montreal. Mr. Bemis said the city has still not felt the complete impact of the eight new industries. He said this impact would not be felt until later this year when all the firms are on full stream working at peak efficiency.

While commission enthusiasm is high in the competitive field of enticing industries to town, Belleville's philosophy is not to take whatever it can get.

Commission spokesmen stress the need for new industries to be compatible with neighbor industries and also be compatible with the rest of the community.

We want a good mix of industry with broad diversification so that the city will not be dependent on one company as a major employer, Mr. Bemis said. The priority to date has been light manufacturing.

Fred Bemis, Guiding Industry Growth

Park-like Setting Attracts Industry

Industrial parks for small industries proved a major development in the city's overall growth picture during 1974.

Industrial commissioner Fred Bemis explained not all industries need large amounts of land for their operations.

At the industrial commission's request, city council granted 30 acres of northwest industrial park land as an experimental cul-de-sac.

Since the mini-park opened last winter, it has been completely sold out to seven new industries.

These are S. A. Armstrong Ltd., Signet Foods Ltd., H. Ryder, Mohawk Foods Ltd., Dixie Lee Foods Ltd., Olivetti Canada Ltd. and Red Bocci Ind. Ltd.

So successful was the concept of small parcels of land for intermediate and small industry that a second cul-de-sac has been in the works that is expected to open this spring.

It is important to note that cost of the industrial parks is not borne by the taxpayer although the seven industries threw $148,000 into tax coffers.

Mr. Bemis said "there is no tax burden on the general ratepayer for either the provision of land or services in the park".

"The entire cost is recovered when the site is sold to the company," he said.

In the most recent sale, land was sold to J. H. Ryder at $6,500 an acre.

A top consideration in retention of a park-like setting. "Where possible even the trees are left in place and the company builds around them," said Mr. Bemis. "The commission also asks that new companies construct their buildings so as to be harmonious with both the landscaping and their neighbors."

The cul-de-sac idea turned out to be a terrific one, the commission is very pleased," said Mr. Bemis.

Apricots Are Fewer

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The 1975 pack of canned apricots in cases of 24 cans, No. 2½ size, dropped 30 per cent from last year says the Canners League of California. The pack consisted of 1,632,216 cases of halves; 172,063 cases of whole peeled and 172,853 cases of whole unpeeled. The 1973 overall total was 4,603,881 cases. Unseasonably wet weather during bloom accounted for the reduced crop.

Downtown Core Gets Commission Scrutiny

Belleville's industrial commission in 1974 emerged not only as major contributor to city development but as an innovator and advocate of downtown re-development.

While the commission is commonly considered as having interests only in the industrial field, commissioner Fred Bemis says the group is concerned with the overall development of the entire city.

Proving the commission's point, Mr. Bemis approached council for the passing of a bylaw to control all development in the downtown core.

The commission completed a year-long confidential study into the downtown core and came up with recommendations for "more efficient use of available space and expanded hotel and restaurant facilities."

The commission also asked permission to be designated the body that would administer the control bylaw.

The bylaw would not be designed to affect existing business but would place numerous controls on new development. A prime example would be that new business would have to locate further back from the street thereby allowing more sidewalk space.

The concept is in keeping with the current municipal priority of taking care that the downtown business section is not forgotten in an age of shopping malls and plazas on municipal perimeters.

During council discussions, the plan was viewed as a positive step towards re-vitalizing the downtown section.

The concept has been referred to the Quinte Planning Board staff for recommendations.

In tegrating Policement

DURBAN, South Africa (AP) — The city's traffic police plan to use Africans for traffic duty in certain white residential areas for the first time on an experimental basis. The Africans will do the same work as their white colleagues and if trouble arises a white policeman will take control to resolve difficulties.

Authority Turning to Development Of Its Many Conservation Sites

FRANKFORD — In 1974 and in years to come, Lower Trent Region Conservation Authority officials will be concentrating their efforts and their dollars on developing the 13 conservation areas in its 796-square-mile watershed.

Such development, initially prompted by pressure from the public and member municipalities, is new to the watershed based authority. It makes a distinct change in the policies it has followed since its inception in 1968.

In previous years, the authority concentrated on land purchases, for which a major chunk of its money alloted annually. Now, no longer is the emphasis placed as heavily on buying.

Indicative of the shift in policy is a 56 per cent jump, to $256,950 in the authority's budget this year. Purchase of equipment and an increase of staff from two in mid-1974 to five today added to the budget total. Such expenditures are indicative of the commitment the authority has made to development.

Today, says authority chairman William Carter of Campbellford, about 12,000 acres in 13 conservation areas is owned by the Lower Trent in various parts of its watershed.

Three areas are to be developed this year: Proctor near Brighton, Seymour near Campbellford, and King's Mill near Stirling. Each will be developed differently: the first as a high day-use area with picnic areas, the second laced throughout with hiking trails, and the third as a wildlife area complete with wildlife enclosures for Canada Geese.

Each is in a different part of the authority area of jurisdiction. Roughly, it extends 30 miles along Lake Ontario and stretches to Rice Lake on the northwest and to parts of Huntingdon township, northeast of Stirling.

The area, though large, ranks the Lower Trent only in the middle range in size and density of population among Ontario's 37 conservation authorities. Compared to other authorities, it is practically devoid of recreational opportunities.

As Mr. Carter noted recently, there is no record of visitors to authority conservation areas because there is nothing for them to see. Many sites do not have entrance gates to record visits.

But with development plans underway, this should change. The plans fit into other projects, both now underway and in the experimental stage, that the authority expects to work on this year.

One of the authority's biggest current projects is the creation of Trenton's greenbelt, a $1.5-million project that will transform the west bank of the Trent River into a strip park of trails, playgrounds, and sporting facilities.

In the west end of the watershed, two inter-related project are in the offing.

Mr. Carter says, "In cooperation with the fisheries department we hope to maintain and change the fishing capabilities along Shelter Valley."

In Haldimand Township creek fishing, which has "generally been pretty good" has been deteriorating because of the number of small dams being built across it. Water is thus backed up, becomes heated, and fish die.

Land in the valley is also falling into private hands, thus restricting access points to the creek. Trees are being cut and further damaging the valley.

To battle the problem, the authority plans to undertake a tree-planting program in Cramahe Township, where a number of feeder creeks are located. Plans call for planting of up to 42,000 trees.

Chairman Carter said the planting will take place in "a lot of sandy soils on land that otherwise wouldn't be productive." As a result, the soil will retain moisture, allow formation of ponds, and cut down on erosion.

Involvement with its members should also increase this year. Both Trenton and Stirling have requested the authority to map the flood plains of Mayhew and Rawdon Creeks respectively. Once complete, the maps will give the authority and the municipalities teeth to control building on land potentially susceptible to flooding.

In an interview recently Mr. Carter indicated his satisfaction in the area of earlier dealings. For the first time this year, three dinner meetings were held to discuss the authorities budget with its members. All three Mr. Carter termed successful in that both sides took away a better understanding of each others aims.

Loch Sloy Home for Many Industries in County

PICTON — Loch Sloy industrial park, a 400-acre site adjacent to Prince Edward Heights, today employs approximately 15 per cent of Prince Edward County's full-time industrial work force.

William Duggan Prince Edward director of economic development, says about 150 persons are employed by the industries located in the park and an additional 30 workers have received jobs related to renovations and alterations there.

Formerly part of the department of national defence's Camp Picton, the industrial park site was purchased about four years ago by Picton's late mayor Harvey J. McFarland. It includes the hangers at the military camp phased out five years ago.

The industrial park now is operating at almost full capacity within its existing building but only 30 acres of the site has been developed.

Mr. Duggan noted that a further 400 acres of land can be incorporated a park expansion.

"We are particularly lucky here," he observed, adding that in many other areas industrial parks lack space for enlargement.

Mr. Duggan observed Loch Sloy industrial park recently has begun to reduce some of the slack left by decreased activity in Quinte-area industries. He referred to lay-offs at Proctor-Lewyt in Picton and the forthcoming closing of Ideal Vendors in Deseronto as examples.

He said originally it was planned that Loch Sloy industrial park would employ 300 persons by this date but Canada's general economic climate has not been conducive to a rapid general advance at this time.

Mr. Duggan predicted the park will employ about 250 persons by the end of this summer, including the 150 now at work there.

Already the park offers manufacturing facilities to a wide range of industries. One of its first tenants was Hullmaster Boats Ltd., still in production in hangar one.

Another industry, Visador Canada Ltd., a company that manufactures door and window moldings and sections, is in production in a building in the park.

Manco Home Systems Ltd., manufacturers of mobile homes, occupies two hangars in the park and expect to begin operations later this year. The company did not locate here until October, 1974.

Marble Veneer Co. of Canada Ltd. also has rented space at the park for more than a year but has not yet entered production.

Mr. Duggan said the firm is still awaiting finalization of equipment to be shipped from Europe.

Also a dormant industry at the park is Skylight Homes Ltd., a company that has proposed to manufacture plastic dome homes for shipment to development countries.

Quinte Skyways, a charter air service operated by former Toronto pilot, Hal Bell, now sub-lease a hangar originally rented by Marble Veneer Co. of Canada Ltd.

Gemboree Attracts Thousands Each Year

BANCROFT — Each August for the last 19 years, 10,000-15,000 tourists and rockhounds arrive in Bancroft to enjoy the local Rockhound Gemboree.

The mineral show, which is held at Birch Creek, three miles north of Bancroft, is operated by Carl Boniack a former owner of the Princess Sodalite Mine.

In addition to being a showcase for local, unusual and rare minerals, the Gemboree is also a gathering place for people from all locales and all walks of life who have the collecting of rocks and minerals in common.

Not only the interests of rockhounds, who come in all shapes, sizes and ages, are met. There are also extensive displays of local crafts and businesses.

A traditional figure at the Bancroft Rockhound Gemboree is Dr. Donald Gorman of the University of Toronto geology department.

Dr. Gorman has been a help for more than 10 years to rockhounds who want to have samples identified before they are purchased or traded.

Rock Swapping is another big drawing card at the Gemboree. Families set up their displays and prepare to trade off rocks and mineral samples for items that they have not been able to get any other way.

Evenings on the Gemboree grounds are devoted to corn roasts and country and western entertainment.

And, of course, the children are not forgotten with a big midway and half-price tickets waiting for them on Kids' Day at the Gemboree.

In 1975, the Gemboree will be held, at the beginning of August and more information is available by contacting Carl Boniack at the Bancroft Gemboree Grounds or the Bancroft and District Chamber of Commerce.

Rock collecting, swapping, and buying are not confined only to the week of the Bancroft Gemboree, for as soon as the snow is off the ground, the collectors are back in full force looking for those unusual little gems.

In the future, the quest of the rock hound will be a little easier if a proposed scheme of the provincial government is successful.

The government through the expertise of Dr. Gorman will be placing markers at historical and classic mineral sites in the area.

New Homes Under Construction Familiar Site in Trenton

Trenton Has Adequate Supply Of Residential Building Lots

TRENTON — Trenton has more than a three-year supply of land available for residential construction, says Quinte Planning Board deputy director Frank Stakmans.

His assessment of the land-availability picture came during a review of a number of subdivisions in Trenton in various stages of approval by both council and the provincial housing ministry.

Seven subdivisions, varying in size from 194 to seven lots, are a formal agreement away from becoming almost immediately usable for home building. In total, 313 lots in seven subdivisions have received approval in draft form from Queen's Park.

As such, said Mr. Stakmans, their future hinges only on final agreements with town council, the town utilities commission, and approval by the provincial government.

Trenton, he said, is "well supplied" with building lots and the outlook over the next three years is good.

The three-year estimate is based on the 1974 rate of construction of single family homes, the prevailing form of residential building in Trenton.

Town figures show that 188 single family dwellings were built in Trenton last year. Unit-wise, at 154 units, there were more multiple family buildings set up, but their estimated value was $323,700 less than that for single family homes.

Not available for immediate construction are another 327 lots for homes. Three plans, including 32 apartment building units, are still in the early stages of processing through various levels of government.

But a "wrinkle" in the picture exists, warned Mr. Stakmans. "What happens after that is open to question. I don't think there is much land to be developed after that."

He said few large areas remain that can be developed under plans of subdivision.

Most of the lots to become available quickly are located in the west and north sections of Trenton.

The majority (four draft plans) are available near the town limits in the west end and are concentrated in areas east and southwest of Trenton High School. Two others sit off Sidney St. in Trenton's northeast end. A 174 lot subdivision is in the works in an area roughly northwest of Mostic Pelton.

Additional lots, lacking anything but a building permit, are also available according to town officials. In all, 64 lots are serviced and under-registered subdivision plans and wait only for the builder's earthmoving machinery.

Modern Clean Furniture Vans at Your Service Providing Moving and Storage Needs to Quinte Residents with Confidence . . .

Planning: the secret of successful moving.

Planning is the most important part of your move. It's the best time-saving, money-saving step you can take.

Your moving plan should spell out

(1) what you'll move;
(2) when you'll move;
(3) Who will move you;
(4) how much the move will cost; and
(5) what you'll do about charge accounts, bank accounts, home delivery services and so forth.

Scheduling your move wisely can make a lot of difference in the outcome. The months of June, July, and August are hectic. That's when most people try to move. That's why vans are difficult to schedule during this period.

Some days of the month are better. Especially any day between the 3rd and 13th, or the 18th and 27th. The other days are clogged with people trying to avoid paying an extra month's rent.

Try to give your movers at least two to three week's notice. They have a complicated job balancing incoming loads with outgoing loads.

To repeat: planning is the most important part of your move. Get all the help you can from your agent. You'll need it.

Quinte Area Attracts Growing Number of Artists

Potter Audrey Davies, demonstrating her skill, throwing a pot

The Quinte area is home to a large number of accomplished artists and craftsmen.

In the last few years many potters, painters, weavers and sculptors from other cities have joined the already highly-regarded artists in Hastings and Prince Edward counties.

This influx has spurred the growth of small galleries and boutiques in Belleville and the surrounding countryside, where art and handicrafts can be purchased, often from the artists themselves.

The Cameron Gallery, at RR1, Carrying Place, is one of these where the artists are pressed to discuss their drawings, oils and watercolors.

Allan and Donnah Cameron and their daughter, Donnah Cameron Finnegan, show their work here. The gallery is open by appointment or by chance, that is, when the Cameron family is home.

Marion Carson's Showroom in her home is also at RR1, Carrying Place. Mrs. Carson's distinctive woven hangings and pottery can be viewed by appointment.

A little north of Belleville just outside Plainfield, Peter and Liz Orvielle have a showroom in their old white house near the Moira River bridge. Both potters, with highly individual styles, the Orvielles' work is labelled "Brooks Pottery," a name they've kept since they moved from Brooks three years ago.

Another potter with her own studio, showroom and boutique, is Joanna Cunnington. At the Old Schoolhouse Pottery outside Bloomfield, Mrs. Cunnington displays her own award-winning work along with weaving made by her daughter Diana Francis, and other art and handicraft from the area. The boutique is open seven days a week in July and August and by appointment during the rest of the year.

Fine porcelain by Harlan Hines and paintings and sculpture by Al Wilson are for sale at the Clay Association, in the village of Lonsdale northeast of Belleville, either by appointment or by chance.

Pearl Rose has her pottery studio on Front Street in Stirling, and Paul Thrasher, whose paintings take as their subject familiar Quinte scenes, has a showroom in his home at RR2, Trenton.

The Nurcombe's Weaving Studio, in the little village of Cherry Valley south of Belleville, is open daily. Visitors can view Ella and Harvey Nurcombe working at their looms.

The variety of showrooms and studios outside the city provides day-trippers with an almost endless supply of places to visit. But within Belleville itself there are galleries and shops where artists and artisans exhibit a wide array of items.

Perhaps the most successful of these is the Door in the Wall, located on the footbridge here. Since its opening in 1973, the shop has doubled its size and increased the number of suppliers to more than 30 local artists and craftsmen, and 15 from outside the area.

Joanne and Peter Antonucci own the Door in the Wall, which has built much of its reputation on a wide and varied array of pottery. Audrey and Gordon Davies, two of Belleville's most renowned potters show their work in the shop along with such respected and admired potters as Katherine and John Cody, Thora Fleming, Dave Lough, Cathy Hallick and Vera Treloar.

Mrs. Antonucci, who is an artist in her own right, tries to keep a balance between the kinds of work she exhibits in the Door in the Wall.

There are woven wall hangings, leather work, jewellery, paintings, handmade children's toys, glassware, batik and macrame hangings, displayed in two rooms where shoppers can browse and drink coffee supplied by Mrs. Antonucci.

Cushmore stoles and other fine woven work by the weaver Alma Gasenbeek draw many visitors to the shop, which is open Tuesday to Saturday all year round.

One of the most useful additions to the cultural life of Belleville has been the art gallery in Corby Library on Pinnacle St. There have been a series of one-man and group shows in the gallery since it opened in 1971.

Encouraged by the Quinte Arts Council (QAC), the arts are flourishing in Belleville to the advantage of the entire community. Artists are teaching in the schools under provincial grants, and are achieving acclaim for displays of their work in the city hall and Belleville General Hospital.

The Visual Arts show, one of the springtime Artistic events sponsored by the QAC, will make opportunity for artists and craftsmen to show their work.

Costs Major Factor Regarding One-tier Regional Government

PICTON — Prince Edward warden and South Marysburg reeve Clifford Walker says he is cautioned a one-tier or county government system would prove efficient here if the identities of all ten county municipalities were safeguarded.

"I can see it coming before too long," remarked the warden referring to a one-tier system.

Under county government, Prince Edward's ten municipal councils would be replaced by a single council to administer county business.

Warden Walker observed "things have met of quieted down" concerning a one-tier system for Prince Edward and the provincial government apparently has slackened pace in introducing regional governments.

"I think thought has changed from regional governments to restructured county governments," he observed.

Warden Walker says Prince Edward County council has retained its interest in a one-tier system and its county government committee is awaiting estimated operation cost figures from Ottawa.

He noted cost of a single-tier system has been a major question but it is difficult to estimate this important factor.

The warden added under the present system county council finds it a problem to predict costs.

"I certainly don't think anything will happen this year," he remarked, discussing the possibility of a change to the one-tier system.

Last May a series of public meetings was held in all Prince Edward municipalities to examine the concept of single-tier government and discover public opinion.

The majority of ratepayers indicated they did not favor a change to the one-tier system, principally because cost figures seemed too vague and information was lacking.

Prince Edward County council voted against taking any action to introduce a one-tier system until more facts and figures had been obtained and made public.

Warden Walker emphasized council did not reject the concept of a county government but did agree any action in the Spring of 1974 would have been premature.

If a proposal for a county government in Prince Edward were to have been initiated it would have been necessary to pass it during last spring's session of the provincial government. For this reason, public meetings regarding the single-tier system were held early in May, 1974, with little time for public discussion.

Warden Walker feels the proposal was pushed forward too quickly to gain general support among county residents. More information was needed to answer the ratepayers' questions.

The warden observed each municipality in Prince Edward has a strong feeling of pride and residents are not prepared to support any proposals that will by-pass this community spirit.

He commented Ameliasburg township has slowly built up a well-equipped and well-organized fire department and this municipality was concerned that a county government might deploy its fire-fighting equipment to other areas of Prince Edward.

Similarly, other townships that had invested in recreational equipment were reluctant to consider any proposals that might redistribute it to other areas.

There were also questions regarding the county's five museums, all developed through community spirit and participation.

Special events, such as the one-day Milford fair, presented annually in South Marysburg township, are important to county residents and there is an emphasis to retain these traditional programs.

Warden Walker says a one-tier system of government must protect community spirit if it is to succeed here.

He said he feels a county government could eliminate duplication of services in the roads and fire departments in Prince Edward.

The Bloomfield-Hallowell fire department often must drive through Picton to answer an alarm just as township roads vehicles must cross county roads when on the job.

Warden Walker says when the county government committee receives additional facts and figures on county government the information will be published.

"As long as no drastic changes are attempted I don't see why it would not be effective," he remarks, referring to a one-tier system.

Bancroft Haven for Mineral Collectors

By NAN WHITLAW
Staff Reporter

BANCROFT — North Hastings mineral and rock collectors are justly proud of the fact that there are more than 40 identifiable minerals and rock samples found in the local area.

Some of these samples however, are not accessible to the amateur collector since they can only be found in the shafts of local mines or on unavailable properties.

However, the star of the Bancroft mineral display is the dark blue Princess Sodalite stone which is found only at the Princess mine, about two miles east of the village on Highway 62. According to the members of the Bancroft Mineral Society and the local Chamber of Commerce there is no doubt that the Princess Sodalite stone is the official mineral emblem of Ontario, even though the agate from the north shore of Lake Superior is also in the running for that title.

As long ago as 1954, the Lapidary Journal, an American publication for rockhounds and professional collectors stated that sodalite is the official stone for northern Ontario and again is that for the north.

The mineral magazine continues that, "Bancroft has provided Ontario with its mineral emblem, sodalite, one of the most popular collector's items."

The dark blue stone, with distinctive red markings is found only at the Princess mine in North Hastings, and although there are other deposits in Africa and Brazil, these are not actively being mined.

The local mine, which has been in operation since the late nineteenth century, was visited in 1926 by Princess Patricia of the British Royal House who was so enthralled by the azure blue of the stone that she had 120 tons of it shipped to England for use in the decoration of Marlborough House.

According to H.E. Patch, a well-known local mineral collector, approaches have been made to the provincial government to have sodalite declared the official emblem of the province and "although has never been confirmed by the legislature, local residents were given to understand that it would be accepted."

The Princess Sodalite mine has had an interesting succession of ownership. In 1892, a Dr. Allan from England was the pioneer, however in 1906, the British Crown took it over and retained the mine until 1946 when it was sold to a private businessman. From 1953 to 1962, the mine was owned by the Ontario department of mines who then sold it to a local person.

Carl Beslak, now of the Bancroft Gemborne, had ownership of the mine from 1969 to 1970, when it was sold to its present owner Fred Rasmussen.

The mine is open to the public and any sodalite found in the open pit quarry can be purchased.

The sodalite quarry is not the only popular collecting spot in the Bancroft area.

A rock cut on Highway 62 north appears to be alive with collectors armed with picks and hammers during the summer season.

The Wallpoint mine at Quadville also attracts many tourists for the mine tours and the collection of the beautiful rose quartz that is found there.

In preparation for the thousands of rock hounds who come to the Bancroft area each year, the tourist bureau in Bancroft has a rock collectors map of the North Hastings area. The map, includes good collecting spots which may be on private or Crown property.

At the moment, the Bancroft and District Chamber of Commerce and the provincial government are working on a project to rehabilitate and mark about thirty collecting sites in the area.

These new and freshened sites would be maintained and guarded by the province. Each August approximately ten to fifteen thousand mineral enthusiasts arrive in Bancroft to enjoy the Bancroft Gemborne mineral show.

The show, which attracts buyers, sellers, collectors and traders also features mineral displays, craft and trade exhibits, a midway for the kids and an active grandstand show.

Frank McConnachie Welds Fireplace Frame Together

Demand for Fireplaces Boosts Plant's Output

TWEED — Fireplace sales are so hot that Tweed Steel Esters Ltd. is planning a 20 per cent increase in production.

The all-Canadian owned company in Tweed, 25 miles north-east of Belleville, is accustomed to production increases, says G. W. Laird Morton, sales, research and development manager, already having tripled production during the last five years.

"We have gone into a steady process of production increases," Laird said in an interview. "Wages have gone in step quite readily, but we feel they are not inflationary, since production has matched any wage increases."

Management is young at Tweed Steel. Laird Morton is 32. His brother, Dave is 35 and owner of the steel products company which employs 26 workers.

But the company is old. It started out as a cast iron foundry in Madoc about 100 years ago. Some 30 years ago it moved to Tweed, where a steel fabrication section spun off. About 1950, the foundry closed as did a number throughout Canada.

"At one time the steel fabricating and made everything from soup to nuts," Laird said. "Steel bathtubs, preserve vessels, tanks of all descriptions for oil and water were some of the items. About 40 years ago the company got into steel fireplaces. As a process of product elimination we tended to specialize in fireplaces. We still do custom work to a degree."

"The last six years we have started a research area. One tiffie we made seven models, but we now make 18 stock designs and a wide variety of custom designs," Laird continued.

"We have captured a large portion of an expanding market. Upon the disappearance of the traditional brick mason, people are turning to steel. These steel fireplaces produce about four times the amount of heat that a brick one does," Laird noted.

"We are an all-Canadian company," Laird said proudly. "We are faced with three large U.S.-controlled companies. We are pleased to think we are taking the bids off them. We have been urged to set up a U.S. subsidiary. If we had the time we would do it."

Tweed Steel has spent several hundred thousand dollars on automated and semi-automated equipment recently, but despite a decline in housing starts and increased production, Laird maintains the company still will not produce enough fireplaces to satisfy the market.

In another field, Tweed Steel has been making steel pontoons for houseboats. Laird said that federal and provincial health departments have been urging the company to make septic service barges to serve cottage areas. They made one such unit almost 40 feet long and it rides high on the water and slowly settles down as it fills up with sewage and is taken to a disposal site. This removes the danger of contaminating water through seepage in rocky areas of cottage country.

Employees stay with the company for a long time. Bill Beatty retired three years ago as a foreman after having worked with Tweed Steel for 41 years. Russell Rogers is still with the firm after 35 years. Many have at least 40 years service.

When it was called the W. S. Gordon Steel Works, the company bought homes for employees, but didn't charge for lawyer's fees and things like that and the payments were easy, Mr. Rogers said.

Wesley Rogers started with the company about 1951 and says "They have brought wages up wonderful." When he started it was a 10 - hour day for 15 cents an hour. It now is a profit-sharing bonus plant. "We are all in the same boat together," Laird pointed out.

Another Metric Move

CHICAGO (AP) — The 1975 edition of the World Book Encyclopedia gives both the customary English and metric measurements. "In most cases," explained Dr. William Nault, editorial tracker, "World Book gives the customary English measurement with the metric equivalent in parenthesis. This required the conversion of more than 30,000 measurements and an outlay of more than $2 million."

All in the Family

The first Ontario Hiking Day brought crowds out along the Quinte-Hastings Recreational Trail Sunday morning, for some, like Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Enright, RR 3 Belleville, a walk along the trail near Moira Lake was a family affair. Mr. Enright toted 20-month-old daughter Michel, while Lisa, 5, and Paula, 3, hiked it on foot.

Trenton Home for 14 Major Industrial Plants

Trenton, a community of 14,500 that sits in the centre of a circle 20 miles in diameter called home by 42,000 people, has more than its share of major manufacturers.

Excluding Belleville, but including Brighton and Frankford, the town has 14 industries that Canada Manpower classes as major manufacturers, those employing 50 or more workers.

In total, 22 such companies are located within a 10-mile radius of Trenton. Some, such as F. W. Woolworth Co. Ltd., and Canadian Tire Corp. Ltd. are retailers.

Trenton's industrial work force forms a fair percentage (16.5) of the entire area's 23,100-member labor pool. As far as the major employers are concerned, a 1972 Manpower survey of the area work force revealed that they jointly employ 3,500 people.

In Trenton, the Big 14 are among 34 manufacturing plants and employ an approximate 2,000 people. By comparison, a town prepared mid-1974 profile of industries reveals that the 24 plants within town limits employ just over 2,400 people, approximately 16.5 per cent of the town's 14,500 population.

The 21 other plants, ranging in staff size from two to 41, provide work for the remainder of the town's 2 411 industrial labor force. The town figures do not include staff sizes in retail, commercial or professional businesses.

The town's industrial picture will change later this year with the addition of another new plant—Stearns and Foster Canada Ltd. Now being built off Douglas Rd. in Trenton's northeast industrial park, it is a non-woven textile manufacturer that expects to employ 50 people when it opens in November.

It's work force is expected to increase to 130 within five years, thereby placing it high in what will then be the Big 15.

Erie Technological Products of Canada Ltd., a maker of electronic components, will likely to remain at the head of the big employer list. Today, it employs about 430 people.

Official Plan Outlines City Growth Priorities

Belleville in future will benefit from a document which contents are so complex a city councillor once warned no one person could know all its contents.

The document: Belleville's official plan, more than two years in the drafting — which sets down guidelines for the community's future development. It could also make the city more eligible for senior government programs.

The plan had its ups and downs with the public. Not eventually city council approved the final amendments to the bulky volume in early January and packed it off to Queen's Park to Ontario government approval.

The official plan is not an ultimate document. Its contents are not the last word on the future pattern of city life.

"An official plan is a fluid document," believes Ald. Joe Cox, chairman of the Subordinate Planning Advisory Board, the committee which administers city issues in the district Quinte Planning Area.

"It's nothing hard and fast. I don't think you can have that in this day and age."

Talked about for years by various councils, the plan finally moved toward reality more than two years ago. Consultants Totten, Sims Hubicki, were contracted for the project.

They experts finally presented the finished document in late summer of 1974.

After scrutiny and debate between planners and city hall, city council moved for its approval in October. But delegations swarmed into the meeting, demanding — and winning — a delay. The plan, they claimed, had not been given sufficient public exposure.

Council bought 50 copies for availability in public places, then called a public meeting.

The official plan with its last amending finishing touches, was finally on its way to Queen's Park by early this year. When the province gives approval, council then will pass the regulatory bylaws needed to enforce the plan.

The plan is more than a guidebook for future development trends.

It also increases the community's credibility that much more with the provincial government.

Official Plan Take 3

Because of what is something akin to a higher credit rating the city can participate in more provincial government projects.

There are so many programs assisted by the government that you need an official plan in order to qualify, says Ald. Cox.

Bancroft Museum Historic Itself

BANCROFT — The old log buildings that were used for the construction of the Bancroft museum trundled through the village in 1966 in time to be situated on the fieldstone foundation and prepared for the Centennial year celebrations in the village.

A project of the volunteers of the Bancroft Historical Society and the community at large, the museum, as it now appears, is the public is the result of many weeks and months of devoted labor by the local group.

The museum now sits proudly and realistically in the parkland on Station St. in the village and within the reconstructed walls and rooms carries a true insight into the immense historical heritage of the North hastings area.

The two original buildings that form the present museum were initially the headquarters of the Brennan Weston Lumber Co. and were located 10 miles from the village on Highway 500 east.

One building was constructed in 1857 and the other in 1867.

The attractive museum is comprised of a two-storey main house with a single-storey wing attached.

The house with a main living room, dining room, parlor, front room and four bedrooms has been furnished as authentically as possible with artifacts and antiques from the local area.

In the wing, a kitchen complete with pioneer tools and interesting appliances waits to fascinate the visitors.

If you have a yen to see what those great aunts and grandmothers were in their prime, the Bancroft Museum is just the place to satisfy your curiosity.

Each of the upstairs bedrooms displays the clothes that the original inhabitants of the house might have worn before the turn of the century.

A page from an 1894 edition of a fashion magazine shows that the feather hat, jet bead reticule and woollen cape that are in the downstairs clothes-press were very stylish.

An infantry uniform from wars long past hangs smartly on the wall in the master bedroom.

Further evidence that the man of the house is in residence is found in the eye glasses, military brushes and the set of high fashion "tails" with a furry top hat.

Dolls clothing that has been as fastidiously made as that of the owner is hung on a line near the child's cradle.

And for the elegant occasions when the grown-ups walked on a Sunday afternoon, with mother in her hooped skirt, a pair of ladies spats and her button hook wait by the front door just beside the umbrella stand where her parasol stands, waiting to be carried along.

The Bancroft museum is open during the summer months for the many tourists and local residents who enjoy a trip into the past.

Drum Corps Looking for New Members

By ROBIN CHASE
Staff Reporter

The Belleville Yardmen Drum and Bugle Corps, on a membership drive, has reduced its minimum age limit to 12 from 16 years.

Director Hugh Bondy explains the corps requires a new base of potential talented youngsters to be competitive in future years.

"If you can get the right people, especially when they're younger . . . over a period of a few years we'll have a large senior corps of experienced and interested people," he says.

The recent decision to drop the age limit for all sections of the corps was made to both attract new members and widen its base, explains Mr. Bondy.

The lower age limit will mean players will be with the corps longer and assure it of more years of top quality musicianship, he adds.

He notes the corps has a current membership of just over 30 but "we'd like to have around 100-120."

No experience is necessary, points out Mr. Bondy. "We take people in and train them from scratch — anyone who shows an interest in learning," he says.

Interest is first and foremost, he comments.

"From your interest, you develop an enthusiasm and a desire to learn," he says. "That's the most important thing."

Regular attendance is required and one must have a "desire to practice at home and improve oneself" Mr. Bondy emphasizes.

And if one has played in a brass or concert band, it is not difficult to change to a bugle corps, he says. "It's almost a natural. Anyone . . . can learn almost immediately. It's an easy switch."

Fourteen Local Agencies Benefit from United Way

For nearly a decade, United Community Services has studied and acted on the needs of the Quinte area in the fields of education, recreation and community health and welfare.

United Community Services has two main arms: First, the co-ordination of the annual United Way campaign, which this year raised more than $300,000 for 14 area agencies; second, the initiation of community services.

The agencies funded by the United Way campaign include the Belleville Family YMCA, the Canadian Red Cross, the Victorian Order of Nurses, St. John's Ambulance, Belleville and District Association for Retarded Children, Canadian National Institute for the Blind, Belleville Minor Sports Association, Navy League of Canada, the Central Volunteer Bureau, Civic Action Committee, the Quinte Easy Rollers and the Citizens' Bureau.

The Social Planning Committee, which is composed of interested and involved citizens, has initiated several projects.

An ad hoc committee was formed to investigate the need for a health council in the Belleville area. As ombudsman service, the Citizens' Bureau, was supported. The Social Planning Committee also called a meeting of interested persons to discuss the need for a marriage and family counselling service. A volunteer training course was held during the year to assist volunteers who serve in agencies. A seminar on mental retardation, held at Loyalist College was presented in January. The Social Planning Committee also published a full directory of services in Belleville.

In her final report as president of United Community Services, Virginia O'Rourke said that while the UCS has achieved many goals in 1974, only a first step had been taken.

"Our goals are far from being achieved . . . 1974 was only a first step. Until voluntary agencies can look to the United Way for total funding for their relevant, needed programs and the Social Planning Committee can represent the co-operative voice of the community with the means to implement its findings, the United Community Services has much ground to cover."

"A COMPANY THAT ACHIEVES CONSISTENT SALES RECORDS"

Procter and Gamble Construction Getting Ready for Baby Diaper Production

Procter and Gamble Plant To Employ 150 Area Workers

Since its humble beginings in 1837 as a two-man operation in Cincinnati, Ohio, Procter and Gamble has become a global enterprise, employing 45,000 people with fiscal sales in 1974 topping $4.9 billion.

Procter and Gamble in 1974, chose to locate one of its plants in Belleville — the first company plant in Canada to produce Pampers, the disposable baby diaper. Initially, the plant will employ 150 people.

The Belleville plant will be the only Canadian location to manufacture Pampers.

In keeping with the company's philosophy of development and growth, Procter and Gamble purchased 139 acres in the city's north east industrial park. The plant and parking area covers approximately 25 of these acres — the remainder left idle until company growth demands expansion.

Procter and Gamble was the largest industry to begin construction of a new plant in Belleville during 1974.

A company spokesman said that while growth has been considered, there are no immediate plans to alter the size of the plant or to produce anything other than the disposable diaper.

Dave Miller, public relations officer for the company, said a number of factors lead to the choice of Belleville for the plant location.

"The company needs a variety of basic services at reasonable costs to manufacture its products economically and remain fully competitive," he said. "The Belleville area provides transportation, utilities and services necessary."

"Another major good satisfied in the Belleville area is th local availability of good people to work at the plant," said Mr. Miller.

Mr. Miller said the bulk of plant staff will be hired from the local labor force.

Plant construction is nearing completion stages and hiring is already being considered.

For the first three months, employees won't likely produce a single diaper for the marketplace.

In these first 12 weeks, the employee is given a thorough back grounding in company history, total operation of the plant and not just his own station.

The new employee will also receive classroom instruction concerning how to best co-operate with other people and fellow workers.

"We're looking for long-term employees . . . people who are prepared to stay with us for long periods," said Mr. Miller.

Plant production is expected to being later this year.

Fatherless Boys Aided By Local Big Brothers Chapter

The Big Brothers organization in Belleville, one of the city's newest groups, attempts to match fatherless boys with caring adults.

Since the movement got off the ground in September of 1974, there have been six matches of big and little brothers, as of April 24.

And right now the group is undertaking a campaign to raise money for the organization and increase public awareness of the group and the work.

The Big Brothers in Belleville have no permanent office at present, says president of the group, Rolf Thomas, adding, "ninety per cent of our business is conducted on the road."

Mr. Thomas says there is potential of about 200 boys ranging in age from six to 16-years-old in the Quinte area who could use a big brother, a "So far only about 15 have been brought to our attention," says Mr. Thomas.

He adds that most of the problems that beset any organization have been cleared up. "The important issue of staffing has been corrected," he said. There are at present two regular staff members, Leigh Tracey and Rolf Bernstein.

Mr. Thomas said right now the organization needs about 14 or 15 big brothers to pair up with little ones. The average waiting time from when the application is received to the time some word is heard about acceptance or refusal, is about one or two months, says Mr. Thomas.

Mr. bonus says little brothers are referred to the organization by various sources: social services agencies, schools, nurses, clergymen, and mothers who want their son to have a big brother.

Applicants are carefully screened and must submit to thorough interviews, before being accepted. Even after acceptance, follow up procedures are done on their progress.

Big Brother applicants should be over 18 and the amount of time spent with the child is an individual decision although at least one day a week is recommended.

Mr. Thomas says he is happy with the response in Big Brothers in the city. "Although we started out with four matches and now have only six, I am extremely optimistic with the way things have gone.

"Everything has gone satisfactory," he said. "We've got the problem of staffing solved."

The campaign for the Big Brothers will take the form of work sessions, general public information and exposure, says Mr. Thomas.

The group has come a long way since research on starting the organization began on August 21, 1973. Anyone wishing to apply or requesting further information should call 962-3888.

Local Publisher Preserving History

Nick Mika is preparing another publication.

That's not exactly anything new.

He already counts 126 different titles under his company publishing banner.

But what is significant is the apparent acceptance of the role his small Belleville-based enterprise has been winning Canada-wide.

One gauge: Currently Mika Publishing has not one, but four books, ready for the presses.

It's indicative, believes Mr. Mika, of the success of his initial inspiration — a unique publishing formula that gives a vocational touch to what also now is a flourishing business enterprise.

He has deliberately cast himself in the role of a small independent publisher to market books big, corporative operations wouldn't consider sound business.

Mr. Mika aims for the local touch — books on local events written by local people. In the main, they are heavy on history.

He also republishes rare Canadian books, now long out of print, therefore costly to buy in the original.

His distribution — from a small premises on Stanley and Station streets — is increasingly national. The localities he selects for his histories and reprints are as far-ranging as the availability of material.

The overall result is to put Canadiana back in print and make it available to those interested.

And demand has been consistent, even if slightly by big business standards.

But the Mika operation is geared to small-volume publication, meeting demand as it comes — and also what Mr. Mika believes is a need in Canada.

For instance: A woman submitted a history of Wooler, the hamlet northwest of Trenton. Mika Publishing had 700 initial copies printed. It sold out in a few weeks and a second issue had to be ordered.

Then there are the reprints of the old county atlases — crammed with local information — a popular, if costly, feature of 19th century publication.

The Hastings County atlas reprint had a first run of 1,000 copies. Now it's in its fourth issue, says Mr. Mika.

These may not be dramatic business totals, but it meets his objectives.

Such an approach sometimes has seemed doubtful among fellow publishers, says Mr. Mika. But:

"Many people are hungry to know what their ancestors did, all about the localities they came from and their family history."

It also gives authors an outlet denied them by major publishing houses who must market on a national scale.

"By publishing a small amount of books on small localities you can make a living. We're fairaly prosperous," he says.

His publishing endeavors date to his native Germany where he was a journalist. In 1948, as an immigrant he arrived in Belleville, and worked as an orderly in the Hastings County Home for the Aged. Later came a job in a local factory.

Then in 1969 Mika Publishing was launched — as an industrial silk-screening operation in the basement of the Mika home, with his wife Helma as partner.

The operation still works that way, although there's no more silkscreening and the books are contracted to local printers.

For many of his publications Mr. Mika does the research — in newspaper files, government archives, university libraries.

Helma does the writing.

Mr. Mika admits his is not the only operation engaged in recollecting Canada in print but "we're concentrating on local history. And we're encouraging people to read about their local backgrounds."

Picton Gets New Registry

PICTON — Prince Edward County's new registry office, constructed at the site of the old District Court House and Jail, opened March 24, 1975, replacing the small brick offices used for more than a century.

When the county registry office was built in 1872 it was considered one of Ontario's most impressive.

Before a registry office was constructed in Picton, records from Upper Canada were stored in the town of Kingston.

As the years passed, the Prince Edward registry office became too crowded for the volume of records it held.

Lawyers, law clerks registry staff and researchers worked without elbow room in the small brick offices until the new modern facilities were opened.

Several Shops Feature Area-made Handicrafts

PICTON — In Prince Edward, just odd and ends of everything for designs at county craftsmen, and "staffing" in home-baked bread.

With the arrival of the tourist season a chick of boutiques opens throughout the county to promote local crafts and craftsmen.

Often, the very location of these shops claims its own appeal, for example, the Nationally recognized potter Jessie Cunningham decorated stoneware her craft from "The Schoolhouse Pottery" near Bloomfield.

Tourists can enjoy a tour of one of Prince Edward's "little red school houses", while viewing Mrs. Cunningham's display of bowls, jugs, pitchers and novelty pieces. Several antique pieces are also included in the shop, completed with stone fireplace and genuine furniture.

In Milford, Anne James weaves her clothes at the Village Pottery, a former country store.

Mrs. James' shop features oven-fresh home baked bread and attractive hand-made clothing items as well as colorful pottery pieces.

The tourist passing through Cerry Valley can stop and shop at The Nurseries, a weaving studio where clothes are set up for demonstrations.

West of Picton, on Highway 33, "Edifice Wrecks", offers a wide selection of antiques, old books and "Paraphernalia".

David Grossbaum, who opened the shop about a year ago, says he never buys anything for sale that he would not personally like to own.

The wares of Edifice Wrecks are displayed from a century-old house featuring a large brick fireplace to treat customers to atmosphere.

In Bloomfield village, Mr and Mrs. Morley Jackson operate a craft centre featuring articles hooked by Mrs. Jackson and framed by her husband. The couple also offers a display of antiques.

For the art buff visiting the county a trip to the Roblesville gallery of Allen and Dorothy Cameron offers enjoyment. For the Cameron, painting is a family affair with art work for sale by Mr. and Mrs. Cameron and their Daughter.

Mrs. Elva Smith of RR1, Picton, also offers paintings for sale. Much of her work, however, is commissioned.

Tourists interested in country and rush work can visit the South Street studio of Mrs. Grace Hawkins in Picton.

Mrs. Hawkins gathers many of the ideas related in her craft from Prince Edward County waters.

Her work is recognized throughout the Quinte area and she is involved in teaching programs at Loyalist College.

In Roslerville, Marion Carson offers pottery for sale.

Also in Ameliasburg Township, Belleville artist Barbara Whelan has opened an old school house as a centre for summer instruction in sculpture, Batik work and handmade jewelry.

The Paradox Boutique, operated by Marty Reynard and Judy Humble is one of Prince Edward's newest craft shops.

Opened in Picton last fall, the attractive little store is stocked with items consigned by 30 Quinte area craftsmen and hobbyists. Six others sell goods directly to the boutique.

In addition to these local crafts, there is a wide selection of shirts and blouses stitched by Judy Humble and a stock of smock tops imported from India and Afghanistan.

Judy, who holds a teacher's degree from MacArthur College in Kingston, and Marty, who recently earned his PhD in clinical psychology from Queen's University, discovered their shop as the ideal escape from the nine-to-five blahs.

Marty, a talented metal sculptorin, also plays the guitar and several other musical instruments and offers lessons to Quinte area residents.

Judy enjoys sewing embroidery and buying trips for the boutique.

"I would like to see Picton become a really interesting cultural area. The Paradox is one of the few places open now — I'd like to see more," says Marty.

"I would like to see an evolution — there isn't even a theatre in Picton," he adds.

Marty notes contributors to the boutique are encouraged when their crafts sell and this feedback spurs their talents.

The shop is still seeking contributors of pottery, weaving and quilting.

The Paradox Boutique is Picton's only craft shop to remain open all year round.

Crafts in Prince Edward are promoted through the Prince Edward Arts and Crafts Association, organized in November, 1966.

The purpose of this group is to promote interest, guidance and instruction in arts and crafts as a source of relaxation and as an enjoyable, and creative productive use of leisure time.

In recent years classes have been provided in rug hooking, chair caning, leatherwork, wood carving, papier mache and pottery.

Also, an arts and crafts fair, an annual and annual displays at the Prince Edward County fair have numbered among the organization's activities.

President of the crafts' association Mrs. Elva Smith, says the group has approximately 30 members. New classes this year include crochet lessons given by Thelma Calnan of Picton.

Membership is open to all interested persons and suggestions for the improvement of community service are encouraged, says Mrs. Smith.

Some of Belleville's Many Service Clubs

Community Spirit Shown in Service Club Work

One way to measure community involvement and spirit in any city is to look at the enthusiasm and activity of its service clubs. In Belleville, were it not for such clubs many projects and needy causes would be left undone.

Were it not for service clubs in Belleville, there would be no swimming programs for underprivileged children, in fact there would be no pools at all were it not for the Kinsmen and the Quinte Kiwanis Clubs.

Also there would be no science fairs, music competitions or other events set up to help students and/or senior citizens.

At the same location, the city's main service clubs, Kiwanis, Rotary, two Kiwanis clubs, Lions, Y's Men and Shriners, provide a service to the community whether through financial support or physical support provided by members willing to lend a hand.

Other clubs in the city such as Toastmasters strive for self-improvement of its members. Toastmasters, three years old in Belleville seeks to make confident and polished speakers out of its members.

Other clubs such as Jaycees and Sadie and Ad offer a common professional background for its members to meet. Some service work such as the Jaycees-sponsored bike circus is done in the club.

Women too are not left out as one considers such clubs as the Kinettes and Business and Professional Women.

Of course to list all the clubs that exist in Belleville would be quite lengthy and involved but an attempt is made to deal with the larger or more familiar ones.

The city's newest club just chartered in early April, the K-40 for Kinsmen members over the age of 40, joins the list of service clubs including the three oldest ones, the Rotary, Y's Men and Belleville Kiwanis both in the community for over 30 years.

The clubs hold their meetings weekly, in the early part of the week at various sites throughout the city.

While members have fun at the meetings, especially during initiation nights of some special nights, much of the camaraderie and friendship enjoyed by its members comes about through hard labor working together on a community project and seeing it realized.

Over the years, clubs have realized such ideals as the Cheshire Home for Handicapped Adults (Kinsmen), the much Easter Seals campaign for crippled children (Rotary), and help with retarded children (Lions).

Other interesting community projects in the past have included restoring a cemetery over a 100 years old that was left in disrepair (Quinte Kiwanis), in helping with the Cancer Society's Daffodil drive (Kiwanis), by having its members work at making a flower bed for the residents of Hastings Manor (Kinsmen).

Membership in service clubs is selective and requires being recommended to join by a club member. Once accepted in the club, regular attendance at meetings is highly encouraged.

The meetings are made interesting often by having outside speakers talk to members on various subjects. In the past John Reid office has addressed by such people as Mayor Robin Jeffrey, provincial Minister of Transportation, John Rhodes and many representatives of local industry and business.

Many of the service clubs are known throughout the city by the regular annual events they bring to the community such as the Rotary Music Festival, the Rotary Science Fair, the Kinsmen Candy Car in the Special Class parade, the Kinsmen Highland Weekend, and of visits interchanged between the Belleville Kiwanis Club and the sister club from Lake Delta, N.Y.

All in all, the role of the service clubs in Belleville can be best explained by the name, a club for members to work with one another and with the community to provide a worthwhile service.

Work Begins on Expansion Of Quinte Shopping Centre

The preliminary layout work for a 50-per cent expansion of the Quinte Mall has begun.

Engineering studies have been completed on the north Front Street sight and stakes and grid layouts now mark the guidelines for workmen to follow in the spring.

Fred Smith, manager of the Cambridge Leaseholds shopping mall, said this week "construction will definitely begin this spring or early summer unless the weather conditions it is difficult to give an exact starting date."

He said completion of the $13-million expansion is expected in the fall of 1976.

Though original plans called for maximum utilization of the development's 48.3 acres, Mr. Smith said because of drainage problems the project has been scaled down excluding construction of a number of industrial sites and a motel to the rear of the mall.

"It would cost us a million dollars to adequately drain the area that would have housed the industrial and motel sites . . . making the project financially impractical," said Mr. Smith.

The retail extension will provide another 125,000 square feet and will house 70 small retail and service outlets and an enclosed "arcade area" of the same size as Simpsons.

In 1974, Quinte area shoppers doled out $75 million for consumer products in mall stores.

In addition to mall expansion, Cambridge Leaseholds will construct two, 13-storey apartment buildings which will house 300 units.

Newcomers Soon Get Use to Local Terminolgy

By CASH MAHAFFY
Staff Reporter

A newcomer to Belleville can be forgiven if at first he's a bit confused by some of the unique local terminology.

For instance, no longitime natives of the city go downtown to shop. They go down street. And, when they arrive at the intersection of Front and Bridge streets, they are at The Four Corners.

The bridge that crosses the Moira River on Front Street is The Upper Bridge. The one that crosses the river at Bridge Street is The Lower Bridge. The Dundas Street span is too new to have a nickname.

It's confusing enough to have a river running north and south, and east and west through the city, but even the river's name can be a trap.

The newcomer might expect the river's name to be pronounced as it is spelled, with two syllables — Moy-ra. Not so. Locally, it's a three-syllable name — Moe-oyer-a.

Then there's the problem with long-established industries in the city. You have to know the vernacular.

The Bakelite, for example, is really Union Carbide Canada Limited, Plastics and Chemicals — known locally as The Bakelite after an early plastic-type compound that didn't make them any money.

The Alcanite, on the other hand, stands for two things: Stewart-Warner Corporation of Canada Limited, manufacturers of automotive castors, and the softball diamond across the street from the plant that is the scene of the best brand of ball seen in the city.

Corbin Lock is another. The company's official name is now International Hardware Company of Canada Limited, but to any oldtimer it's still The Corbin Lock.

When travelling from Belleville, it's important to use the correct phraseology. One goes UP to Toronto and DOWN to Montreal, although Toronto is actually south and Montreal is north of The Friendly City. Perhaps it has something to do with the Great Lakes current or the prevailing westerly wind.

Also, there are areas in the city that have their own distinctive names. The gentlely-named Hillcrest area, for instance, is popularly called "The Sunny Lonesome."

One example of a linguistic twist peculiar to the area is the use of "anymore."

The newcomer will hear sentences like, "Anymore it's hard to find good veal in town." Anymore is the construction takes the place of "now", or "nowadays."

However, the newcomer needn't despair. With a little patience and a few discreet questions, he can soon be talking like a native.

City Engineer, Joe Angelo, at work

Engineer's Job Keeps City Traffic Moving

Joe Angelo is the man who gives Belleville the works — public works that is.

As city engineer he's the city hall professional responsible for providing the city with its basic community services — roads, storm and sanitary sewers.

Both on-site and from his city hall offices he supervises construction programs that annually run into millions of dollars.

He holds his assignment at a time when the city is in the midst major upgrading and expansion of such services.

City council launched the major program about five years after it decided to concentrate on widening of its main traffic arteries and completing its network of major sewer installations. In fact, an emphasis in this year's capital works budget, totalling $3.5 million, is to facilitate industrial development in the city's north end, with spinoff benefits for neighboring residential areas.

The program has seen bridge building and road-widening with more to come in the upcoming years.

The entire program will take at least another five years to complete, estimates the city engineer.

But, the engineer is acquainted with every phase of it.

He was deputy city engineer for seven years before taking Shotgun and rifles are part more than a year ago.

But it's only part of the operation of Mr. Angelo's department, which counts an office staff of more than 23 and works crews totalling 50.

It's at his city hall offices from which all the year-round paper work emanates — planning, drafting, surveys. At the works yards, the end of construction weather brings no slackness either. They're also responsible for storm control during the winter months.

PERCA Manages Seven Conservation Sites

PICTON — The Prince Edward Region Conservation Authority formed in 1968 today supervises seven conservation sites and negotiations are in progress for an eighth property.

Largest and best known of the conservation areas is the 425-acre Macaulay Mountain site where a recreational and educational shelter was officially opened in 1974.

Here nature trails have been constructed for hikers and in the winter months a ski club is operated by a group of Prince Edward sports enthusiasts.

The Beaver Meadow site on East Lake Rd., includes 218 acres for forestry and wildlife management purposes.

This spring, Prince Edward County Boy Scouts will plant 2,500 trees there as part of the "Trees Canada" project.

The Little Bluff conservation area is a day-use site located on County Rd. 9 near Point Traverse. Highlights of this property is its sandy shoreline.

The Massassaga Point site, primarily for day use, includes 65 acres.

The Bloomfield Mill Pond site now is being improved for water control and provision of water for firefighting purposes.

At Demorestville, a temporary dam has been built at a 45-acre site for water management purposes. If the temporary structure proves successful a permanent dam will be built.

PERCA has constructed a dam at Consecon for water management and creation of a water supply for firefighting.

Negotiations for acquisition of the Milford mill pond are in progress and when purchased this site will be used for recreation and water management.

The Conservation Authority has 13 members, one from each Prince Edward municipality and three government appointees.

Of the seven properties owned by the PERCA only the Macaulay Mountain site has been developed significantly. Other sites have been acquired and will be developed to potential in future.

And One of Belleville's Largest Industries

If you were to ask us which of the above achievements we were proudest of, it would be difficult for us to answer. Being the leader in our field is a gratifying achievement, but we cannot and do not forget that it is Belleville and her people who have helped us reach & remain in that position. It is for that reason that we have taken pleasure in the past, and will continue in the future, to support the recreational, cultural, educational and business development of Belleville and district.

Some facts about Stephens-Adamson and its Belleville connection..

-Established in Belleville since 1927, almost 50 years of continuous operations.

-Over $3-million in wages to 340 Belleville-and-district employees annually.

-Supporting many community activities, including the Belleville Theatre Guild, Boy Scouts, United Appeal, and various minor sports.

-Active in civic organizations such as the Chamber of Commerce, etc.

-Co-operating in educational programs for high school and advisory committees of Loyalist College.

Marine Division's unique Loop Belt self-unloading system

-Heavily involved in export work that brings needed foreign currency to Canada; equipment has been built in Belleville and supplied to customers in Africa, Trinidad, Japan, U.S.A., Brazil and other South American countries.

-Stephens-Adamson Belleville is the headquarters for four Sales and Engineering Offices in Canada and one in Santiago, Chile, offering interesting careers in sales, engineering, accounting, etc.

-Stephens-Adamson is known throughout the world for its: Engineered and Standard Products.

Engineered Systems Division's custom-designed equipment.

TWO EXAMPLES OF STEPHENS-ADAMSON AND BELLEVILLE AT WORK

The largest coal stacker-reclaimer ever built in Canada, the huge piece of equipment (above) was made by Stephens-Adamson, Belleville to move mountains of coal through the Westshore Terminals facility at the Roberts Bank deep-water port near Vancouver, B.C. The 117-foot-high machine has a 200-foot-long boom and a 28-foot-diameter bucket wheel that slews 345 degrees. Operated by only one man, it can feed and reclaim 4,000 tons of coal per hour on both sides of a 1,500-foot-long integrated belt conveyor linking the rail line to the dockside.

Key equipment at the oil-rich Athabasca tar sands mine site of Great Canadian Oil Sands Ltd., near Fort McMurray, Alberta, is a 1,745-foot-long belt conveyor designed, built and installed by Stephens-Adamson, Belleville. The 84-inch-wide conveyor elevates 14,000 tons of tar sands hourly from bucket-wheel excavators and connecting field belt conveyors to a 125-foot-high processing plant. The unit is designed to operate in temperatures from 60°F below zero to 90°F above. It is the second such conveyor to be supplied by Stephens-Adamson for the site.

Greenbelt Development Major Priority Among City Officials

"If a person likes to dream you can see — someday — coming down that river and linking up with all those acres of waterfront parkland."

So sums Lloyd Syer.

As Belleville's parks director he is a professional who must deal with daily realities more than dreams.

But he also is the man at the centre of an operation which has been adding some dramatic pieces to the city's greenbelt system.

The city, in recent years, has been exploited and exploring a potential for parkland that presents one of the most sparkling opportunities in its region, local authorities agree.

Belleville has two prime assets that could make its greenbelt a gem.

— The Bay of Quinte, which the city flanks for nearly three miles, with some waterfronts already parkland.

— The Moira River flowing almost dead-centre through the city into the Bay. Once considered a downtown development drawback and flood hazard, its aesthetic potential has now long been accepted, even partially developed.

If brought to reality as a parkway, or linked by access strips, both waterfrontages would be an outstanding civic asset, says Mr. Syer.

The presence of such potential now puts the city in a "very enviable position" among Ontario's growing communities, he adds.

But such a linkage of facilities would only be the centrepiece to the city's parks system, its total—from its big Bayfront Park's Centennial Park to neighborhood flower-beds and greenspots — the department has 250 acres under its supervision.

Last year its maintenance budget was $430,000 and its year-round staff of 18 expanded to 45 with summer help.

Inevitably, the parks people work closely with the city's recreation department, helping maintain ballfields and other summer leisure outdoor facilities.

Co-operation extends in another direction — which has benefited city parks. This involves the Moira River Conservation Authority (MRCA).

The MRCA Essex is already highly visible.

The authority — with its provincial government grants — has bought land on both sides of the Moira in northeast Belleville, where the department helps maintain two of the city's most attractive park-beach areas.

A conceptual plan — introduced in June, 1973 — calls for gradual development of a wide tract of the river's west bank, that includes natural walkways, picnic area, a ski-hill, gardens and even an ice pond in winter. Work already is under way.

In years to come there may be less demand for what he calls "manicured" greenbelt. Instead, the emphasis may be on leaving more of it in its natural state, says Mr. Syer.

The future also indicates even closer mutual-benefit moves with the MRCA.

Already, a major study of the Bay of Quinte waterfront is under way by the MRCA.

When it's completed it will be "much easier" to ascertain development direction and win the needed public acceptance.

Ownership of the waterfront is now multiple — the city has some, so have public agencies like the city's harbor commission, the province's environment ministry — which operates Belleville's sewage disposal. Other acreage is held privately.

The waterfront and river is "an enormous asset," says Mr. Syer.

"Senior governments now are beginning to realize it should be reserved."

Parks Director Lloyd Syer

Proper Band Makeup Key to Group's Sound

There is more than meets the eye in the makeup of a drum and bugle corps.

Hugh Bailey, director of the Belleville Yeomen Corps, has outlined the composition of his outfit, which includes a percussion section, a horn section and a color party.

The percussion group has three players apiece on snare drums, triple timp-toms, tuned bass drums, tympanis and cymbals.

In the horn section are first-through-third sopranos, first, second and bass baritones, first and second melophones and a contrabass. The baritones give a trombone voice, the melophones a French horn voice and the contrabass is in the tuba range.

Douglas Filters Already Gearing Up For Turnaround in Canada's Economy

TRENTON — The Douglas Filter Corporation Ltd. plant in Trenton's northeast industrial park cannot be called a giant, but it does dwarf the four regular employees of one of the town's newest industries.

Space abounds. Empty corners echo what little noise the plant machinery emits. However, the abundance of unused space does not indicate that business is slow.

Quite the contrary, says plant manager Barry Willhelm. He dealers indicate sales are picking up. The firm is also starting a new production line to manufacture air filters for the export market.

When the plant was completed in early 1974, it was built to eventually house up to 30 employees, a many-fold increase over the company's present four workers, three of which are women.

It's designed capacity, says Mr. Willhelm, is $1.5-million in sales annually, far above the $280-$290,000 projected for its first fiscal year.

In a recent interview, Mr. Willhelm painted a guardedly optimistic picture of the company's future prospects.

He projects that the plant, now valued at $250,000 will soon employ some 25 people whenever the economy turns around. But prior to that, he expects some new workers will be hired to staff a new production line that is gearing up for export sales.

He expects gross sales between $100,000 — $125,000 a year in Norway, Sweden, and possibly Britain. But, "it could go higher."

At present, the company sells across Canada through dealer outlets in Winnipeg, Toronto, Vancouver and Montreal. Halifax will be the next marketing arena.

The firm is supplying the new Ontario Hydro headquarters around. But prior to that, its filters — medium and high efficiency — are reusable air filters that are used in heating, ventilation, and air conditioning machinery.

Mr. Willhelm said the Trenton subsidiary of Ser Vodyne Corp. of Santa Rosa, Calif. a suburb 60 miles from San Francisco, currently has a small share of the Canadian Market. It's aim, one that he said he'd be happy with, is to capture three or four percent of the market.

Despite current economic conditions, he sees the ambition as feasible. As a new plant, which started production as recently as September 1974, any increase in sales is a step forward.

Douglas Filter has another point in its favor. Most of the equipment used to manufacture its filters is unique, he says. His competitors, five in Canada, have systems that complicate the job and thus make the finished product costlier.

As manufacturers of the Fiald Line, it uses soft, cotton-like, fibreglass, and heat-and non-heat-sealable synthetic fibres to produce its filters.

The materials are slipped either into rectangular frames or frames and expandable wire forms shaped into bags or sacks. Most of the work is done on equipment designed by Douglas Engineering Ltd. in Toronto.

The equipment, says Mr. Willhelm, is far simpler than that used by Douglas Filter's competitors. He hesitated to explain the process extensively for fear that the competition would snatch the firm's ideas.

Now Douglas Filter produces some 2,500 filters monthly, rated at four basic degrees of ability to stop air borne dust particles.

The plant is one of Trenton's cleanest, because "when you make filters to clean the air, it has to be clean." says Mr. Willhelm.

"If you don't do that, the customer will start with a handicap already," he concluded.

Military Active

Military and veterans' organizations remain active year-round in Belleville.

The city is headquarters for B Company of the storied Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment and, with its proximity to CFB Trenton, airforce-based residents are well represented. Naval interest are represented by a thriving Sea Cadet corps whose band is much in demand for parades and military functions in the district.

There are three active veterans' organizations in the city: ANAF Duke of Edinburgh Unit 201, Royal Canadian Legion Branch 99 and RCAF Association 418 Wing.

All take an active part in community affairs, with particular emphasis on minor sports and youth development.

In addition to the Sea Cadets, there is an Air Cadet corps, sponsored by the ANAF and Army Cadets headquartered at the Armory.

All veterans' groups in the city work together through the Veterans of Belleville Council in organizing such annual events as Remembrance Day and the Vimy Banquet.

Trenton Taking Steps to Solve Industrial Land Shortage

TRENTON — Fears that Trenton may become trapped within its municipal limits as growth may then be stifled have multiplied here over the past year to the point where council is again looking past its borders for land.

A key ingredient in such fears is what is repeatedly being called a near exhaustion of land upon which to locate new industry, a prime factor in town growth. Various town officials forecast a bleak future if more land is not acquired.

But for now, Trenton has enough, says Mayor Robert Patrick. Until the town runs out of the remaining 40 acres available, the lack of land "is not a limiting factor".

But it is a concern. As recently as mid-February, the town again made its worries known to the province during the resources ministers mini-cabinet session in Belleville.

At that time, Mayor Patrick decried a lack of land that he said could only be remedied by the expansion of the town's boundaries. In a brief filed with the ministers, he said, "land within the town ... has become almost exhausted" and Trenton has "nowhere to go ... until consideration is given to expanding the town's boundaries."

Steps are now being discussed to help alleviate the land shortage.

Talks with Murray Township have been suggested by councillor Ron Price, chairman of the town's industrial committee. At at the semi-official level, they would be geared to exploring what the town could acquire to meet its needs for industrial land sites.

Murray is seen as the most logical and perhaps only direction for expansion. The town is encompassed by rolling country to the north, CFB Trenton on the east, and the waters of the Bay of Quinte to the south.

Co-operation, although not assured, can be expected from Murray Township. Its reeve Harry Lafferty indicated earlier this year that the township has, and will continue to co-operate with the town.

However, the picture is clouded by subsequent statements made by the reeve in which he indicated that it would be unlikely his township would look easiarly towards Trenton.

In mid-February, he said informal discussions have taken place over several years with Brighton and Brighton Township over possible amalgamation with the township under one governing body. Further, the government restructuring study now under way in Northumberland County will likely affect Murray and its subsequent dealings with the town.

Where Trenton will fit into the overall area picture, and what hopes it can hold of acquiring additional land, is therefore still unknown.

For the moment, says Mayor Patrick, he is maintaining an optimistic outlook. The town has enough land to be able to offer locations for those smaller industries that he feels will be actively sought after by the town's industrial committee.

In that respect, several points already stand in Trenton's favor, he indicated.

Today, as opposed to a year ago, land slated for industry north of Highway 401, now is in the process of being serviced by sewer and water lines, to be complete in mid-1975, the mains will end just north of the highway, ready for an industrial hookup.

What can be considered a minor coup for the town — the location and current construction of the $2.5 million Stearns and Foster Canada Ltd. plant here — may provide an additional benefit.

Trenton, which was chosen over 13 other municipalities in Ontario for the company's third Canadian plant, will become known as a town that treated the company well. The word will spread, says the mayor, and it "can't hurt us."

Stearns and Foster is the biggest plant of four to locate in Trenton over the past two years. In 1974, E.K. Sheppard Sales and Service Ltd. built a $30,000 building that now employs about nine workers.

Last year, four industries expanded, with the largest such move being taken by Erie Technological Products of Canada Ltd.

The $140,000 expansion, according to company spokesman Lois Norton, has not been put to use and no additional workers were added to the plant's 430-member labor force.

"For all practical purposes, it's still empty," said Mr. Norton. He blamed a downturn in the economy of the United States, the major market for the firm's electronic components, as the reason behind non-occupancy of the addition.

The addition was to give the existing plant "elbow room" as well as house some operations moved here from the U.S., he said.

In 1973, two newcomers to the industrial community were recorded — Douglas Filter Corporation Ltd. and Domtech co. Ltd. The former built a $175,000 plant on Douglas Road, that is now valued, including machinery, at $250,000. The Domtech plant, built for $20,000, is now valued between $130,000 and $150,000 and employs 12 people.

The same year, six additions to existing plants were built. The largest was a $1-million expansion of office and warehousing space at Quaker Oats Co. Enlargement of plant facilities did not correspond with an increase in staff size.

Industrial activity noted does not include that in the suburban areas of Trenton.

Board of Education One of Area's Largest Spenders and Employers

Since the formation of the larger boards in 1969 the Hastings County Board of Education has become one of the country's largest employers with a 1974 budget of $26.8 million.

While education is no doubt one of the biggest businesses in Hastings County it is also one which is people-oriented.

In fact about 70 per cent of the total education budget for 1974 was spent on payroll. Ken Wormald, superintendent of business for the Hastings County Board of Education, said that almost $19 million was spent on salaries last year.

Some businesses, like the oil refinery industries, hire relatively few people in their production. The Hastings County Board a staff of 1,379 spread across the county.

Mr. Wormald said out of this figure about 1,133 are teachers and are classified as academic staff. The business staff alone, which includes administration, purchasing, transportation, plant and maintenance as well as secretaries reaches 365.

The Hastings Board of Education is one of the few businesses in the county which operates a portion of the year without a budget. The budget is visually handed down early April.

Most businesses determine their projected sales volume and then strike a budget according to these figures. The board relies heavily on expenditures to set a budget.

The board is regulated by local tax structures as well as the grants and education ceilings placed on them by the provincial ministry of education.

From 1973 to 1974 the board increased its budget by about 8.5 per cent.

Most businesses this size utilize computers and the board is no exception, Mr. Wormald said the board, does not own or lease computers but rather it buys the services. Last year, such services cost the board about $185,000. Mr. Wormald said it would virtually impossible to operate the business end of the board without the computer services.

The computer also works out class schedules as well as data for student enrolments. It also is used for the payroll office.

Obviously the board does not manufacture products but their prime concern in the education of the county's almost 22,000 elementary and secondary school students.

Mr. Wormald pointed out that unlike other businesses the board can not always assess the quality of its educational efforts.

The operation and maintenance of plants and schools amounted to almost $2.4 million in 1974. The board maintains 70 buildings located on 65 school sites. It also owns 45 portable classrooms.

The equalized assess value of the buildings is about $80 million. The cost to operate the board's plant operations is $1.77 a square foot.

Mr. Wormald pointed out that the board spends about $142,000 a year to borrow money. This is due to the fact that the board receives its funds only three time a year.

With the larger boards taking in a greater geographical area the cost of transportation is staggering. In 1974, the board spent a total of $1.3 million in this area.

The board also operates a fleet of 84 passenger buses and 180 station wagons. They cover 270 routes on a daily basis. There are 9,500 students bussed daily within the county.

Mr. Wormald pointed out the shareholders in the business of education are the taxpaying public, who are represented by a board of directors known as trustees.

The trustees, in the form of a board, meet twice a month to deal with business matters and policy setting decisions.

Book Store Planned

PICTON — An undercover story headlined by a cast of hundreds is expected to break here this Spring.

Key figures are Beverley Skidmore of Picton and her mother, Ada Wilkinson of Wellington, who plan to open the County Book N' Craft Shop, a retail outlet for a wide range of paper backs.

Mrs. Skidmore noted in 1970 there were two book stores in the town but today there is no retail outlet carrying books as its main stock.

The County Book N' Craft Shop will introduce a complete line of paper backs and a wide range of children's books, hard and soft cover.

Also, craft kits will be sold in addition to craft items made by Quinte area residents.

Mrs. Skidmore explained the shop will represent a community showcase where local artists, authors and craftsmen can display their works.

Periodicly, local authors will be invited to visit the shop to sign copies of their books.

Mrs. Skidmore looks forward to her first business venture adding she is convinced that it is based on a strong local need.

The County Book N' Craft Shop is scheduled to open about May 1 in the Armory Mall.

This is the most advanced business communications system in the world.

And it's made right here in Belleville.

The system we're talking about is the brand new Northern Electric SL-1. A unique business telephone system which combines sophisticated computer technology with communications know-how.

And know-how is why it's being made in Belleville. Because when it comes to making the jump from drawing board to assembly line, Belleville's done it before. To the applause of telephone companies all over Canada and the U.S.

It's that kind of work that's made Belleville a vital part of one of the fastest growing telecommunications manufacturers in North America.

This city has provided us with the people we needed to come up with a breakthrough product like the SL-1. Which makes it only right that we're installing the first working system right here in Belleville.

Treasurer Helps Chart City's Financial Course

Frank Morrell is the man who pulls the most important strings at city hall — the purse strings.

As city treasurer — a post he has held for the last six years — Mr. Morrell is the man responsible for keeping track of where the money goes and comes from to run a city of 35,000 residents.

These days it takes about $13 million — if the $3 million school education is included.

As the city's chief financial administrator, Mr. Morrell keeps the complex of finances — taxes, grants, loans — flowing in and out with a treasury staff of 14.

Its efficiency is the core factor in operating the community. There are at least two pointers to the fact the treasury mechanism works smoothly:

(1) Its tax collections rates about tenth among Ontario cities — running at 96.6 per cent of all taxes due. That's a rating that's still improving, says Mr. Morrell.

(2) The city's credit rating is "good", says the treasurer.

In fact, recent national bidders for assignment as financial agent in debenture issues, told city council Belleville's credit in the money markets is sound. At the end of 1974, the city had debenture issues totalling $18,307,000.

"The city is faced with ever-increasing responsibilities and accompanying expenditures — and we're in genuine need of additional provincial (government) assistance.

Quinte Area Provincial Parks Offer Variety of Activities

Vacationers in the Quinte area have no difficulty finding camping accommodation — with the exception of some summer holiday weekends, when campsites are fully booked.

There are four major provincial parks with campsites within 30 miles of Belleville, as well as the Col. Sidney Vanderwater park off Highway 37, near Tweenaway operated by the Moira Rivers Conservation Authority.

If there is a lack in the area, it is for vacationers with trailers who wish to park overnight or for a few days with facilities for electricity, water hookup and other conveniences. This deficiency, however, may soon be corrected with a proposed trailer park and recreation area on the recently-acquired Podzo Property just west of the city by the Moira River Conservation Authority.

For campers, there are more than 1,000 campsites in provincial parks within an hour's drive of the city. In addition to fully-serviced camping facilities, nature tours and unmatchable scenery on the Lake Ontario shoreline are readily accessible.

Most of the campsites are on the Lake Ontario shoreline at Prince Edward County, or at Presqu'Ile Park south of Brighton and west of Belleville.

The Outlet — Sandbanks provincial park, a combination of two park areas, is located about 25 miles south of Belleville on highway 14.

The Sandbanks is a 1,218-acre provincial natural environment park that preserves areas of natural, scenic, and historic significance. Visitors can enjoy five miles of sandy beach, ideal for swimming and picnicking and shoreline hiking. The Lake Ontario beach, however, is dangerous for non-swimmers because the beach slopes steeply underwater.

A park pamphlet states "Originally submerged, the Sandbanks was formed by sand collecting across the mouth of the bay. Eventually, shallow topsoil with vegetation and a tree cover emerged to create the park as it is today.

"Most of the park area has been reforested because of the previous landowners' tree-felling program which together with wind, caused soil erosion."

Many thousands of trees now have been planted on sand prepared with hay and straw mulches and protected by wind barriers.

The sand movement now is under control but it remains necessary to protect the vegetation and trees, most vital to sand dune stabilization.

Facilities at Sandbanks park include toilets, running water, a beach and change houses. Overnight camping is not permitted except in emergency situations.

Outlet Beach Park is a 675-acre provincial natural environment park preserving areas of natural, scenic and historical significance. Facilities include 400 tent and trailer sites, comfort stations, toilet, a sand beach, and picnic areas. There are no hydro facilities for trailers, however.

There are three separate campgrounds with some campsites overlooking wide sandy beaches and several miles of the Lake Ontario shoreline. The park, opened in 1959, originally was [illegible] water, forming part of [illegible] bay in Lake Ontario. After many years a sand bar formed across the mouth of the bay, creating an inland lake.

North Beach Provincial Park lies about 14-miles west of Highway 33, approximately 15 miles from Trenton.

This 75-acre provincial recreation park has been specially developed for day-time use and contains fully serviced facilities. The park is on a sandbar between Lake Ontario and Lake North Bay, a small lake near the western edge of Prince Edward County.

"Visitors to the park can see The Carrying Place, a site used by Indians as a portage between Lake Ontario and the Bay of Quinte," states a park pamphlet.

One of Prince Edward's most talked about views can be enjoyed from Lake on the Mountain provincial recreation park. This 256-acre site has been developed for daytime use and will be extended.

The park is situated between "bottomless" Lake on the Mountain and a 194-foot escarpment that falls steeply to the Bay of Quinte. Park brochures note that the absence of a visible inlet to the lake and its indeterminable depth toward the middle led early settlers to believe that it was bottomless and connected by an underground river to Lake Erie.

Also within easy driving range of the city are extensive parks and campsites to the north — Algonquin Park, Bon Echo on Mazinaw Lake, Black Lake, Sharbot Lake and Lake St. Peter, near Bancroft, with more than 1,500 additional campsites and thousands of acres of scenic woods and waters available for enjoyment.

Cars line up to get into the popular Outlet Provincial Park.

Orderly Building Association Goal

Home building is big business for a community and Belleville's Quinte Home Builders Association has set itself to the task of keeping the wrinkles ironed out and making sure the machinery runs smoothly.

Bob Marcotte, president of the association, said the group provides a forum for builders to discuss problems with their peers and to find solutions using a national resource — the Housing and Urban Development Association of Canada, of which the local home builders are members.

The local chapter has more than 50 members representing not only the builder but the sub-trades that are vital to home construction. The association also has associate members drawn from the related field of financing.

"The main functions we try to perform cover protection of both the consumer and the supplier and dispersion of information to keep members up to date," said Mr. Marcotte.

A new role which has emerged for the Quinte Home Builders in the past year has been civic affairs.

"Getting the builder vocal concerning municipal legislation that affects him has always been a major problem of ours," said the president.

But, "now the association has taken a new look at this area and we have been making strides," he said.

In recent months, the association has been active in two major pieces of city legislation including the sign control bylaw and the minimum maintenance bylaw. Both have broad applications on the building industry.

During the past year, co-operation between city council and the association has lead to the formation of the sub-divider's liaison committee.

"The committee serves as a resource to council providing professional insight into proposed legislation before it takes affect," said Mr. Marcotte.

"If there is something honestly wrong with proposed law, it is much easier to modify it before it is passed than wait for later, time-consuming amendments," he said.

"The industry must be vocal and must be aware of ever-changing social needs and it's own social responsibilities," he said.

Heather Wilson with Part of Her Doll Collection

Dolls Not Child's Play

LAKE - ON - THE - MOUNTAIN — For legal researcher Heather Wilson dolls are not child's play but an informative legacy of the past.

Miss Wilson, a former Toronto resident now living in Prince Edward County spends her spare time collecting and repairing old dolls to complete an display for exhibition in the Quinte area.

"I look for anything different," she says referring to the antique and old dolls she collects through newspaper advertisements and auction sales.

Miss Wilson explains the dolls, through their dress, reveal a great deal about the periods of history in which they were made.

The oldest doll in her collection dates to 1860 while another was made in 1870.

Prices of the dolls may vary from $25 to $700 for a Jumeau doll in perfect condition. The latter is usually sought by a collector and its discovery would be "like finding a diamond in the street" says Miss Wilson.

In addition to her doll collection, she is planning construction of a 36 room 16th century Tudor Elizabethan house — doll size, of course.

The furnishings for this minimansion have been collected by Miss Wilson over a period of 15 years.

Citizens Bureau Has New Home

It's now official — the former Citizens Bureau in Trenton has returned to Belleville to continue its operation as the new Quinte Information and Assistance Centre at 227A Coleman St.

Located in a former "cold" room of an old dairy, the centre is not exactly in plush surroundings but further renovations will be made to upgrade the inside appearance and increase comfort, says Bill Hockley, centre representative.

"We didn't want something too costly but we wanted something where there were no stairs for older people," he pointed out Monday.

Office hours are from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and the new telephone numbers are 962-8218 and 968-8218. Services to the public are free.

Mr. Hockley said the centre will also attempt to incorporate its name and has applied to the provincial government to have centre member Peggy Gemmell authorized as a commissioner of affidavits.

Mr. Hockley said the centre has noticed a change in the scope of its duties. He explained in the past three or four weeks, whether because more people in the area are being laid off from work or due to changing economic conditions, there has been an increase in social problems.

Theatre Guild Productions Place Well in Competition

By JIM SMELLIE
Staff Reporter

It's possible that when Belleville celebrates its centennial in 1978 that the Belleville Theatre Guild could be performing its plays in a brand new arts centre which, besides theatre, would accommodate other branches of the arts.

It's just talk now, and a few possible sites have been mentioned. But no matter what happens the Guild, founded here in 1951, can't go much further to match the enthusiasm and dedication its members have even with a theatre that only seats about 300.

The theatre is the Pinnacle Playhouse the site of the D.I. Storey Building opposite the county court house. The guild performs most of its plays there relying on larger auditoriums such as at Belleville Collegiate Institute or Centennial for its musicals.

The guild recently presented its latest presentation, the bawdy Jacobean two-act farce, The Knight of the Burning Pestle at the Eastern Ontario Drama League competition in Peterborough.

This isn't the first time a guild play has been entered in competition. In 1969, The Lark was presented while in 1971, The Lion in Winter was entered.

In the 1970s a one act-play Voice of the People was entered in the Eastern Ontario Drama League Festival and won best play award and was invited to the Dominion Drama Festival. In the early 1960s, Box and Cox was entered in the one-act festival and it will best play award.

As of March, there was 190 working members in the guild and a theatre guild subscriber list of 565. Theatre guild president is Verna Patterson.

The Guild has presented musicals as well as straight dramas. Last year, Oliver was presented while this year in May the Music Man will be the musical offering.

There are usually four presentations each year. This year besides The Knight of the Burning Pestle, directed by professional director, Daniel Walsh, and The Music Man, the other two productions were Irish playwright's Brian Friel's Lovers and the mystery — comedy A Shot in the Dark.

A standard stock company of veterans contribute immensely to the success of guild productions. Such actors and actresses as Diane Coyne, Ted Bairstow, Flo Yanover, Peter Kitcher, and Maurice Sykes to name a few have given fine performances in this year and in past presentations.

Looking back at the guild's presence in Belleville, an amusing situation occurred during the performance of Thether Carnival some years back. The cast of ten after playing all night to an audience of five people, turned the tables at the end and applauded the audience.

Previous guild presentations have included, Mother Courage, Seven Year Itch, The Anniversary and Teahouse of the August Moon.

Mine Re-opening Boom to Bancroft

BANCROFT — The proposed re-opening of the Uranium mine in Faraday Township, four miles south east of Bancroft is being regarded as an economic boost to the North Hastings area.

During the boom time in the 1950s, there were four uranium mines operating in the Bancroft area.

When the mines closed down in 1964, the impact was felt severely by a community which since, has achieved a growth in population and in the tourist business.

Now in 1975, Bancroft is regarded, in the proposed official plan for Hastings County, as "the only area south of Highway 7 that is still experiencing growth and which is expected to continue growing."

The Madawaska mine will fill a contract with an Italian agency for the delivery of most of the mine's projected production for a six-year period.

According to mine manager Del Wilson, uranium is in such great demand on the international market at the moment that the production of Madawaska is a necessity to the Italian government.

Support industries and trades will be needed when the Madawaska site re-opens in the next year.

At the moment additional housing is already under discussion for Bancroft and for the Faraday Township area, in preparation for the proposed influx of population.

When the mine is in operation, up to 300 people will be employed there.

Following the announcement of the mine's re-opening by Hastings MP Jack Ellis in February, provincial approval was given to the project.

According to Hastings MPP Clarke Rolling, as much local labor as possible will be used at the mine.

Local politicians are approaching the mine re-opening with optimism and with caution.

Reeve Jack MacKenzie of Faraday Township and Reeve Russell Hawley of Bancroft are calling for co-operation between the municipalities and the mine management.

The president of the Bancroft Chamber of Commerce, Ivor Macleod is pleased with the development and said he feels that it will be an extra boost for the local economy.

"New tourists can come to Bancroft for two reasons," he said.

"To visit the tourist delights of the area and to see one of the main uranium centres of Canada."

Computer In Class

GLASGOW (CP) — Computers are to be used to help teach children at 10 primary schools here. The computer-aided instruction program, said by the city to be the most advanced in Europe, will supplement normal teaching techniques in reading, arithmetic and grammar.

Battle Won

GLASGOW (CP) — A tie depicting an overflowing garbage bin and a rat—the hated "battle honors" of the Royal Highland Fusiliers—has been presented to the lord provost, or mayor, Sir William Gray. In return, the city presented each soldier with a miniature bottle of whisky—"A clean drink from a clean city." It marked the army's job in collecting tons of garbage during a recent garbage drivers' strike.

Boats Love City's Attractive Waterfront in the Summer

Latest Waterfront Study To Determine Harbor Needs

One of Belleville's biggest assets in terms of scenery and potential tourist attraction is its harbor and waterfront, politicians have agreed for years.

Finally, in late 1974, through city council by way of the Moira River Conservation Authority and the province, it was agreed that steps should be taken to enhance this asset and determine what should be done to make the most of it for the people of the city and visitors.

A firm of consulting engineers, Crysler and Lathem, of Toronto, was retained by the conservation authority in the fall to prepare a study and recommendations on the waterfront between about two miles west of the city and the boundary between Thurlow and Tyendinaga Townships, including the harbor and rivermouth.

Impetus for the planning study came from city council's Harbor Improvement Committee, set up last year under chairman Alderman Stu Meeks.

Since the 1890s the harbor and some adjoining lands, more than the area of land and water under the current study — has been under the jurisdiction of the federal government. Locally it is represented by the Belleville Harbor Commissioners.

This situation has, in the past, led to some difficulty in getting locally-initiated improvement schemes off the ground.

Under its constitution, the harbor commission is concerned with navigation and commercial shipping rather than pleasure boating. Also, it is custodian of shoreline property.

Harbor commission chairman Don Barrett welcomed the nearly-completed study of the waterfront. "This will let us do some long-range work on the harbor and it will give Ottawa a chance to plan ahead. This should make it a lot easier to deal with them than it has been with spot requests."

CN Plays Vital Role In Belleville's Economy

In terms of industrial and economic expansion, Canadian National Railway plays a vital role in Belleville's growth.

Belleville is the headquarters for CN's Rideau area — which covers most of eastern Ontario. Located here are company administration and operation offices, telecommunications facilities, a rail yard containing repair shops for diesel locomotives and rolling stock, a timber yard and scrap metal reclamation yard and a repair shop for track switches.

Being one of Belleville's largest employers with more than 1,000 on staff, the company payroll annually injects approximately $13 million into the area's economy. CN's municipal tax contribution in 1974 was $48,000.

Transportation serves as a major selling card for the city's industrial commission in attracting industry into the city. Rail service is of particular importance to industry which markets to a broad area. It was the rail service that played a major part in bringing Procter and Gamble and Pull Twine to the city during last year.

CN freight operations from the Belleville terminal amounted to more than 27,000 car loads or, more than 3.5 million tons last year.

CN in Belleville also plays a major passenger transportation role between the centres of Toronto and Montreal — one of the busiest section of CN passenger line.

Young Dancers Go Through Their Paces at the Quinte Dance Centre

Theatre, Music, Art Among Many Culture Groups

The art scene in Belleville. What condition is it in? Is it alive and thriving or is there much more that can be done to revitalize it in the city.

While many local artists and craftsmen are doing well working on their own there are certain organizations that strive to promote the arts and artists in Belleville.

One of the most visible bodies in the city especially during Artists' in the spring is the Quinte Arts Council. Under president, Manfred Kaechle, the QAC consists of members from the various arts in Belleville such as performing, visual, theatre and dance.

The group holds regular meetings and every spring the fruits of their labor are most visible to the public during the month-long Artpiel which includes everything from art exhibitions to a musical and dance presentation to a production from the Belleville Theatre Guild capping things up usually with a musical such as Oliver or The Music Man, this year's presentation.

And while the Quinte Arts Council (QAC) takes care of this area, acting as liaison between that council and the Ontario Arts Council is Diane Althen, appointed last fall by the Ontario Arts Council at its regional correspondent in the Quinte area.

As correspondent, Mrs. Althen facilitates the flow of information from the OAC concerning services and programs available and promotes communication between individuals and groups from this area interested in the arts and the OAC in Toronto.

Another visible proof of the arts in the city is the Belleville Arts Association, which holds regular meetings under president, Barbara Whelan, herself a local artist.

The association has had many of its members' works on display in Belleville as well as various exhibitions in other parts of Eastern Ontario. Throughout the year, juried exhibitions are held and members are given a chance to have an adjudicator judge their strengths and weaknesses.

Another active group in the city is the Belleville Theatre Guild which each year presents four productions. This year, one of the productions, The Knight of the Burning Pestle was one of five commonwealth plays accepted for entry in the Eastern Ontario Drama League Festival held in Peterborough.

Guild president, Verna Patterson said the Guild has an active membership list at the beginning of this year of about 200 and a paid-up subscription list of 365. The Guild was formed in 1947 and plays are presented at the Pinnacle Playhouse.

A more recent group is the Quinte Dance Centre now entering its third-year of operations under director Brian Scott, himself a professional dancer first in England and then in Canada. At present, the centre has 145 regular students and five professional students (three studying to be professional dancers and two to be teachers.

The centre aims to teach young people, some as young as four-year-old, the basics of ballet and dance. One student, Andrew Pape, 11, is currently attending the National Ballet Company School in Toronto and this past Christmas season participated in The Nutcracker Suite at the O'Keefe Centre.

Another student, Laura Hayes was one of the first students in this area to pass her professional exams in dance and theory. She now becomes eligible to be considered for entry into the Royal Ballet School in London.

With these various organized groups as well as such individual artists in this area as Jerry Stapley with his pen and ink drawings, Audrey Davies with her distinctive mark on pottery and Paul Thrane who had his water colors and oil paintings exhibited in a two man show in Toronto in April, all signs lead to a healthy art scene in Belleville.

Brian Scott, Director of Quinte Dance Centre

Educator of the Year

MacDonald (Mac) Smith, a veteran of county education for 21 years, was named the Educator of The Year for Hastings County during Education Week celebrations in late April. Mr. Smith, 51, was chairman of the Hastings County Board of Education for the past two years. He retired last year saying it was time for a change.

Lighthouse Performs at The Four Seasons

City Has Entertainment To Please Every Taste

By JIM SMELLE
Staff Reporter

So you've just arrived in Belleville and are joining the ranks of the 35,000 or so friendly inhabitants calling this place home.

You've found a place to live, have met your neighbors and their 1.9-ish S. Bernard, are nicely settled in your job and are looking for a night on the town.

One impressive place for dining and dancing is the Four Seasons Hotel. You can start with a meal in the dining room and finish with dancing and drinking in the Terrace Bar.

If you're tastes are for a louder, livelier brand of music you might try the Mad Mechanic but come early for a good seat for a serious down-to-earth discussion with the person seated next to you, unless you feel like shouting.

Along the same vein of up-tempo music for dancing, you could try the Sun Valley, conveniently situated off Highway 401.

There is no cover charge at either the Four Seasons or Sun Valley but you must wear something other than blue jeans to get in. If you feel more comfortable in denims the best places to go for less formal entertainment is the Green oor at the Quinte Hotel, the Belvedere of the Canadian.

For those wanting to provide their own entertainment you might try the Chart Room, the City or the Dexters, since all have only a jukebox. For quiet conversation with your drink try the Queens' Hotel downtown with its relaxed atmosphere.

If you don't feel like drinking well there's always the theatre of which there are three in Belleville along with a drive-in. Cinemas 1 and 2 at the Quinte Mall play first-run features while the Park Theatre down town offers the occasional first-run movie but mostly has double-bills of films making their second or third trip to the city.

As for restaurants besides the already mentioned Four Seasons, there's Sun Valley, the Fiesta Room at the Quinte Hotel and for a steak, there's Pepo's Steak House on Highway 2 and Reisando on Highway 37.

Throughout the year, visiting entertainers and performer have stopped off in Belleville, coming here through the efforts of the Quinte Arts Council and local industry. In the past year, the Canadian Touring Opera Company's version of La Boheme, the Toronto Workshop Production of The Last Years and Les Feux Follets have all played here.

On a different level, also performing here in the past year have been Ian and Sylvia, Lighthouse, Stomping Tom Connors and The Grassy Ball Boogie Band.

Move To Improve

TORONTO (CP) — The Quebec government has opened an office here. Its purpose is to improve relations with Ontario. The move was taken after the Quebec government took a survey on the province's image in surrounding areas, and found it was worst of all in Ontario.

Watchdog Needed

EDMONTON (CP) — All large school systems need an ombudsman, says Dr. Ernest Hodgson, an educational administration professor at University of Alberta. The ombudsman should have the power to investigate and publicize specific complaints against administrative injustice.

Pedal Power

EPILSBY, England (CP) — Kevin Ford 17, has come up with a bicycle built for five. He put together the 15-foot-long machine out of parts from 17 old bikes.

Apple Craft Creations

Elizabeth Nind of Belleville, whose apple craft creations enjoy popularity throughout eastern Ontario, passes on the knowledge of her artform to students of Grades 2 and 3 from St. Peter's Elementary School in Trenton during education week activities at Hastings County Museum in Belleville. Displayed behind her is one of her best-known works, the Last Supper.

Feeding Time

Canada Geese gather sparely around Lower Trent Region Conservation Authority worker John Meyers as he offers the fowl a corn-based feed. The geese are housed in enclosures where authority officials hope, they will breed and eventually produce a flock of birds that will return to the King's Mill conservation area in coming years. The conservation area is one the authority is developing as a wildlife, and possible education, centre.

Bancroft Attracting New Industry

BANCROFT — The hills and woods of North Hastings do not lack, to the unpractised eye, like a promising location for any light industry, other than tourism or lumbering but there are a number of small concerns in the Bancroft area which disprove that opinion.

For Carl and Helen Pitts of the Hinterland Handicrafts leatherwork plant in Bancroft, the North Hastings area has proven to be advantageous for their operation.

The new Hinterland plant, on Hastings St., North, is the centre for the creation of leather jewellery, purses, belts and novelties that are distributed throughout North America.

"We have sales people in all parts of Canada and the United States," said Carl Pitts. "Last year we were approached by five European agencies who want to handle our product but we don't have the capacity for that yet."

The majority of the Hinterland work is done by North Hastings women in their homes.

The jewellery making is a very specialized form of piece work and can be effectively done in the private home.

The women come to the plant, at their convenience to cut or dye the leather for the jewellery.

Boxing, shipping, and cutting the leather are done by the permanent fulltime staff at the plant.

Several other light industries have located in the Bancroft area in the last several years.

The proximity to rail and road shipping make this an attractive area.

The chairman of the Industrial Committee of the Bancroft and District Chamber of Commerce, Doug Meeks, said he feels the area would be conducive to almost any type of clean, non-polluting light industry.

"There are three highway carriers in the area and any industrial land can be made accessible by rail also," he said.

Mr. Meeks operates Bancroft Block which specializes in the manufacture of cement blocks and decorative blocks for construction.

Bancroft now is being serviced by a large new municipal waste system and treatment plant that is designed to accommodate growth in the area.

In addition to the light industries of the area, there are also several major government installations in Bancroft. The ministry of transportation and communications, maintains roads and depots from Burleigh Falls to Combermere, to Coe Hill and is one of the areas major employers. The Ministry of natural resources and Ontario Hydro also have office buildings in Bancroft.

Tweed Business, Service Hub for 15,000 Area Residents

TWEED — This community has always been progressive and vigorous Reeve Barbara Allen said recently in an interview.

A little over 20 miles northeast of Belleville, one major attraction is Stoco Lake, which nudges the south end of the main street.

Tweed's progress started back in the 20s when village council decided that if the community was to grow it should be serviced by water mains and sewers, long before many similar-sized corporations, the reeve said.

Stoco Lake is noted for its muskellunge. There is camping situated right in town in the lake. Tourism is big in Tweed, Mrs. Allen noted.

Tweed also has some solid industry. There is Tweed Steel, which primarily manufactures fireplaces. Sawyer Hall Lumber Co. serves the shipping industry by making pallets.

Tweed Veneers Ltd. and Wood-Mosaic Canada Veneers round out the industry predicated on the lumber industry. Then there is the Rathotie planing mill which turns out furniture for cottages and rec rooms.

To maintain Tweed's progress, the present council is engaged in assembling an industrial park. There is some land in the northwest and the east side of Tweed which is suitable for residential development, reeve Allen suggested.

"Tweed is a service town," the village head said. "It serves an area which encompasses 15,000 people. We provide professional services and banking.

"The ministry of natural resources employs a lot of people here. They contribute a lot to community life. They keep the community vigorous. They are moved around to different appointments, and this new blood keeps the community from becoming insular and parochial. It keeps the place exciting," Mrs. Allen explained. "Similarly, we have the regional hydro office and the bank."

"But we get the other side of the coin, too," the reeve said. "We have a nice, stable community of established families. We get the best of both worlds. We are made up of people who have solid historical roots and people who bring a breath of fresh air in. They come with their families and new ideas."

Hearing Handicapped Get Care at Sir James Whitney

The Ontario School for the Deaf was renamed last year to the Sir James Whitney School in honor of a former conservative premier of Ontario.

Known as OSD for 89 years the school has changed its name according a new ministry of education policy of not having the handicapped identified in the names of the institution for their care. The school also comes under the government's subheading of regional centre for the hearing handicapped.

Sir James Whitney was a conservative premier of Ontario from 1905 to 1914. Shortly before he came premier of the province the OSD was called Institution for the Deaf and Dumb.

After he became premier, responsibility for the school was moved from the department of the provincial secretary to the department of education which later became the ministry of education.

Also in 1914 the Ontario Association of the Deaf held its annual convention in Belleville. Dr. Robert Rumball was the keynote speaker at the convention.

The Sir James Whitney School currently has an enrolment of 372 students of which 60 are day students and the rest live in residence. The school is staffed by 288 which includes teachers, professionals, doctors and resident counsellors. The school also employs seven home visiting teachers for work with preschoolers.

Sir James Whitney was founded in October of 1870 and established the first school for the deaf in Ontario. Today the school enrols students from all far away as Kenora, Hearst and Rainy Lake.

The school itself sits on 96 acres of land in the west portion of Belleville. There are about 18 buildings located on the site, including classrooms and residences.

Deaf Awareness Week

Mayor Robin Jeffrey gives the city's official approval to Deaf Awareness Week (May 4 to 10) while Ken Roberts, a member of the Speech and Hearing Month committee looks on. May is Speech and Hearing month and the local committee is planning a three-day exhibition May 8, 9 and 10 at the Quinte Mall. Mr. Roberts is a counsellor at Picton Heights School for the Retarded in Picton.

Riverside Park

This view of Riverside Park on Canniffon Road depicts the tranquility of a summer's day along the Moira River. Many Belleville families spend hours at the park during the summer months.

Board Launches Study On Education Views

By RON CARSON
Staff Reporter

The Hastings County Board of Education is launching an 18-month study on how county employers view education and what sort of contributions private business can make to education.

"The project is designed to research and tabulate resources in the community and then make this information available to educators," explained Dave Smith, co-ordinator of community education with the board.

The program, which is being funded by a ministry of education grant for community studies, is expected to be completed by the fall of 1976. The bulk of the interviews are being conducted by a board resource assistant Mary Shipton.

"During the initial interviews I'm getting a good response from employers," said Mrs. Shipton, who hopes to meet managers from all segments of business in Hastings County. The study is expected to include manufacturers, business and services as well as skilled occupations.

"We also hope to compile a list of vocational resources such as people in the community who are experts in certain hobbies," said Mrs. Shipton. The basis of the information will be obtained through personal interviews.

Mrs. Shipton said the interviewers are also designed to obtain the feelings of employers about the quality of education and what they think education should be doing for the graduates.

"An essential part of this exercise will be to determine the kinds of input employers would like to have in education programs," said Mr. Smith, who has been with the board since 1970. Employers will also be asked if they want to participate in a co-operative program with the schools. Many secondary schools now offer field work experience for students.

Mr. Smith said program developed through the belief that there is a great amount of unknown resources in the community which schools could be utilizing. "We just need a way of organizing them in a way useful to the schools," he added.

Last year the ministry of education offered about $200,000 for research grants in the area of community resources. The Hastings Board of Education was granted $9,000 this year with an option to apply for further grants next year.

"Because of the long period of time involved in this study we hope to have interim reports as the study progresses," said Mrs. Shipton. It is hoped the final report from the study can be used in various areas of education.

Restoration of Historic Road Would Re-create Pioneer Days

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

It's called The Road.

An imaginative project, it would tap Hastings County regional backing for culture — not spinoff commercial enterprise.

The scheme — the brainchild of the Hastings County Historical Society and its museum's curator Marten Lewis — is bigger on an historic route in the county's north-central invasion. It's the Old Hastings Road.

The Road was pushed north through the county in the mid-1800s as a colonization route for settlement. High hopes for its development never totally realized. Much pioneer optimism perished on the rocks of the north country bush.

Today The Road, flanking Highway 62, still is in use to varying degrees, where it hasn't been abandoned.

What Mr. Lewis proposes is to:

— Restore sections of the road to its settler environment. Road with rougher amenities of pioneer life, from cabins to cordoroy roads.

— Have local residents encouraged, or taught, to practise the skills of the original habitants.

— Have visitors, not just as passing tourists, but to stay one or two weeks, totally immersing themselves in its revived way of life.

It would include period stores and hotels along the route for tourists; demonstrations of pioneer industry.

Financing mainly would come hopefully from senior government funds available for programs tailored for such ventures — including Local Initiatives Program, Opportunities for Youth.

It would be open to school programs and archaeological expeditions.

The result would be prolonged contact with a way of life that is integral in the pioneer tradition, said Mr. Lewis.

It's a novel concept — there's nothing quite like it anywhere in Ontario, he said.

Of recently it's a long-range project, taking perhaps 15 years, requiring much preliminary plotting.

Although not specifically a profit-making venture, it could become so. If it didn't prove financially viable it should be cancelled, he admitted.

This would be easy since the scheme would be plotted in stages. One suggested time frame is to (1) develop Crown land between L'Amable and Umfrayville, south of Bancroft, or Ormsby, in Limerick Township and Umfrayville; (2) develop the remainder of the route between L'Amable and Bancroft in Madoc Township.

Reeve Jack McKenzie of Faraday Township warned that such an undertaking could be too costly. He said a walking trail in the area — without running S. — has turned out to be a "white elephant."

However, county council voted 19-7 to approve the project in principle.

Marten Lewis, Hastings County Museum curator, outlines proposal to county council Tuesday for heritage development along Old Hastings Road. The long-range project, approved in principle by council, is aimed at recreating pioneer environment on old colonization route.

Way Now Clear for Start On Downtown Centre

Belleville's biggest downtown redevelopment project of modern times is "poised to get under way," one of its legal officials told city council recently.

The intimation came from Ian Brady, Lawyer for Belle-Bridge Developments Ltd. developer of the multi-million-dollar Century Place at Bridge and Front streets.

Demolition of the site is now complete and council moved to clear legal grounds for further progress.

Council's involvement included legal agreements and supporting bylaws to define land titles and commitments since a change in public-way accesses is called for.

Mr. Brady was present to answer questions as council scrutinized the technicalities of the agreement involving the city, developer and adjoining property owners.

One minor change was made in the document and approval given subject to the alteration. In effect, it was a legal precaution in terms of ownership in case one of the properties — the Army Navy and Air Force Veterans Association building — should ever change hands.

Mr. Brady asked council to expedite its approval, with the change. Otherwise to re-draft the document without causing many problems at this stage would be a "Herculean task."

He was certain that consultation with the city's solicitors immediately would clarify the required technical change.

Ice Control Dams to End Flooding of Moira River

The Moira River Conservation Authority, in business since 1967, is in the midst of two major projects this year — both of which have been on the books for a long time.

They are two ice control dams on the river in Belleville and a study of the Bay of Quinte watershed within the authority's jurisdiction.

While work continues on other programs and projects, most public attention has been focussed on these two endeavors in recent months.

The ice control dams, both of which will be located in the city at College St. and Reid St., have been in the design stage for a number of years. Their purpose will be alleviate ice buildup at the mouth of the river to prevent backup of river flow and prevent flooding in the downtown area such as was experienced in 1936 and threatened in later years.

A side benefit of the dams will be their ability to regulate water flow and provide additional recreational and esthetic benefits in the city and upriver.

Almost all the riverside properties required for the dams have been acquired — at a cost of close to $1 million and construction work is scheduled to start in 1976, with completion the same year.

The waterfront study, expected to be complete by early summer, will serve as a guide to the development of Bay of Quinte shoreline from about two miles west of the city east to the boundary between Thurlow and Tyendinaga townships.

The consultants retained to do the study have stressed public participation and solicit suggestions about uses to which the waterfront can be put.

Also expected to be included in the report are recommendations for additional boating facilities in the city and perhaps suggestions for rehabilitating spawning beds for various species of sport fish at the mouth of the Moira.

In its 28-year life the Moira authority has completed a number of projects, notably the development of Vanderwater Park, east of Highway 37 north of the city and the reconstruction of the O'Hara Mill property northwest of Madoc.

The 450-acre Colonel Roscoe Vanderwater Conservation Area is named after the first chairman of the Moira authority and includes riverside facilities for picnicking swimming, camping, fishing and boating. In addition, an area has been set aside for area Boy Scout's Camp Sagaonoka.

At O'Hara Mill a major attraction is a rusty sawmill, believed to be the only of its type in Ontario, also on display are many items of early Canadiana in the O'Hara House Museum, an early log schoolhouse, antique farm machinery and pioneer artifacts.

The authority continues to acquire and develop properties for educational and recreational purposes. A recent acquisition was the Potter Property east of the city on Highway 2. This farm, located on a creek feeding into the Bay of Quinte, will be developed as a picnicking and trailer park area with nature trails within easy access of city residents.

Another of the authority's projects over the years has been an extensive tree-planting program involving close to three million trees.
